OIL-PROFIT SUIT GOES ON TRIAL

Action Asks Defendants to Account for Earnings of Foster No. 65, Signal Hill

Hearing of a suit brought to compel an accounting of the profits from oil and gas produced by Foster Well No. 65 at Signal Hill, has begun yesterday before Superior Judge Price.

The plaintiffs, who seek a share of the profits derived from the well, are the Service Oil Company, H. H. Edwards, Reuben R. Fleming and C. A. McNulty. The defendants are Fred A. Ballin, Joseph R. Dabney, the Shell Oil Company, the Richfield Oil Company, Van B. Foster and others.

The plaintiffs assert that they did not receive their full share in a division of $150,000 oil profits.

C. Stanley Price is attorney for the plaintiffs. Attorney C. Fouts is representing himself and two other defendants; Fred Irving and the Richfield Oil Company. Merrill Norton is counsel for the Rotary Drilling Company, also in the action, and Van B. Foster. Attorney Russell Haight is appearing for F. A. Ballin. The hearing will continue today.

GIANT PLANE CRASHES

Two Occupants Injured

Two-Passenger Craft Hits Three Houses and Fells Three Others

Dying Ship Unable to Climb With Motor Trouble Rips Wing on Pole

ROCKVILLE CENTRE (Long Island) Nov. 27. (AP)—The giant Fokker F-32, built to carry more passengers than any plane ever constructed in America, faltered with two failing motors this afternoon soon after taking off from Roosevelt Field, ripped part of the right wing away as it clipped the top of a telephone pole, crashed from the roofs of three homes and fired three other homes it grazed.

Two occupants—M. S. Boggs, engineering inspector for the Department of Commerce, and Harry Arnold, his mechanic—dropped with the plane just before it plowed up against the Jamaica Avenue home of Arthur Wicks in village of Corle Place.

HERO CHASES IN DAY

While a mother was saving an infant in blazing bed in one bedroom Boggs and McDonald picked up in fields within 100 feet of the crash. Boggs was seriously injured, but the mechanic escaped entirely hurt. Tonight they were under police guard in a hospital pending questioning by authorities.

Just the second crash of the day at plane from Roosevelt Field. Hours earlier, James Pisani, 19-year-old student pilot with but only eight flight record, was caught in the cockpit of his plane when his motor stalled and toppled him in the middle of a street at Westbury, Long Island. Aviation officials were unable to explain the plane's motor was functioning when he fell, narrowly missing several parked, but unoccupied, automobiles.

Arnold and McDonald flew the plane from Teterboro Airport, Jersey, for brief visits to Roosevelt Fields. The reason for the plane's four Wright Whop motors are mounted in nacelles under each wing so they started back from Roosevelt Field, they turned back and made a circuit an hour on the motor wouldn't function properly.

BEVERLY HILLS, Nov. 27.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It's not a bad old Thanksgiving at that.

Outside of Notre Dame, let's see what we got to be thankful for. Congress adjourning, I know, will be the first thing that comes into your mind. But that blessing will be short-lived, for they are soon to meet again. Wall street stocks are about back up to where the suckers can start buying again.

The farmers can be thankful—didn't the farm board decide in Washington last week that they could have cheaper interest? All the farmers have to do now is to find something new to put up at security. Please pass the cranberries.

FILM TRUST CHARGED

Fox and Warner Under Attack

Government Files Suits in Move to Break Asserted Unlawful Combine

Purchase of First National Stock Will be Set Aside if Action Succeeds

NEW YORK, Nov. 27. (AP)—Charging violation of the Clayton Antitrust Act, U. S. Atty.-Gen. Mitchell today in a Federal court filed two civil actions against the Warner Brothers' Pictures, Inc., and the Fox Film Corporation and their subsidiaries.

The actions seek to strip the two companies of recently acquired holdings through which it is asserted they control approximately 65 per cent of the nation's motion-picture industry.

In the action against the Warner interests, the Stanley Company of America, which controls 25,041 shares of First National Pictures, and the First National Pictures, Inc., also are named as defendants.

PURCHASE ATTACKED

Through its control of the Stanley company, and the recent purchase on open market of 71,892 shares of First National stock, the suit asserts that Warner Brothers' Pictures now dominates First National and has eliminated it as a competitor.

The action asks that the courts set aside the purchase of the First National stock and order the Warner interests to relinquish the holdings which set up the asserted monopoly. It also seeks an order restraining Warner Brothers from exercising their stock-voting rights in the First National.

The suit against the Fox group and William Fox asks an order setting aside the recent acquisition by those interests of Loew's, Inc., which in turn controls Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Inc., proprietors of both the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Pictures Corporation, a film-producing concern, and the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Distributing Corporation.

FIGURES GIVEN

While the Fox and Loew interests were in competition, the suit sets forth, their combined output represented 40 per cent of the country's total film production; and in addition both groups owned first-run motion-picture houses throughout the United States.

Acquisition of the controlling stock of formerly competitive companies by both the Fox and Warner interests reduced competition in interstate commerce, the suits assert, and, therefore, are violations of the Clayton Act.

The Warner Brothers' group as now constituted, controls 25 per cent of the nation's cinema interests and with 40 per cent controlled by Fox, only 35 per cent still is in the hands of independent producers, the complaints assert.

Mauretania Collides With Rail Float But Suffers Little Damage

NEW YORK, Nov. 27. (AP)—The Cunard liner Mauretania, outward bound for Europe, collided tonight with a car float off Robbins Reef in New York Harbor. The Cunard Line offices announced the vessel was stopped off Quarantine to determine what damage had been done, if any.

A Coast Guard cutter prepared to take the car float in tow and a police launch was sent to the scene to give any assistance that might be necessary.

The Mauretania sailed at 11 o'clock tonight with an unusually large passenger list for this time of year. She carried 300 passengers in first class, 170 in second and 400 in third.

The message said the Mauretania was not damaged but that the float was badly battered in the crash.

Ethnologist Tells of Admiralty Island Tribes Whose Children Use Cigarettes at 3 Years of Age

NEW YORK, Nov. 27. (AP)—Cigarette-smoking by 3-year-old children is one of the customs that Dr. Margaret Mead, ethnologist, says she found among the natives of the Admiralty Islands.

Dr. Mead, who is assistant curator of ethnology at the American Museum of Natural History, visited the islands to make a comparative study of the development of primitive and civilized children.

The Admiralty Islands are southwest of the Philippines. They were part of German New Guinea and now are controlled by Australia under a League of Nations mandate.

Dr. Mead said the children begin smoking cigarettes, made of Louisiana twist wrapped in newspaper, at the age of 3. She said the practice apparently has no ill effect on their health, they being as bright and more nimble than American children. She said she has not yet formulated her conclusions.

One tribe, called the Manus, numbering about 2000, she said, live in huts standing on stilts set on low coral reefs. Children learn to swim as soon as they can walk, and, although all travel about the settlement by canoe, drowning is almost unknown.

She said the Manus live in an absolute democracy without chief or governing body, are great traders, acquiring all their goods in exchange for fish. Dogs' teeth, tobacco and British shillings are used for currency.

Dr. Mead said the Manus believe all Americans are negroes, gaining their impression from American ships in the copra trade, which frequently have crews of negroes.

ESTATE OF LOEW TO BE SCRUTINIZED

Tax Official Will Reopen Appraisal as Valuation Evokes Questions

NEW YORK, Nov. 27. (Exclusive) Deputy State Tax Commissioner Stephenson said today he will reopen the appraisal of the estate of the late Marcus Loew because of questions raised concerning the valuation of certain items in the estate.

Marcus Loew was one of the two or three largest figures in the amusement world and was reputed to be worth about $40,000,000, but his net estate was valued at only $836,647. One reason for the smallness of the estate is that Mr. Loew during his lifetime had divided his estate, through a holding corporation, with three other members of his family. But a question was raised today regarding the appraisal, causing Commissioner Stephenson to announce that he will thresh the matter over further before finally offering the appraisal to the surrogate.

One of the questioned appraisals is that of $450,000 for Mr. Loew's estate, Pembroke, at Glen Cove, L. I. Commissioner Stephenson took notice of a report that this property was sold in 1924 for $631,000, and that property in that section of Long Island has increased greatly in value since that time. It has been reported that Mr. Loew spent $1,000,000 in the development of Pembroke.

MILFORD HAVEN (Wales) Nov. 27. (AP)—Reported as missing from the steamer Molesey, which was wrecked yesterday off Woolfack Point, Fireman Pola Attard was found today fit and well on a nearby island, to which he swam from the doomed vessel.

There are now seven persons, including one woman, still missing from the ship. Twenty-eight were taken off safely yesterday by the Milford Haven lifeboat.

Stunting Flyer Who Lost Air License Fined

EL PASO, Nov. 27. (AP)—Vere Scheuneman, San Diego pilot, grounded here last week for flying under 500 feet and stunting over Cass Grande in violation of the Department of Commerce air regulations, pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $200 yesterday.

Fines totaling $1000 had been assessed against Scheuneman, but the reduction was made when he pleaded guilty. His license was revoked, as was his plane's license, which made him ineligible to fly a plane in Texas under the new aviation laws passed by the last State Legislature.

PRESIDENT WILL HAVE QUIET DAY

Few Intimate Friends to Join Hoovers and Son at Feast in Evening

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27. (AP)—An atmosphere of quiet will pervade the White House tomorrow as the President and Mrs. Hoover observe Thanksgiving.

Officially the government still is in mourning for the late Secretary Good, and therefore the hospitality which the Presidential family extends so frequently will be curtailed. A few intimate friends will partake of the holiday feast at 6 o'clock in the evening.

In the morning the President and Mrs. Hoover will attend services at the Metropolitan Methodist Episcopal Church, in which all of the Protestant churches of the city will participate.

The homecoming of one of their sons, Allan, from Cambridge, where he is attending the Harvard school of business administration, will add to the day's pleasure for Mr. and Mrs. Hoover. Herbert Hoover, Jr., and his wife and children will not come to Washington until Christmas.

Several turkeys have arrived at the White House from admirers in various parts of the country.

Scientist on Way From Asia With Many Specimens

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27. (AP)—Herbert Stevens, British scientist and member of the recent Roosevelt-Field Museum expedition into Southwestern Asia, arrived here today, bringing a valuable collection of bird and mammal specimens.

Mr. Stevens, who is visiting the United States for the first time, will leave tomorrow for Chicago, taking the specimens with him by express that he and they may be in Chicago Sunday for a lecture to be delivered at the Field Museum by Kermit Roosevelt.

Stevens's collection, obtained under great difficulties, includes 500 mammals, 1000 birds, 500 reptiles and fish, 5000 butterflies and 5000 plants and shrubs.

Actress Saved in Gas Accident

CHICAGO, Nov. 27. (AP)—Janice Kuehnle, who said she had acted in moving pictures under the name of Janice Montgomery, and a man giving the name of J. M. Police said the jets on a gas stove were open, but they believe they were opened accidentally.

Miss Kuehnle said she had been in the employ of the Metro-Goldwyn Studios at Culver City, Cal. Officials here of the company said they have no information concerning the girl.

TWO BILLIONS TO BE SPENT BY UTILITIES OF NATION

Hoover Receives Word on Record Program of Expenditure at Capital Conference

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27. (Exclusive)—The public utilities of the country today put their shoulder to the Hoover prosperity wheel, informing the President that the crash in securities values holds no permanent apprehension for them and that they intend to carry out a program of maintenance, expansion and improvements which within the next year will cost them nearly $2,000,000,000.

There is no retrenchment here; on the contrary, the program outlined before the President represents an increase of approximately $110,000,000 over similar expenditures for this year, and will mean employment of upwards of 50,000 additional workers.

This is perhaps the largest contribution made by any industry to the Hoover movement to stabilize business conditions and maintain employment and it adds measurably to the President's confidence that the stock market slump will not affect the fundamental, general prosperity of the nation after all.

LEADING FIGURES ATTEND

Leading figures in the utilities world went to the capital from a meeting yesterday in New York and their conference with President Hoover was the last one scheduled in his series looking to hooking up industry, labor, agriculture and the government in a great co-operative movement to head off the economic disaster which for a time threatened as a psychological outgrowth of the stock market situation.

At the conclusion of the meeting with the President, Matthew Sloan, president of the National Electric Light Association, set forth the financial program for all the utilities represented at the meeting, with the following terse statement:

"The electric light and power, manufactured and natural gas and electric railway utilities contemplate the expenditure of $1,400,000,000 during 1930 for new construction and expansion of facilities, an increase over the corresponding expenditures for 1929 of $110,000,000.

"In addition to this amount they will spend to maintain existing properties $410,000,000."

This was followed by another statement by Mr. Sloan on behalf of the National Electric Light Association.

"The electric light and power utility companies of the country contemplate an expenditure during 1930 of $860,000,000 for expansion of their facilities, an increase of $60,000,000 over corresponding expenditures for 1929. This does not include expenditures for maintenance.

ALL SECTIONS INCLUDED

"The programs provide for expansion and development in all sections of the United States.

"The electric utilities must maintain themselves in a position to meet increasing demands for service as they develop and they, therefore, plan their construction well in advance.

"The plans for 1930 are completed, large commitments already have been entered into and many contracts for equipment and material have been placed. Careful consideration of existing conditions has justified this expansion in anticipation of the growing requirements of industry for power, and consumers generally for increased electric service."

The electric railways of the country expressed their optimism concerning conditions in the industry and their desire to co-operate with the President in a statement presented by J. V. Shanahan of Omaha, acting for Paul Shoup, president of the American Electric Railway Association and head of the Southern Pacific Railroad. Mr. Shoup was unable to come from the west coast for the conference. Mr. Shanahan's statement was as follows:

"A canvass of the electric railway companies of the United States, comprising street car, rapid transit, interurban and bus lines handling approximately 18,000,000,000 passengers annually, indicates that 97 per cent of the executives responding to our inquiry do not anticipate that the present stock-market situation will affect their capital and maintenance expenditures during the coming year.

NO LET-UP IN OUTLAY

"This survey, made at the suggestion of Paul Shoup, president of the American Electric Railway Association, who is unfortunately unable to attend this conference, due to his presence on the Pacific Coast, indicates that this industry which, during 1929 is spending approximately $1,600,000 a day for maintenance, betterments and extensions,

DRIEST FALL HITS STATE

Cattlemen Facing Desperate Situation With No Rain Forecast by Bureau

Grain Growers and Truck Farmers Complain But Alfalfa Crops Boom

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27. (Exclusive)—With Northern California experiencing its driest autumn since the coming of the white man, State and Federal agricultural experts joined today in painting a serious picture of conditions facing cattleman, grain growers and truck farmers.

Since July 1, last, beginning of the present rainfall season, Northern California has averaged only .01 of an inch, breaking all records for scarcity of water. The nearest approach to present conditions was in 1890, when .23 of an inch had fallen to this date. Normal rainfall to date is 3.66 inches.

STOCKMEN DESPERATE

Cattlemen are reported by the State Department of Agriculture to be in desperate straits.

"There is practically no grazing land left for the cattle, which are being driven into winter grazing ground much earlier than usual. Even should rain fall now or in the next few days—and the United States Weather Bureau does not expect it will—it will do the cattlemen no good, for it would not give the grass time to grow before the cold weather.

George H. Hecke, director of the State Department of Agriculture, reviewed the situation in grave words. He said:

"Pasture and grazing lands are very poor this year and far below normal in extent. All the available old supplies are nearly exhausted.

WATER SHORTAGE

"The shortage in water in storage is another bad factor, and works much hardship on the stock. These conditions have resulted in the continuance and expansion of the use of supplementary feeds, and there is every prospect that much of this will have to be continued throughout the winter.

"Even with good rains in November new feed will be late and cannot be expected to make normal growth before cold weather."

E. E. Kaufman, director of the Federal-State crop reporting service, also expressed pessimistic views. The truck gardeners have found the ground too dry for planting, and they fear that when the rains do come they will be so torrential they will wash away the seeds, said Kaufman.

GRAIN GROWERS HIT

Grain growers and truck farmers have complained to the Department of Agriculture they cannot plant for their spring crops, as there is not sufficient moisture in the ground to germinate the seeds. Yolo county is hard hit by this condition.

The one saving grace of the dry season has been the benefit to the alfalfa growers. Normally four or five crops of alfalfa have been har-

Labor Department Plans $18 Daily Tax on Alien Workers Making Homes Across Borders

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27. (AP)—A regulation to compel aliens working in the United States to reside in this country instead of living in Canada or Mexico is under consideration by the Labor Department.

The proposed regulation will impose a $10 visa and an $8 head tax on each alien for every trip made into the United States from either Canada or Mexico.

It will affect several thousand aliens along the Canadian and Mexican borders who are employees in the United States, but who live with their families in Canada or Mexico, where living conditions are said to be cheaper.

It was said at the Labor Department that in the Detroit area alone, 5736 aliens admitted to the United States have gone back to Canada to establish their residence.

The proposed rule will affect a large number of workmen at Niagara Falls, Buffalo, along the Vermont and Maine borders, and at El Paso on the Mexican border. Other localities also will be affected to a lesser extent.

The proposed regulation is said to be substantially the same as one recently put into effect by the Mexican government which provided that American citizens working in Mexico must make their residence in that country.

Premier Speaks Further on Journey to America

LONDON, Nov. 27. (AP)—Admitting that numerous difficulties will confront the five-power naval conference when it opens here in January, Prime Minister MacDonald today expressed his belief that these will be overcome and that success will crown the efforts of those seeking reduction in the armaments of the world.

He spoke at length at a tea in the House of Commons which was attended by representatives of various British peace organizations. Frank B. Kellogg, former United States Secretary of State, and Mrs. K. Dogg Miss Isibel MacDonald, Prof. Gilbert and Norman Ancell, author and lecturer.

DIFFICULTIES PUT ASIDE

The Prime Minister brushed the "difficulties" aside, declaring "we will not be afraid." Summing up his attitude, he said, "I am neither a pessimist nor an optimist. I believe that good is going to come out of faithful, sincere and earnest work religiously stuck to, work that is not going to be thwarted or clouded by temporary difficulties or rebuffs. If one way does not yield results we will try another, always sticking, sticking, sticking to the work.

"We will have a great many difficulties, but, as we have faced those difficulties before, we still will face them in the five-power conference."

Speaking of his American journey, the Premier said he had read a lot in the newspapers about how carefully the trip had been thought out.

JOURNEY'S SUCCESS

"If my American journey had any success at all, it was because it was a spontaneous inspiration and was not thought out; it belonged to the inevitable rightness of things. It was utter nonsense and futility, almost even criminality, to allow our two nations to drift, drift and drift, to be united only by dispatches."

He said that, knowing men of the stamp of Mr. Kellogg were in the United States, "what could one have thought of doing who would really face the problem except by wishing that one might go and shake hands with them. That is the explanation of my American visit and that was what was done during the American visit.

"Of course, we talked with a certain amount of authority about a lot of things. We surveyed the whole situation but the real purpose of the visit was to create new conditions, because you can negotiate as long as you like, but if conditions of active good will are not in existence the wisdom of your negotiations is bound to come to naught."

"I received nothing but great hospitality and the most encouraging revelation that whatever our American friends may have said with their lips—some times cross things—they always had right down in their hearts a special affection for us over there.

"They certainly are not going to co-operate with us as allies bound by formal ties. They certainly are not going to commit themselves to European policy and mix themselves up in European messes.

"It is perfectly evident at the same time that wherever and whenever there is a humane flag flying over the world the thought and heart of America will be there. Our co-operation with America will be active so long as the cause in which we are enlisted is good. We never have been able to say the United States has failed in support of any great human cause."

The Burning Wreckage

GIGANTIC PLANE WRECKS HOMES

with only one of its motors running. With the coolly, competent hand of Boggs on the stick, the men had no hesitancy in starting with three motors at 2.23 p.m. Mrs. George Gardner, wife of the Commerce Department's chief aviation inspector for the New York area, wanted to go along, but her husband persuaded her to stay on the ground.

The big plane took off again but couldn't get altitude. He barely cleared hangar roofs, and Capt. Philip Watson, flying above in a Travelair biplane, thought the tail touched one of the roofs. Watson saw the right front motor fall and Boggs dipped for a moment to land in a potato field. But the field was rough and a railroad embankment was too near for his speed.

The wing snapped off the pole at the embankment and the plane seemed almost to stop, but then plunged on, still unable to climb. The damaged wing hit the roof of the home of Mrs. Cora Pagan, on Jamaica Boulevard, taking off her radio aerial before careening on to rip the chimney and aerial from the home of Julio Fortou, next door. Part of the wing dropped off as the big ship bounced up from the roof of the next house, occupied by Joseph Centon, in a shower of shingles.

LANDS AGAINST HOUSE

The plane careened wildly to the right now and veering across the boulevard, crossed over and hit the Wicks home and burst into flames. There was an explosion and blazing gasoline sprayed the homes, on either side, of Joseph De Beaver and W. G. Cadish. Mrs. De Beaver rescued Joseph, Jr., 10 months, from the child's bed, which was aflame, but only its fingers were burned.

The Wicks home was razed by the fire and the De Beaver home is almost a complete loss. Damage to the Cadish house was slight. Boggs was found unconscious near the Cadish yard's shrubbery. Reviving on the way to the hospital, he said that he had hit a child as they crashed, but nothing in support of this could be found. The ruins of the plane and house were too hot to be searched early tonight, but all children of the neighborhood were accounted for.

INJURED PILOT TELLS OF PLANE CRASH

ROOSEVELT FIELD (N. Y.) Nov. 27. (AP)—S. M. Boggs, the pilot who was injured when the giant thirty-two-passenger Fokker monoplane P-32 he was piloting crashed today, was able as he lay on a hospital bed tonight to tell Chief Inspector Gardner of the Department of Commerce and Detective Chagnon his version of the accident.

When he took off from Roosevelt Field with his mechanic, Harry MacDonald, only three of the plane's four motors were working, Boggs said, and by the time they had reached an altitude of 200 feet one stopped suddenly. As the craft began to nose downward, Boggs said, he thought he would be able to bring it down safely in a small field to the north of Roosevelt Field, but as the plane swept on he realized the space would be too small, and they must stay in the air as long as possible.

Before the crash came neither he nor MacDonald had jumped from the plane, Boggs said, but the blow "opened the cockpit like a sardine can" just as he was on the point of losing consciousness from his injuries, Boggs said. He shouted to a panic-stricken woman who was near to call the fire department, as the plane had just burst into flames.

MacDonald was unable to make any statement tonight.

STATE SUFFERS DRIEST AUTUMN

vested, but this year the warm weather has resulted in five and even six crops being cut.

In the El Camino and Los Molinos districts of Tehama county, the alfalfa crops have been exceptionally heavy, and this is expected to prove a boon to cattlemen who have to resort to supplementary feeding with the failing of the ranges.

PRICES TO CLIMB

Frank L. Lyons, head of the Federal-State grain, hay and feed market news service of the United States Department of Agriculture, reported the cattlemen's demands undoubtedly will force skyward the prices of barley, corn and feed wheat, the main stand-bys of the cattlemen when the ranges fail. He said there is a heavy demand for all kinds of feed grains throughout the State.

According to reports to the Cattle Protection Bureau of the State Agricultural Department, cattlemen in many sections have been forced to drive their stock seven to ten miles to get them to water. In Shasta county the stock has been moved to winter grazing areas, and in the Bald Hills area the stock must be driven eight to ten miles to water. This makes it exceedingly hard to fatten cattle, they report.

The drought extends into Nevada, where the ranges are bare and dry, with the prices of hay and feed soaring to new high marks.

The Sacramento River at Red Blub is down to the one-foot-three-inch mark, the lowest in years and much lower than last year, which was known as a dry year.

Rodney C. Taylor, head of the Oroville Wyandotte Irrigation District, said the run-off from the Butte county watershed is 30 per cent less than it was last year.

Throughout Tuolumne county cattle are said to be perishing daily for lack of pasturage and water.

Forest lookouts, rangers and fire-fighters will have to eat their Thanksgiving dinners "on the job." Ordinarily all lookouts and fire fighters are out of the national forests by October 10, rains having commenced by that time.

Most of the fires of late, according to District Forester Show, have been in grass and brush along the edge of wooded areas. Few fires have extended into the forests. This is an indication, he said, that the fires are man caused.

been reports that the Manchurian or Mukden government was seeking peaceful settlement of the dispute independent of the Foreign Office in Nanking.

Gov. Chang Hsueh-liang is reported to have proposed restoration of the status quo.

LITVINOFF'S REPLY

To this M. Litvinoff replied: "Have received your telegram of the 26th inst. declaring your full acceptance of preliminary conditions communicated in writing on the 22nd inst., through Tsai Yu-chen, Diplomatic Commissar at Harbin.

"These conditions are: First, official consent by the Chinese to restoration of the situation of the Chinese Eastern Railway existing prior to the conflict on the basis of the Peking-Mukden agreement of 1924; secondly, immediate reinstatement of the manager and assistant manager of the railway recommended by the soviet government in accordance with the Peking-Mukden agreement; thirdly, immediate release of all soviet citizens arrested in connection with the dispute.

"In accordance with point 2, the soviet government recommends reinstatement of Emshanov as manager and Eismont as assistant manager and expects your immediate confirmation thereof.

"Regarding Points 1 and 3, also accepted by you, the soviet government proposes that as soon as Point 2 is fulfilled you send your representative to Khabarovsk with official written credentials and appoints Simanovsky, Foreign Office agent at Khabarovsk, as official representative of the soviet government for discussion of technical questions connected with carrying out these points and for settlement of questions concerning the time and place of conference."

AMERICA TO ASSIST IN EFFORTS FOR PEACE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27. (AP)—Full co-operation of the United States in any effort to bring peace between the Chinese and the soviet in Manchuria appeared assured tonight with word from London that the British government is considering such steps.

Only two efforts, so far as is known here, have been made to bring about a settlement of the troubles, which arose out of a series of incidents in the area and particularly from the taking over by the Chinese of the previously soviet-controlled Chinese Eastern Railway. One was made by Secretary Stimson several months ago, when he took steps to have called to the attention of each government its obligations to avert an outbreak of warfare under the Kellogg pact for the renunciation of war, to which both China and the soviet have adhered.

The other effort was made by Germany in an effort to bring about some settlement of the dispute over the railway through suggestion to the emissaries of the two governments when negotiations were taking place in Berlin with a view to adjusting the problem.

JOINT ACTION FOR PEACE TO BE SOUGHT

LONDON, Nov. 27. (AP)—Arthur Henderson, British Foreign Secretary, replying to questions in the House of Commons, today indicated that Great Britain and the United States, together with a third power, are communicating together for the purpose of deciding some procedure whereby joint action might bring a peaceful termination to the present Russo-Chinese hostilities in Manchuria.

While somewhat indefinite regarding the exact steps thus far taken, Mr. Henderson, answering a question by former Foreign Secretary Chamberlain, said that the United States early in November suggested some common representation being made to Russia. He replied intimating that Great Britain was prepared to participate "in any joint action calculated to bring this dispute to a peaceful termination."

DE VALERA TO VISIT HERE

DUBLIN, Nov. 27. (AP)—Eamonn De Valera, Irish political leader, will visit America shortly on a mission connected with the Irish Press, Ltd., of which he is managing director. The company was organized to float an Irish Republican newspaper.

RAID PRECEDES BREAK

The break between Russia and China was precipitated by Chinese action in dismissing Russian officials from the joint board of control of the railway after a raid on the Russian Consulate in Harbin is said to have disclosed that they were using their positions to further Communist propaganda.

Russia demanded reinstatement of these officials as a preliminary to peace talks, but Nanking, while expressing willingness to have other Russians appointed to the posts, flatly refused to accept the previous holders. Recently there have

Bodies of War's Victims in Siberia Returning

Steamer Will Have Escort of Destroyer and Planes

Military Ritual Planned on Arrival at Detroit

NEW YORK, Nov. 27. (AP)—After lying for ten years in lonely Siberian graves, the bodies of seventy-five American war dead are approaching their homeland to receive the honors of their country.

The steamship President Roosevelt of the United States Lines, bringing the bodies from France on the last lap of their journey, is scheduled to arrive at its Hoboken pier either tomorrow night or early Friday. The ship has been delayed by gales.

The Americans had been sent to the Archangel front as part of an Allied force to prevent the Germans from seizing the North Russian ports for submarine bases after the Russian revolution. They were members of the Three Hundred and Thirty-ninth Infantry, Three Hundred and Tenth Engineers, Three Hundred and Thirty-seventh Ambulance Company and Three Hundred and Thirty-seventh Field Hospital.

GRAVES SCATTERED

Some of the men were killed in action, others died of wounds, disease and exposure. In 1919, 102 bodies were returned to this country. The others have lain in scattered graves along the Trans-Siberian Railroad until recently, when they were located and removed through the efforts of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Eleven more bodies are now in France awaiting word from relatives now living in Europe.

Full military honors have been arranged by the Army and the Navy for the reception of the dead. The President Roosevelt will be met off Ambrose Lightship by the United States destroyer Kane and escorted up the bay. Should the ship arrive before sunset nine army planes will circle overhead. A national salute of twenty-one guns will be fired from Governor's Island.

GUARD OF HONOR

At the Hoboken pier a room has been especially prepared, where the bodies will lie in state under a military guard of honor. Military funeral services will be conducted Friday at 11 a.m., with chaplains of the Veterans of Foreign Wars officiating.

On Saturday morning fifty-six of the bodies—twenty-nine of them unidentified—will be put aboard a special train for Detroit, which furnished most of the men for the Three Hundred and Thirty-ninth Infantry. Other bodies will be sent to Washington, Chicago, New Richmond, Wis., and other points in the Midwest.

MILITARY TRIBUTE

At Detroit the highest military honors will be paid. Upon arrival of the special train at the Union Station there at 10 a.m. Sunday, the bodies of the Detroit dead will be escorted to the City Hall by a detachment of Regular Army troops and the Michigan National Guard and the entire membership of the Polar Bear Association. All local veteran organizations will take part in the ceremonies.

The bodies will lie in state for several days at White Chapel and then be entombed until next Memorial Day, when they will be buried.

BLOW DEALT TO BANDITS IN ILLINOIS

Board of Pardons Fixes Longer Minimum Term for Robbery with Gun

CHICAGO, Nov. 27. (AP)—By a ruling of the board of pardons and paroles, just announced, Illinois prison inmates convicted of robbery with a gun must serve a minimum of four years before they are eligible to parole.

W. C. Jones, chairman of the pardon board, in explaining the ruling, said it was the decision of the members to make the punishment twice as severe as the average in other States. A survey of 100 penal institutions, he said, showed an average of a trifle more than three years, less time off for good behavior.

With this in mind, the pardon board fixed the time to be served in Illinois at six to thirteen years. With the allowances for good behavior, the resultant term for armed robbery convicts is a minimum of four years to eight years and eight months.

One effect seen by the board of this more rigorous code is the immediate need of additional prison capacity. Following the board meeting, Rodney Brandon, director of public welfare, announced the State will rush completion of the $1,300,000 expenditure for additional cells.

G.O.P. PLANNING HOUSE SHAKE-UP

Republicans Have Majority of 102 Members

Democrats May be Shifted from Committee Jobs

Garner Warned of Changes at Coming Session

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27. (AP)—The Overwhelming Republican majority of 102 in the House forecasts a general shake-up in most of the committee memberships that will strengthen the Republican and weaken the Democratic representation.

Republican leaders have indicated to Representative Garner of Texas, the minority leader, that they desire to increase their membership on the major committees of twenty-one members from thirteen to fourteen. This would reduce the Democrats from eight to seven, and would necessitate the transfer of several to other committees.

MAJORITY INCREASED

The Republican majority was increased by the 1928 elections from thirty-four in the Seventieth Congress to 102 in the Seventy-first. The House membership of 435, has 267 Republicans, 165 Democrats, one Farmer-Laborer, and two vacancies.

When the regular session begins on Monday, only five committees organized in the special session, will be functioning. The remainder will be organized later in the week after the Republicans and Democrats have selected their committee slates, and submitted them to the House. In them the changes will be made.

CHANGES EXPECTED

With approximately 130 vacancies to be filled by both sides, scores of changes are expected. Many members have expressed a desire for changed assignments, while others are entitled to be elevated to more important bodies through seniority and demonstrated ability to handle specific legislation.

Representative Tilson of Connecticut, the majority leader, has called a meeting of the committee on committees for next Tuesday, the second day of the regular session. At that time it will be decided whether to increase the Republican memberships and the committee slates will be prepared.

WILL DRAFT SLATE

The minority members of the Ways and Means Committee, headed by Representative Garner, will meet Monday to draft the Democratic slate. With the loss of members in the last election, and by death, there are about sixty vacant Democratic posts, but Republican action may reduce that number.

Many Republicans favor reducing the Judiciary and Interstate Commerce committees' membership from twenty-three to twenty-one, cutting off two Democrats and leaving fourteen Republicans. Garner opposes this, holding that the importance of the committees justifies the larger membership.

Weight Bureau Given Attorney

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 27. (AP)—The appointment of Elliot M. Epsteen, San Francisco attorney, as administrative assistant in the State division of weights and measures, headed by J. S. Casey, was announced here today by George H. Hecke, director of the State Department of Agriculture. The division of weights and measures is a unit of the Department of Agriculture. Epsteen is to have his office in San Francisco.

Epsteen has for the past fifteen years been the attorney for the Better Business Bureau of San Francisco advertising club and he has gained prominence through his 'truth in advertising" work for that organization.

A Test Every Bladder Sufferer Should Make

Medical authorities agree that 65 per cent of all men past middle age (many much younger) are afflicted with a disorder of the prostate gland. Aches in feet, legs and back, frequent nightly risings, sciatic pains, are some of the signs—and now a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science has written a remarkably interesting Free Book that tells of other symptoms and just what they mean. No longer should a man approaching or past the prime of life be content to regard these pains and conditions as inevitable signs of approaching age. Already more than 50,000 men have used the amazing method described in this book to restore their health and vigor—and to restore the prostate gland to its proper functioning. Arrange immediately for this book. Call in person if possible, otherwise mail your request to The Electro Thermal Company, Dept. B-160, 202 Van Nuys Bldg., Los Angeles—the concern that is distributing the book for the author—it will be sent to you absolutely free, without obligation. Simply send name and address. LONG VIGIL OVER RICH MAN TOLD

McCormick Nurse Testifies in Guardianship Fight

Says Straight Jacket Used to Restrain Patient

Furniture Bolted to Floor and Windows Barred

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 27. (AP)—Kenneth McKillip, 61-year-old brawny Scot, who described himself as the 196-pound dean of Stanley McCormick's five male nurses, testified today at the Superior Court hearing into medical treatment being accorded the incompetent multimillionaire, that he had kept a watchful eye and a strong hand upon Stanley for twenty-three years.

Stanley McCormick was adjudged incompetent in 1906. Mrs. Katherine McCormick is seeking by court action to have herself appointed sole guardian and administrator of his $50,000,000 estate, ousting Harold F. McCormick and Mrs. Anita McCormick Blaine, Stanley's brother and sister, from the guardianship.

Under direct and cross-examination McKillip testified he has lived continuously with Stanley since the latter became violent in 1906, and recounted intimate details of the wealthy incompetent's life from that time to the present.

TELLS OF PATIENT'S LIFE

In direct questioning by Oscar Lawler, counsel for Harold F. McCormick and Mrs. Blaine, McKillip started his narrative from 1915, and dealt entirely with Stanley's life, under complete or partial restraint, at the McCormick estate, Riven Rock, in Montecito, near here. Stanley, he said, had a bedroom at Riven Rock about 20 by 30 feet, and a sun porch the same size. All doors and windows of his quarters were barred, and the only furniture in the bedroom was a brass bed, bolted to the wall and floor. Wicker chairs on the sun porch were bolted to the floor. Three male nurses were on duty in the daytime, and two at night. Stanley could not use a knife and fork, and the nurses cut up his food for him.

From 1915 to 1927, McKillip said there never had been to his knowledge a woman visitor at Riven Rock who approached the invalid except once in 1918, when Stanley's sister, Anita, pushed him about the house in a wheeled chair. While Anita was there, however, the witness said, Stanley appeared in a coma.

DIDN'T SEE MOTHER

Stanley's mother, who died in 1923, visited the estate once, McKillip said, but Stanley was in such an excited condition that he was not allowed to see her. She stood behind a door and watched him through the crack between the door and the jamb. Mrs. Katherine McCormick paid visits to the estate in 1916 and 1917, but kept at a distance so that Stanley did not see her.

A few weeks after Dr. Edward J. Kempf of New York, Stanley's present physician, took charge in June, 1927, McKillip testified, the locks and bars were taken off the doors and windows, and Stanley was allowed to walk about without guards grasping his arms. From that time onward there were numerous visits of relatives, he said, including Mrs. Katherine McCormick, Muriel McCormick, and Mavilda, now Mrs. Max Oser. Mrs. McCormick spent considerable time in Santa Barbara, and visited her husband almost daily, the witness said.

Lawler questioned the big Scotchman closely regarding the visits, but did not, beyond drawing from him the fact that restraint upon Stanley was lessened, ask his opinion regarding the condition or improvement of the patient.

IN STRAIGHT JACKET

Cross-examination by Newton D. Baker, chief of counsel for Mrs. Katherine McCormick, carried McKillip's narrative back to 1906, when Stanley became violent, and was confined in October in McLean Hospital in Waverly, Mass., in a straight jacket. By Christmas of that year he had become so improved, McKillip said, that plans were made to take him home, but after Christmas he again became so violent that it was necessary again to confine him in a restraining sheet and feed him through a tube. He remained in the Waverly Hospital until the fall of 1907, when he was moved to a house a mile away, with five male guards, of whom McKillip was the head. Most of the time there, and during the journey to Santa Barbara in a private car in 1908, Stanley remained at intervals in a straight jacket.

TAUGHT TO WALK

During 1908, 1909 and 1910, the witness said Stanley, at Riven Rock, appeared in a state of coma, remained in bed, and would not walk or talk. Gradually, from 1911 to 1914, he improved. In 1913 he began taking automobile rides, and in 1914 started writing letters. When he began to walk again after his long sojourn in bed, McKillip said the patient had to be taught as though he were a child.

Stanley was taken to the Panama Pacific Exposition in 1915, but McKillip testified "there was too much excitement there for him," and when he was returned to the Montecito estate he again became violent.

McKillip still was on the stand when court recessed for the day. Baker indicated he will bring his questioning of the witness up to date when court reconvenes Friday.

Miss Virginia Wilson

CHICAGO, Nov. 27. (AP)—The engagement of Virginia Wilson, one of Chicago's first-ranking golf stars, to Charles Dennehy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Dennehy of Chicago and Pasadena, was announced today. No date has been set for the wedding.

Miss Wilson won the Canadian women's open golf championship in 1928, and in 1927 dethroned Glenna Collett in the national championship, although Miss Wilson lost out later in the semifinals. Miss Wilson also is an accomplished horsewoman and much interested in sculpture.

MOVES ON CRUISERS EXPLAINED

Navy Preparing to Build but Keels Will Not be Laid Before Parley

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27. (AP)—Secretary Adams said today the keels of the three cruisers whose construction was suspended by order of President Hoover last summer will in no event be laid until after the London armament conference in January.

Advised of reports that the Navy was proceeding with construction of these ships despite the President's order and contrary to the understanding of the situation abroad, the Secretary said Mr. Hoover was fully aware of every step that had been taken by the Navy in regard to the cruisers.

Because of the length of time required to prepare plans, build guns and assemble materials for the warships, the Navy has proceeded to get everything in readiness for their construction.

Members of Congress who guided the fifteen cruiser-building program through the House and Senate have expressed the opinion that under the act, the laying of the keels could be held up to the very end of the current fiscal year, ending June 30, next. Further delay, they have said, would have to be authorized by Congress.

RULING PUTS NEW CURBS ON RAIDERS

Judge Declares Warrant Necessary Even if Agents See Still in Operation

OMAHA, Nov. 27. (AP)—A memorandum opinion by Federal Judge Woodrough was prepared for filing today holding that Federal prohibition agents cannot raid a building without a search warrant, even though they receive evidence of operation of a still through the senses of smell, sight or hearing.

The judge's announcement followed his ruling yesterday in dismissing indictments against two men. He ruled that although the agents smelled cooking mash, heard the roar of the burners and saw a part of the still through an open doorway, the raid was not justified. The order met with protest from the United States Attorney-General's office.

Asst. Atty.-Gen. Froelich, here to assist in prosecution of liquor cases, said the ruling is revolutionary.

Jury Convicts After Viewing Robber 'Talkie'

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 27. (AP)—The jury that yesterday viewed a talkin motion picture of the confession of Harold Roller, Milman robber, and heard other testimony, today convicted the defendant on seventeen indictments charging entering with intent to steal. The jury deliberated fourteen minutes.

Judge Gordon, deferred sentence until a motion for a new trial is disposed of. In this motion the use of the "talkie" will be protested and if a new trial is refused an appeal will be taken to the higher court.

Parachute Fails to Save Flyer

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Nov. 27. (AP)—Sergt. L. J. Pallaye of the medical section, Brooks Field, was killed today, when his parachute failed to open on a leap from a five-ship formation during parachute practice. He failed to pull the rip cord until he almost had reached the ground.

MILLIONS ASKED IN "ETHYL" SUIT

Denver Corporation Demands $10,000,000 Damages

New York Concern Accused of Avoiding Obligation

Royalty Declared to Have Been Contemplated

OMAHA (Neb.) Nov. 27. (AP)—A $10,000,000 damage suit was filed in District Court here today by the General Research Corporation of America of Denver, against the Ethyl Gasoline Corporation of New York. Breach of contract is charged regarding purchase of tetra ethyl lead, the substance which is mixed with ordinary gasoline to make "ethyl" gasoline.

The damages sought are for 100,000,000 pounds of the lead preparation asserted to have been used by the Ethyl Corporation since August 1, 1926, and for which it is charged the General Research Corporation was to receive 10 cents a pound.

The petition asserts that the Ethyl concern contracted in writing in April, 1926, for the entire output of the Denver company, then known as the American Research Laboratories, Inc. The output at that time was 17,500 pounds a month.

At a conference in Chicago between E. W. Webb, president of the Ethyl company, and E. K. Proffitt and T. B. Huff, officers of the suing company, the petition states, it was agreed to cancel the contract and let the Ethyl concern manufacture the tetra ethyl lead with the General Research process. A royalty of 10 cents a pound was to be paid for all material made and used.

The process was turned over to Dr. Calinger, the Ethyl chemist, on August 1, 1928, the Denver company charges, and since then no settlement of any kind has been obtained from the Ethyl Corporation.

TWO BILLIONS TO BE SPENT

Utilities of Nation Announce Program to Hoover

Leading Executives in This Field at Conference

War Department Acts to Aid Efforts of President

pects to maintain or exceed this rate of expenditure during 1930.

"At a meeting held at the association's headquarters in New York on Tuesday representatives executives of companies operating in various parts of the country expressed their confidence in the business outlook and their desire to co-operate with President Hoover in every possible way in his effort to stabilize and insure the continued progress and development of business. Analysis of the transportation situation in a number of large cities indicates that as progress is made in bringing about better public understanding of the economic problems involved, improvement in credit will permit considerable increases in capital expenditures to be made for expansion of facilities."

GAS GROUP STATEMENT

A statement for the American Gas Association was presented by B. J. Mullaney, its president, as follows:

"The American Gas Association statistical department estimates that expenditures for construction by the manufactured and natural gas industry of the United States in 1930 will aggregate approximately $425,000,000, an increase of about 6 per cent over the corresponding expenditures in 1929. An additional $50,000,000 will be expended to maintain existing service facilities.

"The construction estimate is based primarily on budget provisions already formulated for 1930 by companies representing the major part of gas production and distribution in the United States. The conclusions thus indicated have been checked against the factual experience of the industry for many years, as well as against current observation and information, and have been correspondingly strengthened.

"Gas industry growth, while unspectacular, has been marked and steady for upward of twenty years. The latter part of the period has been its time of most rapid gain. Complete statistical reports for nine months, and covering upward of 85 per cent of the output, indicate that the total output for 1929 should be about 9 per cent ahead of the 1928 total.

"Construction programs have to anticipate this growth, as well as provide for the consequences of new trends and changing conditions, such as more and more large volume industrial use of gas; accelerated use for additional domestic purposes, including house heating, increasing density of population and use where large apartment-houses supplant single family dwellings. Expansion is stimulated further by the growing popular recognition of gaseous fuel advantages and by the research that develops better utilization.

LONG-DISTANCE SERVICE

"In the natural gas branch the existence of vast known reserves, coupled with large increases in production, is making long-distance transmission economically practicable to a degree not anticipated a few years ago. Development along this line will undoubtedly continue for many years.

"These and collateral facts, trends and factors have been co-ordinated with obvious necessities in estimating the construction requirements of the industry for 1930. The net results, as summed up in the first sentence of this statement, have been reviewed by officers of the large gas-producing and distributing companies, assembled for that purpose in New York and have been approved as a reasonable forecast.

"The customer contacts and day-to-day experiences of the companies represented in the conference reflect no disturbing change in business conditions or trends. They suggest no reason at this time for curtailing the contemplated expenditures for the construction and extension of gas-service facilities. On the contrary it is conceivable that cheaper money, as predicted by many forecasters in economics, might accelerate construction especially on the natural gas side of the industry."

CORPS AREA BOARDS ORDERED TO START WORK

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27. (AP)—In furtherance of President Hoover's general prosperity program, Acting Secretary of War Hurley today directed all corps area and department commanders to begin immediately the initiation of army construction and repair work for which funds are available.

A War Department announcement said that where possible, funds intended to be spent in the last half of the current fiscal year will be used immediately.

For the present fiscal year $9,551,287 was given to corps area and other officers for construction and repair work. Of this sum $3,830,515 was allocated for use in the last half of the year. In addition, there was an unexpended balance for army housing of $19,206,930 on September 30, last. All of this is expected to be under contract by the end of the fiscal year.

DUCE RULES ON SLUMP PAY

Mussolini Orders Auto Factory to Give Men Wages from Future Earnings During Slack Period

[Copyright, 1929, by the Chicago Tribune.]

ROME, Nov. 27. (Exclusive)—President Hoover's consultations over the American industrial situation have lent interest here to Premier Mussolini's methods in dealing with the annual slump period in the automobile industry in Turin.

For the next three months work in the Fiat factory amounts to only a few hours each week for each man and the former practice was to lay off men. This year no agreement could be reached between the employers and Fascist syndicates, so appeals were made to Il Duce.

Premier Mussolini ordained that during the slack period each worker will get five days' pay per week whatever number of hours he works. Later on when full activities are resumed the difference between the time actually worked in the slack period and the time for which the men were paid will be deducted from their wages. Deductions from men's wages are to be made gradually over a considerable period.

Under the Fascist labor legislation employers are not permitted to lay off men merely because business is slack without giving them the usual indemnity, as cases when they are discharged without reason. Premier Mussolini's decision has been received with gratification by the Turin automobile workers, who today sent him a telegram of thanks.

HOOVER HEARS OF CITY OUTLAY

Mayor Wires President of $100,000,000 Projects

Colorado Aqueduct to Mean $200,000,000 Extra

Porter Says Municipality to Do Construction Itself

Mayor Porter yesterday telegraphed President Hoover that the city is inaugurating a mammoth program of improvement work which will run well over $100,000,000 in cost. Projects now under way and designed for the immediate future call for the expenditure of $15,000,000 in parks, playgrounds, schools and public works. The construction of the Colorado River Aquedact, he points out, calls for the expenditure of more than $200,000,000.

The Mayor stated that his plan contemplates that the city itself will go into the construction business by purchasing equipment and materials and hiring labor directly without letting contracts. He contends that in this way a profit of 20 per cent will be saved by the city.

TEXT OF TELEGRAM

The telegram follows:

Honorable Herbert Hoover,
President of the United States,
Washington, D. C.

November 27, 1929.

Pursuant to your recent request for co-operation in increasing activity in public work to the end that unemployment may be minimized, the city of Los Angeles is commencing at once a mammoth program of improvement work which, during the next year, will be far advanced. This program will run well over $100,000,000 in cost.

We now have improvements under way and proposed for the immediate future, $16,000,000 in street construction, approximately $15,000,000 in parks, playgrounds, schools, public buildings and the $200,000,000 Colorado River water project.

PLAN OUTLINED

It is my plan, in so far as it is physically possible, to see that every dollar to be expended goes for actual labor and materials. To insure this I propose in every possible instance to execute work under forces account plan, eliminating the middleman and contractor and their profit and overhead which will represent as a rule 25 per cent of the value of such work.

The saving of such profits work no serious hardship on contractors and middlemen already rich, and the increased volume of work possible without increase of cost to taxpayers means much in the extra volume of labor for which employment will be provided. Labor will be able to purchase four loaves of bread for every three that could be purchased if the middleman and contractor take their profit. In the emergency before us I feel that every unnecessary profit should be eliminated, and thus bring about lasting prosperity.

Sincerely,

[Signed] JOHN C. PORTER.

GREAT HIGHWAY PROJECTS TOLD

State to Spend $88,030,000 on Roads This Year

Report to Young Discloses Magnitude of Plan

California Manufacturing Shown on Increase

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 27. (AP)—Approximately $88,030,000 will be spent on State and county roads in California during 1930, Bert B. Meek, direction of the State Department of Public Works, estimated today. In his report to Gov. Young's council Meek stated that this sum includes State highway expenditures estimated at $38,030,000 and expenditures on county roads estimated at $50,000 000.

A total of $10 000,000 in State highway contracts will be offered to bidders during the first six months of the new year, Meek said, and $7,800,000 during the second half.

Expenditures to complete projects either under way or being investigated at present will total $14,500,000.

Maintenance expenditures for 1930 on State highways will total $5,640,000, this sum to be almost equally divided between the half-year periods.

MANUFACTURING IN STATE INCREASES

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27. (AP) Improvement in manufacturing employment was reported here today by the State Department of Labor.

The total pay roll of manufacturing establishments shows an increase of $355,965 over October of last year, according to the department's division of labor statistics.

The monthly pay roll for October amounted to $4,898,333, while last month totaled $5,254,303. The number of persons employed increased 7252.

NOTED SURGEON OF 25 YEARS' PRACTICE UNDERGOES GLAND OPERATION AND TELLS OF RESULTS

"We need but re-vitalize the glands within our bodies to ward off the tragedy of premature old age and the ravages of disease," stated Dr. Clayton E. Wheeler in a recent magazine article.

"When the glandular secretions are deficient, it follows the Endocrine Chain (ductless glands) must be restored to as nearly normal as possible if vigorous, robust health is to be enjoyed. The internal secreting glands feed the blood stream and any dysfunction is reflected in some form of ailments in disease."

By a simple, practically painless operation, the glands are re-energized and through them the harmful poisons of the body are eliminated and there is a greater contribution of the helpful, life-giving secretions into the circulatory system.

"A SALVAGED HUMAN WRECK"

Golden View Apartments, R at 26th Street, San Diego, Calif.

My Dear Dr. Wheeler:

I am sincerely grateful to you for the service you have rendered in performing upon me your remarkable, painless operation of gland transplantation.

My physical condition was so desperate that I was forced to resign as Professor of Operative Dental Surgery, Kansas City Dental College, a chair I held for 23 years. Also, was forced to relinquish my practice, writing, lecturing and research work in an earnest effort to regain my health, but which was in vain until I came under your care.

Following a serious surgical operation six years ago, I had a complete nervous collapse.

At that time endocrinology (ductless gland therapy) was in its infancy, and you were just beginning your specialized work which has since carried your fame to all parts of the world. Had I known then what I have since learned, I should never have submitted to the operation, for your methods would have rendered such an operation wholly unnecessary.

As a surgeon and physician I had access to any form of treatment, and privilege of investigation of all therapy for the relief of conditions like my own. Knowing my trouble was essentially of glandular origin, I made a study of the work and literature of Prof. Steinach, University of Vienna, Dr. Voronoff, whose clinics in the Pasteur Institute of Paris have attracted world-wide attention, and others.

I submitted to the vasectomization operation, as performed by Dr. Steinach, obtaining only transitory relief. Finally I came to California to investigate your unusual technique in the transplantation of the live glandular tissue of any or all of the endocrine glands to supply the particular deficiency of the patient, and which his own organism is unable to produce. To you, Dr. Wheeler, belongs the credit for being the first surgeon to successfully transplant any, or all, of the ductless glands.

With an intimate knowledge of the results of the other outstanding methods of glandular therapy, and from actual personal experience, I did not place myself in your care until I had become convinced that you are performing the most efficacious and scientific work in gland therapy which is at present available to suffering humanity. Further, I consider your practice and methods of endocrine surgery the foremost development in scientific therapy in this age.

That you may find a way to prolong your own efficiency indefinitely so that you may go on "salvaging wrecks of humanity" for the next hundred years, is the wish of myself, as it must be of thousands unto whom you have given priceless service and who bless you.

Gratefully and fraternally yours,

CHARLES L. HUNGERFORD, M.D., D.D.S.

Federal Board Directs Chief Accountant to Pick Staff of Assistants

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27. (AP)—The Federal Power Commission today authorized William V. King, its chief accountant, to select from the accounting forces of the War, Interior and Agriculture departments men who will aid him to complete for presentation to the commission some of the disputed power-site applications now pending.

To meet objections of King and Senator Nye, Republican, North Dakota, to the original proposal that departments assign to the work such men as they could spare, the commission gave entire control to the chief accountant.

With hundreds of applications pending, the limited accounting staff of the commission has dropped about five years behind in its work and so far has not been able to present a single disputed case on which the commission might establish principles that would guide in the disposal of the remainder.

Hundreds of millions of dollars in the capitalization of power projects, both built and awaiting license, would be affected by the adoption of definite accounting rules.

1920 Ten years ago Ford was Chevrolet's only popular. And many 1920 Fordsters are still running. More would be, if the new power-brake, Shell Motor Oil had been available then.

1925 A still better car still more popular. Hundreds of thousands are giving good service after five years.

1930 More than a million and a half Chevrolet sixes will have been sold by January 1, 1930. And thousands and thousands of these "prosperity cars" will be running ten years from now.

No CHEVROLET OWNER should overlook this fact:

Your car will run better, last longer with oil that forms no hard carbon

THEY'RE good cars—these Chevrolets that you and millions of other owners have chosen to buy. Give them a little reasonable care and they'll more than repay you in long-time service.

Keep them greased. Change oil regularly. And be sure that you understand this point about motor oil: All oils form some carbon when they burn. But there is one oil that forms only 1/3 to 1/5 as much carbon as even the highest priced oils you can buy.

And strangely enough, these costly oils leave hard carbon. A kind that "cakes" like cement inside your motor. Shell Motor Oil forms only a little soft soot that blows away through the exhaust, harmlessly.

You can't expect your Chevrolet to go on lasting and running smoothly if the very oil you use to protect it is forming gritty coke-carbon. Such carbon chips off, holds valves open, causes knocking, grinds through bearings!

Avoid it. Insist that Shell Motor Oil be put in whenever you change oil or buy an extra quart. Give your Chevrolet a chance to do its best. Keep it free from hard carbon.

There is fine, clean carbon here and the kind that gives trouble—hard, flaky carbon. Yet in some parts we cannot call that by objectionable names.

A little bit of soft soot, such as is formed by burning Shell Motor Oil. Not enough to hurt it. Higher compression engines run it with ease.

EMPLOYEES OF CHICAGO FACING SEVERE PAY CUT

CHICAGO, Nov. 27. (AP)—The city of Chicago, the county of Cook and the Chicago Board of Education today are considering stringent measures to meet large deficits facing them all.

The County Board of Commissioners recommended a pay reduction for all employees up to 20 per cent. It urged that elected officials —judges and other county officers— voluntarily accept a 20 per cent reduction in their salaries, and announced that county employees in all but a few cases will face pay cuts the first of the year.

The commissioners themselves agreed to accept $6000 annually in place of $7500, provided other elected officers will do the same. It tentatively was agreed that all county employees earning $300 or more a month will be reduced 20 per cent, and others will be reduced slightly less.

The defincit faced by the county is $5,000,000, and the board hopes to slice $2,300,000 from this in pay cuts.

Jury Disagrees on Guilt of Lad Tried as Slayer

EL DORADO (Han.) Nov. 27. (AP) Unable to agree on the degree of manslaughter or assault for which Wilbur Hunt, 16 years of age, of Augusta, should be convicted, the jury which considered the case in Butler County District Court was discharged last night by Judge Benson.

Cole Thompson and Andrew Gahm, facing the same charges of manslaughter in connection with the death of Albert Watkins, Jr., 17, last spring, probably will be tried in January, before the Hunt case is retried.

MORGENTHAU IN RENO TO MEET DAUGHTER

RENO, Nov. 27. (AP)—The visit to Reno of Henry Morgenthau, former American Ambassador to Turkey, it was disclosed today, was to meet his daughter, Mrs. Alma Wertheim, who has been in Reno for several weeks and who, it is understood, is contemplating filing a divorce suit here against Maurice Wertheim, her husband, a New York banker.

DRUNKARDS MAY GET LONG TERMS

Sentences of Fifteen Years Possible in Michigan

Habitual Criminal Code to Make Action Imperative

One Man Convicted Sixteen Times for Drinking

LANSING (Mich.) Nov. 27. (Exclusive)—Habitual drunkards may be as heavily penalized as other minor felons under Michigan's Criminal Code, it has developed, and proved offenses, if sufficient in number, may bring mandatory sentences of from seven and one-half to fifteen years in State prison.

The case of Fred Steers, now in Jackson prison on a technical disorderly charge, was taken to the attention of Arthur Wood, commissioner of pardons and paroles, yesterday along with that of nine other men against whom habitual criminal charges will be placed. Steers, it appears, never has been convicted of anything more serious than drunkenness or disorderly conduct.

CONVICTED SIXTEEN TIMES

Misdemeanors of this sort, however, which under the old statute governing cases of intoxication become more serious as they accumulate and are rated as felonies when they reach the fourth offense, have been recorded over a period of years against Steers until he has been convicted more than sixteen times. The convictions were registered in Battle Creek and Kalamazoo for the most part.

Since then, the identification division of the department of public safety has been checking up on the case and has now certified the full record to the parole office. The sixteen accumulated drunk convictions thus become four minor felonies and entitle Steers to a mandatory term of from seven and one-half to fifteen years.

CONVICTION DOUBTFUL

Whether he can be convicted on the charge, however, is believed questionable although he must be paroled and returned to his home county for trial.

Records of all the convicts now serving time in State penitentiaries are being rapidly checked and scores of the records are being turned over for action under the habitual criminal law.

NORTHWEST GRAIN GROUP ORGANIZES

New Co-operative Set Up for Spring Wheat Area Under Farm Board Plans

FARGO (N. D.) Nov. 27. (AP)—The Northwest Grain Co-operative, an organization of all the farmers' elevator association pools and co-operatives in the spring-wheat area, with the exception of the Farmers' Union Terminal Association and the North Dakota-Montana wheat pool, was set up today under plans of the Federal Farm Board.

It is the amalgamated co-operative which will deal directly with the farmers' National Grain Corporation and the farm board in behalf of the farmers in this section.

The unit of membership will be the local elevators and warehouses in the farming districts, each being entitled to one share of stock for every 1000 bushels of wheat handled.

If the articles and by-laws are approved by the government agencies and the farmers' National Grain Corporation, the Northwest Grain Co-operative becomes the unit of membership in the national.

If it becomes a going concern, as representatives predict, it will mean the elimination of State elevator associations, terminal association and pools, the membership being concentrated entirely in farmers' local elevators.

Group in Lodge Send Officials Copy of Protest

PORTLAND (Or.) Nov. 27. (AP)—Three resolutions adopted by 500 "insurgents" who condemned the new guard of the Woodmen of the World for adoption of policies that are said to have caused several older members to lose the benefits of their memberships are in the mails today, addressed to State and national officials.

The resolutions, adopted at a mass meeting called by the Woodmen protest committee, were sent Gov. Patterson of Oregon, Claire Lee, State Insurance Commissioner, President Hoover and United States Senators McNary and Steiwer.

It is charged in the resolutions that the "regime in power" has been selling certificates which are in violation of the injunction recently granted the "insurgents" at Denver, Colo., an injunction against a new and higher schedule of rates that is said to be retroactive.

Prewar Pomp at Wedding of Austrian Pair

VIENNA, Nov. 27. (AP)—Princess Benedicta Schwarzenberg, member of an ancient Austrian house, and Prince Ernest Eugene Englebert, younger brother of the Duke of Croy, were married today in the famous Schwarzenberg Palace at one of the most brilliant Viennese weddings in years.

Despite the fact that the Schwarzenberg family is in mourning, the wedding ceremony was imposing. An altar was erected in the marble hall of the palace. Mgr. Vance came especially from England to perform the ceremony.

Ninety members of the Austrian and foreign nobility attended a luncheon at the palace.

GIRL STOWAWAY TRIO EJECTED

Liner's Sailing Delayed As Hunger Forces Lasses to Leave Hiding Place

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27. (AP)—Three stowaway girls, anxious to reach Honolulu, but forced by the pangs of hunger to reveal themselves one hour after the ship had left the Golden Gate, caused a delay of more than two hours in the sailing of the Matson liner Manoa today when the captain decided to return and land them here.

The girls gave their names as Jeanne Nelson Scott of London, Ont., Can.; Helen Knight, British Columbia, and June Evans, New York City. All gave their age as 21.

OCEAN LINE'S EX-MANAGER SEEKING PAY

Suit Filed by Former Commander of Leviathan Demands $75,166

NEW YORK, Nov. 27. (AP)—Papers filed in the Supreme Court yesterday by Capt. Herbert Hartley, former commander of the steamer Leviathan, disclosed that his employment as operations manager for the Transoceanic Corporation of the United States terminated last month when the Senate marine lobby inquiry began.

Capt. Hartley resigned the Leviathan command and his status as commodore of the United States Lines in January, 1928, after thirty-five years in the North Atlantic service, to affiliate himself with the Transoceanic company.

He is suing the company for $75,166, which he asserts is due him as salary. His complaint says that when his employment ceased he received only $8500 of the $84,166 owing him under contract.

Papers in the suit were served on Laurence T. Wilder, former president of the American Brown Boveri Electric Company and head of the shipbuilding division of that concern, and a director of Transoceanic. Wilder was a witness before the Senate Naval Affairs Committee during its investigation of the employment of William B. Shearer by shipbuilding companies.

Chinese Captors Threaten Priest as Rescue Nears

SHANGHAI, Nov. 27. (AP)—Rev. Ulrich Kreutzen of Calumet, Mich., a Franciscan missionary stationed at Wuchang, Jupeh Province, who was kidnaped by bandits early this month, has written to Wuchang stating that his health is good but that his captors are threatening his destruction unless troops seeking to rescue him are withdrawn.

The Wuchang mission said that negotiations seeking his release are under way, the mission being willing to pay what Chinese term "wine and rice money" approximating 1000 Mexican dollars ($500 gold,) but not the ransom of 6000 Mexican dollars demanded.

Attorney Sues Hill and Wife

BUTTE (Mont.) Nov. 27. (AP)—Walter J. Hill and his wife, Mildred, today were sued in District Court here by T. J. Walker, Butte attorney, who asks $5000 attorney's fees and costs for acting as Mrs. Hill's attorney in a separation suit brought by her in October, 1927, and afterward dropped.

The Butte attorney says when the couple became reconciled while the suit was pending, Hill verbally agreed to assume payment of the fee, but never has discharged the obligation.

Mrs. Hill recently brought suit in Livingston, asking a divorce. Hill is the youngest son of the late James J. Hill, railroad magnate.

EPISCOPAL PRIMATE OUTLINES POLICIES

CHICAGO, Nov. 27. (AP)—Bishop Charles P. Anderson, primate of the Episcopal church in America, today called upon the church to concern itself primarily with spiritual things. In his first official pronouncement since he was elected primate, Bishop Anderson said he intends to continue the policies of the late presiding Bishop John Gardner Murray and that he will "stand for the whole church," and will hold no "geographical or ecclesiastical prejudices."

BRITISH ARMY MAN DIES

LONDON, Nov. 27. (AP)—Lieut.-Gen. Sir Arthur Sloggett, 73 years of age, formerly director-general of the British army medical service, died unexpectedly today while walking near Regents Park.

LABOR COURT UNDER ARREST

Mexican Arbitration Body Charged With Forgery

High Tribunal Rules in Railway Case

Action Indicates Fall of Morones Machine

(Copyright, 1929, Chicago Tribune.)

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 27. (Exclusive)—How mightily the once all-powerful Court of Labor Arbitration has fallen since the days when Luis Morones was all supreme Minister of Labor in the Calles Cabinet was shown today when the Supreme Court by an overwhelming majority declared the Junta No. 2 of the court guilty of forging documents to sustain its case against the National Railways of Mexico. The decree of the court carried with it the arrest of the members of the arbitration court who were accused.

Months ago the National Railways showed the arbitration court had falsified the documents which were exhibited against the railways but the court, using the methods of the days of Morones, refused to recognize the evidence. The railways took the matter to the Supreme Court with the result indicated.

Never before in the history of Mexico has the Supreme Court convicted another legal body of forgery. It is predicted in labor and government circles today that the decree of the Supreme Court and the order for the arrest of the members of Section Two of the Court of Labor Arbitration, would completely wreck whatever prestige remains of the labor organization built by Luis Morones and the Court of Labor Arbitration would have to be reorganized on a completely new basis so that members of it could not be bribed and induced to manufacture evidence in cases submitted to their decision.

CHICKERING

Good news for Los Angeles homes! Great news for Christmas purchasers! Platt Music Company has succeeded in securing a shipment of these marvelous instruments in spite of the fact that orders at the factory have fairly swamped production facilities.

Far too limited a number for our needs, however! Never before has a piano created quite such a sensation as this new Marshall & Wendell Grand. And why not? Designed and built under the direct supervision of that famous builder of quality pianos, Chickering & Sons. Produced under the advantages of huge purchasing power and most modern manufacturing methods placed at Chickering's disposal by the American Piano Company. No wonder the piano world has been set topsy-turvy in value standards.

Just a word of warning. Past experience shows us that this shipment will be gone soon. Place your delivery order or Christmas reservation NOW!

ARIZONA TRACT MAY RIVAL GOBI

Navajo Reservation Rich in Dinosaur Remains

Close Search to be Made for Petrified Eggs

Arizona May Regulate Rights of Exploration

FLAGSTAFF (Ariz.) Nov. 27. (Exclusive)—That the Navajo reservation in the northern area of the Painted Desert probably will be found richer in dinosaur remains than even the Gobi Desert of Asia is predicted by members of an exploring party from the American Museum of Natural History in New York. The few original tracks, mainly pried from the lime carbonate setting and taken away to museums in this State and elsewhere, are declared to have been found multiplied by more recent exploration of the region, with hundreds of evidences found of such wanderings through the ooze by giant reptilia of very ancient days.

EGGS TO BE SOUGHT

Indeed, it is asserted that the days were so very far in the past that dinosaurs constituted the bulk of the living population of the land, then decidedly moist, as compared with its present desert condition. If Arizona authorities permit, there is to be a close search for petrified eggs, such as were found on the Gobi by the Ray Chapman Andrews party before it was inhospitably treated by the Chinese authorities, and there is hope also of discovery of the remains of the curious ancient beasts, who may have been of many sizes, though similar in genus.

The limestones and sandstones of the region are the same as those in the Grand Canyon, extending at least from the Utah line to the edge of the high Mogollon Plateau, far to the southward. In this capping have been found the fossils of monstrous reptiles, some of them apparently mired to their deaths in the yellow mud that later hardened around the agatized tree trunks of the Petrified Forest, near Holbrook. Then came an era in which mastodons and other giants roamed the hills, to leave their bones for the modern scientist. Everywhere are found fossil fish, clams, oyster shells and snails, evidences of days when the sea covered the present plateau.

There has been sharp discussion following recent entrance into the State of Dr. Gilbert E. Gable and a party of scientists charged with designs on the dinosaur remnants. Dr. Gable has denied any assumption that his group contemplates "plundering" of Arizona's antediluvian treasures and he has asked that there be no confusion with "pot-hunters" who have been selling the tracks wherever a market might be found. Exploration is to be on strictly scientific lines and such that Arizona will benefit in full measure.

The situation may be solved by a plan credited to Gov. Phillips, who is said to be planning appointment of a State archeological commission, probably with representation of the State University and Northern Arizona Teachers' College. It is proposed that permits to dig shall be obtained from this commission by all accredited geologists, paleontologists or archeologists who have an urge to excavate in Arizona. Such action would have legal backing in State laws and in governmental regulations covering researches on nationally owned areas. There also is an Arizona law forbidding destruction or transportation of desert plant growths.

COMPANIONATE UNION SUCCEEDS

Couple Praises Plan After Two Years

[P. & A. photo]

Aubrey C. Roselle and His Comrade-Wife
This domestic scene was photographed on their second anniversary.

CHICAGO, Nov. 27. (Exclusive) After two years of companionate marriage, they still are companions. Aubrey C. Roselle and Josephine Haldeman-Julius, who broke into the limelight just two years ago Saturday with an adventure into what then was a much-discussed plan of wedlock, declare it is an unqualified success, so far as they are concerned.

"Companionate marriage is just like other marriages," Miss Haldeman-Julius asserted, however, but she indicated theirs has been more harmonious.

When they were married, Roselle was attending the University of Kansas and Miss Haldeman-Julius the Girard (Kan.) High School. Her father, a Kansas publisher, declared there was no reason why they should not be married on a companionate basis, the bride continuing to live at home.

Both since have finished school and about six weeks ago came to Chicago, occupying a two-room apartment. He is employed as an accountant, and she as a clerk in a department store book department.

Parts of Three Skeletons Found in Arizona

Archeologist Thinks They Belonged to Indians

Broken Pottery and Urns Discovered Near By

PHOENIX, Nov. 27. (AP)—Portions of three skeletons, believed by Odd S. Halseth, Phoenix archeologist, to be those of prehistoric Indians, are being assembled at Pueblo Grande, east of here.

One of the skeletons, that of a man, was found eighteen inches below the surface of the ground. It is complete except for the hands. Near by a second skeleton, whether man or woman as yet undetermined, was found badly disintegrated, but with both legs intact.

Close to the right shoulder of the man, a foot deeper in the ground, Halseth found the skull and first two vertebrae of a child, which he estimated to have been 3 years of age.

Broken pottery and urns were discovered near by.

No bones of any description which might complete the skeletons were found.

TROLLEY CARS HIT TRUCK

NEW YORK, Nov. 27. (AP)—Two trolley cars struck a heavy truck in Brooklyn today, injuring the motorman of one of the trolleys seriously and causing lesser injuries to twenty passengers.

Mrs. Westfall Says She Was Physical Wreck

The brilliant achievements of Sargon are unquestionably one of the brightest pages in the history of medical science. Thousands have testified that stubborn cases, which had apparently defied every other treatment and medicine, have quickly yielded to this marvelous, new scientific formula. From the Atlantic to the Pacific, from the Great Lakes to the Gulf, come words of heart-felt appreciation from well-known men and women who have benefited through Sargon's amazing powers. One of the latest to tell of the lasting results derived from Sargon is Mrs. Sadie Westfall, 2424 South Hope St., Los Angeles, who recently said:

"I took nearly everything under the sun trying to recover from a nervous breakdown but it was Sargon that restored my health and strength!

"For two years I was in perfectly wretched health. My appetite was next to nothing at all and at times the thought of food actually sickened me. I had so little strength the slightest exertion would simply tire me out and I'd just have to drag myself around most of the time. My nervous system was upset, the least noise would annoy me and a good night's rest was out of the question. I was as near a physical wreck as you ever saw and I often wondered just how much longer I could last.

"There's something about this wonderful new Sargon that gets right at the ourcs of such troubles and starts correcting them at once. I could feel its marvelous strength-ening effects right from the start and now I've taken five bottles and feel like a different person! I have a healthy appetite and enjoy every meal, my nerves are better and my sleep is sound and restful. I took Sargon Soft Mass Pills as a part of the treatment and they overcame the constipation I was more or less subject to, and regulated me perfectly.

"My telephone number is ATlantic 9819, and if others who suffer as I did will call me I'll be more than glad to tell them more about my remarkable recovery through this splendid treatment."

The Sargon Man is at the Owl Drug Store, 6th & Broadway where he is meeting the public daily and explaining the merits of this remarkable new medicine. Sargon may be obtained at all Owl Drug Stores in Los Angeles and other cities.—[Advertisement.

Napoleon Necklace Halts in Unique Rambles

Wrapped in Brown Paper, it Rides Subway

Brought to America by Friend of Owner

NEW YORK, Nov. 27. (AP)—On the crest of a blue velvet cushion encased in the steel of a Fifth-avenue bank vault today lies a 300-carat diamond necklace that has traveled through Egypt and America in brown paper parcels since the day it graced the throat of Napoleon's Empress.

More than 100 years ago Napoleon I gave the jewels to his young wife, Marie Louise, in his joy over the birth of their son, whom he dreamed would carry on the Napoleon dynasty.

Since then it has graced the throats of an Austrian Empress and Archduchess, has traveled the sands of Egypt and the subways of New York, has been the awe of customs officials and the wonder of bank clerks.

CARRIED IN SHOE BOX

Today it is in the care of Mrs. Charles F. Townsend, who was born the Princess Baronte, daughter of the Italian Princess Baronte, and who is a friend of the Archduchess of Austria, Marie Therese, its 74-year-old owner.

A little more than a year ago Mrs. Townsend, the wife of a retired English government official formerly serving in Egypt, carried the jewels to King Fuad of Egypt, who considered buying them for his Queen.

Mrs. Townsend put them into a cardboard shoe box, tucked them under her arm and boarded a second-class tram so that she might attract no attention on her way to the palace.

REFUSED BY BANK

When she arrived the King and his court gasped in horror at what she had done. The necklace was duly inspected, but the Queen preferred a rope of pearls.

The diamonds were returned to the Archduchess.

Then Mrs. Townsend came to America and the jewels were sent to her, addressed to a New York bank. They arrived and were refused by the bank as "romantic and unusual business," and back they went to Vienna.

Again they came to America, addressed this time to Marie Therese's friend. Customs officials investigated the necklace and telegrams flew back and forth from Vienna and Washington to New York.

Eventually, it was admitted to the United States—duly fees as an historic antique, and customs officials sent for Mrs. Townsend to claim the necklace.

WRAPPED IN BROWN PAPER

Mrs. Townsend wrapped the jewels in brown paper and tied them with twine, boarded a subway and carried them to her New York apartment and thence to the bank which houses them today.

The necklace, set in silver and gold, has forty-seven diamonds, the larger ones fifteen carats. Around its circular design hang ten briolettes and nine pendants.

The necklace, which Napoleon ordered for the little Austrian Archduchess whom he divorced Josephine to marry in the hope that she could give him an heir, marked a joy that was short-lived.

Shortly afterward, his dynasty began to crumble. The young Empress refused to follow him into exile at Elba and escaped into her native Austria with the child, whom Napoleon had had crowned "King of Rome. Napoleon lived to see the boy around whom he had woven the fondest dreams a pawn in the game of politics, reduced to a rank inferior to that of Austrian archdukes. He died at 21 years of age, and his mother became the morganatic wife of Count Von Neipperg.

State to Give Child Slayers Chance in Life

MILFORD (Ct.) Nov. 27. (Exclusive)—The State of Connecticut undertook an experiment in child psychology today when it decided to place John and James Mulligan, 7 and 9 years of age, respectively, and confessed thrill slayers of a 3-year-old playmate, in boarding schools in widely separated parts of the country.

The decision to give the Mulligan boys a chance to live down the stigma resulting from their having brutally murdered little Albert Milenas in Milford last summer was reached today in Juvenile Court here. Judge Stoddard, in passing sentence on the boys, acted on the recommendations of Dr. John B. Watson, noted child psychologist of New York City, and Dr. William C. Healy of the Yale Institute of Human Relations.

Fullerton Man Killed by Fall

FULLERTON, Nov. 27. (Exclusive)—G. Willard Scott, a contractor of this city and formerly an Alderman of Long Beach, was killed this afternoon at the D. J. Bastanchury ranch north of here when he fell from a scaffold in a garage he was building and struck his head on the cement floor.

His skull was fractured and physicians stated that he died almost instantly. He was 68 years of age and had resided in Fullerton for the past year. The First Baptist Church of Long Beach, which he erected, will be the scene of his funeral Saturday afternoon. Coroner Brown of Orange county will conduct an inquest Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

SNOOK'S PLEA CONTESTED

COLUMBUS (O.) Nov. 27. (AP)—John J. Chester, Jr., Franklin County Prosecutor, today filed a motion in the State Supreme Court asking dismissal of the petition in error filed as of right by counsel for Dr. James H. Snook, former Ohio State University professor under sentence of death for the murder June 13, last, of Miss Theora K. Hix.

COURT GIVES ORDER OUSTING HUSBAND

Jeanne Aubert

PARIS, Nov. 27. (Exclusive)—Jeanne Aubert, French revue artist, today obtained a court order for the expulsion of her husband, Maj. Nelson Morris, Chicago packer, whom she is divorcing, requiring him to vacate her domicile in the suburb of Levesinet.

Maj. Morris contested, asserting that he gave her the property before their marriage, and stressed the difficulty of finding an apartment.

The court allowed Mr. Morris a month to find another home. Meanwhile Mrs. Morris is living in a Paris apartment.

UNIONS LOSE FIGHT TO FIX JOB LIMITS

Engineer Blocks Plan to Exclude All But Bay City Workers from Project

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27. (Exclusive)—Efforts of union labor organizations to force arbitrary employment of San Franciscans only and a six-day week on Hetch Hetchy construction work, met with strenuous opposition today from City Engineer O'Shaughnessy, backed by the Board of Fire Underwriters of the Pacific and the San Francisco Real Estate Board.

O'Shaughnessy stopped, at least temporarily, the adoption by a supervisorial committee of a proposed ordinance incorporating the points sought by the labor organization. The matter was taken under advisement and it was said legal aspects of the situation will be studied exhaustively before any action materializes.

The City Engineer declared acceptance of the ordinance as it is proposed will delay completion of the work at least six months at a time when completion on schedule has become a matter for serious consideration because of the record lack of rainfall this year.

The employment of San Franciscans exclusively on the project, he declared, would prove a vital and costly menace to the city and, if the letter of the proposed ordinance were carried out, would cause the necessity of discharging many men now employed on the project.

TREASURY FORMS NEW BILL RULES

Discount Paper Will Take Place of Interest-Bearing Certificates

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27. (AP)—The Treasury has drawn up rules and regulations governing its new system of meeting the temporary financial needs of the government through the issuance of "bills" sold at a discount and redeemable at their face value instead of the customary offering of interest-bearing "certificates."

The new method of financing was approved by Congress a year ago, and the announcement of the regulations was regarded as indicating that the bills would make their appearance as a part at least of the Treasury's December financing. The December offering is expected to total approximately $600,000,000, which with tax collections would be sufficient to meet maturing obligations of about $750,000,000.

Don Lee Scores Against ex-Wife

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27. (Exclusive)—Don Lee, automobile distributor, came out the victor today in a controversy with his former wife, Anna Belle, who had sought to have him declared in contempt of court for failure to comply with the final divorce decree and to have him pay $12,000 more annually for the support of two adopted children. The asserted contempt was contained in his failure to pay her a stipulated amount last June, she charged. The Lees were divorced a year ago.

In a written decision Mrs. Lee's application was denied, the court holding Lee is making full and adequate provision for the maintenance of the children.

MOTHPROOF WOOL MADE BY GERMANS

BERLIN, Nov. 27. (Exclusive)—Moth-proof wool is the latest find of the German Dye Trust. It was noticed that moths eating their way through a carpet carefully avoided certain colors, so chemists started an investigation of the chemical composition of the dyes in question. The result was the discovery of a colorless substance called "eulaneu," which renders tissue of any kind impervious to moth attacks.

NIGHT OF BATH NEEDS NEW TUB

We Have Only One to Every Twenty Persons in Nation

Ablutions Survey Discloses Some Very Dark Secrets

But It's Not Nearly So Bad as in "Three-a-Year" Era

PULLMAN (Wash.) Nov. 27. (AP) The United States may boast that every seven Americans have one automobile, but only every twenty have one bathtub, according to a survey made by Prof. Stanley A. Smith, head of the Washington State College department of architectural engineering.

"This may seem surprising to the younger generation," Prof. Smith said today. "But most of the older people remember the days of the 'old oaken bucket.' The fact is that our present-day bathtubs, water closets, shower baths and kitchen sinks were unknown in America until the middle of the last century.

ANCIENTS BATHED

"It is true that the ancient peoples believed in frequent bathing. If that ancient Egyptian Pharoan's daughter had not been a believer in that bath, it's quite possible that Moses would not have been rescued from his watery cradle. The Greeks, too, were great believers in personal cleanliness, but the habit of bathing practically ceased during the dark ages.

"As one writer has expressed it: 'A thousand years without a bath—surely those were dark ages—dark with dirt.' Not until the beginning of the fifteenth century did the world remember that nature demands a clean skin, and then Henry IV of England organized the Knights of the Bath. Candidates were selected by the King and could not be initiated until they had taken a bath.

THREE PER YEAR

"A copy of a college catalog published about 200 years ago of one of the schools for the daughters of nobility at St. Cyr, France, came to light recently. In it we find the interesting statement: 'Pupils are entitled to have one set of underclothing, one pair of stockings and two handkerchiefs per month. Towels: Pupils, one every week; nuns, one every two weeks. Footbaths: Pupils, one a month; nuns, only by special authorization of the superior. Complete baths: Three a year (May, June, July.) Pupils unable to take their bath on the appointed day must wait until the following month.'

"With this small beginning, the bathing habit slowly developed in Europe, and was even more slowly adopted in America."

Crew Escapes as Vessel Sinks in Florida Port

PENSACOLA (Fla.) Nov. 27. (AP) The 6000-ton Italian freighter Escambia, loaded with 1,791,000 feet of lumber for Genoa, Italy, sank in thirty-two feet of water here tonight while preparations were under way to sail for the Italian port. Thirty-one members of the crew left the vessel before it sank.

William Rosasco, head of the Pensacola division of Rosasco Brothers, Pensacola and Genoa (Italy) shipping firm, said plans to float the Escambia will be laid tomorrow.

Rosasco was unable to give the reason for the ship's sinking, but said that the cargo of lumber had been shifted late today when a list to starboard was noticed.

SOUTH AFRICA POLICE WILL USE TEAR GAS

CAPE TOWN (South Africa) Nov. 27. (Exclusive)—It is learned that tear gas is to form one of the normal weapons of the South African police. Large quantities are expected to arrive from overseas shortly, while a considerable stock already is held here. The gas was used for the first time in the raid at Durban, when the natives ran away in terror, thinking the gas a manifestation of the white man's magic.

PIANIST ELKUS WILL MARRY

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27. (AP)—Albert I. Elkus, well-known pianist and composer, today filed notice of his intention to marry Miss Florence Elisabeth Britton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Britton of London, Eng. Elkus is a son of Albert Elkus, former Mayor of Sacramento.

WAR STORY WINS LOANS IN SOCIETY

Miss Anne Morgan One of Prominent Women Prey of Col. G. M. Gordon

NEW YORK, Nov. 27. (Exclusive) The story of a man "with an interesting war record" who obtained loans between $5000 and $10,000 from prominent women was reported in police court today when the man's promotion manager, the Marchesa Theodora Marcone, brought a complaint against "Col." Garry M. Gordon, an engineer, 38 years of age.

Marchesa Marcone, who said she is the widow of Marquis Piero Marcone, killed while a member of the Italian Army Air Corps during the war, charged specifically that the "colonel" had given her a check for $400 which was returned marked "no account." The money was in payment she added for $200 she had advanced him and for $200 worth of publicity work she had done for him.

But that was not all. The Marchesa declared Gordon obtained $5000 from her friends, including Miss Anne Morgan, daughter of J. P. Morgan. The women were anxious to help him develop his asserted inventions, the Marchesa explained. The inventions, as the Marchesa enumerated them, made a formidable list: Combustion turbine pneumatic airplane toy, supersensitive radio compass and direction finder and something known as a do-all machine.

Gordon admitted he had given his note for $300 to Miss Morgan and Miss Morgan's secretary, reached by telephone at her home, verified this.

"The Marchesa Marcone interested for someone called Col. Gordon," said the secretary. "Miss Morgan was interested because the man had an interesting war record."

POSSE FAILS IN HUNT FOR MAN'S BODY

Exploration of Unmarked Grave and Abandoned Well Prove Fruitless

SEATTLE, Nov. 27. (AP)—A posse of thirty-five men in command of a deputy sheriff combed the Bothell area near here from daylight until dark today in a futile effort to locate the body of James Eugene Bassett, former Annapolis (Md.) man, who has been missing since September, 1928.

Prosecutor Colvin, who renewed the search for the body after using a "vic detector" on Decasto Earl Mayer, suspected of killing Bassett, was not present with the searchers today.

An unmarked grave in Bear Creek Cemetery near Maltby, Wash., which probe showed was shallower than cemetery records indicated it should be, was opened, but without result. The investigators found only a normal coffin containing the body of a man known to have been killed in an automobile wreck about eighteen months ago.

Exploration of an abandoned well in a cemetery near Edmonds also proved fruitless.

Suspect Named 'Joe' Sought For

HANFORD, Nov. 27. (AP)—Search for a man known only as Joe was started by the Sheriff's office here today as the result of testimony given by Joe Martinez at the inquest yesterday into the death of Jasper Palacio, believed to have been the victim of poisoning.

A Fresno chemist testified at the inquest he found traces of poison in Palacio's stomach and Martinez declared that Palacio had told him a friend named Joe had given him a bitter drink. Martinez said he then gave Palacio a drink of wine tonic to take away the bitter taste and that shortly after Palacio died. No trace of poison was found in the tonic. Martinez is held in jail here.

Nine Arabs Get Death Sentence

HAIFA (Palestine) Nov. 27. (AP)—Nine Arabs were sentenced to death, and two to fifteen years' imprisonment today for the murder of a Jewish family at Safed during recent disturbances.

Safed was the scene of one of the bloodiest riots between the races and was only exceeded in number of the slain by the massacre at Hebron.

FINANCIER DIES AS BANKS FAIL

Oklahoman Fought Hard to Save Institutions

Apoplexy Reported Cause of Sudden Demise

Frozen Assets Declared to Blame for Closings

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 27. (AP)—defeated in his desperate struggle to keep alive a dozen banks crippled by the deflation period of 1920, H. A. McCauley, 55 years of age, former Mayor of Sapulpa, and board member of thirteen Oklahoma banks, died last night. His death came on the eve of the failure of the twelve banks, which did not open their doors today.

Graves Shull, Oklahoma Bank Commissioner, who placed the banks in charge of examiners, attributed their failure to "frozen assets." Their total deposits as of October 4 were $2,250,960 and their capital stock aggregated $310,000.

They are the Sapulpa State Bank, the Bank of Mounds, Henryetta State Bank, Bank of Commerce, Weletika; First State Bank, Vian; Citizens' State Bank, Webber Falls; Davenport State Bank, Ollion State Bank, First State Bank, Teriton; Avant State Bank, Keystone State Bank, and the Bank of Kellyville.

C. J. Alexander, assistant State Bank Commissioner, who is in charge of the Sapulpa State Bank, said today that he understood that McCauley was in Tulsa yesterday attempting to float a loan with which to carry the bank over the crisis, and that he was unsuccessful.

"McCauley believed he could work out his problem," said Shull, "and did not give up until yesterday when he received a final answer from parties whom he had hoped would take over the banks."

Apprehensive lest the failures would be attributed to the recent stock market crash, Shull hastened to say that the failures simply were coincidental with the market collapse. Officers, he said, had not speculated with bank money.

Hope destroyed, McCauley returned last night to his home. He collapsed as he started to retire, and died, his wife said, less than an hour later. Dr. P. K. Lewis, who was summoned, said he had died of apoplexy.

McCauley, in addition to his banking interests, was a civic leader in Sapulpa. He was Mayor for one term, and one of the first commissioners under the present City Manager form of government.

The only bank which McCauley controlled, and which did not close its doors, was the American State Bank of Forum.

Shull indicated there was a possibility that the banks at Henryetta and possibly one or two others might reopen soon.

Western Pacific President Testifies at Hearing

Western Expos Contentions of Necessity Lack

Taking of Evidence by I.C.C. Comes to End

BY FLOYD J. HEALEY
Times Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.—H. ... Adams, president of the Western Pacific Railroad Company, took the witness stand late today in the ... Interstate Commerce Commission hearing on the proposed "Western ... Great Northern link application, in a last effort to refute ... Southern Pacific contentions the ... line will not be of any public ... convenience or necessity. As Adams ... stated, the long-drawn out case ... finally approached its conclusion.

The case finally went into the hands of the Interstate Commerce ... Commission early this evening.

Adams asserted the Southern Pacific offers to open various gateways to Western Pacific and Great ... Western traffic, in which the ... line would be used as a bridge-carrier, will not provide the benefits ... to the appellant railroads, the Southern Pacific claims it will, because of the fact the Southern Pacific in such instances would be ... getting only the short haul and the ... revenue would amount to one in which the Western Pacific would be competing with itself.

The proposed connection, on the ... Feather, he said, will be one of ... mutual interests and the development of business between them will ... be of benefit to both.

He was asked by E. J. Foulds ... Southern Pacific counsel if the ... operation of the two lines at ... Keddie would not provide overlapping competition between the Great ... Western and Western Pacific in ... the area between Keddie and Klamath Falls. Adams readily admitted this will be true, but asserted the benefits to be gained by ... the elimination of business will offset the natural rivalry between the ... competing lines.

Counsel of the intervenors on ... behalf of the Southern Pacific and ... Western Pacific, seeking to prevent ... the building of the line, was completed ... during the day, and the rest of the ... time was used by the Western ... Pacific in attempting to break down ... certain points of the Southern Pacific case.

FOUR COUNTIES GET ROAD JOBS

Contracts for Highway Work $236,786

Cement Paving Ordered for Coast Stretch

Bridge to be Built Near Cajon Station

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 27. (AP)—Contracts totaling $236,786 for highway work in Orange, Santa Barbara, San Bernardino and Imperial counties were awarded today by Bert B. Meek, director of the State Department of Public Works. The projects are as follows:

Orange county—A $201,545 contract was awarded to the Macco Construction Company, Inc., of Clearwater, Cal., for the grading and paving with Portland cement 6.4 miles between Sunset Beach and Newport Beach. This is a portion of the Coast Highway. The roadbed is to be 90 to 100 feet wide, and widening of the present pavement to thirty feet, thus providing space needed for parking.

Santa Barbara county—The Cornwall Construction Company of Santa Barbara was awarded a $17,483 contract for the widening with oil-treated crusher-run base, 5.5 miles between Eagle and El Capitan Creek. This section of improvement is about eleven and one-half miles north of Santa Barbara on the Coast Highway.

San Bernardino county—Pittman & Hippenstiel of Riverside were awarded a $13,087 contract for construction of a reinforced concrete bridge near Cajon station, consisting of three twenty-foot spans on concrete piers and abutments with wing walls, with a clear roadway width of thirty-four feet. The approaches are to be graded to a width of thirty-six feet. This bridge is on the Cajon Pass lateral.

Imperial county—De Waard & Son of San Diego were awarded a $14,659 contract for construction of a subway under the San Diego and Arizona Railway near Coyote Wells on the main highway from Imperial Valley to San Diego. This is to be a steel-beam, timber deck on concrete abutment type og subway. This structure is on the new alignment constructed after the old road was washed out in 1926.

DUBLIN NUNCIO NAMED

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 27. (AP)—The Pope today appointed Mgr. Pasquale Robinson apostolic nuncio to Dublin. Mgr. Robinson is titular archbishop of Thana. The nuncio at Dublin will be technically accredited to England, but will not reside in English territory.

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

SOUTHLAND WILL RENDER THANKS

Union Church Services for Thankful in Many Cities

President's Proclamation to be Read to People

Sermon and Song in Praise of Maker for Bounties

ONTARIO, Nov. 27.—Thanksgiving Day will be observed here and in Upland tomorrow with union church services. Ontario churches are uniting for services at the First Baptist Church at 10 o'clock. Rev. W. S. Carter of the First Christian Church will ask the invocation. Rev. J. Orrin Gould of the Baptist Church, will read the President's proclamation. Prayer will be offered by Rev. A. E. Anderson of the Sunnyrene Church and the sermon, "Songs of Hope in a Strange Land," will be preached by Rev. Charles L. Knight of Bethel Congregational Church. The offering will be given to the Community Chest.

Upland churches unite with the annual sessions of the Pacific Coast Churches of the Brethren in Christ, now in conference at the Brethren Church in Upland. This service opens at 9 a.m., to be followed with a musical program by Beulah College students and groups. Dr. Bert Foster, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal Church, will give the sermon.

For the past ten days Ontario children have been seen going to school bearing either a potato, onion or other vegetable, fruit or can of jam or jelly or maybe a bundle of clothing. The 2000 school children of four schools, by bearing these gifts to school, enabled the P.T.A. women to fill a great number of baskets of food for the needy of the community, which were distributed today for Thanksgiving dinners.

AZUSA JOINT SERVICES IN CHRISTIAN CHURCH TODAY

AZUSA, Nov. 27.—Four Protestant churches of this city will hold union Thanksgiving services tomorrow in the First Christian Church. Rev. C. S. Cossey, pastor of the Baptist Church, will preach on "Thanksgiving and What It Means." Other pastors who will take part in the services, which will begin at 10 a.m., are Rev. Johnson of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Rev. McCuick of the Christian Church, and Dr. J. W. Haman, pastor pro tem of the Presbyterian Church.

MONROVIA HOLDS THANKS SERVICES ON EVE OF DAY

MONROVIA, Nov. 27.—For the first time services were held here the night before Thanksgiving when Monrovia churches joined in a program tonight at the First Methodist Church, with Rev. H. H. Hulse, pastor of the First Baptist Church and president of the Ministerial Union, presiding.

The church was crowded to hear the President's proclamation read by Rev. Frank H. Shaul, pastor of the Christian Church.

Rev. Fletcher G. Watson, pastor of the host church, delivered the principal sermon of the evening, taking as his subject, "The Sin of Ingratitude," and other ministers participating in the services were Rev. J. Alvin Shirley, rector of St. Luke's Episcopal Church, and Rev. C. R. Brodhead of the Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Harold Scott, church organist, and Ray Howard Crittenden, director of the Methodist choir, offered a special arrangement of appropriate music.

HUNTINGTON PARK WILL HOLD UNION SERVICE TODAY

HUNTINGTON PARK, Nov. 27. Union Thanksgiving services are to be held in the First Methodist Church tomorrow morning, when several of the ministers of the different denominations will be on the program. The Thanksgiving proclamation, issued by President Hoover, will be read by Rev. S. S. Sampson, pastor of the First Methodist Church. Prayer will be offered by Rev. Herbert Weaver, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran Church, and Scripture reading by Rev. Kelly O'Neall, pastor of the First Christian Church. Rev. Walter Pegg of the First Baptist Church, will deliver the Thanksgiving address. The closing prayer will be given by Rev. William Kirby, pastor of the Friends Church. The benediction will be pronounced by Rev. Harry Gray of the St. Clement's Episcopal Church.

CHILDREN'S CHOIR FEATURE OF SIERRA MADRE SERVICE

SIERRA MADRE, Nov. 27.—A special feature of Thanksgiving services to be held at the Congregational Church tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. will be the children's choir from the Children's Home of the Plaza Community Center who will make their public appearance tomorrow under the direction of Miss C. M. Clark, matron of the home.

The children will be costumed appropriate to the day and will sing both in Spanish and English, Miss Clark stated.

Eighteen children, nine girls and nine boys, compose the choir, the youngest member being little Ruth Lopez, 3 years of age, and the oldest pretty Ester Hauffen and Teresa Rivera, both 14 years of age. Mario Urlarta, 4, is the youngest boy in the choir.

The Children's Home, which was instituted here six years ago by the Plaza Community Church of Los Angeles, is managed by Miss E. N. Gibson.

"The Grounds for Thanksgiving" will be the subject of the sermon to be delivered by Rev. Arthur O. Pritchard, pastor of the Congregational Church.

MANY CHURCHES WILL GIVE THANKS IN GARDENA TODAY

GARDENA, Nov. 27.—Union services sponsored by St. John's Lutheran Church and the Baptist and Methodist churches of the district at the Baptist Church tonight, together with Thanksgiving services at St. Anthony's Catholic Church and at the Moneta Presbyterian Church tomorrow morning, comprise the holiday observance here. At the services tonight Dr. A. C. Stevens, president of the Spanish-American Institute, was the speaker, and there was special music by the combined choirs. Mass at St. Anthony's Church will be at 8 a.m. tomorrow, with Rev. M. J. Baler as celebrant. Rev. M. L. Leitch will conduct the Thanksgiving morning service of the Moneta Presbyterian Church at 10 a.m. Mrs. Greta Elliott will preside at the organ and a special musical program is being arranged under the direction of Elsie Fair Crapenhoft.

SOUTH BAY DISTRICT TO HOLD THANKSGIVING RITES

REDONDO BEACH, Nov. 27.—Special union Thanksgiving services, in which churches of the South Bay district participated, were held in the Central school auditorium here tonight. Rev. C. B. Dalton, pastor of the First Methodist Church, delivered the message, with special music by the Century Choral Club under the direction of C. H. Van Hellen. At St. James's Catholic Church services will be at 7:30 a.m. tomorrow.

TORRANCE PROTESTANTS IN JOINT THANKS SERVICES

TORRANCE, Nov. 27.—Protestant churches of this district are uniting in a Thanksgiving morning service arranged for 10 a.m. at the Baptist Church. Rev. G. G. Elder, pastor of the First Christian Church, will deliver the sermon. A choir of twenty voices will sing.

SPECIAL PRAISE SERVICES AT HERMOSA BEACH TODAY

HERMOSA BEACH, Nov. 27.—Special praise services will be conducted at St. Cross Episcopal Church here tomorrow at 10 a.m., marked by Thanksgiving music and the reading of President Hoover's Thanksgiving proclamation by the rector, Rev. C. H. Parlour.

TURKEY'S DAY HAS COME

Gladys Truman of Santa Ana ready to let ax fall on Thanksgiving fowl, well fattened on oranges and walnuts. This bird will provide sumptuous repast for large Orange county family.

ROOST ROBBERS PLY TRADE IN BURBANK

BURBANK, Nov. 27.—Police Chief R. L. Bergh may establish a special squad of turkey trailers to put a stop to the number of roost robberies which have been reported to police here during the last two days.

"I have urged all owners of poultry to put locks on their roosts and to provide adequate barriers around their coops, but it appears to have done little good," the Chief declared today as he scanned a report from a resident who stated he lost four fat turkeys last night.

HIGH-BORN FELINES IN GLENDALE SHOW

GLENDALE, Nov. 27.—High-born cats of every variety will compete for title honors in the seventeenth championship show that is to be held here on the 29th and 30th inst., under the auspices of the Glendale Cat Fanciers, at 204 South Brand Boulevard.

SQUADRON WINS SCHIFF AIR TROPHY

North Island Unit Gets Prize for "Crashless" Hours Flown in Year

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 27.—Squadron VN-7 D-11, training squadron at the North Island Naval Air Station, is to be awarded the Herbert Schiff trophy this year for the greatest number of "crashless" hours, according to report received by Capt. Frank R. McCrary, commanding the station. Originally given to the individual pilot with the best safety record, the trophy was awarded this year for the first time to the entire squadron whose record was the best, Capt. McCrary said.

Lieut. Thomas G. Fisher, commanding the squadron when the record was made, probably will go to Washington next month when the award is made by President Hoover, to receive the trophy on behalf of the squadron, it was said at the naval air station. Fisher now is attached to the aircraft squadron, United States battle fleet.

Peacemaker Gets Patches

PASADENA, Nov. 27.—Mother-in-law jokes have ceased to amuse Jack Hovey, 27 years of age, of 756 South Carondelet street, Los Angeles, who was rushed to the Emergency Hospital here today after his wife's mother had beaten him into insensibility with a club. Hovey told hospital attendants that he came to this city to "patch up" differences with his wife, who is living here with her parents.

Instead of patching up the family difficulties, Hovey returned to Los Angeles wearing patches on his head and shoulders. "Mother-in-law only used a piece of firewood, but it felt like a ton of brick," he explained.

VALLEY LAWYERS TO ELECT NEW OFFICERS

SAN FERNANDO, Nov. 27.—The final meeting of the San Fernando Valley Bar Association for the year will be conducted at the Porter Hotel on Thursday, December 5, beginning at 6:30 p.m. One of the features of the meeting will be the election of officers for the coming year and the voting on the proposed amendments to the by-laws of the organization.

According to Wendell P. Hubbard of Van Nuys, secretary and treasurer, the association enjoys a full membership and the constructive program for 1930 is the best yet fostered by the members.

WIFE-BEATER SENTENCED

Ontario Contractor Given Hundred-Day Term in Jail Following Testimony on Attack and Threats

ONTARIO, Nov. 27.—For the asserted beating and choking his wife and threatening to cut her heart out with a butcher knife, S. F. Warren, Ontario contractor, must spend 100 days in the County Jail unless his contemplated appeal to higher court is successful. Warren was sentenced today to spend 100 days in jail.

His attorney immediately filed notice of appeal. Before pronouncing sentence, Judge George R. Holbrook took Warren to task for the asserted flagrant attack he had made upon his wife after thirty-three years of living together. Warren was told by the judge that if he were a younger man he would be given a much longer jail sentence, but because of his advanced years he would impose sentence of 100 days and put one-third of the amount to her account in the bank and gave the rest to her husband. This infuriated him, she said, and after locking the doors and shutting the windows he attacked her, pounded and choked her and dragged her to the kitchen to make good his threat with a butcher knife. Mrs. Warren testified she saved herself by writing a check to her husband for the amount she had put in the bank to her account.

Neighbors testified regarding the condition of the aged woman following the attack.

REDS HELD ON TWO CHARGES

Eight Asserted Communists Jailed in San Bernardino

Violation of State Law and City Ordinance Declared

Attempt at Street Speaking on Yucaipa Camp Nipped

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 27.—Held on two charges, that of violating a city ordinance prohibiting speaking on the streets without a permit and a State law by "participating in a roistering and tumultuous assembly," the eight asserted Communists, who attempted to hold a radical meeting in this city last night, were in the City Jail today in default of $1500 bail each. The accused reds are Frank Waldron, an officer of the International Labor Defense, under whose auspices the meeting was to have been held; George Klos, Frank S. Pector, William Adams, Irving Kreitsberg, G. Emory and Thomas Ray.

The complaints were issued by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Joseph R. Rensch early today and signed by Chief of Police Harry R. Heap. Police acted promptly when the Reds attempted to hold a meeting on the streets to tell "the true story of the Little Soviet camp," which was broken up in the foothills near Yucaipa last summer, the result of which was the conviction of Yetta Stromberg and six of her assistants at the camp where children were being taught Communism.

Denied the use of a hall, the Reds marched down the street to a restaurant and when Waldron attempted to speak in the cafe, the owner turned off the lights. The party then started speaking on the streets, the police arresting them as rapidly as they mounted soap boxes.

LOYOLA WARMLY WELCOMED

Inglewood Leaders Extend Greeting to University Officials and Faculty

INGLEWOOD, Nov. 27.—Inglewood civic, business and social leaders turned out last night in enthusiastic welcome to Loyola University officials, faculty and students, at a banquet sponsored by the Inglewood Chamber of Commerce and participated in by all the service clubs in the community. Postmaster Fred E. Laxdal was chairman of the evening, and an official welcome to this city was extended by Mayor Hugh B. Lawrence.

Father Sullivan, president of Loyola University, on behalf of that institution of learning, expressed thanks and appreciation for the hospitality and friendship extended, as did also Joseph Scott, head of the Loyola law school; Father Piet, provincial leader of the Jesuit order, and Superior Judge Yankwich of Los Angeles.

A. E. Chamberlain, president of the local chamber; Frank D. Parent, Ernest W. Gould, head of the Lions' Club; Ed Harris, Rotary president, and Scotty Jonathan, Kiwanis head, added words of felicitation to the welcome extended the university men.

A feature of the evening was the presence of Coach Driver and his squad of gridiron warriors that will play in the Thanksgiving Day game at Wrigley Field. The Lion trio, Loyola's crack musical organization, sang and there were numbers by the eminent Irish tenor, Walter O'Malley.

Father John Buckley of St. John's Catholic Church of this city offered the invocation.

Santa Fe Train Shears Truck From Trailer

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 27.—Scores of passengers on the Santa Fe train which leaves the Union Depot at 9 a.m., narrowly escaped death or serious injury today when the locomotive struck a truck and trailer at a crossing near the Vitrified Products Corporation plant at Old Town, according to reports.

The locomotive sheared between truck and trailer, leaving truck and driver in the clear, it was stated. The driver, whose name was not learned, escaped injury.

The front wheels of the locomotive were torn off by the crash, it was reported. Had the front trucks of the locomotive moved several inches further the heavy engine would have plunged off the railroad enbankment, according to eye-witnesses.

CAPTURED SUSPECT TAKES POISON, DIES

WESTMORELAND, Nov. 27.—While officers were waiting to take him to the County Jail last night on a complaint involving the issuance of worthless checks, V. L. Hurt, rancher near here, swallowed cyanide and died.

According to friends, Hurt's wife recently left him and he had lost most of his money. He was arrested late last night, but asked the officers for permission to enter a service station to get some of his belongings. When he failed to return a search was started, but it was not until this morning that the body was found behind a nearby building.

Associates stated that he had carried the poison for several weeks and had threatened to take his own life. The wife is said to be residing at Somerton, Ariz.

GILLETT CASES ALL DISMISSED

Remaining Charges Against Imperial Sheriff Dropped

District Attorney Declares Conviction Impossible

Witnesses Gone to Mexico and Can't be Returned

EL CENTRO, Nov. 27.—Attempts made by two Imperial county grand juries to oust Sheriff Charles Gillett from office and convict him on charges of misappropriating funds and misconduct in office ended today, when Dist.-Atty. Elmer Heid asked the court to dismiss the three remaining counts in the accusation against the officer.

The charges dismissed today involved accusations of immorality. Heid said that it would be impossible to secure a conviction because the witnesses had left the United States and could not be returned due to immigration restrictions. They are Mexican women who were former inmates of the County Jail, Heid stated.

Today's action finally removes from the criminal court calendar in Imperial Valley a case that has been in the lime light since the 1927 county grand jury returned three indictments and an accusation involving 270 counts against the Sheriff.

Demurrers filed by defense attorneys resulted in the indictments being returned to the 1928 grand jury for amendment or dismissal. New indictments were returned in June, 1928. Gillett's first trial resulted in a hung jury. At a second trial two months ago the Sheriff was acquitted of the criminal charges of theft and embezzlement contained in the indictments.

Later Judge A. C. Finney dismissed all but three of the counts contained in the accusation on the ground that they covered the same allegations as the indictments for which Gillett had been tried and acquitted. Heid's motion today finally removed the Gillett case from the calendar.

The Sheriff has not yet indicated whether or not he will be a candidate for re-election next year.

Bishop Says New Prayer Book to be Read Sunday

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 27.—Speaking before the fall meeting of the San Bernardino convention of Episcopal churches Bishop W. Bertrand Stevens announced here today that the new prayer book, the product of twelve years of diligent labors of a special commission, assisted by laymen and pastors throughout the land, will be introduced into Episcopal churches next Sunday. Bishop Stevens is head of the Los Angeles diocese, comprising all of Southern California.

Succeeding the famous Episcopal prayer book of a few years ago, which gained widespread comment by omission of the word "obey" from the marriage ceremony, the new book, the bishop says, represents a vast improvement and is certain to fill a great need among church people of the land.

Rev. William Cowans of Redlands was re-elected dean of the convocation. Bishop Middleton Barnwell of Boise, Idaho, told of missionary work among the midwestern mountain folk.

State's Suit for Road Dismissed

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 27.—Motion for dismissal on briefs submitted in the State's suit to open a public road through the Elwood oil fields to the State tidewater oil leases along the coast to this field was granted today by Superior Court Judge Collier. U. S. Webb, Attorney-General for California, brought the suit as a complaint in eminent domain.

Judge Collier granted the motion to dismiss on the ground that Atty.-Gen. Webb "has no authority or power to institute or prosecute such action on behalf of the State of California." Whether the Attorney-General will appeal the case to a higher court has not been indicated. The latter's contention was that, the tidelands, being State - owned and the State receiving a royalty from the wells thereon, it was interested with the permit holders in having a road opened.

TIPSY TRUCK SLINGS MUD IN INGLEWOOD

INGLEWOOD, Nov. 27. — "Mud slinging" on a large scale occurred here last night, the offender in this case not being an individual, but a huge tank truck engaged in hauling rotary mud from the East Side oil field.

The truck was driven by H. B. West of 1146 West Florence avenue, Los Angeles, an employee of the Collins Transfer Company. To avoid hitting an approaching sedan at a corner where these trucks usually make a side turn without slackening speed, the truck driver took the turn too sharply, according to police reports, and the top-heavy truck tipped over and, as it toppled, the tank cover came off and mud deluged the street and also the passing sedan and some of its occupants.

Because of the slipperiness of the street after this accident, a wrecking car had great difficulty in righting the tank truck. Every time it was almost perpendicular it would slip on the slimy mud and go down again, throwing mud in all directions and begging down in the mean.

WHY REPORTERS ENJOY LIVING

PASADENA, Nov. 27.—Dr. Hugh C. Wolfe of the University of Michigan, one of the two outstanding authorities on the principle of microscopic reversibility in the kinetic theory, arrived here recently to carry on research at the California Institute of Technology.

"What do you really do?" puzzled reporters asked the authority.

The following answer caused the newspaper men to replace their pencils in their pockets and slink away:

"My method of research consists of the representation of particles participating in collisions by their relativistic four-vectors of energy and momentum—that is, by the four dimensional vectors having as their components the three spacial components of the momentum of the particle and a fourth component whose magnitude is that of the energy of the particle divided by the speed of light, this also having the dimensions of momentum."

Two of the reporters are reported now in "four-vector" straight jackets.

WOMAN KILLED BY TRUCK

Aged Alhambra Resident Struck Down While Crossing Street; Driver Held Without Bail

ALHAMBRA, Nov. 27.—Mrs. Bertha T. Boyd, 62 years of age, of 1530 Campbell avenue, this city, was instantly killed this afternoon when she was hit by a truck while crossing the street at Valley Boulevard and Electric avenue. Police arrested the driver of the truck, Charles E. Wagner, 27, negro, of 1731 Newton street, Los Angeles and are holding him without bail on a charge of suspicion of manslaughter.

According to police, the truck, owned by the Los Angeles News Company, continued for 225 feet after striking the woman before Wagner brought it to a stop. He admitted to officers, they said, that he was traveling between thirty-five and forty miles an hour. The body was removed to the mortuary of F. A. Utter & Son, where an inquest will be held at 9:30 a.m. Monday. Mrs. Boyd leaves her husband, H. L. Boyd, and one daughter.

HAWTHORNE CHIEF OF POLICE OUT

I. V. Thorpe Hands in His Resignation and Council Accepts Unanimously

HAWTHORNE, Nov. 27.—The resignation of I. V. Thorpe, Chief of Police of this city during two terms of about eighteen months each, became effective yesterday. The department is now in the hands of William Deal, former motorcycle officer, as Acting Chief until such time as permanent arrangements can be made.

His office has been the subject of two attacks during the past six months. His resignation was requested, but not accepted about a month ago. His resignation at this time was entirely voluntary, city officials say, and was unanimously accepted.

Other plans, not divulged in his communication to the City Council are responsible for the resignation, he said.

Thanksgiving Spirit Builds Home in Chino

CHINO, Nov. 27.—Even though their humble home was burned to the ground recently and all their personal possessions lost, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Espinosa are thankful today. They are thankful to the kindly rancher neighbors they have who are rebuilding their home for them. The stricken couple is without funds to rebuild the home, but led by V. M. Parker, rancher of Chino Valley, other ranchers have rallied, the foundation for the home has been laid by them and within a short time the structure will be completed. Cost of materials for building the home will come from a fund raised by popular subscription. The fund is also providing for other needs of the family.

MT. WILSON LIGHTS NOT ON OBSERVATORY

PASADENA, Nov. 27.—Six new lights on the summit of Mt. Wilson, which viewed from many valley cities have aroused considerable speculation, have no connection with apparatus at the Carnegie Observatory, but surmount poles which carry current from the Mt. Wilson Hotel to the reservoir pumping plant, it was learned today.

The high-powered electric lamps, equipped with reflectors, were placed on the power poles which extend a quarter of a mile along the mountain top, to attract the attention of the valley population.

Success of the publicity bid is attested to by the fact that more than fifty telephone calls have been received by the local police department from puzzled star gazers.

ANTHONY FREED ON BAIL

Asserted Embezzler of Large Sums from San Diego Branch of Bank of Italy Gives Property Bond

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 27.—After arraignment before United States Commissioner Henry C. Ryan on charges of misapplying moneys, funds and credits of the Bank of Italy branch here and of converting same to his own use, Herbert E. Anthony, local banker, was freed today on a $25,000 property bond. In the complaint misapplication in the sum of $75,000 is charged. Complaint against Anthony was filed with Judge Ryan today by John R. Layng of Los Angeles, United States Attorney. Layng, who is an expert in bank cases, arrived by auto from Los Angeles late yesterday and declared that Anthony had been virtually in his custody since his arrival, the two staying at the U. S. Grant Hotel last night. The bond which Anthony furnished today was signed by Cave J. Couts and George R. Daily.

Although the complaint charging misapplication of bank funds was predicated upon an asserted act by Anthony on the 14th inst., in which the sum of $75,000 was involved, the entire sum declared to be involved in the defalcation charges is said to approximate $300,000.

ACCUSED MAN ENTERED BANK CAREER IN 1897

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27. (AP)—H. E. Anthony, manager of the San Diego branch of the Bank of Italy, under arrest for asserted embezzlement of $300,000, began his banking career in 1897, records at the Bank of Italy head office here show. Before he entered banking he was ticket agent for the San Diego and Pacific Beach Railway.

Anthony started with the Merchants National Bank at San Diego and rose to its vice-presidency. In 1922 when it was taken over by the Bank of Italy he was made the bank's manager and later given a vice-presidency. When the branch moved this month to new headquarters in the former John D. Spreckels Building, Anthony was one of the three or four high officials placed in charge.

Anthony, the records here show, is 52 years old, married, and has two children.

WOMAN CAR VICTIM MAY LOSE LIMB; GAME WARDEN HURT

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 27.—Run down by an automobile on the streets here last night, Miss Olive Boyd, 29 years of age, of Riverside, was in a critical condition in a hospital today. Hit by a car driven by Miss Dorine Boroker of Los Angeles, Miss Boyd suffered fracture of her left leg and internal injuries. Amputation of her leg may be necessary, according to physicians. Miss Boyd is an employee of the Mission Inn at Riverside.

W. C. Malone, county game warden, who was injured when his automobile struck a truck near the State game farm, south of Ontario Monday night, was reported to be improved today at the San Antonio Community Hospital at Upland. Malone, widely known among sportsmen throughout Southern California, suffered four broken ribs and internal injuries. His life was despaired of for several hours following the crash.

Chamber Board Elected; Junior Body Accepted

GLENDALE, Nov. 27. — The annual election for directors of the Chamber of Commerce that ended last night resulted in the election of H. Park Arnold, Frank M. Brock, Herman Psenner, Normal C. Hayhurst, Dan Campbell, Jr., and Roger W. Jessup as members of the board for the coming year.

Marking the close of his administration as president, M. W. Lee last night entertained the directors and their wives at dinner in the Masonic Temple, and at a special meeting called for Monday next, the outgoing board will turn over control of the organization to the new directors.

The petition presented by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, organized along the lines followed by the Los Angeles Junior Chamber, and asking admission to the senior body as an integral part of the major group, was accepted by the directors.

REDLANDS PACK BREAKS RECORD

Co-operative Has Largest Year in Its History

All Indebtedness on Plant Paid Off, Report Shows

Diversion of Small Fruit to By-products Urged

REDLANDS, Nov. 27.—At the annual meeting of the Redlands Co-operative Fruit Association held today reports were given showing that the house, one of the largest in the city, had the largest pack in its history during the past year. C. [illegible] Clock, president, presided at the meeting. Walter O. Henstchke, secretary-manager, made the report for the packing-house.

It has been a year of small crops and much fruit, said the secretary-manager, and sales were hindered to begin with by cold weather in the East. The country has been called upon to absorb 488 cars in excess of shipping day of the year. California and Florida put into the market 140,000 cars of citrus fruit, fully 33 per cent more than ever before.

During the season, the report indicated, the Redlands Co-operative marketed 161,816 boxes of navels, 21,843 of Valencias, 3000 boxes of Sweets, 870 boxes of grapefruit and 1151 lugs of tangerines.

The house packed 461,000 boxes of fruit in all, besides selling about 2,364,000 pounds of unculled fruit to the by-products plant.

Indebtedness on the plant was paid off last March, Henstchke stated. Despite higher costs of operation than last year, the house this year makes refund to its members of $41,491, or 20½ cents per packed box. The net cost per packed box was 68 cents.

Henstchke declared that the biggest problem facing the industry is the disposal of off sizes and unsalable fruit. If sold at the door they probably will find their way into markets and compete with properly packed stuff. They should not be thus sold, he said, but diverted into the by-products plant.

Guests at the dinner were given Christmas presents from the reserve fund and the annual refund, a total amounting to $84,407, which was distributed at adjournment.

Speakers were A. E. Barnes and Mark Anderson.

License to Wed Stolen but Pair Marry on Time

BEAR VALLEY, Nov. 27.—Mr. and Mrs. Elwin W. Lee of Fresno, are enjoying their honeymoon here despite the efforts of a thief to keep them from doing so.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee planned to be married on Sunday. Mrs. Lee is the daughter of W. E. Hollenbocker, one of the pioneers of the valley and for many years in charge of the dam, and Mr. Lee is one of the merchants here.

They went to San Bernardino and secured a license and came back to the valley to be married. But when the time came for the marriage, there was no license. It had been stolen from the car, and a telephone message to County Clerk Harry Allison convinced him. Clifford Lynn the license had been issued. He married the couple as they appeared at the County Clerk later to get another license.

Motor Cars May Replace Steam

VENTURA, Nov. 27.—Motor cars may replace the steam locomotive now in use upon the Ojai branch of the Southern Pacific, if test of motor-car train today proves satisfactory. A large passenger-baggage motor car reached this city at noon and this afternoon was scheduled to try out the run with a string of three cars.

The change is being tested in the interests of economy, Southern Pacific depot officials said. The motor train requires a crew of only two as compared to six men aboard the steam train.

AIRCRAFT PUBLICITY MAN WINS PROMOTION

VAN NUYS, Nov. 27.—Harry Maynard, who for some time has been publicity director of the Metropolitan Airport, near here, has resigned his position to go to St. Louis, where he will become director of publicity of the aviation division of the Missouri Chamber of Commerce at St. Louis. The place was offered to Maynard by Cliff W. Henderson, director of the division.

Maynard's first work will be in handling the publicity for the International Aircraft Exposition which is to be held at St. Louis in February. From there he will go to New York to take charge of similar work for the Aircraft Show at Madison Square Garden.

From there he will go to Chicago to handle the aircraft display there in September, and then back to Los Angeles, where he will direct publicity for the Pacific Western Aircraft Show that is to be held on the Pacific Coast in the fall of 1930.

HELP PLEDGED IN CAMPAIGN

Old Ironsides Benefit Wins New Aid

Circus of Women's Clubs Promised Support
Miss Alice Tanner shaking hands with Secretary of State Jordan. Miss Elizabeth Maguire stands between.

ARRANGEMENTS were perfected yesterday for the Save-Old Ironside Circus at Lincoln Pleasure Park, December 4 to 9, next. At a meeting in Elks' Temple aid was pledged to the women's clubs sponsoring the circus by Secretary of State Jordan and Capt. Woodbine, commander of the Eleventh Naval District. Mrs. Warren Meeker is chairman of arrangements, assisted by Mrs. Arthur Ferguson, Mrs. G. B. Johnson, Mrs. Charles Tanner, Mrs. Everett Douglas, Mrs. Louis Gabel, Mrs. Gordon McMurray, Helen Bunch, Muriel Swenson, Alice Tanner and Elizabeth Maguire.

Mrs. Harry B. Wallace, past Worthy Matron of Roseland Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, is urging various chapters to pledge support. Orra Monnette last night made a radio plea to save Old Ironsides.

Bands from the Pacific Fleet are announced to play at the various performances of the five-ring circus, at which professional performers will present the program.

ORTIZ RUBIO ELIGIBLE TO PRESIDENCY

High Commission Rejects Vasconcelos Contention; Official Count Today

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 27. (AP)—The High Commission of the Chamber of Deputies today rejected an objection of supporters of Jose Vasconcelos to the election of Pascual Ortiz Rubio as President, on the ground that he had not been a resident of Mexico for a full year prior to November 17, last, as required by law.

Ortiz Rubio returned in late January from his post in Brazil, where he was Ambassador. The commission held that under the international law of extraterritoriality he had been serving Mexico while in Brazil, living on Mexican territory in the Legation and, was therefore, a legal resident of the country.

The last of the ballots cast in the election arrived today from Lower California and the commission expects to finish computation of the electoral vote tomorrow. It will submit its findings to the complete Chamber for approval, after which the official results will be announced.

El Universal Grafico today said that a package of ballots had been delivered by airplane from Los Angeles, Cal., where Mexicans are said to have set up a voting booth. Their vote showed 856 for Ortiz Rubio, 15 for Gen. Iriana of the Workers' and Peasants' party, and 7 for Vasconcelos. The newspaper said that the commission held these to be unconstitutional but considered them indicative as a straw vote.

Pacific Institute Retains Greene for Chairman

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27. (AP)—Jerome D. Greene of New York City was re-elected chairman of the American Council of the Institute of Pacific Relations at its annual meeting here today. In accordance with institute custom newspaper men were barred from the meeting, which was attended by about a score of institute members.

Wallace M. Alexander of San Francisco and Honolulu was named vice-chairman. Mr. Greene had been serving out the term as chairman to which Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur of Stanford University, now Secretary of the Interior, originally was elected.

The council heard reports from its offices and committees, discussed the results of the recent institute meeting in Kyoto, Japan, and considered topics to be suggested for the agenda of the next meeting of the institute in 1931.

Americans Given Divorce Decrees in Paris Courts

PARIS, Nov. 27. (AP)—Two American women and one American man were granted divorces in Paris courts today.

Mrs. Maria Wilson Beers was given a decree from Herbert Stewart Beers, to whom she was married in 1926 at the American Consulate at London.

Mrs. Caroline Carruthers Clement was granted a decree from Joseph Taylor Clement, described as an officer in the United States Army stationed at Charlotte, N. C. They were married in May, 1913.

Robert Sage was given a decree from Marie LaForge Sage, whom he married in Detroit September 12, 1926.

Louise Liebiein Blakely filed an application for divorce from Charles Blakely, whom she married in Paris April 16, 1930.

Mrs. Barbara Guggenheim Waldeman filed an application for divorce from Milton Sylvester Waldeman, whom she married in Paris.

Miller Accused by ex-Secretary

DETROIT, Nov. 27. (AP)—David E. Stott, vice-president of the David E. Stott Flour Mills, Inc., and treasurer of the Morehead Manufacturing Company, has been named defendant in a $50,000 damage suit filed by Mrs. Louella E. Puett, attorney and Stott's former secretary.

Mrs. Puett claims that Stott knocked her down and beat her in his office June 13, last. She said she had been Stott's secretary for thirteen years, leaving his employ after the asserted beating.

ENGINEER KILLED IN BRAZIL

Company Geologist, Former Porterville Man, Dies While Attempting to Shoot Rapids of River

PORTERVILLE, Nov. 27.—While details of the drowning of Maurice Schmittou, formerly of this city, on the 12th inst., in the wilds of Brazil, employed by the Standard Oil Company of New York as a geologist, were meager, the tragedy is said to have occurred while the young man was shooting the rapids of a river. He is known to have used one of the native dugout boats, instead of the cumbersome canoes favored by the natives, as it is believed to have overturned in the rush of waters.

Word of the tragedy was nine days in reaching here, and confirmation with word of the death of young Schmittou became known. In a recent letter to his parents Schmittou declared that the natives had to build fires constantly, as the natives frequently were unfriendly to whites. Schmittou had expected to visit his people within a few weeks.

His brothers, Leland of Berkeley, Clarke of Long Beach and Lucian of Porterville, are conferring with the Brazilian Consul in San Francisco this week in an effort to hasten the search for the young man's body. The Standard Oil Company is bending every effort to find the body.

MANNA FALLS FROM HEAVEN

Envelope With $500 Tossed At Feet of Stranded Motorist

KENOSHA (Wis.) Nov. 27. (Exclusive)—A motorist who ran out of gasoline on a country highway some miles west of here tried in vain to get cars to stop as they passed him.

Finally, he started lighting matches and holding them up to his face as he saw a car approach. One car slowed down, and a hand was thrust out of the window. An envelope was tossed at his feet. He picked up the envelope and found $500 in bills.

THOUSANDS IN CAMPUS PAJAMERINO

Several thousand ardent, pajama-clad rooters of University of California at Los Angeles yelled and paraded around a mammoth, 100-foot bonfire last night on the Westwood campus in the annual "pajamerino" rally held the night before the big football game of the year. The U.C.L.A. football team will play the University of Montana eleven this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Rally speeches were given by Coach Bill Spaulding, Carl Brown, captain of the team, and Robert Keith, student-body president. After the "pajamerino" rally, a dance was given by the Associated Women Students in the Y.W.C.A. clubhouse.

The "pajamerino" was a part of the program for the first alumni home-coming day in the history of the university. Alumni registered all day yesterday in the foyer of Josiah Royce Hall on the Westwood campus. Lunch was served the alumni in all fraternity and sorority chapter houses, and a "get-together" dinner was held last night in the students' co-operative cafe. Alumni attended the rally and dance afterward last night.

The homecoming program will be continued today. Alumni have been given a special section in the Coliseum for the U.C.L.A.-Montana game this afternoon, near the student rooting section. The concluding part of the program will be the annual all-university dance, to be held in the Sala De Oro ballroom of the Biltmore Hotel. Players and coaches of both football teams will be present as guests of honor, as will also Walter Wescott, Cecil Hollingsworth, Earle Gardener, Scribner Birlenbach, Charles Hastings and Joe Fleming, former football captains at U.C.L.A. Fifi Dorsay, stage and screen actress, will be honor guest of the evening, and will judge a dancing contest.

ASSOCIATES HAIL RETURN OF SINCLAIR

Oil Man's First Visit Since Jail Term Signal for Real Ovation

NEW YORK, Nov. 27. (Exclusive) Harry F. Sinclair was in his office as chairman of the board of the Sinclair Oil Corporation today for the first time since he began serving a jail sentence in Washington last June for contempt of the United States Senate. His first official action was to preside at the semi-monthly meeting of the executive committee, which was convening when he entered the Sinclair Building.

The meeting transacted only routine business, but the greetings from members of the committee who had not seen him since June kept Sinclair in the committee room long enough for word to spread around the financial district that he was back.

When he reached his office there was a group of house representatives, business men and friends waiting to extend their greeting. Flowers, which have been arriving since Monday, were unpacked and his desk and a good part of the floor of his office were covered with floral tributes carrying messages of good will from various parts of the country. There were also an uncounted number of telegrams and other messages of greeting.

Rail Official Cuts Off Widow From Millions

NEW YORK, Nov. 27. (Exclusive) Leaving the bulk of his large estate to his four children, John A. Middleton, vice-president of the Lehigh Valley Railroad and director of half a dozen other great companies, cut off his widow, Mrs. Lily Middleton, without a cent.

His will, filed for probate today, revealed this fact in a terse codicil reading: "I have made no bequest to my wife, Lily Middleton, and I desire and direct she shall receive no devise or bequest from, or share in, my estate, for reasons well known to her."

The will gave the value of the estate as "more than $10,000," but it is believed to total several millions.

RAILROADS FILE SUIT AGAINST RATES CUT

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27. (Exclusive)—Attacking an Interstate Commerce Commission order to reduce rates on refrigerator car shipments, twenty-three railroads, including the Southern Pacific, Western Pacific, Santa Fe and Union Pacific, filed suit in Federal Court here today setting up the constitutional grounds that they are being deprived of property without due process of law. The United States government is made a codefendant.

PREACHERS HAVE FROLIC AT INITIATION

Breakfast Club Sees Mingling of All City's Sects

PLANNED as illustrative of the harmony and true fellowship existing among the religious leaders of Los Angeles, the initiation of Father Joseph A. Sullivan, president of the Loyola University del Rey, yesterday morning, as a member of the Breakfast Club, developed into a riot of mirth, from the moment the "altar boys" were introduced until the ceremonial closed.

"Dr. Bruce R. Baxter, who, at U.S.C. teaches young Methodist preachers how to shout; Dr. Edgar F. Magnin, the kosher ham-and-egger of Temple B'nai Brith; Dr. George Davidson, Episcopal primate of St. John's synagogue, and Dr. Stewart MacLennan, the brimstone-belching, rock-ribbed Scotch domine of Hollywood's First Presbyterian Church"—were the words used in introducing the altar boys; while Dr. Sullivan admitted being "a prominent Eye-talian from Erin's isle; the man who hires the football coach at Loyola."

"There shall be one fold and one Shepherd," quoted Dr. Sullivan in a brief acknowledgment of the honors paid him, "and love and friendship form the common ground on which we all may meet and thus please God."

Among the guests were the pastors of many churches: Former Gov. Carl E. Milliken of Maine, twenty-five judges of the city, E. H. Worthington, Pennsylvania millionaire sportsman, and others. Col. William Erie Fowler and David Blankenhorn were hosts. Entertainment was provided by Mme. Leonitina de Anna Johnson, contralto; Clark Sparks, tenor, and Bob Murphey, humorist.

Garnisheeing Strikes Snag

Oversealous amendment of the law that permits garnisheeing of county employees' wages at the last session of the Legislature probably made it impossible to garnishee any county employee's wages, according to deputies in the office of County Council Mattoon, who has advised the County Auditor to pay no salaries of county employees on garnishee proceedings.

About twenty-two such actions are filed in a month, and after the County Auditor denied payment of one, the judgment creditor, one William J. Weiser, filed a mandamus suit in Superior Court to force payment of his claims under the old law, which was amended in certain technical details.

The case, called in Superior Judge Gates's court December 6, will be argued for the county by Deputy County Counsel McAllister.

Salvation Army Plans Services

Special union Thanksgiving services will be conducted at the Salvation Army Temple, 832 West Ninth street, this morning at 10:30 o'clock. Brigadier James C. Bell, commanding officer of the Los Angeles south coast division, will be in charge. Five-minute talks will be given by Adjutant Nettie Brown of the relief department; Adjutant Frank Howell, officer of the temple corps, with the principal address delivered by Brigadier Bell on "Thanksgiving; Causes for the Observance of the Day."

There will be special music by the temple band and songsters' brigade.

Thanksgiving in Missouri Dry

JEFFERSON CITY (Mo.) Nov. 27. (AP)—Seventy-nine persons were arrested by Federal agents in pre-Thanksgiving liquor raids extending over six Central Missouri counties beginning Monday and continuing yesterday.

More than a score of prohibition agents conducted the raids, which centered at Jefferson City, the State capital; Columbia, seat of the State University, and at Sedalia, Mo.

The raiders started their work in Columbia, seeking to dry up sources of liquor supplies to university students.

DYER SUES AS ECHO OF DISMISSAL

Pastor Seeks $110,000 from Church Association Due to Year Without Job

Dr. Frank Dyer, former minister of the Wilshire Boulevard Congregational Church, yesterday filed suit in Superior Court for $110,000 damages against the Los Angeles Association of Congregational Churches and Ministers.

The suit comes as an aftermath to Dr. Dyer's dismissal as pastor of the fashionable Wilshire church and accuses the association of violating its constitution and by-laws in discharging Dr. Dyer from his fellowship in the association.

According to the complaint, the association dismissed Dr. Dyer from fellowship June 7, 1928, with the result that he was out of employment for a year. He asks $100,000 for the asserted wrongful conduct of the association in dismissing him and $10,000 because of being out of employment.

Dr. Dyer finally was deposed as pastor of the Wilshire church after a long and hotly contested court action between the factions for and against him. Since then the church has changed its name to All Souls' Congregational Church and its pastorate taken over by Dr. Charles Aked.

Attorney John N. Hurtt represents Dr. Dyer in the action filed yesterday.

PROHIBITION ADOPTED BY INDIA RULER

King Nadir Shah Will Also Establish Arsenal for Modern Arms

PESHAWAR (India) Nov. 27. (AP) Total prohibition of alcoholic liquor is one of the points in a proclamation which has been issued by King Nadir Shah outlining the future policy of his regime. The King, formerly known as Nadir Khan, drove out Bacha Sakao, the usurper, some time ago and himself was elected monarch.

Other points are that the principles of Islamic law will be the basis of administration, that a military school shall be established and an arsenal for manufacturing modern arms, continuance of former King Amanullah's relations with the foreign powers, development of commercial relations with the foreign powers, restoration of the telegraphs and telephones, reconditioning of the road, recovery of arrears in revenue and a progressive educational policy.

The council of state will be continued and a premier appointed to form a Cabinet subject to the King's approval.

Volcano Causes Guatemalans to Flee From Area

GUATEMALA CITY, Nov. 27. (AP) Fears that the volcano Santa Maria again may spread death and destruction is causing the evacuation of the farms in its immediate neighborhood, to which the inhabitants had returned once more after the recent eruption.

The volcano renewed its activity yesterday afternoon, throwing out clouds of smoke and covering the surrounding territory with ashes. Earth tremors were felt and subterranean noises alarmed the population.

FIERY SOUTHERN SWAIN SHOOTS PAIR OF SISTERS

CHICAGO, Nov. 27. (AP)—Morgan Gipson, 24 years of age, whose habit of "bragging about being from the South" finally led Miss Florence Kohl to break her friendship with him, was arrested today for shooting Miss Kohl and her sister, Mabel.

The sisters, seriously wounded, identified Gipson as the man who shot them last night at their apartment after Florence had told him to leave.

"At first I liked him," the young woman said, "but he kept telling about how 'southern' he was—from Birmingham or Nashville, I've forgotten which—and it finally got to be more than I could stand.

"When I told him I didn't want to see him again, he got excited and pulled a pistol. He said if he could not have me, no one else would. Then he began firing."

One bullet struck Florence Kohl in the lung. Her sister fell from wounds in the head and leg.

Gipson, a six-footer who said he used to be in the marine corps, was arrested at his rooms several hours after the shooting.

McManus Trial Gains Lost Time

NEW YORK, Nov. 27. (AP)—The McManus murder trial almost caught up with itself today. Friday morning when sessions are resumed after a holiday recess the case will be where it was last Friday afternoon.

The reading of testimony already adduced by the State to a blue ribbon jury was completed at 3 p.m. today. Friday morning new witnesses will be called. The State is attempting to prove McManus shot Arnold Rothstein, Broadway gambler, a year ago.

FIRE PERIL IN COUNTRY MINIMIZED

State Fire Apparatus at Bakersfield Ready to Aid Those Outside Cities

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 27.—Fire protection for county homes outside of incorporated areas has been obtained through the efforts of Ranger J. C. Farley who has obtained a State fire-fighting truck for this city this winter. The apparatus will be stationed here until next spring.

"Had we been notified of the fire at Shafter," Farley said today, "we might have saved them thousands of dollars. The truck was available, but we were not notified of the fire until it was all over."

In years past no protection has been offered owners of homes outside of municipalities. Two weeks ago a home right on the boundary of the city at Brundage and Hughes Lanes burned to the ground, the city fire department not being allowed to go outside of the city limits.

Film Director E. R. Mahoney Sued by Wife

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Nov. 27.—Edward R. Mahoney of Hollywood, film director employed at a weekly salary of $800, according to the complaint of his wife, Marie Mahoney, is named defendant in a separate-maintenance action filed here late today.

In the complaint the wife charges that Mahoney deserted her in New York last March and came to Hollywood with another woman. The wife charges that he has lived with the woman at an apartment in Hollywood since last April.

They were married at Attleboro, Mass., June 14, 1919.

The wife asks separate maintenance of $750 a month and $1500 attorney fees.

Druggist Hurt Fighting Bandit

Toros Chuljian, proprietor of a pharmacy at 7832 South Normandie avenue, was treated at Georgia-street Receiving Hospital last night for a severe laceration of the scalp and bruises which he told police he received in a rough and tumble battle with a bandit.

The injured man reported that he was alone in his store when a man entered and held him up at the point of a gun. After taking $35 from the cash register, the bandit walked the store owner to a rear room where he attempted to bind and gag his victim. A struggle started and was won by the bandit when he picked up a bottle and struck Chuljian over the head. The robber, Chuljian said, then walked from the store.

Jewel Suspects Held in France

CHERBOURG (Germany) Nov. 27. (AP)—Samuel Friedman and his daughter, Rosa, were detained by customs officers today as they stepped from aboard the Leviathan. The officers acted upon advices from New York that the two were wanted there in connection with the disappearance of $20,000 worth of jewelry.

In their possession was found a large quantity of jewels, Friedman is a jewelry salesman.

QUICK WORK ON GREATER PORT LOOMS

Los Angeles-Long Beach Harbor Men Depart for Home With Hopes High

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27. (Exclusive)—Members of the Los Angeles-Long Beach harbor delegations, who presented a unified front for greater Los Angeles Harbor at a hearing before the Army Board of Engineers yesterday left for home today with the assurance of quick Congressional action on their plan as soon as, and if, the Army board makes favorable recommendations on this matter and with indications that the board will act quickly.

Maj. Lanagan, district Army engineer for Southern California, arrived here the first of the week and has been in conference with the Board of Army Rivers and Harbors Engineers. Delegates believe that the board has taken up the plan as presented with Maj. Lanagan, and that as a result it will not be necessary for the board to hold further hearings in Los Angeles. Without a hearing in Los Angeles it is possible the board can complete its recommendations and transmit them to Congress for action early in the forthcoming session, if the board accepts the plan put forth by Los Angeles and Long Beach.

Representatives Evans and Carter have conferred with ranking members of the House Committee on Rivers and Harbors, and find that they are in favor of the Los Angeles-Long Beach plan. These members have agreed to expedite the matter as far as possible, one of them even going as far as to say that he considers the Los Angeles-Long Beach harbor project so necessary that he feels the government should build the breakwater without considering the attitude of Long Beach and Los Angeles on the matter of unified port control.

Russians to Join Search for Bielson and Mechanic When Weather Permits

SEATTLE, Nov. 27. (AP)—Two Russian planes, brought to Providence Bay aboard the soviet icebreaker Litke, will be available to assist the search for Pilot Carl Ben Bielson and his mechanic, Earl Borland, as soon as weather conditions in the north moderate, a radio message received at Juneau, Alaska, by Gov. Parks today revealed. The Alaska Airways, Inc., of which Bielson was general manager, has four planes which will be assigned to the search when atmospheric conditions permit.

Bielson, with Pilot Frank Dorbandt, was engaged in transporting passengers and furs from the trading ship Nanuk, icebound off North Cape, Siberia. They made one trip, bringing six passengers and a quantity of furs to Nome. The passengers arrived in Seattle yesterday. On their second trip, Bielson and Borland became lost. Dorbandt, who returned to Nome to repair his plane took off yesterday for Teller, Alaska, and will resume his search when the weather permits.

Chicago Murder Case Dismissed

CHICAGO, Nov. 27. (AP)—Charges of murder against Police Lieutenant Phillip Carroll, four members of his detective bureau squad and four hoodlums in connection with the death of Octavius Granady, negro politician, on election primary day in 1928, were dismissed today by Special Assistant States Attorney Loesch.

Judge J. E. David yesterday had declared he would reverse any verdict of guilty.

Principal Faces Whipping Trial

MERCED, Nov. 27. (AP)—Leon Ogden, principal of the Merced [illegible] elementary school, is to be tried by the school board for the [illegible] whipping of a schoolboy, it was learned today. U. O. Abie, member of the school board, resigned last night "because of prejudice in the case after Ogden had been given a preliminary hearing in the presence of the board, his attorney and a deputy District Attorney."

Ogden's dismissal is sought.

TRIAL OF ASSERTED RADICALS DELAYED

Because Frank Spector, secretary of the Communist party in Los Angeles, and Irving Kreitsberg [illegible] under arrest in San Bernardino charged with criminal syndicalism, jury trial of the two men and Benjamin Lavine and Edward Sadler, also members of the Communist party, on charges of violating the city handbill ordinance was postponed yesterday by Municipal Judge Lahey until January 3, 1930. The four men are accused of passing out Red handbills on the city streets in connection with the anniversary of the Russian revolution, which was celebrated by Communists recently.

COCKTAIL INTRODUCED BY DRY CHIEF'S WIFE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27. (AP)—A cocktail, described as one "that satisfies and does not inebriate," has been introduced to Washington dry circles at a W.C.T.U. meeting by Mrs. James M. Doran, wife of the commissioner of prohibition.

Mrs. Doran in introducing the beverage, nonalcoholic, of course, said the recipe was obtained from a railway chef and that she planned to include it in a volume she intended to publish under the title, "A Book of Juices."

At the meeting, that of the Mt. Pleasant chapter of the W.C.T.U., yesterday, Mrs. John Sippel, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, said she had traveled over the country without seeing an intoxicated person or being offered a drink.

Miss Jessie Dell of the Civil Service Commission had more encouraging news for the drys. She said politics and graft have largely been eliminated from prohibition enforcement.

Mrs. Doran later made public the recipe for the cocktail which she has introduced.

"Take a pound of seedless grapes," she said, "chop them fine, add a quart of grape juice. Stir thoroughly and serve cold."

POWER UTILITY TELLS PROFITS

Great Western Reports on Year's Operations

Consolidated Net Fixed at $2,832,054 Total

Gain of $116,931 Shown on Previous Period

Consolidated net earnings of the Great Western Power Company of California for the twelve months ended September 30, last, reached a total of $2,823,054.43 after all the charges including depreciation, taxes and other reserves, equivalent to twice the dividend requirements of $1,416,945.70 on the preferred stock issues outstanding in the hands of the public, according to a statement issued yesterday by the company.

GAIN REVEALED

These earnings compare with $2,715,123.94 reported earned for the preceding twelve months ended September 30, 1928, and represent an increase of $116,930.50 or about 4.3 per cent.

After preferred dividends there remained a balance for common stock dividends and surplus of $1,415,203.84 or $4.72 a share on the 300,000 shares of common stock against $1,370,338.69 last year or $4.56 a share. All of the common stock is owned by the Western Power Corporation which in turn is controlled by North American Company.

GROSS HIGHER

Gross operating revenues of the organization aggregated $10,001,-970.88 as compared with $9,947,509.93 for the previous twelve months, an increase of approximately 0.5 per cent. This increase was due largely to power requirements in the San Francisco Bay industrial region and substantial gains in home heating and cooking load over the entire system, the statement pointed out.

Despite the increase in gross, operating expenses, maintenance and taxes were decreased over the same period, this account totaling $3,949,693 against $3,941,977.93 in the former period, representing a decrease of $94,795.93 or 2.3 per cent.

The balance as net operating income amounted to $7,184,178.69 against $6,406,821.90 in the former period, an increase of $748,356.19 or more than 11 per cent.

Plan Dropped for Bay City Bank Merger

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27. (AP)—The proposed merger of the Crocker First National Bank and the American Trust Company, which was announced as practically assured several months ago, was declared abandoned today by William H. Crocker, representing the Crocker interests, and Fred T. Moore, in behalf of the trust company.

Failure of two committees representing the respective banks to work out a plan of consolidation acceptable to both parties was disclosed as the reason for the decision to terminate negotiations.

Since the announcement of the contemplated merger, it was revealed, the Goldman Sachs Trading Corporation, one of the largest stockholders in the American Trust Company, made an offer to exchange trading corporation stock for that of the trust company. This offer, it is understood, was accepted and practically all of the American Trust stock was taken over by the Goldman Sachs Corporation.

MARKETS PASS ON LISTINGS

Stock of Pacific Mutual and Cities Service Added to Local Boards

Stock of Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company, traded on the Los Angeles Curb Exchange, has been approved for listing on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange and stock of Cities Service Company, an active leader of the New York Curb Exchange, has been approved for listing on the Los Angeles Curb, according to announcements issued yesterday by the Los Angeles security markets. Both issues will be called for trading December 2, next.

The listing of the insurance company is the fourth of the Pacific Mutual group that are on the parent board. The others are Pacific Finance, International Re-Insurance, and Pacific American Fire Insurance. Other companies associated with the Pacific Mutual group and now traded on the Los Angeles Curb, are Consolidated Steel, Gladding McBean and Pacific Indemnity.

The insurance company has a total authorized capital of 440 000 common shares, all of which is outstanding. It has been traded on the curb since July, 1928.

Cities Service Company, which has an outstanding common issue of 24 908 690 shares, widely distributed throughout the country, has an authorized capital of 50,000,000 shares. The company maintains transfer and registrar facilities in the West and under such conditions does not conflict with a recent ruling of the curb whereby a number of issues were dropped from the list.

Cities Service Rumor Current

NEW YORK, Nov. 27. (AP)—It was reported in Wall street today that Cities Service Company will shortly announce the acquisition of the Federal Light and Traction Company. No official comment, however, could be obtained.

Wall street understands that purchase of control of Federal Light and Traction has already been completed, Federal controls a group of electric, gas, water and railway properties in Arizona, Washington, Colorado, New Mexico, Missouri, Wyoming and Arkansas, and New Brunswick, Can.

INCOME OF CHICAGO UTILITY INCREASES

CHICAGO, Nov. 27. (Exclusive)—United Light and Power Company today reported consolidated net income for the twelve months ended October 31, last, of $3,377,535, equal, after preferred dividends, to $1.91 a share on 2,281,010 combined Class A and B shares outstanding, as compared with $3,973,416, or $1.47 a share on 2,139,701 combined shares outstanding at the end of the preceding twelve months. Gross earnings amounted to $94,635,311, against $89,047,726 a year ago.

BIG MARKET CHIEF BACK FROM HAWAII

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27. (Exclusive)—E. H. H. Simmons, president of the New York Stock Exchange, arrived here yesterday on the S.S. Maui from Honolulu. Mr. Simmons has been in Hawaii since October 25 and has been out of touch with the New York situation but believes that "the man is very foolish who thinks that the United States has anything fundamentally wrong with it."

CADILLAC, LA SALLE CAR PRICES BOOSTED

NEW YORK, Nov. 27. (Exclusive) General Motors Corporation has announced price increases of from $100 to $300 on Cadillac automobiles and of from $100 to $200 on La Salle cars, effective December 1, next. The new prices will be about the same list prices that prevailed last year.

PROPERTY SOLD

NEW YORK, Nov. 27. (Exclusive) American Sumatra Tobacco Company has completed negotiations for the sale of its property at 131 Water street, New York City, for $400,000. The property had been carried on the company's books at $75,000.

ANDERSON ON TRIP

W. N. Anderson, head of the investment banking home which bears his name, leaves tomorrow for an extended tour of the East in the interest of his concern. He will visit New York and other eastern financial centers.

SEAT PRICES SHOW FAITH

New York Sale Made at $10,000 Increase Over Transfer of Last Week; Local Memberships Quiet

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Returning confidence in securities is reflected by the sale yesterday of a New York Stock Exchange seat at an increase of $10,000 over the last sale made shortly after the grand crash in the market. The previous sale at $350,000 measured the first reaction of stock brokers to the toppling of the bull market in stocks, the sale representing a decline of $144,000 from the previous transaction.

During and immediately after the break it is doubtful if any buyers for stock exchange seats could have been found. The end of the bull market in stocks was also the end of the bull market in stock exchange seats, according to the popular impression, and predictions were current that seat prices would quickly slump to a new low.

TREND ENCOURAGES

The fact that seats have indicated a tendency to recover in price is encouraging for the secondary stock exchanges throughout the country. Few if any transactions have been reported, with the exception of one sale on the New York Curb, probably because prospective brokers were as timorous as the speculators. But the increase yesterday in the price of New York seats puts a different light on the matter.

In Los Angeles there have been no sales nor have there been any inquiries. Sellers, however, apparently are not ready to take sacrifice prices. It is reported that four seats on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange are on the market at prices ranging from $130,000 to $140,000. This range compares with the last sale about three months ago of $138,000.

Northern rumors indicate asking prices on San Francisco Stock Exchange seats ranging from $150,000 upward, but it is likely that the first sales in both markets will be under the prices asked by the sellers. Nevertheless, the indicated spread is not very far under the year's high prices which suggests the brokers in the two largest California cities are not overly pessimistic about the present low rate of trading activity.

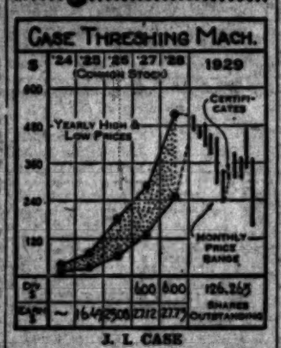
The high this year for seats on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange was $150,000, while the Los Angeles Curb peak was hit at $90,000. The last sale of a Curb seat was made at $40,000, but this was before the break in stock prices.

LEADER MAY ARISE

Volume of business on the Los Angeles and San Francisco exchanges generally follows the appearance of an active and popular issue in the speculative arena. One of these favorites may turn up soon and stimulate a general revival in Coast issues. The Bank of Italy issues really inaugurated the bull market in Coast stocks and other leaders like Caterpillar, Richfield and Pacific Finance have assisted in developing a wider public interest in stocks.

Probable consolidations in the brokerage business because of the need for lower overhead and greater volume to offset the decline in trading activity, may increase the supply of stock exchange seats offered for sale. When this supply is absorbed, the business should be in stronger hands and the way prepared for another advance in prices.

WHAT'S BEHIND YOUR STOCK



J. I. CASE

The J. I. Case Company, formerly the J. I. Case Threshing Machine Company, manufactures an extensive line of agricultural machinery, including threshing machines, farm steam engines, oil tractors, tractor plows, steam road rollers, rock crushers, etc. Acquisition of the Emerson Brantingham Corporation in 1928 gave the company a complete diversification of products. These are distributed throughout the world.

During the past five years, earnings have increased 100 per cent, amounting in 1928 to $4,237,000 available for the common, or $37.73 per share, as compared with $4,113,-000 or $27.13 per share in 1923. The current assets, at the end of 1928 amounted to $20,571,000, consisting mostly of inventories and accounts receivable, as compared with current liabilities of $5,029,000. The book value of the common stock at this time was $190 per share, excluding intangibles.

Knitting Mills Sales Increase

Unit sales of the Jantzen Knitting Mills will show a 25 per cent increase during the three months to end the 30th inst., against the same period last year, according to an estimate issued yesterday by the company. The three months comprise the first quarter of Jantzen's fiscal year.

The pamphlet report covering the fiscal year is expected to be mailed shareholders in a few days. Earnings of $6.10 a common share was recently reported for the period, which was an increase of 31.3 per cent over the preceding year.

Value Set on New York Rail

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27. (AP)—A final valuation on the New York Central Railroad of $1,378,206,614 was placed today by the Interstate Commerce Commission as of June 30, 1914, to 1918.

This tentative final valuation for rate making purposes which later will be brought down to date by the commission includes $47,331,-898 for working capital. Seventy railroads comprising the New York Central system are involved in the valuation.

VAN SANT ON STAFF OF FIDELITY LOAN

Fidelity Savings and Loan Association yesterday announced the appointment of M. E. Van Sant as manager of the insurance department. Mr. Van Sant, a graduate of California University and member of Andy Smith's "Wonder Team" of 1921, for the past few years has been connected with the Cass & Johansing insurance house and formerly was affiliated with the insurance department of the Southern California Automobile Club.

MINING STOCKHOLDERS TO VOTE ON INCREASE

Stockholders of the Oro Amigo Platino Mining Company have been called to a special meeting December 4, next, at Goodsprings, Nev., to vote on a proposal to increase the authorized capitalization of the company from 1,000,000 shares of $1 par value per share to 3,000,000 shares of the same par value, it was announced yesterday.

BANK RATE HOLDS

NEW YORK, Nov. 27. (Exclusive) The Federal Reserve Bank here took no action today regarding its rediscount rate of 4½ per cent established the 13th inst.

Melon Planned by Merchants Finance Unit

Merchants' Finance Corporation yesterday declared its intention of adding a stock dividend to its current cash dividend on its common stock at the rate of one-twenty-fifth of a share per annum, payable quarterly beginning January 1, next, to stock of record December 15, coincidentally with the cash quarterly payment of 75 cents, according to present plans.

Dwight Whiting, president of the company which was formed through the recent merger of the Merchants' Finance Company and the Whiting Finance Company, said that the unusually satisfactory record for the past year, together with the excellent prospects for the coming year, warranted an additional distribution of the profits to the stockholders. He added that there is no reason that can be foreseen why this policy cannot be definitely continued.

The stock dividend distribution is subject to the approval of the State Commissioner of Corporations and the listing requirements of the Los Angeles Curb Exchange.

OCTOBER INCOME OF SAN DIEGO GAS UP

Net income after charges of the San Diego Consolidated Gas and Electric Company increased $4198 to $175,718 for October over October, 1928, and for the ten months was $2,333,096, or $306,714 higher than for the same period last year, according to a statement issued yesterday. The gross revenues also increased for both periods.

BANK DECLARES EXTRA IN CASH

Farmers' and Merchants' to Pay Special of $1 a Share

Directors of the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank of Los Angeles have declared an extra dividend of $1 a share in addition to the regular quarterly of $4.50, it was announced yesterday. Both dividends are payable January 2, next, to stock of record December 25, next.

The bank paid an extra of $1 a share on its stock January 1, last.

BANK PICKS SEAVER FOR PRESIDENT

Choice as Successor to Wade E. Hampton Made by Western National

Election of Everett H. Seaver as president of the Western National Bank of Los Angeles was announced yesterday by directors of the bank. Mr. Seaver, who has been an active vice-president of the bank, succeeds Wade E. Hampton, who resigned recently to devote his time to outside business interests.

The new president was in the general investment business before associating himself with the Western National as vice-president. Besides his business interests he is well known to California golf enthusiasts as former president of the California State Golf Association and also of the Southern California Golf Association. In 1930 he was Southern California amateur champion.

J. B. McCook, a banker with twenty-five years' experience in Iowa and Oregon, continues as chairman of the board and Cecil Casey, former National bank examiner in Los Angeles, remains as cashier. S. C. Hookstratten, vice-president of California Dairies, Inc., and president, Los Angeles Credit Men's Association, is a vice-president and director.

Deposits of the Western National have shown a consistent growth, according to the last statement. Between December 10, 1928, and October 4, last, the date of the last bank call, deposits increased from $969,408.26 to $2,102,439.79.

Mr. Hampton, who was formerly the head of banks in Ponca City, Okla., and Shreveport, La., will remain as a director of the bank.

List of Extra Disbursements Swells Rapidly

Augmenting an already lengthly list of extra dividends and dividend rate increases that have been declared within the past few weeks, ten corporations yesterday either raised the rate or declared a special while one company declared an initial.

Among this list are two Los Angeles institutions, the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank which declared an extra of $1 a share and the Merchants' Finance Corporation which raised its $3 cash rate to a basis of $3 in cash and one-twenty-fifth share of stock annually.

Extra dividends were declared by Ingersoll-Rand, Hercules Powder, George W. Helme, and Household Products. Rate increases were voted by Curtiss Airplane and Motor, American Safety Razor, Mapes Consolidated Manufacturing, and Penn Water and Power Company. Philadelphia Electric declared an initial.

American States Utility Reports

American States Public Service Corporation and subsidiaries yesterday reported gross profits for the twelve months, ended October 12, last, totaled $1,009,542, compared with $1,543,334, for the corresponding period of 1928, while net profits after taxes, amounted to $304,381, compared with $723,456.

October gross profits were $136,-613, as against $127,830 for the same month last year, and net profits after taxes for the month, totaled $55,-718, compared with $68,162. The figures for both years reflect operations for each year irrespective of acquisition dates of the subsidiaries.

Yule Club Begins Checks Shortly

Christmas club checks will be received shortly by 6000 persons from the Union Bank and Trust Company which pioneered the Christmas club saving plan in Los Angeles.

According to J. C. Lipman and Milton E. Getz, executives of the bank who signed the checks, figures show that 10 per cent of the total national Christmas club fund is expended for constructive purposes such as the payment of taxes, insurance, etc.

GORDON PROMOTED BY BANK OF ITALY

R. D. Gordon of the Los Angeles main office of the Bank of Italy has been promoted to the position of senior assistant comptroller of the southern division of the bank, H. R. Erkes, vice-president and chairman of the board of management, announced yesterday. "Mr. Gordon was with the Long Beach office when his marked ability drew the attention of bank officials, and he was transferred to the main office," Mr. Erkes said.

Production is continuing on the United States Army order for ninety pursuit planes and the factory is completing construction of the eighteen passenger units to be used in the new Chicago-San Francisco service that is scheduled to begin early next spring on a twenty-hour basis.

NEW BIG INDUSTRY SIGHTED

Lomen Reindeer Herd in Alaska Now Estimated at 200,000; Demand for Meat Growing

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

(Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance)

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Carl J. Lomen, head of the Lomen Reindeer Corporation of Alaska, after twenty years of work and an outlay of more than $2,500,000 has about 200,000 reindeer in Alaska, easily the largest herd in the world.

"These reindeer are divided into seven herds. It is 600 miles from the most northerly herd to the most southerly herd," said Mr. Lomen to me. "We graze over 8,000,000 acres of leased government land. We have seven cold-storage plants. Our experience would show that a herd now can be doubled every three years. While we have the largest herd in Alaska, 70 per cent of all of the reindeer in Alaska are owned by Eskimos. We are interested in finding a market for their reindeer, as well as for our own. We'll bring 20,000 carcasses into the United States this year. Today reindeer meat is quoted at 12½ cents in Seattle." With the aid of modern refrigeration methods, reindeer meat is being consumed in greater quantities each year; it was first marketed in the Northwest then on transcontinental trains, and now in some of the largest hotels in the cities.

Another big industry in the making.

The stern ax of Atty.-Gen. Mitchell fell yesterday on two of the large motion-picture corporations—the Fox Film Corporation and the Warner Brothers, who between them, Mr. Mitchell asserts, control 65 per cent of the motion-picture industry.

In a civil action, the Attorney General asks the courts to compel these corporations to divest themselves of their holdings in other companies and to issue injunctions restraining them from exercising voting rights in these other companies.

The Attorney General's position on antitrust legislation was outlined last month before the American bar when he said that his office "had no power to license anyone to violate any statute."

His further statement that "only in the clearest case will letters of advice be issued (in merger movements) to the effect that no legal proceedings are liable to be instituted."

But the facts are that so strict has been the department that no such letter has been given to any corporation since he took charge last March. Others, he has told very distinctly they were violating the antitrust law, and would be prosecuted. To still others, he told their merger proposals were so questionable that court action would be necessary. To another class, he declined to express any opinion.

Naturally business must proceed cautious, under such conditions.

Bank Receiver to Pay Dividend

Persons whose claims against the South Pasadena National Bank were filed prior to the 1st inst., will receive a dividend of 50 per cent on presentation of their receiver's certificates at the receiver's office, corner Fair Oaks and Mission street, South Pasadena. It was announced yesterday.

The first batch of dividend checks has just been received from Washington by F. W. Heathcote, receiver in charge. A second consignment of dividend checks, covering 50 per cent on those claims filed during the early part of November, has been sent to Washington for signature and these will be distributed when received.

Trade Discount Earnings Jump

Net profits of the Commercial Discount Company totaled $254,-809 for the nine months ended September 30, last, equal after preferred dividends to $7.27 a share on the 25,065 shares of common stock outstanding, the company announced yesterday.

This compares with $182,891 earned for the same period last year, equivalent after preferred dividends to $4.63 a share on the 30,000 common shares then outstanding, and represents an increase of $101,918 or about 57 per cent. Purchases this year were about twice as great as last year and during October were the highest for any month this year, officials stated. It was also estimated that the November purchases would approximately equal those for October.

Retail Dealers Push for Trade

Los Angeles retail merchants, reporting sales below a year ago, are exercising caution in their commitments from wholesalers and increasing their advertising appropriations in an endeavor to get all the holiday business possible in November, according to the weekly business summary of the Bradstreet Company, issued yesterday. Some of the merchants have canceled orders, it was stated.

Collections, especially in California, are slow and in many lines unsatisfactory. Los Angeles manufacturers selling outside this territory report their collections a little more prompt. Building is and has been a little quiet during the past few months and this condition is reflected in a decrease in sales in building material and allied lines.

Park-Tilford Earnings Off

NEW YORK, Nov. 27. (Exclusive) Park & Tilford, Inc., today reported for the quarter ended September 30, last, net income of $331,-602 after charges but before taxes, equivalent to $1.38 a share on the 207,905 shares of common capital stock outstanding as compared with $355,767, or $1.77 a share on 200,-000 shares in the 1928 quarter.

Net income for the first nine months of this year was $920,994 before taxes, or $4.47 a share as against $1,018,707, or $5.09 a share in the 1928 period.

SIMMS RETIRES NOTES

Retirement of $3,431,500 three-year 6 per cent convertible gold notes was announced yesterday by the Simms Petroleum Company, which eliminates all senior obligations ahead of the capital stock. The company, according to the announcement, has no bank loans, and September 30, last, reported current assets of $6,000,000 against current liabilities of $762,136.

How Much is your Tax-Free Yield?

MANY investors overlook the very material difference between coupon rate and net yield in comparing the income between taxable and tax-free bonds. Yet this difference may amount to as much as 2% per annum based on Federal Income Tax alone, without considering California Personal Property Taxes.

For example, an investor with an income of $20,000 per year from Income Tax-exempt bonds with a yield of 6%, is receiving the equivalent of approximately 6.67% on taxable bonds. If his income is $25,000 per year, he is receiving the equivalent of approximately 6.82%; for one year, approximately 7.32%; for a year, approximately 7.79%; over $100,000 per year, approximately 8%.

In the case of corporations paying a flat tax rate of 12% per annum a 6% tax-free bond would yield the equivalent of approximately 6.81%.

There are few taxable bonds paying such high yields that are comparable in dependability with California District Bonds, which are a direct tax lien—the most basic of all security. Such bonds are also completely exempt from California Personal Property Tax.

Complete information regarding California District Bonds and our Assignments of Ownership, both yielding 6% completely tax-free, will be gladly furnished. Simply send name and address below.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Nov. 27. (AP)—Dealers ... trading characterized today's curb market ... with the price movement mixed but with ... gains outnumbering losses at the close. ... Trading showed a further falling off in ... volume, due to the approaching four-day ... holiday, with total sales falling below ... 900,000 shares. Short covering operations ... were an important factor in the day's ... advance.

The demand for the public utilities re... ceived considerable impetus from the an... nouncement of a construction and main... tenance program of nearly $2,000,000,000 ... by public utility companies during the ... coming year. Electric Bond and Share, ... which will direct the expenditure of ... nearly $250,000,000 of companies of which ... it controls or supervises, was in brisk de... mand, closing with a net gain of 4¼ ... points at 77½. American Gas and Elec... tric gained up 6½ points and American and ... Foreign Power warrants showed a net ... gain of 4 points.

... Sharp advances in the pipe line issues ... featured the oil group. Illinois Pipe Line ... soared 30 points and Buckeye and Indiana ... Pipe Lines advanced 21¾ and 8½ points, ... respectively. Ohio Oil touched 71 for a ... net gain of 2 points, but most of the ... other oil shares showed only fractional ... changes.

... Investment Trust and Trading Corpora... tion shares were mixed with a gain of ... nearly 4 points in Mayflower Associates ... as the outstanding individual feature. ... Aviation shares displayed a slightly firmer ... undertone.

... Industrial Mining ran up about 5 points ... on the lifting of selling pressure from ... the copper group. Strength of Swift & ... Co. issues, based on report of expanding ... earnings, and a jump of 4 points in ... General Alloys featured the industrial ... group. Dewey & Co. broke 14½ points ... on odd lot sales.

... The ticker tape is omitted when name ... as the low, and both low and close when ... same as the high.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Nov. 27. (AP)—A quiet investment demand moved bond prices a shade higher in today's market, the last of the short trading week. There was some disposition to take profits in commitments made at lower levels a few weeks ago, but these operations, affecting chiefly the secondary rails and the utilities, made only a slight impression.

At the close of the light session the Associated Press combined average stood at 90.31, an advance of ⅛ this week and a new high for the movement. It contrasted, however, with 97.59 a year ago and 90.47 two years ago. The importance of the current upward move is seen in the trend rather than in the extent of the gain, which may not be expected to reach large proportions until money rates have demonstrated reasonably permanent easiness.

Charges for loans were slightly firmer. Time money was quoted 4¾ to 5 per cent against 4½ to 4¾ previously, while call money stayed at the renewal rate of 4½ largely because of holiday money requirements and shipments by New York banks to the interior. The Thanksgiving Day demand is estimated at $75,000,000 for the entire country.

The domestic list was almost without features. Convertibles were unusually dull, only the American Telephone 4½s and the Texas Corporation 5s displaying activity. The former finished 2¼ points higher, while the oil company's debenture moved up a small fraction.

A few rails traded in good volume with fractional gains, notably St. Paul 5s and adjustment 5s, Erie 5s, Great Northern 7s, and Pennsylvania 4½s.

Seaboard Air Line listings rose 1 to 5 points on the announcement of the new stock issue. The adjustment 5 certificates advanced 1¾.

Industrials and utilities held to narrow price fluctuations, but the undertone was firm. The same was true of the United States governments. Liberty Fourth 4¼s touched a new high.

The consolidated tape sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) were as follows, and closing prices in order given, with net changes from the previous day's quotation, when the same as the last, and both low and close when same as high.

OIL NEWS

BY HOWARD KEGLEY

Back of the agreement reached by operators at Elwood, whereby drilling operations will be suspended for at least sixty days is the feeling that the move will do more to place the oil industry on a better basis than anything else that has been done along that line, because the Elwood field is rapidly becoming of real importance as a light oil producer. Its possibilities are rather extensive now that production has been found in the ocean where tideland drilling is possible to at least a limited extent.

Of the four companies that signed the agreement to halt drilling operations there the Elwood Exploration Company is the only one not having production at present, and it has a well near completion. Barnsdall-Rio Grande leads in output, with Pacific Western and Bankline each having one good well. Caroline Spalding, who brought in a producer several weeks ago on her ranch near Pacific Western's holdings, is understood to have agreed to curtail that production. According to officials who prepared the agreement, other operators have added to join the movement.

Completes One

The General Petroleum Corporation has completed its Jalk No. 114 at Santa Fe Springs for 1500 barrels of 33.4-deg. gravity oil per day from a depth of 8095 feet, in the lower Clarke sand. This completion was allowed to stand a few days before attempts were made to swab, due to the nearness of the next proration period set by the umpire.

Building Derrick

The Standard Oil Company is building derrick for K.C.L. No. 5-3 on Oak street just northwest of the Bakersfield city limits, and is expected to spud in within the next ten days. The new test is on the southwest corner of Section 24, 28-27.

East of the Fruitvale field Standard discovered some production when the K.C.L. No. 5-2 was brought in from a depth of 4777 feet, but frequent delays due to sand and water trouble brought about temporary suspension of the well.

Drilling Ahead

The Barnsdall Oil Company's Trust No. 1, on a 158-acre lease in the Rosecrans field is drilling below 4720 feet and making rapid progress. This undertaking is not deep enough, it is said, to pick up any oil showings but from now on operations will be watched.

New Completion In

The Signal Oil and Gas Company has completed Sheehan No. 5 at Maricopa Flat for 500 barrels of 24 deg. gravity oil a day from a depth of 3484 feet, giving the company about 1500 barrels daily from its producers in that area.

On the same lease, Signal Oil's Wallace No. 4 is drilling below 2035 feet and has cored forty-two feet of oil sand below the Lincoln zone and above the Birch-Royer zone. Eight and five-eighth-inch casing will be set in a few days when reaming is completed.

Showings Encountered

The Clearwater Oil Company's Chandler No. 1 well near Bellflower is reported to have encountered oil sand and gas between 1200 and 1300 feet and now is drilling below 1635 feet in a brown shale formation.

Spuds in Another

As a result of flow obtained from its wildcat near Newhall, the Southern California Drilling Company recently spudded in another test, the Needham No. 2 on Sec. 13, 13-16, and is drilling ahead in search of shallow production.

Southern California's Needham No. 1 was completed a month ago for approximately 120 barrels of oil per day at a depth of 1600 feet.

In the same general area B. C. Anderson's No. 1 on Sec. 1, 3-16, tested wet at the bottom of the eight and one-quarter-inch casing and will be deepened.

Drilling Permits

Of fifteen drilling permits issued last week by the State Mining Bureau, there were three for the fields in Ventura county, seven for the fields of Kern county and one each at Potrero, Richfield, Arroyo Grande, Goleta and Solano county.

Following are the permits: Boardman-Blanchard's No. 1, Potrero; Continental Oil Company's Mondotte No. 2, Richfield; George H. Hadley, Jr., and associates; No. 11, Piru; Shell Oil Company's Taylor No. 52, Ventura-avenue; General Petroleum Corporation's Ferguson No. 2, Seacliff; A. T. Jergins Trust's Limited No. 7, Arroyo Grande; Standard Oil Company's Standard Edwards No. 2, Goleta; Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company's No. 86, Midway; Standard Oil Company's Bonynge No. 2, No. 9 and No. 10, Midway-Sunset; Hancock Oil Company's Maricopa No. 4, Midway-Sunset; Petroleum Securities Company's Glide No. 19, Poso Creek; A. T. Taeckner's No. 1 in Solano county.

Completes Deep One

The Richfield Oil Company yesterday brought in as a lower Clarke zone well at Santa Fe Springs its Oscar Howard No. 5, completed for 4000 barrels of 33.2-deg. gravity oil per day at a depth of 8103 feet, along with 4,500,000 cubic feet of gas. The output is clean. Casing pressure is 975 pounds, and 210 pounds on the tubing.

Another One In

The Union Oil Company has just completed Western Pacific No. 1 at Maricopa Flat for seventy-five barrels of oil per day at a depth of 4058 feet, and has equipped the well with a pump to improve the output. This project is one mile northwest of the company's Williams No. 1 which, with bottom at 3888 feet is preparing for a production test.

AIRPLANE NEWS EXCHANGE

(Not all the interesting and remarkable story news of the day finds a place in newspapers or comes. Every morning The Times digests a mass embargo by airplane, Air Express, T.A.T. and Southern Pacific of current and yesterday from points all connected. Washington, D. C., could be Star only two days from the front; Indianapolis and Chicago, sixty-six hours; Kansas City, Lake City and Phoenix are likewise on the clock. Today's standings feature the separated by a Kansas City editor day for the styles in women's "open-face" hats.)

SKATES.

Salt Lake Tribune, Nov. 27.

Lovers of winter sports are busy sharpening skates and repairing hockey sticks in preparation for the best and earliest skating season Salt Lake has known for many a year.

For the past week enthusiastic youngsters have been skimming over the ice on the Fort Douglas pond. They have even ventured too far out, felt the thrill of crashing through the sting of icy water.

The lake at Liberty Park is frozen over but the ice is not thick enough to permit skating. If the cold weather continues and remains steady it will be but a matter of a few days until the lake will be covered with skaters.

BUT DEER HAVE BONES

Albuquerque Journal, Nov. 27.

Jacob Armijo, sanitary inspector of the health office, has returned from a hunt bringing a deer. Dr. James R. Scott, health officer, however, is bemoaning the fact that he sacrificed his teeth to the deer Saturday and cannot eat any venison.

"Of course, if Inspector Armijo could have brought back a wild turkey," said the health officer, I could have enjoyed turkey and not the bones of the national bird. I will be blanked if I ever hunt deer anyone making deer soup, so I am just out of luck."

OPEN-FACE HATS

Kansas City Times, Nov. 27.

The men are delighted with the women's new "off-the-face" hats, for it saves them so much embarrassment. The ones of dropping hats of the few seasons past gave a small chance of identifying a friend unless he could recognize him by the tip of her nose or her hatpin stick, as no respectable gentleman dared go into a group of women and peer under one hat brim after another until he found his wife or friend. The new "open-face" hats, exposing the countenance from brow to ear and chin to hair line, make errors impossible. It may not be so becoming, but it can be truthfully said it is more revealing.

MEMORIAL TABLETS

Arizona Republican, Nov. 27.

Two bronze tablets erected as a tribute to Superior Court judges who served Maricopa county in the territorial days of Arizona and since Statehood, were installed yesterday on the third floor of the county Courthouse building.

The tablets were purchased by the Board of Supervisors as an addition to the county's jurists.

TUT! TUT!

Kansas City Star, Nov. 27.

Hollywood is all upset over the separation of two movie stars. The principals refuse to talk to the mimenin of startling suspicions and studio officials are reported in a state of distraction.

Well, we are ready to do our share to avert a national calamity. We suggest a Senate inquiry to be followed by a five-power conference to settle the controversy. With profound emotion we repeat Dr. Grant's appeal: "Let us have peace."

THE PLATE PASSES

The Washington (D. C.) Star, Nov. 27.

Commencing tomorrow, the collection plate at the Friends Meeting House, Thirteenth and I streets, which the President and Mrs. Hoover attend, will not be passed around.

This was decided recently by the trustees of the meeting house, who were prompted by a desire to remove anything resembling commercializing the church because the President and Mrs. Hoover attend it. It had been noticed that the church was packed each Sunday with visitors who had come there for the purpose of viewing Mr. and Mrs. Hoover, and who apparently felt called upon to make liberal contributions. This improper, the trustees as bordering on commercialism, and for that reason have decided to do away with the collection Sunday passing of the collection box. From now on the regular members of the church will make their contributions to the church authorities.

It is known that President Hoover himself had nothing to do with this action on the part of the church trustees.

MILITARY SCHOOL HEADS ARRESTED

LA CRESCENTA, Nov. 27.—Dr. Margaret P. Cannon, who was the Robert E. Lee Military Academy for Boys at 2601 Michigan boulevard; her husband, Robert Cannon, superintendent of the school, and Marvin J. Bair, instructor, were arrested just after Constable George Harris and Deputy Constable C. H. Allen served a complaint of the County Health Department. The complaint charged that the cooking utensils and dishes in the school were found to be unsanitary and unhealthful and that they were kept in a place where food was prepared, stored and distributed. Justice of the Peace Charles E. Dorr committed Mr. and Mrs. Cannon to the County Jail in default of $10 bail and released Bair on $10 bail to appear December 3, next, for hearing.

NEW YORK BROKER ASK FOR RECEIV

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Barbot and August O. Barbot & Co., business as A. O. Barbot & Co., brokers, today filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the United States District Court. They listed liabilities amounting to $36,436.59, and assets of only $36,

...afloat, is loading 80,000 barrels of gasoline at the Union Oil terminal and will sail today for Australia and New Zealand under charter to the Atlantic-Union Refining Company. She is in command of Capt. Heinrich Puls, a veteran of the Cape Horn sailing fleet.

Rental on Union Oil Company's thirty-year lease with the Harbor Department for the loading terminal at Berths No. 150 and No. 151, Wilmington, was re-established for the second ten-year period yesterday by the Harbor Department on a basis of 4.5 cents per square foot.

Shipping men who recognized familiar lines in the British tramp motorship Titania, which sailed yesterday with a case oil cargo for Apia, British Samoa, learned that she is the former Ioasifogiu—the new name being deemed easier for radio operators and others to spell. She is now under charter to J. J. Moore & Co.

Four separate applications for the William Line dock at Berth 228-D, Terminal Island, were submitted to the Harbor Commission at yesterday's meeting, following announcement that Williams Line freighters will hereafter be handled at the American-Hawaiian terminal. Several members of the board were of the opinion, however that the American-Hawaiian Line, in talking over Williams Line operation, also retains the terminal lease.

The case was referred to General Manager Edwards for decision. Steamship lines applying for use of the dock include Williams-Dimon & Co., on the ground of increased business; John E. Marshall, Inc., traffic increases; Swayne & Hoyt, Inc., who reminded the Harbor Board that the firm had asked increased terminal space several months ago; and Charles G. Krueger & Co., Mr. Krueger desiring the dock for increased service of the Dimon Line, for which he is agent.

Two crack ships of the rival German lines were both in port yesterday; the North German Lloyd steamer Donau, in from the north none the worse for her collision at Seattle on the 21st inst. with the steamer Border King and Hamburg-American Line's motorship San Francisco from Hamburg and Antwerp with twenty-four cabin passengers and 2000 tons of freight for this port. Among the San Francisco's passengers were Capt. S. T. L. McLagien British novelist; Christoph E. Jung psychoanalyst from Berne, Switzerland, and Thomas Kirkpatrick, St. Louis capitalist.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17. (AP)—The former shipping board steamer Diablo, recently acquired by the American-Hawaiian Line, is to be renamed the Golden River, local officers of the company announced today. The vessel has been laid up in San Francisco Bay since 1920, and is to enter the Orient run of the company. She will take the place of the Golden Forest, which was wrecked in Alaskan waters in July of this year.

Capt. Christian F. Gilmar, 68 years of age, widely known for his salvage operations on the Pacific Coast, and for the past twenty years head of the General Stevedoring Company, died suddenly at his home here today, the victim of a heart attack. The veteran sea captain was stricken while telephoning, and he died with the receiver in his hand.

With a large list of passengers on board and her holds filled with a variety of freight from oriental ports, the transPacific liner, President Pierce, in command of Capt. Henry Nelson, arrived here early today. Among the passengers on board was Victor Smith, special representative of Chairman J. V. O'Connor of the United States Shipping Board.

SEATTLE, Nov. 27.—Aimed to divert the Oriental oil movement to the Atlantic coast from the all-water Panama Canal route, a startling drop in rates over the northern routes, calling for transfer of the product at Seattle and San Francisco has been declared. It was learned in shipping circles here today.

A drop from $8 to $7 was announced some weeks ago by the Southern Transpacific Lines. In retaliation rates over the northern routes are now cut to $5. The American Mail Line yesterday announced that it will absorb part of the handling charges, a policy already forwarded by its competitors.

One of the largest shipments of oranges of the season, 1530 tons, will be brought to Seattle and Victoria from Yokohama by the Siberia Maru, Nippon Yusen Kaisha offices here announced today. The liner will reach Seattle December 11.

STATES ASK OFFICIAL AT DAM MEET

Colorado and New Mexico Want Federal Observer at Denver Conference

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 27. (AP)—Two States are pressing for Federal representation at the Colorado River meeting to be held in Denver, December 3 for consideration of a four-State compact, Gov. Dern of Utah announced today.

Gov. Dern has taken the position that this meeting will be purely preliminary in nature, but Colorado and New Mexico see such importance in the sessions that they urge the presence of a government representative. Gov. Emerson of Wyoming has informed the Utah Governor that he is considering the proposal and Gov. Dern said he might accede to the request.

Section 19 of the Boulder Dam bill, Gov. Dern said, authorizes the presence of a Federal representative at meetings called for consideration of the four-State compact.

Col. W. J. Donovan, former Assistant United States Attorney-General, who was President Coolidge's personal representative at the Santa Fe seven-State compact hearings last February, is mentioned by the Colorado and New Mexico executives as their preference to represent the government.

Husband Finds Mother of Two Shot to Death

REDWOOD CITY, Nov. 27. (AP)—Mrs. Minerva Reece, 21 years of age, wife of Leroy D. Reece, and mother of two children, was found dead in bed, shot through the heart, when her husband returned home at noon today.

Reece, an employee of an oil company, was met at the door by Junior, 4, who greeted him with "Daddy, mother is sick, the gun went off."

Rushing into the bedroom he found his wife dead and in the bed with her, unharmed, was their 3-year-old daughter, Joyce.

Reece told authorities his wife had been in ill health.

Norris to Seek Action on Vare

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27. (AP)—In the face of a demand by William S. Vare for an additional recount of votes in thirty-one Pennsylvania counties in the 1926 Senatorial election, Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, said today he will seek immediate action on his resolution to deny the Republican Senator-elect his seat as soon as Congress reconvenes next month.

SUE CAROL A BRIDE? WELL—

PILOT BALKS DEATH LEAP FROM PLANE

Young Passenger Twice Thwarted by Banking as He Prepares for Plunge

WHITTIER, Nov. 27. (Exclusive) Prompted, it is believed, by accounts of the airplane suicide of a young woman at Roosevelt Field, New York, last week, Earl Endicott, 27 years of age, who said he lives in Los Angeles, today made two attempts in quick succession to end his life in the same way. Within a few minutes he tried twice to leap from an airplane over the Travelair Airport between this city and Pico, but the attempts were frustrated by skillful manipulation of the plane by Lieut. Harold Brown, the pilot.

Endicott appeared at the field shortly before noon and purchased a $5 ticket for a sightseeing trip. Lieut. Brown took him up in a Travelair biplane. At an altitude of about 900 feet, Endicott climbed out to one of the wings and was poised on the edge, preliminary to jumping into space, when Lieut. Brown caught sight of him. With a deft pull at the controls, the pilot pilot sent the ship into a vertical bank, precipitating Endicott downward against the fuselage, to safety. Then he started the descent.

At the 700-foot level, Endicott again crawled out to the edge of the wing and was about to go over the side when Lieut. Brown again flipped the plane over on its side, placing the law of gravity against his passenger and death. The pilot then sideslipped the plane almost to earth, when he leveled out and landed.

Officials at the field turned Endicott over to Montebello police, who reported he attributed his suicide try to financial troubles. The police, however, were inclined to scout this motive. They then learned the youth's uncle, Paul Endicott, lives at Fontana. The elder Endicott was notified and took his nephew in charge.

Police and ground observers of the death attempts gave Lieut. Brown full credit for preventing the suicide.

RUMORS prevalent in Hollywood for the past several weeks that Sue Carol and Nick Stuart, young screen players, are married, are believed confirmed with the discovery yesterday of a marriage license at the County Clerk's office in Ventura county.

The reports of the marriage of the couple began a short time ago when Miss Carol is reported to have told friends she and Stuart were married in Ventura last July. An exhaustive search of the records yesterday disclosed a notice of intention to wed filed July 22, last, by Niculae Pratza and Eva Jenny Kiefer, and further that the couple were married July 23 by Superior Judge Edward Henderson of Ventura county.

On the notice Pratza gave his address as 2049 Meadow Valley Terrace, which is the house occupied by Stuart, while Mrs. Kiefer, who said she is a divorcee, gave her address as 5680 Hill Oak Drive. Miss Carol occupies a house at a like address, according to the records at the Fox Film Studios where both are under contract.

Stuart's off-stage name, according to his studio biography, is Nicholas Prata. He is a Rumanian and Pratza is said to be the Rumanian spelling of his name. Miss Carol is a daughter of Mrs. Samuel M. Lederer of Chicago. In January of this year her first husband, Allen H. Kiefer, a buyer for a Chicago stock yards concern, divorced her on the grounds of desertion.

Miss Carol always has used Evelyn as her given name in using the name of Lederer or Kiefer. On the license Mrs. Kiefer gave her age as 21 and said she is a student, born in Illinois. She gave her mother's name as Lena Smith and that of her father as Sam Led.

On the marriage license Pratza gave his age as 25 and his occupation as photography. His father is George Pratza and his mother Elina Pratza. The license was issued by Deputy County Clerk J. G. Hathaway of Ventura county.

Judge Henderson, who now is sitting on the local bench, was shown pictures of Miss Carol and Stuart yesterday, but said he could not attempt to identify them, inasmuch as he has married so many young people since that time. He vaguely remembered the names, however.

The witnesses who signed the marriage license are John O'Melveny and Corine O'Melveny. It was learned from an authentic source that James Fidler, Miss Carol's publicity director, and another person, a writer, also were present at the ceremony.

It was only several months ago that Miss Carol announced her en-

DEPOT PARLEY PLAN ADVANCES

Mayor's Proposal Passed on to Counsel of Espee

Preliminary Reply Due Soon, Lawyer Indicates

Formal Action May Wait on New Court Opinion

Mayor Porter's proposal that the city and railroads get together for a conference and see if they agree amicably on a union passenger terminal for Los Angeles moved forward another step yesterday when Councilman Davis communicated the proposal to Frank Karr, Southern Pacific Railroad counsel.

Davis is chairman of the Council Committee on Public Utilities to which the Mayor's suggestion was referred when it was sent to the Council for approval.

REPLY DUE SOON

Karr, Davis said, received the suggestion with cordiality and said that he may be able to get some sort of a reply by Monday from the presidents of the Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Santa Fe lines.

The conference, if the Porter suggestion be accepted by the railroads, may be held in abeyance until after the California Supreme Court decides the terminal case pending before it, Davis said after conferring with Karr, inasmuch as the situation may be clarified considerably by the expected decision. The Mayor, it was explained, did not know of this pending case when he suggested an immediate conference.

HE GOES ON RECORD

In his suggestion for the conference, Mayor Porter went on record as favoring the union terminal and as against the city's giving up the efforts it has carried on so long to get such a station. His move came just after the United States Supreme Court decided that the Interstate Commerce Commission does not have authority to order the station built.

In the State court it will be attempted to get a decision clearing the question of whether the State Railroad Commission has authority to issue such an order.

EXPERT ON JUVENILES GETS LEAVE

Civil Service Commission Releases Dr. Van Waters for Great Hoover Task

Paving the way for Dr. Miriam Van Waters's acceptance of an appointment on President Hoover's National Commission on Law Observance and Enforcement, the County Civil Service Commission yesterday granted Dr. Van Waters a year's leave of absence from her duties as referee of the girls' section of the Juvenile Court here.

The Civil Service Commission acted at the request of George W. Wickersham, chairman of President Hoover's commission, who stated in a letter to Juvenile Court Judge Scott that the national commission was most anxious to procure Dr. Van Waters's services in making a national study of juvenile delinquency, a subject on which Dr. Van Waters is considered an authority.

Members of the commission expressed confidence in the ability of Dr. Van Waters to handle the work set out for her by the national commission.

Dr. Van Waters, who was present at the meeting, said she will start wor: on the national survey here and indicated she will make her headquarters in Los Angeles.

Titanic Survivor May Die of Fall

Mrs. Annie Noonan, 86-year-old survivor of the Titanic disaster, who lives at the Oaks Hotel, Sixth and Flower streets, yesterday slipped and fell to the sidewalk at Sixth street and Broadway, suffering a fracture of the left hip. She was taken to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, where surgeons reported the shock of the injury may prove fatal on account of her advanced years.

Mrs. Noonan married a sea captain when she was 16 years of age and toured the world numerous times before settling in Los Angeles.

FAIRYLAND PARADE TODAY

Picture-Book Folk Will Welcome Santa Claus in Pageant Marking Christmas Season Opening

The picture-book folk of fairyland will parade this morning through downtown Los Angeles to welcome Santa Claus for the junior population of the city. Nine floats, nine bands and nine times as many clowns, mummers and characters taken from the fables of childhood will march in a pageant marking the opening of the Christmas season and for the entertainment of all good children who believe in the patron holiday saint.

The parade will form at Twelfth street and Broadway and move promptly at 10 o'clock north to Tenth street, then east to Main street, north on Main to Ninth street, thence north on Spring street to First street, west on First to Broadway, south on Broadway to Ninth street, west on Ninth to Hill street, north on Hill to Fifth street, west on Fifth to Olive street, south on Olive to Seventh street, west on Seventh to Flower street, south on Flower to Twelfth street, and east on Twelfth to Hill street.

Chief of Police Davis yesterday said that parking along the route of the march will be prohibited after 7 a.m., and asked that the public co-operate in keeping the line of march open so that children might have every opportunity to view the spectacle. Chief Davis suggested that motorists who intend to view the pageant, park their cars outside of the parade area.

Yesterday the work of decorating the streets was completed and a dress rehearsal of the floats promised a colorful spectacle. Officials in charge of the pageant announced that facilities have been provided to care for children from settlements and social centers.

One of the unique features of the parade installed yesterday is a system of loud-speakers along the line of march, which will carry the starting bugle call and provide music for the crowds before the arrival of the marchers.

IMPROVEMENTS PLANNED

Council yesterday adopted the ordinances of intention for the improvement of the Sycamore Trail and Grand View Trail district and for the improvement of Wooster street from Gregory Way and a point south of Whitworth Drive. The ordinances were set for hearing of protests January 7, 1930.

LIMIT FOR BUILDINGS PROPOSED

Chief Scott to Represent Fire Board at Parley on Drafting Height Rules

Chief Scott, of the Los Angeles Fire Department, yesterday was delegated by the Fire Commission to represent it at a meeting in the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce Building at noon on Thursday, December 5, next, when a conference will be held on height-limit regulations for buildings in both the city and county.

The invitation to the conference is from A. G. Arnoll, secretary-manager, who states that at the request of President Shannon Crandall an invitation has been forwarded to the Board of Supervisors urging that the Regional Planning Commission be instructed to make a careful study of building height-limit regulations.

"It is hoped that out of such an investigation may come a much-needed uniform building height limit ordinance for the city and county," wrote Arnoll. "The Chamber of Commerce is calling together representatives from all the organizations interested in the study, revision and extension of the regulations on this subject."

POST REFUSED BY GOODHEART

Police Board Appointment Rejected in Letter

He Calls Charges of Critics "Tempest in Teapot"

Mayor Expresses Confidence But Grants Request

Ben L. Goodheart, nominated recently by Mayor Porter to occupy the fifth place on the Police Commission, last night suddenly requested his name be withdrawn as the appointee on the grounds that recent criticism directed at him might be embarrassing to the administration. The Mayor complied with the request and directed a letter to the erstwhile appointee expressing confidenence that the criticism is wholly unfounded.

Mayor Porter's letter said his confidence in Goodheart is not shaken in the least degree, but because inharmony over the appointment might impair, or even destroy, the member's usefulness on the Police Commission, he had complied with the request.

Goodheart said that he believes when the fight over him quiets down and things said against him are sifted down, the whole affair will reveal itself as "a tempest in a teapot."

"I believe the opposition to Mr. Goodheart," the Mayor said, "is of the same nature and caliber as that against me now in the courts. I intended to stand pat on his appointment, but he has requested his name be withdrawn and I have complied."

LETTER OF GOODHEART

The criticism against Goodheart, which became apparent soon after his name was submitted by Mayor Porter, is based on his activities while State Deputy of the Modern Woodmen of America. Revelations that charges against Goodheart were the subject of an inquiry by a special State Senate committee in 1927 were presented to the Mayor, who directed that the matter be investigated.

OLD FIGHT RENEWED

Goodheart was charged with accepting commissions contrary to State law from two Los Angeles banks for deposits of $200,000 in lodge funds. The matter was investigated by a committee composed of Senators Inman, Ingram and Allen. This committee recommended that the transactions between Goodheart and the banks be referred to the Attorney-General and State Insurance Commissioner for action. It was held that if any violation existed it was not a penal offense.

When the revival of the deposit investigation was made known to Goodheart he characterized the case as "an interfraternal political fight," and declared that he has the written opinion of Atty.-Gen. Webb absolving him of any moral or legal wrong in the entire transaction.

He declared that he knew the parties leading the opposition to his appointment on the Police Commission, and is certain that it dated back to his work as a representative of the Modern Woodmen in California. Goodheart has resigned his lodge duties, but announced that he will welcome the closest scrutiny of his life and activities.

Goodheart's letter to the Mayor follows:

Nov. 27, 1929.

Hon. John C. Porter,
Mayor, Los Angeles.

Dear Mr. Mayor:

My recent appointment by you to the Police Commission has precipitated such a bitter fight on the part of my few enemies, resulting in ungrounded criticisms of myself, that I fear it may become embarrassing to you to stand by my appointment, even though you are satisfied of their falsity. My feeling of loyalty to you and your administration and my sincere desire to see your administration both popular and successful, has led me to feel that in view of the foregoing I should ask you to withdraw my name from consideration. The welfare and success of any administration of Los Angeles is far more important to the public than is the appointment of any single individual to office. Especially is this true when your administration may, by reason of an appointment, suffer the adverse criticism of a group of malcontents and personal enemies, for its success necessarily rests largely on the harmonious co-operation of

by Harry Carr

EDDIE MACK, this boy who boxed Tuesday night, is a charming fellow.

He has a college fraternity pin on his vest and the memory of an ancient ancestry in his heart. His real name is Pedro Quintana; and his people came with Cortez in shining armor to the conquest.

Afterward the Spanish soldiers of his family tree came north on the long and dreadful expeditions over the dread Jornada de Muerte to Santa Fe and Taos with Onate and De Vargas.

Eddie was born on the edge of a little Indian pueblo near Santa Fe. He whacks athletes in various points of their anatomy as a means of making a living, but his heart is out in the open country where the white light of the New Mexican sun shines down upon the serene adobes.

POPULAR TASTE

I was very much interested in a well-written story about the books that are popular, for the moment, at the Public Library.

Mystery stories on the down grade; Harold Bell Wright well-nigh forgotten; war stories, works of science and biographies in high and growing favor.

MURDER! MURDER!

These murder mystery stories irk my spirit.

I was a police reporter for a long time and I wrote about enough murders to start another world war. During that time I never heard of any such feats of detective sleuths as S. S. Van Dine writes about.

Most of the murderers are caught by some woman phoning the desk sergeant at the police station to say: "Say, mister, this guy who boards in my front parlor lit out last night and his Ford is all nicked up and there's blood on the windshield. And, anyhow, I don't like him and he owes me for two weeks' board and he broke me best teacup and I want something done about it."

WILLARD! WILLARD!

It seems a great pity that a fine mind like Willard Huntington Wright's should be used to ooze out slush like "The Greene Murder Case."

HAROLD BELL WRIGHT

Harold Bell Wright's is an interesting case.

It is obviously impossible for any author to turn out unsophisticated stories like the "Winning of Barbara Worth" after he gets rich. As a witty critic once said, Harold Bell Wright was ruined when he learned to eat shrimps. That, apparently, being the final test of sophistication.

What gave Mr. Wright his great vogue was a sort of Wednesday night prayer meeting earnestness and innocence of heart. Stuff that, alas, doesn't go with a million-dollar bank account.

THE THREE-DECKER

I make no claim to being a literary prophet; but I will venture this prediction:

That as skirts sag down and flappers go demure, there will come a change in public reading. Right now the thing for the author to do is to write an old-fashioned three-decker novel, like "Vanity Fair"—where he tells it all and brings it to a whacking climax at the end, instead of the modern mode of leaving everything up in the air.

In a modern novel—just when you are all worked up as to what is going to happen next, the author says:

"And then Mary lit a candle and the shadows squirted out into

HITCHCOCK BADE FAREWELL

Throng With Tear-Dimmed Eyes at Obsequies Hears Touching Tributes to Comedian

Silenced forever the quips which had brought laughter to so many hearts, the stage was darkened and the audience sat with tear-dimmed eyes when the last rites were conducted yesterday morning in the flower-banked chapel of Hollywood Cemetery to mark the passing of Raymond Hitchcock, musical comedy star, who died unexpectedly of a heart attack last Sunday night.

While the soft notes of an organ broke the hush of the chapel the comedians, friends and fellow-actors filed in sadly to pay their last tribute to the man they loved so well. Stars of the stage and screen, old-timers who have been his lifelong friends and the younger men and women of the footlights who knew the charm of his personality were among the several hundred persons who filled the chapel to capacity.

SIMPLICITY FEATURE

The services were marked by the greatest simplicity. Sam Hardy, president of the Masquers, of which organization Raymond Hitchcock long had been a member, paid homage to the actor with a few words. After knowing Hitchcock for more than twenty years, Hardy said, he knew that his capacity for friendship amounted to genius; that he loved actors and the theater; that he never had an enemy, and wherever he went sunshine went with him.

Known affectionately among his colleagues as "Hitchy," Hardy said that a rare sweetness of disposition and a wonderful understanding of human nature had made the comedian loved by all who knew him, and that his heritage to the world is one of laughter and hearts made lighter.

FATHER-IN-LAW'S TRIBUTE

Dr. M. M. Mangasarian, father of Mrs. Hitchcock, delivered the eulogy which paid high tribute to the actor as a man with a buoyant, winged spirit, with boundless kindness and ready sympathy, who bore no grudges and cherished no enmity.

"He was a man of great industry," said Dr. Mangasarian, "an indefatigable worker who loved to be in the race running at high speed. He was a man of even temper who met the fickleness of fortune with equanimity. Hope was his anchor, and he met every disappointment

SAN GABRIEL DAM PLANS AWAIT MEETING OF BOARD

Future plans in connection with the San Gabriel flood control project yesterday awaited a meeting of the Board of Supervisors, following a condemnation of the forks site for a high dam by State Engineer Hyatt.

"We are paying a stand-by charge daily to the contractor while he is idle with his equipment and have been since we ordered him to stop work several weeks ago," said Supervisor Graves. "This is running into money. Now that the State Engineer has condemned the site I see no reason for not canceling the contract immediately."

It will require a four-fifths vote of the Supervisors to transfer the funds from a high dam project to another, such as a proposed rock-fill type of dam. The County Counsel has ruled that a new contract will be required to build any other dam.

Whether or not a unanimity of opinion will develop among the Supervisors to construct such a dam remains to be seen. Supervisor Graves yesterday stated that "we had better not be in too big a rush about this rock-fill dam." He added that in his opinion this is a time for deliberation and caution in respect to the whole flood-control program.

"We have seen the bulk of the whole program upset now, and we had better look where we are going before we make a new move as regards a dam or dams in the San Gabriel Canyon," said Graves. Supervisor Shaw has opposed any kind of a dam at the forks site until more assurance has been given as to its safety.

Chief Engineer Eaton announced that he is more interested in a constructive flood control program for the future in San Gabriel Canyon. To this end his office already is at work on three types of dams, including the rock and earth fill and a combination masonry and rock fill. Next week he will inspect two of the outstanding rock-fill dams in the northern part of the State. He himself has supervised the construction of two such dams.

CHAMBERS JOIN BASE FIGHT

All Southland Represented at Meeting to Plan Battle for San Diego Dirigible Site

More than 100 representatives of chambers of commerce from Yuma, Ariz., to San Diego, Santa Barbara and Bakersfield met at the Chamber of Commerce here yesterday and pledged themselves to work for the selection of Camp Kearny as the site for the Pacific Coast naval dirigible base.

Every citizen interested in development of the Southland to get in touch with whatever connection he may have in Congress and insist upon a site selection on the basis of aeronautical and naval reasons alone.

"All we ask of anyone," said President Hal Hotchkiss of San Diego's chamber, "is to impress upon Congress that there should be a selection of site upon merit alone. If the site is selected on the basis of merit then Camp Kearny will get it. That is all we have to fear—that something else will get into the selection."

BENT APPOINTED

At a separate meeting at the same time, directors of the Los Angeles chamber appointed Arthur Bent, ex-president of the body, to represent them in Washington during the contest over a site selection foreseen when the matter comes before Congress. Maj. T. C. Macauley, secretary of the San Diego chamber, and William Kettner of San Diego, former Democratic Congressman, already are at the national capital working for Camp Kearny.

Both President Crandall of the Los Angeles chamber and President Hotchkiss of the San Diego body appealed to the gathering and to

CHARGE LODGED AGAINST BIRD

Formal Complaint Issued in Shooting of Friend

Suspect Remanded to Jail and Wife Released

Victim Believed to be Losing His Battle for Life

Maj. Owen R. Bird, 40-year-old sportsman and former athlete, was charged formally with assault to commit murder on the person of Percival G. Watson, 36, mechanical engineer, and his so-called "best friend," in a complaint issued late yesterday by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Richardson.

Bird immediately was arraigned before Municipal Judge Ambrose and his bail set at $10,000. Unable to raise this amount last night he was remanded to the County Jail.

At about the time Bird entered the jail his wife, Mrs. Laura Bird, 32, eyewitness of the asserted struggle between her husband and Watson in which the latter was shot three times, was released by Detective Lieutenants Reavis and Stead of the police homicide detail. She had been held since the shooting late Monday night as a material witness.

Bird is scheduled to appear next Thursday at 2 p.m. for preliminary hearing before Municipal Judge Ambrose.

VICTIM FEARED DYING

While the authorities were taking the legal steps to bring the sportsman to trial, Watson was making what police surgeons describe as a losing battle for his life. He was shot in the face, the arm and the abdomen. The latter wound may prove fatal, it is believed.

Though facing possible death Watson late yesterday declared that he does not wish to prosecute Bird, according to the detectives. He, as well as Bird, clung to his first description of the fight between them which took place in the Bird home at 3514 West Dahlia street.

Capt. Cato questioned Bird again yesterday and the same story of the affair was repeated.

STORY OF STRUGGLE

Bird declared that he had come home somewhat under the influence of liquor. His wife was sitting on the davenport with Watson, the friend he had known for five years, he said. They upbraided him for drinking, he stated, and, angered by their remarks, he stepped into the kitchen to get something to eat. His wife followed him there, he said, and an argument ensued.

Watson, in his statement declared that at this point Bird struck his wife and that he intervened in her defense. He said he struck at Bird but did not hit him.

Bird agreed with Watson in this but denied that he had hit his wife. He said that, not wanting to quarrel with Watson, he picked up some of his clothes, walked out of the house and went to a friend's home in a taxicab. The friend being away, he returned home, he declared.

FURTHER QUESTIONING

For the second time his wife and Watson questioned him as to where he had been, he said.

"I told them," he declared, "that I had looked for a place to sleep but, not finding one, had returned."

At this point, according to the police report, Bird rushed toward Watson. He had a .32-caliber revolver in his hand, a gun he habitually kept in a bureau drawer.

Watson stated that Bird fired at him, the first shot striking him in the face.

"I grappled with him," Watson declared, "and he fired again. The bullet hit me in the arm pit. Then he fired again and I was struck in the stomach."

Bird, according to his statement to police, declared that he believed the gun to be loaded with blank shells and did not know that his "friend" had been wounded until he saw him crumple on the floor bleeding.

GUN USED FOR RACES

"The gun is one I often used," he said in his statement, "to start track meet races. I did not think it was loaded with bullets. I did not fire directly at Watson and did not mean to shoot him."

After the shooting Bird, it is stated, aided his wife in giving Watson first aid while police, notified by a neighbor, were on their way to the scene. Watson was, a few minutes later, taken to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, where he made a statement and then went on the operating table.

Children of the Birds, Eunice, 11 years of age, and Owen, Jr., 9, are being cared for by juvenile authorities. They were asleep in their bedroom when the shooting occurred, it was stated, and knew nothing of the trouble until the police arrived.

Watson and Mrs. Bird, according to Detective Lieutenants Reavis and Stead, have been advised by attorneys not to make any further statements pending the trial of the sportsman.

Watson is single and is a mechanical engineer. He lived at 4926 South Gramercy Place. Both he and Bird were overseas during the World War but did not meet, according to the latter, until about five years ago. Since that time Bird said they have been close friends.

HOUSE MOVING STIRS ROW

Seeking grand-theft complaints against his sister and a number of other persons unnamed who, he asserted, moved the house in which he was living at 423 North Fourth street, Montebello, to another lot some distance away on the same street, Pablo Mungia yesterday invoked the aid of Dep. Dist.-Atty. Stahlman.

Mungia, according to Stahlman, declared that in his absence his belongings and furnishings were piled up outside the house and the house moved some distance along the street to a lot owned by his sister, Mrs. Marian Aguayo.

According to Stahlman, the house and the lot on which it was situated are included in the estate of the father of Mrs. Aguayo and Mungia, and the latter was living on the premises pending probate of the estate. Stahlman stated he will conduct an investigation.

RICH MAN SOUGHT AFTER VANISHING

Frank Baumgarteker

RANSOM PLOT THEORY GIVEN

Federal Agents Join Search for Baumgarteker

Merchant and Rancher Has Been Gone Two Days

Wife, Near Collapse, Unable to Provide Clews

The amazing disappearance of Frank Baumgarteker, half-owner of a Cucamonga winery, the Western Grape Products Company, and three large vineyards, was steeped in deeper mystery yesterday when police admitted that they fear the wealthy merchant and rancher may have met with foul play or is the victim of a kidnaping and ransom plot.

Police officials refused to disclose the details of their investigation of the circumstances of the complete dropping from sight since Monday at noon of the rich wine merchant, but admitted that Federal authorities have joined in the search for the missing man. The Federal investigators would not reveal the information they have regarding the possible whereabouts of Baumgarteker, or the lines they are pursuing in an attempt to solve the mystery of his disappearance.

BUSINESS CONFERENCE

Baumgarteker, according to the information given to Captain of Detectives Cato, left his home at 2320 Seventh avenue Monday morning. He was driving his dark purple Cadillac phaeton automobile, bearing license number 4m-46-31. At noon he had lunch at Hoffman's Cafe, near Eighth and Spring streets with his business partner, Robert Demateis, and his attorney, Walter Haas.

Haas and Demateis, according to Cato, declare that after luncheon the missing man left them in front of the cafe, saying that he had his car parked on Los Angeles street, and would see them later.

That, it is reported by business associates, friends and police, is the last knowledge anyone has edge of his movements. His car was taken from the parking space, and cannot be located.

PERMIT DISCUSSED

At the luncheon Baumgarteker, his associate and attorney, discussed plans to sell the Western Grape Products Company, and talked over a Federal permit they had just received for the removal of 40,000 gallons of wine from the Cucamonga wihery to a local wine-tonic manufacturing establishment.

There was nothing in this conversation, according to police, that might indicate a reason for the disappearance. It was pointed out that Baumgarteker does not participate in the actual transfer of his wine containers to the manufacturing concern, but is the owner of a transfer company at 633 Gibbons street, Wilmington, which does the hauling for the winery.

Baumgarteker told his wife, according to police, that he intended to go to Wilmington some time Monday afternoon to see a hardware dealer about a contract for hauling merchandise. He never kept the appointment. According to his secretary in his winery office at 279 North Avenue 19, he had changed his mind about this trip after reaching his place of business. He failed to appear at his transfer company office, and did not notify his employees of his inability to reach the harbor plant.

WIFE PUZZLED

The missing man and his partner, according to authorities, conducted their winery business under special government permit, and their warehouses are bonded and under Federal supervision. They supplied a large portion of the wine, which came from their vineyards to local makers of wine tonic.

Mrs. Mary Baumgarteker, the missing man's wife, could offer no explanation to the police. She declared that she knew of nothing that would cause her husband to make such a prolonged stay away from home without notifying her of his intentions.

A 16-year-old son Herbert is with his mother, and both are as mystified over the disappearance as the officials endeavoring to reach its solution. The father, with wife and son, and several intimate friends spent the week-end at the large ranch near Alta Loma. The son remained over, but the parents and friends returned home Sunday evening.

FEARS EXPRESSED

Mrs. Baumgarteker was near collapse last night, and fears that her husband has been harmed or is held against his will. Certain friends of the wine merchant, according to police, have disclosed information to the effect that bootleggers have attempted several times to approach Baumgarteker. It was intimated that efforts might have been made to frighten him into disposing of wine to them. The wife does not agree with this supposition, as she declares that her husband has never intimated to her that he feared interference from any sellers of liquor. His business, according to her, was completely supervised by Federal officials and he made it a special point to be extremely careful in wine sales and business deals where his vineyard product was concerned.

Baumgarteker is 43 years of age, is five feet eight inches in height, weighs about 162 pounds and has light brown hair, gray eyes and prominent forehead. He has a closely cropped mustache and when he disappeared was wearing a black cheviot suit, soft beige felt hat with telescope top and tan oxfords.

gagement to Stuart when she displayed a huge, square-cut diamond ring. The engagement was announced after the date of the issuance of the license to Pratza and Mrs. Kiefer. Not many weeks ago Miss Carol then announced the engagement had been broken by mutual consent. A week later she was visited by her mother. Since the departure of her mother for Chicago Miss Carol and Stuart have been seen together on many occasions.

Miss Carol came to Hollywood in 1927 to visit a friend and immediately was recruited for pictures by Douglas MacLean. Her rise to success was almost overnight. She is a Wampas baby star and has played many leads since her debut. Stuart has been in pictures for a number of years and their romance has been watched with interest for months.

Neither Miss Carol nor Stuart could be reached for a statement yesterday.

New Englanders on Tour of West Will Stop Here

Nearly 200 New Englanders, returning home after attending the sixty-third annual session of the National Grange in Seattle, Wash. will reach here tomorrow morning and leave at 3 o'clock in the afternoon by special Santa Fe train for the Grand Canyon. Two days later their special will proceed to Kansas City and St Louis.

The party, which has been on a tour since leaving Boston the 6th inst., will arrive in Los Angeles at 9 a.m. The visitors will have six hours to make a sightseeing trip of the city and Hollywood before departure. Since Tuesday morning the party has been in Yosemite National Park.

The delegation is in charge of Leslie R. Smith, secretary of the executive committee of the National Grange, and S. B. St. John, Santa Fe general agent, both of Boston.

Traveler Lauds Mexico's People

Describing Mexico as "a beautiful tapestry flung down the edge of the western world," Col. Ray Bowles, newspaper man and traveler, told members of the City Club yesterday that there is no kindlier, more hospitable people on earth than the inhabitants of the southern republic and that the two things most desired by the Mexicans are more democratic government and the continued friendship of the citizens of the United States.

"The 16,000,000 inhabitants of Mexico extend the hand of friendship to America and look to this country to help them solve their social and political problems," said Col. Bowles.

Kious Rites to be Tomorrow

Funeral services for Cornelius S. Kious, merchandise broker of Central avenue and Seventh street, will be conducted tomorrow at 3:30 p.m. in the W. A. Brown mortuary. Cremation will follow at Rosedale Cemetery.

Mr. Kious was born seventy-five years ago in Illinois. He came here nearly half a century ago and long was identified with the wholesale handling of food supplies.

Death occurred Tuesday night at his home, 2816 Menlo avenue. He leaves a widow, Flora, and one son, Joseph S. Kious.

with the theory that tomorrow would be a better day. The success of his comrades always augmented his own happiness and he harbored no petty jealousies.

"Raymond Hitchcock had a versatile mind. He was a lover of books and a straight thinker, immune to the fads, follies and intellectual maladies of the day. We must meet his death in quiet submission to what must be, and gather here this morning to say to him a simple farewell."

Following the brief services the mourners passed slowly by the bier to look upon the still face for the last time. Among those who lingered longer than the others were his old comrades, Joe Weber, Lew Fields, De Wolfe Hopper, Louis Mann and William Collier, men who had been his friends ever since he became identified with the theatrical world.

The body was cremated after the ceremonies and the ashes will be taken by Mrs. Hitchcock to his birthplace at Canandaigua, N. Y., where the urn is to be placed in the family burial plot in the village cemetery. The Masquera were in charge of the services yesterday.

JACOBSON PROPOSES AID FOR AGED WORKERS

Councilman Jacobson yesterday introduced a resolution aiming toward an amendment in the civil service rules whereby employees, laid off because of slackness of work, but retained on the list, in the future will not be turned down upon a civil service examination because of having passed the age limit. He stated that injustices have been committed under the present status of the rules. The resolution was referred to the Efficiency and Personnel Committee.

CHURCH SETS AHEAD SERVICE HOUR TODAY

Thanksgiving services at First Methodist Church, Central District, will be conducted today at 10:15 a.m. instead of at 10:45 a.m. as announced previously, according to a message given out yesterday by the Church Federation. Dr. E. E. Helms will preside and the program will include selections by the choir and addresses by several ministers, including Dr. John Snape who will preach on "The Christian Attitude Toward War."

Mayonnaise Maker and Wife in Well-Worn Attire

Bonding Topic to Fore When Pair Dispute Wealth

Judge for Allowance Fixed in Divorce Action

Asked in a court she said she had worn steadily for four years one which was a dress that once was pink, but had been dyed blue. Mrs. Esther R. Gelfand, wife of Alma Gelfand, millionaire mayonnaise manufacturer, yesterday appeared before Superior Judge Adams, with her attorney, Hubert L. Morrow, to see what could be done about money for temporary support pending her divorce action against her husband.

Attorney William G. Bonelli, counsel for the husband, was present and said his client was wearing a suit of clothes bought in 1917 at the time the mayonnaise business was started.

WHAT IS HE WORTH?

The attorneys on both sides and the court then began the work of marshaling the facts relative to the statement of Mrs. Gelfand that Gelfand is worth, in round figures, a sum close to $3,000,000, and receives an income of $60,000 a year, and also the contention of the husband that his income is only $20,000 a year and his financial worth nil. Gelfand declared that in 1927 he deed all his stock in his manufacturing concern in trust at Baltimore, Md., the income to be paid to his wife and children. He said he still maintains his office as president of the corporation.

Attorney Morrow argued that the trust action was to place the community property out of reach of his wife.

Attorney Bonelli and his associate, Attorney E. Aubrey Miller, said Mrs. Gelfand suffered from delusions and that she insisted on having a surgical operation performed which, according to experts, it was not.

In her divorce complaint the wife accused her husband of a life of dissipation with questionable amusements since 1925.

The wife said she has been receiving $500 a month and asked that it be increased to $1000. Gelfand sought to have the allowance cut down. Judge Schauer finally made an order requiring the husband to pay his wife $150 a week pending the trial of the divorce action, also was allowing his wife's attorney a fee of $2000.

The wife asserts that the mayonnaise business her husband is at present head of, was started in Baltimore about fourteen years ago, and that she helped him to keep it on a paying basis until her third child was born, when her husband took full charge of it.

Rose-oxide Floor Wax

An inexpensive floor wax may be made at home and found very successful, as it keeps the floors their natural light color. To one-half pint boiled paraffin add one teaspoonful turpentine. Apply to the floor with a cloth, then polish with a woolen cloth or weighted brush.

LET EVERYONE GIVE THANKS

Two facts stand out clearly on this last Thursday in November as the nation gives universal response to the President's Thanksgiving Day proclamation. The first is that America is the most prosperous and—what is better—the most generally happy country wherein to live and move and have one's being. The other fact is that the United States is the only nation on earth to set aside officially by Presidential proclamation a special day of the year on which to return thanks to God Almighty for both our positive and negative blessings.

Between these two facts there is a close connection for all who have eyes to see. An expression of gratitude by a whole people focuses the thoughts of the individual on the bright side of existence and thinking bright and happy thoughts is a sure way to shine up our homes and hearths and make Uncle Sam of a cheerful countenance. Therefore, the more each man and woman searches the heart to discover boons to be thankful for, the more each adds to the distribution of happiness—something more to be desired than the accumulation of wealth.

To the majority of Americans, especially in California, little heart-searching is needed as a prelude to enjoying Thanksgiving Day with a healthy appetite and a clear conscience. Our positive blessings are many and obvious. We can thank the Creator for them without going to the preacher for a category of them, though we can thank Him in truer spirit if we do. Genuine thanksgiving loves company and nowhere is better company to be found than within the church doors.

Yet even in sunny California there are many who in the last twelvemonth period have suffered loss of friends and fortune, have experienced the dull pain of disappointed hopes, have seen their confidences betrayed, have had to struggle against mental maladies or physical weakness. How are these in the midst of personal afflictions to take part in a festival of national thanksgiving?

Only those whose narrow world is bound by the sorrows they bear will shrink within themselves while all outside them are finding cause for gratitude and giving open testimony. Nothing is altogether bad so long as we can say—there is a worse.

What human being passed through more calamity than the patriarch, Job, who, nevertheless, lived to thank his Creator for everything except his comforters? In the midst of positive misfortune he still recognized his negative blessings. Chief among these is life itself, since no one is living except because he wishes to do so. And if his bed seems to be mostly a bed of suffering, at least he can give thanks for the bed.

There is small call in California to restrict ourselves on this day of national thanksgiving to negative blessings—the good things we have being so far in excess of the ills that we have not. We can, indeed, paraphrase Shakespeare and say, "'Tis better to enjoy the things we have than grasp at others that we know not of." We, in California, can have so much for the asking that we don't need the long boarding-house reach to obtain our share of the turkey and cranberry sauce.

But there is a long reach—a stretching out of the helpful hand to fill plates and dishes less amply provided for—that every good American is glad to call his own. Indeed, this is the surest and perhaps the only preparation for a joyous Thanksgiving. Every citizen of Los Angeles who out of his plenty or his scarcity has contributed his moiety or mite to the Community Chest, since the call was issued, has assured the best kind of Thanksgiving feast, not only for himself, but for many who otherwise would have had too little to be thankful for.

We can also apply the thanksgiving yardstick to the whole nation and find small difficulty in arriving at a parity of blessings. Some have diminished their substance by plunging thoughtlessly into a frenzied stock market. But their ability to earn more money has not been impaired and the lesson may help them to do better with the next venture—to switch from speculation to investment. Again—to take liberties with some often-quoted lines, "'Tis better to have earned and lost than never to have earned at all."

With the larger world view America has every reason to be thankful for the year 1929. Peace has made great strides through leadership that brings the desires of the plain people to bear on questions that formerly were passed on over their heads in the star chamber of diplomats—where the shadow of the sword always fell across the council table. While we may deplore certain nuisances that persist in public functions as well as in private families, in the dawn of the new era of better international feeling we may be grateful for the part taken by our own country—and deeply and unreservedly thankful that as our representative in public and example in private life, we elected to the Presidency a year ago Herbert C. Hoover of California.

IT MAY BE SO

Hiram Johnson says that when he is tired of sitting in the Senate he will quit it. It takes genius to think up that one.

ACKNOWLEDGE THE CORN

There were over 10,000 spectators at a corn-husking tournament in Missouri the other day. Another instance of the American itch for excitement. Of course they had to be from Missouri.

NOT SO OPEN

Somebody's feelings are going to be hurt. Only ninety entrants are to be allowed in the January golf tourney in Agua Caliente. The prize is $25,000 and they call it an open tournament, but it isn't near as wide open as the town.

LET LAMBS BEWARE

Away up near the border line a bull killed a prominent rancher the other day and at the same time a hunter not far away was brought near to death from an adventure with the claws of a grizzly. It needs no bedizened prophet from Wall street to sound warning of the perils of bulls and bears.

THE HOLE IN ONE

That Atlantic coast earthquake was not without its good points. It enabled a Massachusetts golfer to make a hole in one. He had just made a mighty drive and the quake graciously wiggled the ball into the cup at which it was aimed. Enthusiasts are preparing to meet the next quake with their clubs.

SPREADING OUT

Gossip from Detroit has it that under the promised industrial spurt the Ford output will be expanded to something like 12,000 machines a day. There is no place to park them in this country, but Henry is supposed to be out after the business of Asia and Africa, where there is still an occasional barbarian who was never bumped by a Ford.

THE BAD LANDS

Under its fourth ruler of the year Afghanistan is best described as a country where civil war is an uncivil passion and where the tribes live happily by taking each other's loot. That is the land King Amanullah left when he failed to modernize it. Maybe it had already gotten too far along. When every guy is a hold-up man who shall deny progress?

TAKING THE CENSUS

President Hoover has issued a special proclamation governing the next census. The big idea is to let the people know that they must answer all the questions of the inquisitors, but in doing so they are in no peril. Nothing they say can ever be used against them in any tax proceeding or criminal action. They may announce their occupation as that of bootlegger and their birthplace China without bringing the sheriff on their trail. The quizzing begins on the first day of next April and so if a snoopy person appears on your porch that day and wants to know who is the head of the house don't conclude that it is a bit of April foolishness. He is an emissary of Uncle Sam charged with the business of the Census Bureau.

THE BIG PARADE

There is complaint over the magnificent new home of grand opera in Chicago. It is the most massive and impressive temple of music in the world, but there is one terrible defect. The richly adorned occupants of the boxes are no longer on exhibition—in fact, the average spectator will hardly see them at all. The old operahouse idea had the diamond horseshoe for its inspiration. There was a golden circle for smart society and its gorgeous toggery. Mrs. Van Swagger with her breastplate of diamonds was a big part of the show. But the boxes in the new palace are rather secluded and confer no blazing distinction upon the occupant. This is a blow—not only to those who think they are in the parade, but to visitors who wish to see what the richly groomed matron is wearing this season. Something may have to be done about this yet.

FEARLESS JOURNALISM

Years ago when, according to the good old-timers, newspapers were newspapers and used real he-language in which to clothe their righteous convictions, it was not an unusual thing for rival cities to exchange, through the virile columns of their respective journals, mutual compliments of the kind that took the hide off. Readers accustomed in their youth to such red literary meat are wont to sigh over the decadent tendencies of the modern press which, instead of roasting the erstwhile rival town to a fine Thanksgiving brown, is more apt to be found weakly complimenting it on its civic enterprise and urging the home folks to profit by the example.

However, there is yet hope. Not all the fearless editors of the Mark Twain Tennessee school have gone West. Read, for example, the following editorial from the Chicago Tribune of no longer ago than the 19th inst:

Cleveland Is a Pain in the Neck

There seems to be something highly appropriate in the fact that the three tugs which have been opening up bridges should be discovered as of Cleveland ownership. Little Sister Cleveland, the garbage town, which is trying to compel Chicago to turn its sewage into the drinking water after the famous Cleveland manner, cannot float its towboats under the Chicago bridges on the water level which it contends is so low as to be injuring commerce. The Cleveland port, as a matter of fact, hasn't seen the lake level for years. It floats its boats on a crust of sewage. There probably would be nothing unseemly in such harbor conditions and nothing distasteful in a water supply therefrom to a city familiar with the Ohio gang (the conditions would be homelike) but that is a matter of taste and experience.

Little dirty-faced sister got on the map in the first place by being the terminal of one of the early western inland waterways, a canal which enabled the farmers to get their wheat to the lake carriers. It knows the value of a waterway from experience, and consequently little dirty face uses its very able political gang talent to try not only to give this city the Cleveland variety of drinking water, but to keep the Illinois waterway from having any water. And, moreover, toot, toot, the Cleveland tugs want the bridges up because there is too much water in the lakes.

Chicago Congressmen have asked the army engineers for a hearing on the bridge ordinance when it comes up for consideration and have been promised it. The Washington office is waiting for the report of Maj. H. J. Wild, resident engineer in Chicago. Maj. Wild does not report directly. He sends his report to Col. E. H. Markham at divisional headquarters. Divisional headquarters are, one guess, at Cleveland. The metropolitan harbor is supervised from the rival town, economically a weak sister, but politically an Amazon. Cleveland is wired in at Washington as tightly as a useless southern navy yard.

THE WINTER WAR

The outside States will not allow an armistice in the alleged war between Florida and California. Comes now the New York Times and digs up a professor in a girls' school in Tallahassee, who has discovered a cypress tree in Florida that is fifteen feet in diameter and 2300 years old. It is compared with some growths in the Golden State and the sham battle begins all over again.

One would imagine from the fuss made over it, that a whole flock of forests had been located on the Atlantic border. The big trees standing on the mountain humps on either side of Yosemite, the Sequoia groves just a little farther south in the Sierra Nevadas, the Sempervirens craters in the Big Basin and Santa Cruz country, the stately march of redwoods for seventy-five miles down the Eel River and the mammoth patches of big trees between Eureka and Crescent City on the coast are not isolated secrets. It takes more than one robin to make a spring, and more than one cypress to make a forest.

If Florida can find one big tree under which to build a hotel, we congratulate her. We have already loaned her a Hollywood and other conveniences. The greatest peril will be that some tourist will have Florida's lone cypress pointed out, and there may be somebody indiscreet enough at hand to mention the redwoods of California. Imitation is—but why bring that up?

NOTHING OF LESS CONSEQUENCE

The country is threatened with the failure of the terrapin industry.

By James J. Montague

I may be defiant in palate,
I may be uncommonly crude,
But I still hold the view that a terrapin stew
Is a highly inferior food.
And though I'm aware that I'm risking
My cultured acquaintances' censure,
I feel no alarm lest the terrapin farm
Will soon prove a profitless venture.

These reptiles consume, people tell me,
Eight years in attaining their growth
And I set up the claim that they are not to blame
For such quite justifiable sloth.
Their pleasures, mayhap, may be scanty,
The joys in their lives may be few,
So why should they haste, may I ask, to be placed
In the midst of a soup or ragout?

Moreover, if they were permitted
To live out their humble careers
They would grow, I am told, to be notably old.
For example, say, four hundred years.
And surely no creature with prospects
To abide till a far distant date,
Would very much wish to be served in a dish
On attaining the brief age of eight.

So why should we shorten their lifetimes?
Why pry the poor things from their shell,
When, if none could be found all the country around,
The public could dine very well?
Life for me would lose none of its brightness,
My meals would lack none of their charm,
And I'd not bat a lash if I read of the crash
Of the country's last terrapin farm.

Words to the Wise

Christmas comes but once a year—because if it came oftener the Los Angeles postoffice staff would pass out utterly and Santa Claus is too kind to more than half kill anybody.

Besides, even if Christmas came every day for a few years, hopeless postoffice employees believe, it would fail to teach the general public. People will keep pasting seals and "Don't open till" stickers on the faces of letters and parcels, instead of on the back, and pasting them over the cord, thus effectively sealing the packages and making them require first-class postage.

"We've been doing all we can for weeks," Postmaster P. P. O'Brien said yesterday, "but as yet we are getting response only from the intelligent minority. In fact, I suspect that the creator of the phrase, 'intelligent minority,' must have been a postoffice worker. The rest of the people are again making the same old mistakes they made last year and the year before and the years before that. Especially are they forgetful of the necessity of mailing things early. All parcels for foreign countries should be mailed before December 1, all parcels for the Eastern States before December 10, all parcels for the Middle West by December 13 and all parcels for near-by delivery by December 16. The postoffice will be closed on Sunday, December 22, as well as on Christmas Day. As Christmas falls on Wednesday, that means that only two days, Monday and Tuesday, will be open for deliveries between 'the week before Christmas' and the big day. Only special deliveries will be delivered on Christmas."

Secret of Unfailing Popularity of Santa Claus

Old Santa has his knockers,
As any hero would;
He even has his mockers—
But he sure makes business good.
TENNYSON MABIE.

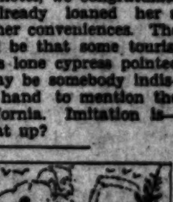
Foolish to Shop Early!

"Don't do your Christmas book buying early," urges Jake Zeitlin, who has a tiny bookshop on Hope street. "Imagine the intoxication of strolling in on the last day and in half an hour being able to supply every relative and friend with just the book he wants."

Living Christmas Trees

The living Christmas tree is going to be in evidence as never before in Southern California this year. A good many florists and nurserymen are stocking tiny potted trees, some of them only big enough to carry three or four candles, which are to be set in windows or on mantels, and the presents placed below them. Larger potted or tubbed trees for indoor use, some of which will be set out in yards afterward, also will be plentiful. But in thousands of homes trees already growing outdoors will be utilized and already the demand for strings of colored electric lights has begun, many stores having entirely sold out on such lights last year.

We don't know much about the "annual slaughter of Christmas trees." The dealers claim that most of those trees were raised for the purpose, or would have to be cut out anyway—a claim we suspect is specious in a good many instances. But certain it is that the sentiment crystallized by the efforts of the Green Cross promise to put cut Christmas trees completely off the market in a few years. Even last year, many people who had cut trees apologized for them. And this year most of those folks will have living trees, even if only very small ones.



Why Men Are Looking Down?

Lee: I note your colyum quotes Sadie Straphanger as saying that "more men than ever are looking down, not up," on the street cars. Well, what can you expect these days? When you see a boy with a close-cropped head in front of you, smoking a cigarette and wearing suspenders, the only way to know if he is a boy or she is a girl is to let your gaze drop. If he wears skirts he is a girl, if not she is a boy. And these flappy pants are sweeping even this means of hasty determination away. —R. Echelle.

Joshua Little Says:

When I lost count, my friend who says, "There are just two kinds of people," etc., had mentioned 548 different kinds in my hearing.

But there are two kinds of people—those who work stock expressions to death and those who use their minds in talking.

When it comes to wanting something for nothing, I fear there is only one kind of people.

Yet nobody ever gets anything for nothing. If you don't pay for what you get in money or service you're bound to have to pay in self-respect.

Better Come Out Here, Henry

Leeside: Ford is said to get up every morning at 4. Well, it gets pretty cold in Michigan these winter days, and when it's cold it takes quite a while to start one of those things.—Otto.

A PURELY AMERICAN HOLIDAY

BY WILLIAM HAMILTON CLINE

Our sole purely American holiday—the only official one—actually the single one proclaimed as such by our President—observed by no other nation—is Thanksgiving Day. Independence Day and Memorial Day, Christmas and New Year's, Labor Day and Easter, are largely world-wide in appeal, or have counterparts elsewhere; but even here they have no such official status. Only do we give thanks "by the President."

To this generation, Thanksgiving always was. But it had a beginning, and to Gov. Bradford, first head of old Massachusetts Bay colony, we give credit for originating this anniversary for the new United States. He proclaimed a day of general Thanksgiving in 1621, in gratitude for the plentiful harvests following a year of great depression after the landing on Plymouth Rock. But, contrary to belief, he did not designate the traditional "last Thursday in November" for this purpose; he picked out December 13, which was the date on which it was observed in that year.

However, the godly Pilgrims, though they did not know it, were not the first to utter formal thanks collectively to Providence in the New World. The earliest such service—excluding the words of gratitude spoken by Columbus when he discovered it—was in 1578, half a century before Bradford, and was on the shores of Newfoundland, held by an English minister named Wolfskill, under the command of one Frobisher, who captained the first British colony to settle on these western shores. The ship's log gives the date, May 15 of that year. And in 1607 was held the earliest such service within the confines of the present United States, conducted by the Popham colony on the coast of Maine, in August. However, these were single sporadic events, not followed up, and in nowise dimming the glory due the Massachusetts Governor for inaugurating the custom that endures to this day.

That worthy Governor did another thing notable—he linked forever the turkey with the day. He sent four armed men into the surrounding wilderness beforehand, to shoot and fetch back a plentiful supply of the birds thereabouts so numerous that even the poorest colonist might feast in abundance. The men did their duty nobly; they brought in enough to last a week. Likewise, the thrifty housewives; they stewed and baked and boiled—and evolved among other things comestible, the succulent pumpkin pie of blessed memory.

Our first Thanksgiving Day was ushered in with a salvo of cannon at early dawn. Elder Brewster, stern and implacable, in the forenoon led a procession of all able-bodied, young and old, to the meeting house, bearing the great Bible, with the Governor himself marching in the ranks. All the men bore muskets, of course, ready for action, happily not necessary. After a long service of psalms and prayers and a longer sermon—they did expound, in those times!—and thanks being duly given, all adjourned to the communal feast. So sumptuous was this that, attracted doubtless by its far-flung savory odors, some ninety friendly redskins rallied 'round, contributing offerings of haunches of venison, which were eagerly accepted.

The day of thanks did not become a set annual affair at once—not, in fact, for many years. We find Gen. Washington formally appointing at least eight set days of thanks during the Revolution. Congress took note of such occasions. And when Washington became President he issued the first proclamation of a formal Thanksgiving Day for all the States, a national observance, to be held November 26, 1789. The original manuscript of this document still exists—the first of its kind known.

Several Presidents followed Washington's example in this matter, but without any sequence or set period; mostly the duty for formal proclamation was left to the governors of the States. President Lincoln did, however, call a general day of Thanksgiving after the Battle of Gettysburg, and set August 6 of that year for it. Since then, it has been a recognised custom for the President to issue a proclamation of the day, making the last Thursday of November for it; and the State executives supplement this that it may be kept as a legal holiday in every commonwealth.

As to how we of today observe it—well, we do keep the traditions of turkey and pumpkin pie, at least. And some of us do go to church. It is still the day for family gatherings, and the festive board groans generously with viands, if not with vintages. After all, we haven't gone so very far afield from the ways of our Pilgrim Fathers if you take us by and large, at Thanksgiving time. And how much more there is for which we have to be thankful!

Riding horseback on a side-saddle was not introduced originally as a delicate concession to modesty for ladies, but purely as an expedient to hide the deformity of a queen. In the fourteenth century it was imperative for great ladies to ride horseback. Anna of Bohemia, the wife of Richard II of England and daughter of a German emperor, had the sidesaddle designed to hide any irregularity in her lower extremities. The fashion set by royalty was immediately followed both in England and Germany and eventually became universal.
W. B. J.

Unmindful of the old proverb, lightning struck twice in the same place in Kansas the other day, when a bolt injured a man and his daughter in front of their home, and a second bolt likewise descended upon them before they had recovered from the shock, adding to their injuries.
W. B. J.

THEY ASKED AND THEY RECEIVED

By Jeanie Van Allen

Once there was a Mama with three children who were penniless strangers in the beautiful city of Los Angeles.

When the day came to give thanks, there wasn't a mouthful in the desolate little room of the cheap lodging house. The crusts were all gone and in the lunch basket every bone had the mark of sharp little teeth. And because it was one of the few holidays Uncle Sam gives his mail men, they wouldn't get Papa's check until tomorrow.

The children cried and cried with hunger and the Mama gathered them close to her aching heart and said very solemnly:

"There is only One in Los Angeles who knows us. He has plenty for us. If we ask for what we want, He will give it to us."

So the three hungry children and the hungrier Mama knelt in California's blessed sunshine and the wee one prayed:

"Oh, Lord, please give me an apple. I haven't had an apple for years and years and years!"

Then the little boy prayed:

"Oh, God, I'm so hungry for meat. Mama will cut it fine so it won't hurt my sore tooth. Oh, please give me some meat!"

The little girl sobbed until she could scarcely speak:

"Oh, Father in heaven, I'll be satisfied with bread and butter!"

Before the Mama could ask for what she wanted, the landlady knocked on the door and when they opened it, she handed the Mama a big mince pie she had made with her own tired hands.

There were little plumes of steam coming out of the holes in the crust that was as rich and flaky as pie crust ought to be. Fat raisins and currants, bulging with juice, made wonderful little mounds and the delicious spices were more fragrant than the incense on a thousand oriental altars.

When they had thanked and thanked the landlady, they all said a little prayer of thanksgiving. And then the Mama cut the pie into four big pieces and as she gave them their share she said:

"God is very good to give you each exactly what you wanted—an apple for my wee one, minced meat for my boy with an aching tooth and for my daughter the rich crust that is better than any bread ever baked."

After they had all eaten Mary's apple and Philip's meat and Marion's bread they cried:

"Oh, Mama, mince pie is the nicest pie in the world. We asked for what we most wanted and we got it all on one plate!"

WHERE CAN I LEARN

Civil Service?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

Early in December a civil service examination will be held for general clerical positions, including office assistant, auditor and registrar's office filing clerk. Those who wish to take these examinations may receive free instruction by going to the Central Evening High School, 449 North Hill street. The class meets on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings from 7 to 9. There is no charge of any kind and people of all ages are welcome. The student needs only to go to the third floor to room 351 and take a seat until he is asked to give his name.

The instructor is J. L. Abbott, who has been coaching students for civil service examinations for years until he has developed a short-cut method of his own. The work of the class covers all fundamentals and also trains in the technical phase of the particular job. By a system of special tests, Mr. Abbott is able to determine the student's weak points and develop just these.

HOOVER'S FISHING CAMP

"Mr. Hoover is always thinking of new things to do, changes to make. It is the future which occupies his mind.

"A good deal has been said about the dams he is building in the tiny head waters of the Rapidan that runs through his fishing camp. Every sixty feet or so is a dam. The object is to form pools in the stream where fish are to be found by a man with a rod. They must be built sloping on the downstream side so that a fish going upstream may climb over them. They are built of rocks, pebbles and sand, not of masonry. Mr. Hoover in building them is creating something, a first-class fishing stream. When the last dam is built and everything else is completed about the camp, Mr. Hoover, so his friends predict, will turn the camp over to the public and go somewhere else, build another camp and create another fishing stream."

IT LOOKS EASY

We watch Brer Tilden playing tennis, and in a scornful way we say, "Now by St. Cuthbert and St. Denis, that is an easy game to play. It surely looks surpassing easy, from conditions it is free, and we are quick and also cheesy, if we care to play as well as he." But when we try our nerves get jangled, our backs get red with prickly heat, our shapely legs are all entangled, we fall athwart the awkward feet. When from the court we sadly totter we are exhausted and distraught; we seek the nearest stretch of water, and there we soak our domes of thought. We set a master play the fiddle, for which he gets a goodly wad, and we remark, "It is a riddle, why people cheer him and applaud. There surely is no trick in playing an instrument like that he wields; we'd do the same without much trying, and beat him in his chosen fields." The setter does it without fretting, he's cool and calm and all serene; he shows no sign of sweating, there's no disturbance in his mien. But when we try to do some playing, to show how easy is his graft, the people hiss in anger neighing, and then the large dornicks fore and aft. We see the expert painting pictures without an effort or a pause, and people do not heed his strictures, but praise him till they make him vain. And we believe that we could do it, it looks so easy, as we gaze; but when we try the stunt, beshrew it, they say we're making boobish plays. The expert always takes it easy, according to our home view, and in a manner calm and breezy he does the things we cannot do.

ELECTRIC RATES UNDER TO ISSUE

Commission Will Make Ordered Cut Official

Company Still Maintaining Profits Not Excessive

Final Battle in Prospect on Gas Reduction

In conformity with the request of Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation representatives the State Railroad Commission will issue an order directing that utility company to reduce its existing electric rates in Los Angeles approximately $737,000 in 1930. This was announced late yesterday at the conclusion of the commission's inquiry into the company's existing electric rates before Commissioner Carr. The order will be issued in time to permit the cut to become effective January 1. The reduction will bring the company's electric rate down to a level with that announced for use by the Municipal Bureau of Power and Light.

In the meantime the commission will continue its investigation of the rates and practices of the corporation and on December 12 will hold a further hearing at which it is expected attorneys for the company will attack the Railroad Commission engineers' testimony that the company is earning an excessive return on its investment in its gas business.

TEST EXCESS PROFIT

Yesterday's hearing was devoted almost entirely to the introduction of evidence by the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, designed to combat the commission's assertion of excessive earnings in its gas department. As an offset to the figures offered in evidence Tuesday by commission engineers in which it was set up that the company under existing electric rates would and will continue to earn in excess of what the commission regards as a fair return on its investment, H. I. Mamer, vice-president and executive engineer, took the stand at the resumption of the hearing and remained there practically all day.

Mamer introduced a schedule showing fixed capital, working capital, gross revenue, expenses, depreciation and net revenues widely at variance with the schedule covering the same subjects submitted by the commission engineers. But while the engineers projected earnings and other items as far into the year as 1932, Mamer's exhibit included only anticipated expenses, gross and net revenues and such for the year 1930. The company officials hinted that a further projection of estimates would be highly favorable.

ESTIMATES DIFFER

According to Mamer's figures, the company's electric department, covering all of domestic and commercial power and industrial power, showed net earnings of $6,168,849, or 7.7 per cent on its investment in 1929. The Railroad Commission engineers had contended it earned only 6.78 per cent.

Further, the company asserts its earnings for 1929 will be $5,387,220, or 6.73 per cent. The commission maintains it will earn $3,445,000, or 6.37 per cent.

For 1930, based on the voluntary reduction in rates anticipated January 1 and allowing for the 5 per cent fall-off in business anticipated by the company, the latter holds it will earn $2,530,354, or 5.42 per cent, the commission engineers testified to an earning in 1930 of $3,042,000, or 7.09, they, too, taking into consideration the $737,000 reduction contemplated for that year. The commission in the past has fixed a percentage of from 7 to 7.50 as a fair rate of return for utilities of this kind.

DOLLAR-A-YEAR CUT

The reduction in electric rates for Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation customers next year will be apportioned as follows: Domestic lighting, $362,490; commercial lighting, $453,074; industrial power, $22,007. It was explained that users of lighting current for commercial purposes, such as stores and other establishments, will be the largest beneficiaries, each saving about $2 on the entire year. Domestic consumers, it was explained, will find their bank accounts about $1 richer at the end of the year as a result of the cut.

When the commission's hearing is resumed on December 12, next, it is expected that the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation will marshal its forces for a long-drawn-out fight against the commission engineers' efforts to show that its gas earnings are excessive.

NO COMPROMISE

There will be no compromise offer of a reduction by the company, as in the matter of electric rates, according to Herman Phleger, of San Francisco, special counsel for the corporation, who has been in charge, with Attorney Paul Overton, of the company's interests and who has presented its side of the case.

Ira H. Rowell, State Railroad Commission examiner, has been in charge of the presentation of the commission's case before Commissioner Carr. The City Attorney's office was represented at yesterday's session by Deputy Thurmond Clarke, who took no active part in the deliberations.

RIGHT TO PHONE KIN RESTORED

Wife Given Divorce Because Husband Called Her Down for Calling up

Mrs. Violet L. Heck from now on can talk over the telephone as much as she wants to and there will be no husband around to object. This privilege was given her yesterday when Superior Judge Keetch signed a divorce decree severing the bonds of matrimony with Richard F. Heck, a telegraph operator.

Mrs. Heck testified that her husband strenuously objected to her telephoning to her relatives and also refused to permit her relatives to visit her.

The wife was given the custody of three children and allowed $135 a month for their support.

CLINIC HELPS IN CHILD GUIDANCE

Chest Agency Conducts Mental Tests

Miss Gladys Wilson and Dr. Oscar Reiss
They discuss form board used in child intelligence tests.

"WHY DON'T you behave, Johnny?"

This question often addressed to troublesome children by aggravated mothers, under scientific methods is being changed to, "Why doesn't Johnny behave?" And the question usually is answered after trained psychologists, experts in child behavior problems, investigate.

It is being done right in Los Angeles, too, at the Child Guidance Clinic, 1415 South Grand avenue. The unusual institution is a Community Chest agency. Dr. Oscar Reiss if president of the organization.

"By an intelligent investigation of child troubles we endeavor in so far as possible to straighten out mental kinks which are at the bottom of nearly all behavioristic problems," Dr. Reiss explained. "Mothers bring the child to the clinic.

"A mental test is made of the child to determine his mental age and his abilities or disabilities. Following this a trained psychiatrist in the course of casual conversation with the child seeks out the difficulty."

The campaign started the 12th inst. for $3,200,000 for the Community Chest.

HOLLYWOOD GOLD JINGLES

Community Chest Workers at Luncheon Listen to Reports Showing Enthusiasm High

Yesterday was Hollywood's great day in the 1929-30 Community Chest campaign.

More than 150 workers in the Hollywood division gathered in the Blossom Room of the Roosevelt Hotel at a report luncheon, at which it was announced that Hollywood to date has subscribed $83,509 of its quota of $151,100, or 55 per cent.

Brief addresses were made by Mayor Porter; William Lacy, president of the Community Chest Welfare Federation; J. A. H. Kehr, campaign chairman; D. C. MacWatters, general manager; E. E. Manning, chairman of the industrial department; Mrs. Albert Cruicher, president of the Children's Hospital; Mrs. John F. Mead, vice-chairman of the Hollywood campaign division, and Mrs. Burdette Martin, chairman of the speakers' bureau of the Hollywood campaign division.

BRIEGLEB IS SPEAKER

The principal speaker was Rev. Gustave Briegleb, who sounded a high note of the campaign in urging that all the workers continue with highest courage in a spirit of consecration the splendid work they have done thus far.

Dr. James Hamilton Lash, chairman of the Hollywood division, acted as chairman of the occasion. Amid enthusiastic applause he pledged the support of the Hollywood workers until the final goal is reached.

Mr. MacWatters, in his brief talk, took occasion to reply to rumors of administrative extravagance. He produced figures for the fiscal year ending October 31, last, which showed that the total administrative expenses of the Community Chest organization for the year had been $50,800, or less than 2 per cent of the Community Chest fund, and that it represented $17,000 less than administrative expense in 1928.

E. E. Manning, declared there is an upward trend in the solicitation among the employee group, which fills him with considerable enthusiasm.

IN RACE FOR TROPHY

In the race for the silver trophy to be awarded the residential colonel with the highest percentage of quota in the Hollywood division, Mrs. Frank W. Davey and Mrs. Lowell C. Frost were tied for first place, each having procured 58 per cent of their quota. Mrs. Davey has obtained $5756 out of $10 000 and Mrs. Frost $5472 out of $9400. Mrs. E. B. Latham was next, with 57 per cent, having procured $3450 out of $6000. Mrs. George L. Eastman, with $11,978 obtained out of $32,700, was next with 53 per cent. Mrs. Louis L. Burns, reached 46 per cent. She received $6217 out of $13,500. Mrs. Charles T. Hovey was next, with 34 per cent, having procured $3814 out of $11,350.

The central division in Hollywood has raised the highest percentage of all divisions. Under the leadership of M. F. Palmer, it has procured $38,669, out of a quota of $55,700, or 66 per cent. Samuel Kress, in charge of solicitation of employed groups in Hollywood, has received $6467 out of $15,000, or 43 per cent of the quota.

Prior to the final announcements, Father Thomas J. O'Dwyer gave the invocation, and Eloise Horton Kirkpatrick, soprano, sang a group of songs, accompanied at the piano by Inez Davidson.

REPORTS TOMORROW

Owing to the presence of Thanksgiving Day, no general reports of Community Chest progress were tabulated yesterday. Figures from every division of the campaign will be made public tomorrow to a general luncheon in the Sala De Oro of the Biltmore.

Highly encouraging reports, however, were received from the schools yesterday. W. E. Record, manager of the business departments of the public schools, and I. M. Capper, assistant manager, reported they have been given $5268.85 absolutely voluntarily by employees other than teachers. These employees included caretakers and janitors, and other small-salaried clerical help.

At the same time, the public school division announced that it had reached 88 per cent of its quota, while the Catholic schools went "over the top" with 105 per cent.

Busses to Run to Shakespeare Plays Theater

Transportation to the new Westwood Theater for the Week of Shakespeare, to be given under the auspices of the Shakespeare Foundation, starting Monday, presents no problems, it was announced yesterday. Arrangements have been made with the Los Angeles Motor Coach Company for busses from Pershing Square direct to the theater.

The best busses to take, it is stated, are those leaving Pershing Square at 7:05, 7:10 and 7:15 p.m. For those who drive their own cars, it is necessary only to go out Beverly Boulevard to Hilgard street, the site of the theater.

Indications that the presentation of the two plays, "Richard III" and "Merry Wives of Windsor," with an all-star cast will surpass anything yet attempted in the drama in Southern California, are reported by the officials of the foundation.

Students Get Half Century's Medical Lore

Medical history and progress of the past fifty years as contained in the volumes of the old university medical school in East Washington street has been made available to the students of the school of medicine at the University of Southern California, which yesterday announced the purchase of the 4000 books of the library from the widow of Charles W. Bryson.

Dr. William D. Cutter, dean of the medical school at the university, said the collection contains complete files of several medical journals dating back to 1878 and in addition has the complete indexed catalogue of the Surgeon General's library and the Index Medicus.

The present school of medicine at the university is the third school of its kind under the sponsorship of the institution, Dr. Cutter said. The first was established in 1885 on North Broadway and was moved to the East Washington-street location in 1908. The latter school was suspended in 1920 in the post-war period and opened again last year.

DEFENDANTS WIN IN SUIT FOR AUTO HURTS

By a vote of 10 to 2 the jury awarded the verdict to the defendants in the $30,000 damage suit brought by R. N. Litton against Edward J. Small and Charles Alonzo of the Co-operative Delivery Service for asserted injuries received in a traffic accident last year. Trial was held before Superior Judge Keetch.

Litton asserted he sustained permanent injuries to his back as the result of being struck by an automobile driven by Alonzo, a driver for the company. He contended that the defendant was careless and negligent in his driving.

Delay of Trial Will Keep Bost in County Jail

William J. Bost, former police officer convicted of manslaughter in connection with the fatal shooting, July 4, last, of Christopher Sierra, 17 years of age, was brought back to Los Angeles yesterday to appear as a defense witness at the forthcoming perjury trial of Frederick H. Fahrman, who took the stand in Bost's behalf at the latter's trial. A deputy sheriff escorted Bost here from San Quentin.

The trial of Fahrman originally was scheduled to get under way this week, but by agreement between Dep. Dist.-Atty. Schinsman and defense counsel, it was postponed at the last minute until January 7, 1930. At the time, however, Bost already was on his way here; and on his arrival yesterday the authorities decided to keep him at the County Jail until Fahrman is called for trial.

Charges of perjury were preferred against Fahrman as a result of his testimony for Bost. He will be tried before Superior Judge Wilson.

LOYAL KNIGHTS HEAR VISITOR

Each citizen owes service to this nation in peace as well as in war, Ma Binheim, Internations' extension director for the Loyal Knights of the Round Table, told that organization yesterday at a luncheon meeting in the Alexandria. He urged all service clubs to co-operate with the President and other officials to make this the best government on earth. Senator Weller presided. Harry Stauffacher, district governor, and George A. Roalfe, international director, were guests.

HEARING IN FRUIT SUIT CASE NEAR

Growers' Exchange Told to Appear in Contest Over Cleansing Process

The suit of Brogdex Company against California Fruit Growers' Exchange, both of Los Angeles, over asserted patent infringements involving a mechanical process for cleansing and preparing fresh fruits for marketing has reached the active stage and the court has signed an order for the exchange to show cause not later than December 30 why a temporary injunction should not issue against it.

Information to this effect has been received by David R. Faries, attorney for the company, he said yesterday. The complaint was filed about a year ago in United States Circuit Court of Appeals in Philadelphia where fruits so treated by the exchange, it is charged, were being marketed. A similar action by the company against American Fruit Growers, Inc., Faries said, resulted in a decision in the same court favoring the company.

The process at issue is said to be in wide use in California and Florida packing-houses, especially for citrus fruits, and much is said to be at stake over whether the exchange or the company has control of the process.

Of Interest to Women

Society

by JUANA NEAL LEVY

The marriage of Miss Mary Frances Milbank, daughter of the late Nichols Milbank and Mrs. Milbank of 172 South McCadden Place, to Eugene Lester Cutting, Jr., was solemnized last evening, the ceremony taking place in St. John's Church, with Rev. George Davidson officiating. The church was lovely with decorations of yellow and white chrysanthemums, the altars brightly lighted by tall cathedral candelabra. Morris Milbank gave his sister in marriage.

The bride wore a becoming gown of ivory brocade with rose pointe lace on the sleeves and forming the neck line, a veil of tulle and lace held in place by rose pointe and orange blossoms, and she carried an immense armful of lilies of the valley.

Miss Avery Blake, maid of honor, was in green velvet with hat of brown maline, and she carried an arm sheath of pansies while the matron of honor, Mrs. Francis Bowman, wore pink velvet with hat of brown maline and she also carried pansies.

Edwin Cutting served his brother as best man, and Nichols Milbank, Jr., and Lynn Helm, Jr., served as ushers.

After a wedding supper and reception at the home of the bride's mother, to which only relatives and a few close friends were bidden, Mr. and Mrs. Cutting left for their honeymoon, and will make their home here after their return.

Birthday Anniversary

Among the delightful affairs of yesterday was the tea with which Mrs. Herman H. Kerckhoff entertained at her home in West Adams street honoring her aunt, Mrs. D. O. Stephens, the occasion celebrating the latter's ninety-first birthday anniversary.

About half a hundred close old friends of the honoree were bidden and the tea table was lovely with its centerpiece carrying out the Thanksgiving Day motif in fruits and leaves, lighted by tall whip candles. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. William N. Goodwin, Mrs. Melville G. Eshman, Mrs. Charles Page, Mrs. Frank A. Gibson, Miss Bertha Lebus, Mrs. George Reynolds, Mrs. Fred Wood and Mrs. Samuel Kreider. The hours were from 3 to 5 o'clock.

Mrs. Stephens, who has a host of friends in the Southland, has been quite prominent in social and club activities, having founded the Santa Monica Bay District Women's Club nearly twenty years ago, and last week she presided all day at its Social Service Day celebration, while Monday afternoon she was honor guest at its luncheon, when three beautifully iced birthday cakes made in compliment to the guest of honor were passed to her to be cut before being served to the guests and members. Mrs. Kerckhoff gives a similar affair in honor of her aunt's birthday anniversary each year.

Church Ceremony

Miss Ines Evalina (Agnes) Temple, only daughter of Walter Paul Temple of Puente, has chosen St. Joseph's Church in the latter city as the setting for her marriage this morning to Luis Fatju y Valaria of San Francisco, the ceremony and nuptial mass to be solemnized at 9 o'clock, with Father J. F. McCarthy officiating.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, will be assisted by Miss Marie Jeanne Dupuy as maid of honor while Miss Gretta Consuelo Houger will be the bridesmaid.

Thomas Workman Temple, brother of the bride, will serve as best man while Walter Paul Temple, Jr., Edgar Allen Temple and Antonio Walter Bassity will usher.

Following the ceremony there will be a reception and breakfast at the family home and afterward Mr. Valaria and his bride will leave for New York, sailing for Paris, Italy and Spain, where they are planning to pass their honeymoon, returning to San Francisco to make their future home.

Miss Temple comes of an old pioneer family of Southern California, being the grand-daughter of F. P. F. Temple, who built the old Temple Block in Los Angeles and at one time was owner of the Santa Anita Rancho. Her great-grandfather, William Workman, was a pioneer of 1841 and she is the great niece of John Temple, for whom Temple street was named.

She was graduated from St. Mary's School here and is a musician of more than usual talent, receiving her bachelor of music degree from the Dominican College, San Raphael, being the first to receive the honor. Mr. Valaria is the great grandson of Gen. Pacheco of California history and was graduated from Santa Clara College and took post-graduate work at Columbia University, New York.

Thanksgiving Party

Senor Eugene Rafael Plummer, who had a part in giving Hollywood its name in 1880, will present a program this evening in the Hollywood Plaza, his presentation being "A Night in Old California," reminiscing the days when in 1863 he drove to mass in an oxcart. Senor Plummer, who is 76 years of age, at one time owned the Hollywood Bowl which he purchased for $350. Among the guests to be included are Senoritas Frances Plummer Ontiveros, Picritina De La Osa Gilbert, Rosa Santa Cruz de Logan, Senorita Delfine De La Guerra, Miss Mary E. Fot, and Senors M. A. Botello, J. J. De La Guerra and William Priester. Gabriel Ravenell, founder of the salon, will have charge of the evening and a specially arranged program of old-time dances will be given.

Crowell-Meyer

Announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. Weymouth Crowell of 344 South Occidental Boulevard of the marriage the 20th inst., of their daughter, Miss Rachel Crowell, to Norton Meyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Meyer, the ceremony taking place at 4 o'clock at the family home. The decorations carried out an autumn motif in yellow, bronze and brown chrysanthemums and the improvised altar was lighted by many tall candles.

The bride was charming in a russet velvet afternoon frock and carried an armful of yellow roses while Miss Katherine Crowell, sister of the bride, came down from University of California at Berkeley to assist as maid of honor, wearing a gown of deep red velvet and carrying long-stemmed red roses.

Jack Wallace of Whittier was best man and following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served, seventy guests being bidden.

Mr. and Mrs. Meyer are motoring north on their honeymoon and after December 15 will be at home in Sausilito.

Mrs. Crowell wore a gown of gray chiffon and lace, while Mrs. Meyer, mother of the bridegroom, was in a figured chiffon velvet.

Mrs. Meyer was graduated from University of California at Berkeley and is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority while Mr. Meyer is a Stanford man, having been graduated from the engineering department.

For Bride-Elect

Honoring Miss Agnes Smith, whose wedding with William Taylor of Seattle will be an event of next Saturday, was the guest of honor at a beautifully appointed luncheon with which Mrs. James Smith, Jr., entertained at her home, 836 South Ogden street, the 20th inst., sixteen guests being bidden.

Artiste Honored

Miss Margaret Hamilton, soloist of the Philharmonic concert last Sunday, was the guest of honor at a beautifully appointed tea given by Miss Ramona Little at her home in Fifth avenue, one of the features of the afternoon being the rendition of negro spirituals by the Hallelujah Quartet of New York. Among the guests were Messrs. and Mmes. George Leslie Smith, Morris Stoloff, Artur Rodzinski, George Allan Hancock, Arthur Alexander, J. Boyce-Smith, Thilo Becker, Joseph Borissoff, Hal Crain, J. J. Carter, H. I. Cruson, Sylvain Noack, Paul Ferguson, Glenn Tindall, Frederick Marsh, Jay Fetters, T. B. Higgins, Raph Waldo Bucknam, C. B. Moore, Mmes. F. A. Greenwood, C. H. Young, Nora Puterbaugh, Ernest Bachelder, Isabel Morse Jones, Hennion Robinson, Hasel Houser, Philip Hasbrouch, LaMonte Simms, Kathryn Wilson, Albert Simmons, Andrew Mullen, Kate McCullah, C. E. Baker, Estelle Brown Mills, Abbie Norton Jamison, Gertrude Ross, Bertha Knisley, Genevieve Gray, Marie Carlo, Misses Marie Montana, Jane Stanley, Olga Staeb, Frances Wright, Lellia Reynolds, Andre de Segurola, Lajos Shuk, Theodore Schroeder, Nino Herahel, Raymond McFeeters, Desso Delmar, Marshall Beck, Edward Lankow, Antoine White, George Birkel, George Steckel, Edward Lankow, Alex Kosloff and J. B. Poulin.

Wedding Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Nelson, of 841 Third street, Beverly Hills, announce the marriage of their sister, Miss Esther Johnson, daughter of Mrs. M. M. Johnson, to Ralph William Jenkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Jenkins, the ceremony taking place in the study of Rev. J. K. Stewart with only immediate relatives attending.

Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins left immediately on a northern motor trip and on their return will make their home in Hollywood.

Mr. Jenkins claims Kansas University as his alma mater and is affiliated with Pi Kappa Alpha while his bride was graduated from University of Denver and is a member of Kappa Delta Sorority.

For Bride-Elect

Miss Louise Ley, popular bride-elect of the season, was complimented recently with a bridge luncheon and silk hosiery shower given by Mrs. Frank Marshall at her Pasadena home. Lavender and yellow chrysanthemums were used as a decorative motif and the guests included Mrs. Fred Ley, Misses Alyne Ley, Evelyn Platt, Betty Ward, Ella Foster, Dorothy Douglass, Mmes. Frank Platt, George Wilson, E. B. Davis, Roy Heinz, William Teviner, Vincent Bledsoe, Ronald Davis, the hostess and honor guest.

Founders' Day Observed

Founders' day for the Pi Kappa Sigma educational sorority was the occasion for a delightful event given at the Chapman Park Hotel Saturday, the 16th inst. Members of the local chapter at both the University of Southern California and of the University of California at Los Angeles were hostesses to Judge Georgia Bullock, sixty-five guests attending the anniversary of the sorority, founded in Michigan in 1894.

Mrs. Fred Stanley and Miss Anna McPhail were advisers in attendance from the University of California at Los Angeles, and Mrs. Mildred Nagel Omega with Miss Katharine Cary represented the University of Southern California. Decorations in blue and gold were in keeping with the sorority's national colors. The affair was in the charge of Miss Margaret Engstead and Miss Eva Bruns.

Ceremony Fixed for Today in Puente

Miss Ines Evelina Temple

ONE of the interesting weddings of the day will be that of this morning when at 9 o'clock Miss Ines Evalina Temple, only daughter of Walter Paul Temple of Puente and grand-daughter of F. P. F. Temple, is married to Luis Fatjo y Valaria of San Francisco, the ceremony to take place in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Puente, with Rev. J. F. McCarthy officiating. Mr. Valaria and his bride are planning to pass their honeymoon abroad, visiting in Spain and other parts of the continent.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

PEACH PUDDING

Take six halves of peaches and press them through a colander, add to them one well-beaten egg, that has been beaten with half a cupful of sugar and one-half a cupful of milk, sift one and one-half cupfuls of flour with three teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, combine the two mixtures, then stir in two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, the batter should be quite stiff, add a little more flour if necessary. Pour half of the batter into a well-oiled baking dish, place over it halves of peaches, hollow side up, fill the cavity of the peach with a tablespoonful of strawberry jam, pour over the remainder of the batter, place in a moderate oven and bake for thirty minutes.

HOT CHEESE CUTLETS

Place in a double boiler, one-fourth of a cupful of flour, the same amount of cornstarch, one-fourth of a teaspoonful each of paprika, and mustard, one-half a teaspoonful of salt, and half a cupful of cold milk, then stir in one cupful of scalded milk, let the mixture cook slowly, stirring all the time for fifteen minutes, beat three tablespoonfuls of butter to a cream, add to them the well-beaten yolks of two eggs, and stir this into the mixture in the double boiler, add one cupful of American cheese, that has been grated, allow to cook until the cheese is melted, butter a shallow pan and pour the mixture in about one-half an inch thick, when cold, shape into cutlets, dip in egg and bread crumbs, and fry in deep hot fat. Serve with a green salad

PIMIENTO BISQUE

Cover six canned pimientoes with boiling water, drain, rinse in cold water and drain again, press the pimientoes through a fine sieve, adding two or three tablespoonfuls of boiling water if necessary. Blanch half a cupful of rice with one cupful of boiling water, add to it half a teaspoonful of salt, one thinly sliced onion, and eight cupfuls of hot chicken stock or milk and let cook in a double boiler until the rice is very soft. Press through a sieve, and to the rice liquid add the pimiento puree, add more salt and paprika if needed, beat the yolks of two eggs, add to them half a cupful of cream, add three tablespoonfuls of the hot liquid to the egg yolks, then slowly stir into the soup. Do not allow to come to a boil.

ARGENTINA CHICKEN

Take a fat hen, weighing three or four pounds, and make a dressing with an onion stuck with cloves, blanche one-half a cup of chestnuts, cut them in small shreds, two or three sticks of celery chopped fine, two branches of parsley, one teaspoonful of marjoram, a seasoning of salt and pepper, stuff the chicken with this, place in a large saucepan, cover with boiling water and boil until tender, then add one cupful of washed rice, cover and cook quickly for ten minutes, then simmer slowly until all of the broth has been absorbed. Then add a tablespoonful of chili powder, that has been dissolved in a little hot water, remove the chicken to a hot platter and serve with the rice around it.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department, PRACTICAL RECIPES, published every Friday.—(All rights to recipes reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

YOUR BABY and MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers advice on weaning and feeding the child from 2 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training to cleanly habits, period of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, spring fever, lime water, rupture, stool and bowels and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the reply you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

GIVE YOURSELF A JOLT!

It is easy enough for the person who is happy, prosperous and with all his family relationships intact to be thankful. For too often it is this very person who sits in his luxurious home, filled to repletion with his excellent dinner and wonders with some cynicism what this Thanksgiving business is all about, any way.

It takes discord in the family circle; economic stringency looming before one; sickness or death to jostle the grumbler out of complacent cynicism and lead him to give thanks for what may have been left of his blessings.

THINK OF THESE

For those of us who tread harmonious paths with little thought of gratitude, a visit to a hospital will administer that jolt. There is a year-old child with the paralyzed face for whom no hope of any cure is held out. There is the boy of 7, fifteen pounds underweight, with hideous bony growths on hand, upper arm, leg and shoulder. There is the 5-month-old baby whose mother comes wearily back each week, watches with hopeful eye as baby is put on the scales only to be told there is only a fraction of an ounce gain, or a three-ounce loss, for now at 5 months baby weighs less than at birth, due to heaven only knows what inabilities of his small "arrangements." There is the 6-year-old girl who cannot walk or talk or follow the simplest command, whose stare is that of a baleful animal. One has only to view these few human wrecks to feel that one has a cause for eternal gratitude for one's own children whose minds and bodies are healthy and normal.

MIGHT BE WORSE OFF

It is human nature to be dissatisfied, perhaps it is a spur to ambition and achievement, but there should be a limit to our dissatisfaction. We ought to be able to distinguish between the emotion which helps us to try to keep up with the neighbors and that petty discontent which acts as a paralyzing load and a veil over our eyes, making it impossible for us to shake ourselves into action or see even the half of our blessings.

If we only look for the humps that deform perfection, we see nothing else. If we only compare our lot with those higher up, wealthier or more influential, we find not the smallest reason for thankfulness. We need to turn our eyes in the opposite direction for a proper perspective, toward those who have less, toward those who are in grief, thankful then that we have as much as we have, and are spared what others must suffer. We might well borrow the optimist creed which says, "Nothing is so bad but it might be worse," on a day set aside for universal thanksgiving.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fun Way to Health"

THE FARMERS' THANKSGIVING

This harvest time of the year is not always the time for rejoicing. The farmer who has labored hard all year, hoping for favorable weather, is often disappointed when the time comes for the ripening of the harvest. So many times the winds have blown too hard, the hurricanes have come, the frosts have bitten the tender buds, or the spring rains have been so great as to destroy any possibility of a good fall crop.

The Viking farmers, who were the first settlers in New England, had their troubles in battling the elements, but their problems were no greater than that of the farmer of today. With all of our progress in a scientific way, we have so far accomplished very little in controlling the wind, the frost and the rain, so that every year in the same way the same soil will yield a plentiful harvest.

There are just about as many crops destroyed today as there were several centuries ago when the Pilgrim fathers anxiously watched their crops and prayed for favorable weather.

The modern farmer has many advantages as far as improved implements are concerned, but he still has the same bad weather conditions to fight and the same fear of damage to the crops and possible complete loss of all of his year's work.

The first Thanksgiving in America was celebrated because of an especially plentiful harvest, but there were many lean years after that when these sturdy pioneers of the frontier must have searched hard to find something to be thankful for at the official Thanksgiving time.

Our farmers today are crying for relief from the uncertainties attending their hard work. As long as I can remember, most politicians have been talking about the subject of farm relief, but certainly very little has been done about it. When we speak of the farmer's hard luck and a bad year we do so with a feeling of pity for the individual farmer, when we really should be concerned with the food supply which concerns every man, woman and child in America.

A laborer receives his wages each week, the professional man usually has a steadily increasing income, but the farmer's yearly returns are very uncertain. The varying from plentiful to poor crops makes food prices uncertain.

Perhaps very little can be done to control the destroying effect of bad weather, but certainly a great deal can be done toward stabilizing prices through financing the farmer through the lean years and providing proper governmental storage facilities, so that the supply of foodstuffs can be regulated to suit the steady demand. The farmer alone should not be made to bear the burden which comes from the destruction of crops by bad weather.

One season farmers in certain sections have poor corn crops. Another year in another part of the country the fruit may be entirely destroyed by the frost or insects. If these damages to certain sections could be blended with the results from good crops in the rest of the country, the individual farmer would not have to suffer and, in fact, every individual would be benefited through a stability of food prices.

Let us hope that some adjustment can be made so that not too many Thanksgivings roll around before every farmer in America will have cause to be thankful when the end of the harvest season comes—when he can feel that we are all helping him to stabilize his business of farming so that he will not have the feeling that his business is a gamble and that he is shaking dice with the elements.

Masterpieces to be Featured

Masterpieces of composers on the next Philharmonic program are announced to be featured at the concert lecture to be presented Saturday morning at Bullock's by Dr. Bruce G. Kingsley.

On his program are Engelbert Humperdinck's "Die Koenigskinder" and Richard Strauss' fantastic symphonic poem "Don Quixote." In exemplification of Richard Strauss Dr. Kingsley also will discourse upon and give music to the great contemporary composer's "Don Juan."

TWO JUDGES WILL SPEAK

Superior Judges Schauer and McComb are announced as the principal speakers at the annual pre-Christmas banquet to be given at the Elks' Temple tomorrow night by the Los Angeles College of Law. Addresses also will be delivered by A. Guard Hill, president of the college; Carl W. Minton of the night school, and A. D. Horn of the day school. The banquet will be followed by a dance.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Around the House

A folded envelope will take the place of a shoehorn in a pinch.

The tiny screws to eyeglasses may be tightened with a penknife.

If you have no ice and you keep fresh meat overnight in a cloth dampened with vinegar and spoilage will be delayed.

The Baby Shoe

Mothers of school children write the name of your child in ink on a piece of adhesive tape and pin it for identification tag on the shoe of each of their children. In this way you will be saving much trouble for the youngsters as well.

The Water Fountain

We always dread sending our kiddies' heads to school on account of the danger of catching cold. Immersion curls are hung over the radiator, heated, and dampened with a little oil before combing, it will quickly dry the hair.

A Little Gift for the Host

An inexpensive but very useful gift may be made for the host by cutting a piece of cheesecloth to the size of a handkerchief. Then hemming or embroidering in pink or blue cotton to match or finish around the edge. Many will enjoy the gift, too, as they use it for bathing baby.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORTON W. BURGESS

You'll find it true that in some way
There's cause for thanks in every day.
—Lightfoot the Deer.

Lightfoot, the deer, had fled from the Green Forest. Two strange dogs had wandered into the Green Forest and found his trail. They were hounds. Of course, they had the wonderful noses that hounds have. It was no trouble at all for them to follow Lightfoot's trail. He had made straight for the pond of Paddy, the beaver, which is as you know deep in the Green Forest. He plunged in and swam across. On the other side he hid in a thicket from which he could watch and see what would happen.

He didn't have to wait long. The two hounds, baying as only hounds can on the trail, burst out onto the shore of Paddy's pond. They were running with their noses to the ground. This brought them straight to where Lightfoot had entered the water.

The two dogs lifted their heads and looked across the pond. Lightfoot was nowhere to be seen. They began to run in a circle to see if they could pick up his trail anywhere. Of course, they couldn't. Then those two dogs separated, one starting around Paddy's pond one way, and in the opposite direction the other started around the pond. Of course, they kept their noses to the ground.

Lightfoot waited no longer. As quietly as possible he stole away and soon was running again. He was headed toward the Great Mountain. Meanwhile, the dogs were running with their noses to the ground. They knew that sooner or later one of them would find Lightfoot's scent near where he had left the water. Sure enough, it wasn't long before the voice of one of those dogs went ringing through the Green Forest and the other hurried to join him. Then the two voices could be heard together, growing fainter and fainter, until as they reached the Great Mountain the sound could no longer be heard in the Green Forest.

Now, Lightfoot, the deer, hadn't wanted to leave the Green Forest. He did it because he wanted to get those dogs away. He was afraid they might run across the trail of Mrs. Lightfoot and the twins. For this same reason, Lightfoot would not return to the Green Forest until he had led those dogs as far away as possible.

Those two dogs hung on. They were not easily discouraged. You see, they were the kind of dogs that would rather hunt than eat. Poor Lightfoot! He began to think that they would outlast him. He tried all the tricks of which he knew, but in vain. Each time one dog or the other would find his trail again and once more he would hear those voices rolling out behind him. All that day they chased him. 'Way into the night they chased him. Finally, in a little pond on the Great Mountain Lightfoot managed to break his trail.

He plunged in and swam across

When at last Lightfoot knew that the dogs had given up he crept into a thicket and there he lay panting, so tired that it seemed to him he never could get up again. For more than a week Lightfoot was on the Great Mountain and all that time hunters with terrible guns were looking for him. One of them had caught a glimpse of him and had shot at him, and the word had gone forth among the hunters that a deer with a wonderful head of antlers was on the Great Mountain. Lightfoot grew thin with worry. He never felt safe. How he did long to be back in the Green Forest! But every time he tried to work back that way, a hunter was sure to appear and Lightfoot would have to turn.

At last there came a moonlight night. Lightfoot traveled swiftly. Just as day was breaking he slipped into the familiar and dear Green Forest. Straight on he went to his favorite thicket and there he lay down. All day he remained lying there. All day his heart was filled with thanksgiving. No hunter dared come into the Green Forest, for hunters were not allowed there. Several times far away in the distance Lightfoot heard the bang of terrible guns. Each time he was more thankful that he was back. And, though he didn't know it, it was Thanksgiving Day.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Around the House

A folded envelope will take the place of a shoehorn in a pinch.

The tiny screws in eye glasses may be tightened with a suitable knife.

If you have no ice and wish to keep fresh meat overnight, wrap it in a cloth dampened with vinegar and spoilage will be delayed.

The Safe Way

Mothers of school children! Write the name of your child on a piece of adhesive tape and paste the identification tag on the inside of each of their galoshes. Chances are you will be buying new footwear for the youngster all this winter.

The Winter Shampoo

We always dread washing the kiddies' heads in cold weather on account of the danger of their catching cold. However, if the towels are hung over the radiators to be heated, and changed during the shampooing, it will quickly dry the child's hair.

A Little Gift for the New Baby

An inexpensive but very useful gift may be made for the new baby by cutting four thicknesses of gauze to the size of a handkerchief. Then hemming or blanket-stitching in pink or blue may be put on to finish around the edges. Mother will enjoy the gift, too, as they are nice for bathing baby.

THANKS SPIRIT TO RULE RADIO

Programs Will be in Keeping With National Holiday

Washington Cathedral to Go on Air at Early Hour

Carmack and Miss Lewis Booked for Broadcasts

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

Radio has taken an undisputed definite place in all national functions and will play an important part today in the outpouring of Thanksgiving. The spirit of the day will be carried to remote sections, far from churches and community centers, with a beautiful message of music and song. Thousands confined at home and in hospitals and other institutions will be able to participate.

The special festival service at Washington Cathedral, with an augmented choir of 1000 voices singing hymns and anthems appropriate to the observance, will be heard in Los Angeles over KHJ at 8 a.m. through the country-wide network of the Columbia Broadcasting System. Rt. Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington, will deliver the sermon.

HYMNS OF THANKS

The processional will be No. 421 in the hymnal of the Episcopal Church, "Come, ye thankful people, come, raise the song of harvest home." The choir and congregation then will sing, "Laudate Dominum," by R. Goodson, which is a form of prayer and thanksgiving for the fruits of the earth and all other blessings. The service will continue for an hour and will be replete with soul-stirring music and depth of thought.

Also from KHJ, The Times Forum will dedicate the half-hour at 10:30 o'clock to Thanksgiving through the singing of the White King Male Quartet, pioneer radio quartet of the west.

McCORMACK TO SING

John McCormack, famous Irish tenor, will sing at KFI at 7 p.m. as the feature artist of a program originating at WEAF, New York, for the National Broadcasting Company. Although in California for work in the films, he will for all practical purposes be in New York, where the new Victor Salon Orchestra, under the direction of Nathaniel Shilkret, will present the balance of the program. McCormack will sing several of his best-known songs, among them "Kathleen Mavourneen," "Mary Dear," "Bantry Bay" and "Bird Songs at Eventide."

Immediately following, at 7:30, from KFI Mary Lewis, famous prima donna and soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company, will be featured on the Standard symphony hour, with the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, under the leadership of Artur Rodzinski.

FARCE PRESENTATION

An hour which is being closely watched by many listeners is the presentation at 7 p.m. from KHJ, Edward Everett Horton, Mary Astor, Phil Tead and Kenneth Randall will be heard in Arthur Schnitzler's Viennese farce, "His Wedding Morning," with Raymond Paige and his Sierra Symphonists taking the balance of the program.

The "Courtship of Miles Standish" will hold the microphone of KHJ from 8 to 9 o'clock. This was given last year and the return under popular demand has been added to by Van C. Newkirk for an even more effective radio adaptation of the lyrical love triangle. In honor of the day the orchestra will be led by Carl Shepherd, conductor, with a turkey drumstick in place of a mere baton.

At 9 o'clock a treat will be offered over KNX in the presentation of "Robin Hood," with the following cast: Rosalie Barker Frye, Lucille Gibbs, Lawrence Lambert, Armand Girard, Dick Hartt, Roscoe Bell and a chorus of fifty voices, and Art Smith, Elsa Belinda Foley and the Jou-Jervilles Little Symphony.

EBELL TO GIVE DINNER DANCE

Smart Event Scheduled on December 12

Funds Will be Utilized in Club Charities

Other Events of Interest to Women Listed

BY MYRA NYE

One of the brilliant parties for which Los Angeles Ebell is noted will be given Thursday evening December 12, a dinner dance in the beautiful clubhouse in Wilshire Boulevard. The affair is planned with the twofold purpose of celebrating Christmas season and providing the season's cheer for the wards of Ebell's philanthropies: to give joy to the many convalescents at Ebell Rest Cottage, to provide hundreds of baskets of gifts and food and clothing to the poor and to help the many young collegiates who hold Ebell scholarships.

Beginning at 7 p.m. with an elaborate dinner, dancing will follow and card tables will be provided for those who prefer bridge.

Mrs. Frank Brown Wheat, chairman of the benefits and entertainments committee, and her assisting hostesses will extend hospitality to the friends and guests in the salon where Christmas decorations will give evidence of the spirit of Yuletide.

Assisting hostesses are Mrs. Kenneth P. Baber, Mrs. George Alexander Brock, Mrs. Joseph Chilberk, Mrs. William Dellamore, Mrs. Edgar Harris Cline, Mrs. William Howard Daum, Mrs. R. C. Chaffin, Mrs. John G. Bullock, Mrs. R. E. Filcher, Mrs. H. M. Haldeman, Mrs. Leiland Atherton Irish, Mrs. Frank C. Keatch, Mrs. Gertrude Ross, Mrs. John H. Walker and Mrs. Ella E. Duncan.

Mrs. Edgar S. Stanley, second vice-president and program chairman of Ebell of Los Angeles, announces four programs of excellence for the Monday meetings during December. Next Monday December 2, Lyman Bryson, executive director of the California Association for Adult Education, will lecture on "Education as a Lifelong Process." December 9, "The Future of England" will be discussed by S. K. Ratcliffe, London journalist and publicist. Mr. Ratcliffe has held important editorial positions in England and India and was one of the speakers for the British Broadcasting Corporation of London.

MRS. EDGAR S. STANLEY

The Russian Balalaika Orchestra, composed of the four Prokhonoff brothers, will present the program of December 16. They will be assisted by Rene Fumanova, soprano, prima donna of the Moscow Art Theater; Mischa Koulitonoff, tenor from the Warsaw Grand Opera Company and the Russian pianist, Alexander Kosloff.

There will be no meeting on December 23, however, the last Monday in December, Reginald Pole will lecture on "Three Great Americans; Emerson, Whistler and Whitman." Mr. Pole is known as an actor and director of Russian, Greek and English drama and for his long association with the Pilgrimage Play of California. He has composed successfully for symphony orchestra and ballet and is doing pioneer work in a new field, that of music drama.

Honoring several of its members who recently have been accorded national or State honors through election or appointment, the Los Angeles League of Women Voters will give a large tea at the Women's Athletic Club Tuesday afternoon, December 3, from 4 until 6 o'clock. Mrs. Walter Van Dyke, assisted by Mrs. H. H. Lissner, is in charge of arrangements. While the tea, for which a nominal charge is to be made, is primarily for league members and their friends, who will be asked to join the organization, all women interested in good citizenship and who are desirous of learning more of the league's work will be welcome.

Honor guests for the tea, who will speak briefly, are:

Dr. Miriam Van Waters, who was elected president of the National Conference of Social Work for 1930, and who is chairman of the Study and Prevention of Delinquency Committee, California League of Women Voters; Dr. Anna E. Rude, who has just returned from the Washington (D. C.) White House conference of Child Health and Protection to which she was appointed by Secretary of the Interior Wilbur; Mrs. Ernest Wallace, who has been named again by Gov. Young as head of the State committee to establish a separate prison for women offenders, carrying on the work she launched several years ago and which was made possible by the legislative appropriation of the last session; Mrs. Everett E. Latham, who has been appointed a member of the same committee and who is Southern California vice-president of the State League of Women Voters; Mrs. Oliver C. Bryant, who was appointed by Gov. Young as one of the committee to choose a site for the new Hospital for the Insane to be built in Southern California, and Mrs. John P. Buwalda of Pasadena, recently appointed as the only woman on the International House Committee at the University of California at Berkeley, succeeding Mrs. Frank A. Gibson, first to hold the appointment, following her resignation.

The New in Stores & Homes

Novelties, Ideas, and Suggestions

By OLIVE GRAY

Lest we forget on this day let us count our blessings. Good health. Thankfulness that we are here in Southern California.

Thankful for the sunshine and all the loveliness of nearby mountains, hills and beaches.

Glad that ice and snow and freezing days and nights are but a glistening memory; but a memory to be pleasantly revived, as we view that great Pageant Parade in the downtown district—a spectacle such as only our city could devise and carry out—that spectacle wherein not only may the children seem to see embodiment of fairyland characters and scenes, but which will revivify our own childhood's imagery and renew our faith in all things beautiful stored musitly in recollection. Let's give ardent thanks for the relearned lessons to be taught by play.

Changed Plans

"We intended spending Thanksgiving in the country," said Editha, "but we have heard so much about the Pageant Parade to be staged in the downtown district that we have decided to remain in town to find an advantageous place to view the parade, which the children are wild to see." Reply to her avowed intention, seemed to strengthen her resolve and deepen her interest, for she continued: "Yes, I understand that the wonders of that parade are such as to charm even grown-ups into a renewal of youth. We must not fail to see it. If we wish we may take the country trip later in the day, but I believe it would be cruel to deprive the children of the Christmas spectacle. They have talked of nothing else for weeks and are all keyed up about the chimes and carols to sound out from the street towers, the fairyland floats, the mummers and everything." Let's go, all!

Everything Done Gifty

Many of the most simple articles, some which never before did we think of as gifts, are done up so nifty-gifty this season as to make them worthy-presentable.

For example, that cleansing tissue—so most convenient and so economizing in laundry—comes wrapped in dainty celophane and looking very like a package for the tree.

For the Home-Keeper

Gifts for the home-lover never were so interesting, so practical and at the same time so beautiful as at present. For, scarcely is there an object for kitchen, dining-room, living-room or boudoir, not rendered intriguing by means of shape or color.

From those useful articles—heretofore quite humble—to assist in culinary success or kitchenry, to the more ambitious pieces in china or potteries, everything is so inviting as to become really gift-worthy.

Fine tablewares, always welcome, are supplemented by the many joyful or treasure-valued ornaments for engaying the festive board. Even knives, forks and spoons, heretofore not placed among gift possibilities, unless in fine silver, have taken on beauty by means of colorful handles, looking like precious or semiprecious stones. These go far in completion of color-plans for guest luncheons or dinners, fitting in as they do with the bright harmonies in china and in glass.

New to Glass Trees

Glass trees, in never-ending variety, have taken on a lease of giftlife most far-reaching. A novelty in these always novel "growths" is the glass pot, in which many are housed. Crystal clear and shaped like a veritable flowerpot, these containers add a note not heretofore sounded in table trees.

The Touch of Black

Anew are we reminded of the French liking for the "touch of black," as we view the recent imports in lingerie; rose color, canary or other tints being enlivened by lacings in velvet ribbon up sides and fronts, with possibly a narrow edge of black lace along the edges of teddies, step-ins, panties or pajama tops.

New Blues

New tones in blue have appeared in lingerie and in negligies for the gift season. Charming for the blond beauty are these, and especially enticing in that none but she of the lighter complexion shades dare to wear these—particularly in the tones called azure.

And Blue Glass

This airy color—azure blue—has appeared in glasswares for table use. Fairylike in effect, the glass in this tone is destined to find a happy place on tables of exacting hostesses.

Many Strands

Innumerable strands of infinitesmally fine beads are a recently introduced fad in the way of necklaces. Many are in tones of brown or gold, sometimes black and white or white and black, vying with these. Often the multiple strands in the leading color are brought together by a single larger bead or a jewelled ornament in a color outstanding in contrast.

BANK ROBBERY SUSPECTS HELD

Two Illinois Men Seized as Shotgun Bandits

Police Declare They Admit $50,000 Hold-up There

Local Depredations Denied by Pair in City Jail

Tracing an automobile said to have been used by the so-called shotgun bandits in the robbery of the California Bank branch at La Brea and Wilshire boulevards Monday, Detective Lieutenants Malina and Woolman yesterday afternoon took into custody two youths who, they say, admit being wanted for participation in a $50,000 house party robbery in Champaign, Ill., in which one bandit was killed and a police officer shot.

JOHN TROY

The pair gave the names of C. A. Henderson, alias Happy Jack O'Brien, 23 years of age, and Vernie Katz, 26. They were arrested at 218 Main street, Compton, where, the detectives say, they traced the automobile used in the California Bank robbery.

The youths also are suspected of the robbery of the Star Pharmacy last Saturday night and the Bank of America branch at 5636 South Broadway a week ago yesterday in which $1200 was obtained.

LOCAL YOUTH HELD

John Troy, 20 years of age, a local youth, was taken into custody with Henderson and Katz. He was said to have been driving the automobile which the two robbery suspects admit obtaining in Illinois. He is being held for investigation.

VERNIE KATZ.

According to a circular distributed throughout the country by Chief of Police Keller of Champaign, Ill. Henderson and Katz and two other youths held up a house party at the home of H. H. Harris at 809 West Church street, that city. A score of guests were lined up and jewels valued at $50,000 were obtained.

After being placed in the City Jail the youths, confronted with the circular, admitted, the detectives said, that they are the men wanted. They also added, the detectives reported, that they stole an automobile in Altamont, Ill., and drove in it, arriving last Sunday. They deny they participated in any local robberies.

SHOTS FIRED AT CAR

In the robbery of the California Bank branch the manager, M. McMahon, reported firing three shots at the bandit car as it drove rapidly away. He described it as a green Pontiac. The machine found in the possession of the two youths in Compton, according to the detectives, is an Oldsmobile but is green.

C. A. HENDERSON

In an effort to identify the youths on the local robberies they will be exhibited in the police shadow box at Central Police Station to the victims of the two bank and drug-store robberies.

The circular broadcasting the description of the pair wanted in Champaign states that their capture will bring a $2000 reward. Champaign authorities have been notified of the arrest and requested to send fingerprints and further details. The suspects are held on suspicion of robbery and as fugitives.

CHAMPAIGN (Ill.) Nov. 27. (AP)—Arrest of two men in Los Angeles today in connection with the robbery of the H. H. Harris home here accounts for the five members of the robber gang. Four are in jail; the fifth was mortally wounded by police summoned to the Harris home.

Harris was entertaining sixty guests the night of the Illinois-Army football game when the robbers entered his home, holding the guests at bay while the gang systematically robbed them of jewels and currency.

Gabby Henderson and Vernie Katz were arrested in the coast city on information furnished Champaign police by Carl Wilson, who with Harold Smith, is being held here. William Katschman was wounded fatally by police.

AUTOS STOLEN

The following cars were reported stolen in the past twenty-four hours from the streets of Los Angeles by the Automobile Club of Southern California: Buick coupe, 2M9746; Essex coupe, 4M7388; Ford coupe, 9P6180; Essex coach, 9V836; Jordan roadster, 6T1960; Ford roadster, 5B9664; Dodge touring, 2Z2735; Essex coach, 3R3751; Ford coupe, 8V8783; Auburn roadster, 1T5614; Ford touring, 884947.

POLICE HUNT SUSPECTS IN GIRL ATTACK

Negroes Declared to Have Kidnaped Child While on Way Home from Carnival

Two negroes were being sought by police yesterday as suspects in connection with the kidnaping and attacking late Tuesday night of Carol Seamon, 14 years of age, of 2428 East One Hundred and Thirteenth street.

In company with Hazel Dunn, 14, of 2410 East One Hundred and Twelfth street, the Seamon girl was returning from a carnival at the Jordan High School when the pair were accosted by two negroes in a small coupe at One Hundred and Sixteenth and Croesus streets, according to a report made to police of the Seventy-seventh-street division.

When the girls refused to enter the automobile at the invitation of the negroes one of them pressed a gun into the back of the Seamon girl and forced her into the car while the Dunn girl fled, according to the report. The negroes then are asserted to have driven the girl to an outlying district, where she was attacked and hit on the head with the butt of the gun when she resisted. She returned home some time later in a hysterical condition.

Two young boys, Ezra and Temple Briggs, walking some distance behind witnessed the negroes drive up, according to the report. The Dunn girl is asserted to have told police she will be able to make an identification.

Mrs. Armstrong asserts she received injuries which left her with a stiff leg. She is represented by Attorney Clyde B. Burr, W. I. Gilbert is counsel for Hall and Flanagan & Sampson represent Benson.

JURY RESUMES GRAFT QUIZ

Long Beach Affairs Under Scrutiny of Inquisitors; More Witnesses Called for Session Tomorrow

The Los Angeles county grand jury yesterday resumed its investigation of asserted irregularities in the municipal affairs of Long Beach, hearing testimony from one of a number of witnesses who are slated to appear. The lone witness during the sitting was B. F. Webster, in charge of the Long Beach prison work gang.

At the conclusion of the session it was announced by Dep. Dist.-Attys. Hammon and Shelley, who are presenting the case, that the jury will reconvene tomorrow to continue the probe. At that time the witnesses who were not heard yesterday will be recalled. They include Miss Myrtelle Gunsul, City Auditor of Long Beach, who is rumored to have received telephoned threats of death unless she cease co-operating with the investigating authorities; Rex Jones, undercover man for the Long Beach Law Enforcement League; John A. Berwald, special investigator of the District Attorney's office; Police Sergeant O. J. Pinnell and Policeman R. H. Holt, W. H. Wagner, Joseph Rangler, J. R. Richner and Jack Smalley.

AT GRAFT IN GENERAL

The grand jury's inquiry is directed at charges of asserted protection of vice, bootlegging, gambling, bail-bond "rackets" and the assignment of contracts for civic projects involving asserted graft. The charges were the aftermath of agitation two months ago on the part of Rev. Neal D. Newlin, executive secretary of the Long Beach Church Federation and secretary of the Long Beach Law Enforcement League.

Apropos of the investigation, it was learned yesterday that Charles Berwald, son of John Berwald, the District Attorney's special investigator in grand jury matters, last Sunday was trailed for several blocks by four men in an automobile. Young Berwald, an engineering student at University of California at Los Angeles, said the quartet leaped into their car and followed him a moment after he drove away in his car from the family home at 4581 Finley avenue.

CROWDING FAILS

As he realized he was being trailed, he said, he slowed down to await developments, whereupon the men overtook him and tried to crowd his machine into the curb. Failing in this, they sped away. The elder Berwald expressed little alarm yesterday over the incident.

The grand jury yesterday, also continued its inquiry into an asserted shortage of moneys received by the city treasury of South Gate from the Traffic Court there. With the hearing of testimony by Police Judge Neff and Policeman John Schilling, the jury took the case under advisement. The matter will be taken up again at tomorrow's special session.

CHAMBERS GIRD FOR BASE FIGHT

learned that it recommends selection of either Camp Kearny, near San Diego, or Sunnyvale, near San Francisco.

"The committee report has gone to the general board and the general board will make a report to Congress. It is going to be a real fight when the report goes to Congress. The Naval Affairs Committee in the House and Senate will have much to do with the selection. That is the job that we have to do now—get in touch with members of the committees and get our friends to do so and ask that a selection on the basis of merit alone be made. San Diego will win if we get that."

STUDY MADE OF SITES

Dr. Ford Carpenter, head of the meteorological department of the Los Angeles chamber, submitted a report of a scientific study that he made of both the Camp Kearny and Sunnyvale sites in which he declared that "there is a remarkable difference in favor of the Camp Kearny site."

Col. Henry O. Wheeler, chairman of the Los Angeles chamber's aviation committee, read telegrams from Representatives Evans, Crail and Swing pledging assistance in favor of Camp Kearny.

The call for the meeting, which took place at a luncheon in the chamber offices, was issued by the Los Angeles body and President Orandall thanked attendants for "the magnificent response to this call."

RESOLUTION PASSED

In a formal expression of the sentiment of the assembly it resolved as follows:

"Whereas, the General Board of the Navy, interested only in the strategic advantages of a location for defense, efficiency and economy of operation, has been on record since 1920 as favoring the Southern California site, and

"Whereas, the Camp Kearny site possesses all the advantages demanded for a lighter-than-air base, having a complete sewer system, electric power and light lines, water, housing and transportation facilities, availability of ample supply of skilled labor, ideal climatic conditions, in fact practically every advantage for efficient and economic operation;

"Therefore, be it resolved that at a meeting this date delegates from communities of Southern California and Arizona, representing a population in excess of 5,000,000, heartily indorse the selection of Camp Kearny in San Diego county, as the site for the naval dirigible base, as being the most efficient site offered on the Pacific Coast."

Airline Marks Its Anniversary

With approximately 681,000 miles of aerial transportation to its credit, Standard Airlines, Inc., today will commemorate its second anniversary with a celebration by pilots, ground crews and other employees at its airport, Ninety-fourth street and Western avenue.

During the second year of its existence, ending yesterday, the company extended its service to include El Paso, increased its schedule to a daily service between that city and the Pacific Coast, and replaced its entire fleet of planes with trimotored passenger transports.

It also is credited with having inaugurated its first transcontinental air-rail service February 4, last, through connection with the Texas and Pacific Railway.

Council Acts on Petition to Open Wilshire

A petition asking for the opening and extending of Wilshire Boulevard as an eighty-foot street from Figueroa street to Grand avenue was referred by Council yesterday to the City Engineer and the Street Opening and Widening Committee.

The City Engineer is to check the signatures on the petition to see if a majority is signed up. It is said the petition includes much more than a majority of the property owners.

The project is estimated to cost approximately $3,000,000 to condemn the right-of-way through the three business blocks.

Coroner's Jury Declines to Fix Onus for Death of Electrical Engineer

Reporting its verdict yesterday at an inquest into the death of John L. Young, a Coroner's jury found that the cause of death was a basal skull fracture, the occasion of which fracture was unknown. The jurors added their opinion: "We believe it was accidental." Coroner Nance conducted the inquest.

Young, an electrical engineer, 50 years of age, of 1636 Lyman Place, was found dead Saturday night on the sidewalk outside that address. Police said that Young had been in a drinking party shortly before his death.

William R. Buckley of 335 South Carondelet street was booked on suspicion of murder, while Mrs. Edith Todd Jones and Mrs. Edith Anderson, who live in an adjoining apartment, were held as material witnesses. Buckley told police that Young fell down while intoxicated.

Lecturer Says Brazil Friend of United States

"Brazil is the United States' best friend in South America," Edward Tomlinson, a guest at the Alexandria, said yesterday. "It will become the most powerful influence in South America and our only competitors for best standing with it is Germany."

EDWARD TOMLINSON

Tomlinson, a Bostonian, said he has just returned from a tour of the southern continent, where he spent eight years of his life "as a student of South American affairs."

He will appear tomorrow at the Pasadena Community Playhouse at noon to address a group of students of California Institute of Technology and in the evening will talk before the Oneonta Club at South Pasadena High School. He will leave afterward for the East.

Mr. Tomlinson will be the principal speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Los Angeles Lions' Club in the Biltmore at noon today. He will speak on "What South America Means to the United States." President Clem S. Glass will preside.

Assessments Given Approval

After making a few corrections, Council yesterday confirmed the assessments for the improvement of Vermont avenue from a point 355 feet south of Third street to Sixth street. Protests were denied against the installation of sewers in the Havenhurst Drive and Sunset Boulevard district, and against setback lines in Robertson Boulevard between Pico and Eighteenth streets.

Hearing of protests against the establishment of setback lines in Casador Drive between Casador street and Avenue 33 was continued until January 8, 1930, and hearing of protests against the improvement of Randolph avenue from a point south of Edison street to Hillsdale Drive was continued until December 16.

FIELD SECRETARIES MUST TAKE TESTS

The Board of Supervisors yesterday ordered a civil-service examination for field secretaries for the Board of Supervisors, following the discovery by the county auditor's office that two secretaries, Frank Colville, for Supervisor Beaty, and Charles Lawrence, for Supervisor McClellan, had only temporary appointments. Because of an oversight, it was stated, the two secretaries will lose a few weeks' pay before the examination can be held and their pay warrants certified.

WOMEN OF LARGE SIZE FLATTERED

Fashion Show to Reveal How New Silhouette Lines Slenderize Milady

BY OLIVE GRAY

Full realization of the fact that the new silhouette is singularly flattering to women of larger mold will be attained by those viewing the costume to be exhibited during the fashion pageant at Peterson's tomorrow. Not in many years have the modes been so well calculated to offset the forms of women no longer slender—those of Junoesque proportions.

Although it always has been the study of the Petersons—Mr. and Mrs.—to select garments suited to slenderization of larger women, not until the development of the present silhouette have they been so adequately assisted by Madam la Mode, as at present.

This shop was established upon the theory that it should not be necessary for larger women to pay more for high-class garments than need be expended by those of moderate size. Guided by this thought, the Petersons have searched the merchandising field to procure gowns, dresses, sports wear and wraps which would minimize the effect of avordupois; and their success in this endeavor has been signalized by an ever-growing and appreciative patronage.

Encouraged thereby, a line of shoes and hosiery was installed, and these departments, also, achieved instant success.

The shop at 738 West Seventh street, has been rearranged and larger selling space added by removal of offices to upstairs floors.

The fashion pageant will prove highly attractive. Among the elegant examples in couture to be seen, during the hours from 2 to 4 p.m., are: Sports ensembles in the new tones of dahlia and violet; travel clothes in tweeds and in fine, heavy jersey weaves; street, afternoon and evening dresses for the junior matron; together with wraps both practical and luxurious, for day and evening wear. Hats, both in head-shaped solells and those of the more dressy types, developed in maline and in lame, will accompany many of the costumes, together with shoes and hosiery appropriate to each ensemble.

Throughout this exposition of the leading silhouette of the new season, it will be proven that the present lines, both in gowns and wraps are singularly kind to women of substantial build.

Mother Claims Exhibits Used in Kelley Trial

Mrs. Josephine P. Kelley, mother of Leo (Pat) Kelley, under resentence for manslaughter growing out of the slaying of Mrs. Myrtle Mellus, yesterday appeared at the criminal branch of the County Clerk's office and claimed forty-four articles introduced as exhibits during her son's trial. Restoration was made to the mother in accordance with an order issued by Superior Judge Aggeler in support of a motion by Attorney S. S. Hahn late Tuesday.

The exhibits included a ring, a picture of Mrs. Mellus, a suit of clothing, a pair of shoes, several embroidered pillows, a packet of letters and a whisky bottle and glasses on a tray.

Several bottles of beer and a quantity of whisky which featured one angle of the Kelley trial were not with the exhibits, it was revealed. The liquor, which never was admitted as an exhibit in the case, although attempts were made along this line by the defense, was placed in the custody of the County Clerk by the Court. The intoxicants were destroyed, according to Deputy Clerk Smith, after the close of the hearing and no one appeared to claim ownership.

Kelley originally was convicted of first-degree murder and sentenced to hang, but the Court of Appeals, on the eve of his execution, reduced the verdict to manslaughter and ordered that he be resentenced on that charge.

SEARCH FOR ARIZONA GIRLS STARTED HERE

Juvenile authorities yesterday were requested to institute a search for Edna Kay, 16 years of age, and Reva Lee, also 16, of Gilbert, Ariz., who were reported missing from their homes there under mysterious circumstances since the 20th inst. The request was made by E. M. Hadley, a family friend living in Los Angeles, who said the girls' parents had notified him they have had no word from their daughters since they failed to return to their homes on that date. Hadley said both girls are of prominent Gilbert families.

BLAST BURNS WOMAN IN LIGHTING STOVE

With first and second-degree burns on her face, arms and chest Miss Polly Whittington, 27 years of age, was taken to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital last night, as the result of an explosion of gas in her home at 2023 South Union avenue. The young woman told police surgeons the explosion occurred as she struck a match to light the oven in preparation for dinner, she being unaware the pilot light had flickered out and allowed gas to accumulate in the baking chamber. Her condition was reported not critical.

RECLUSE DEATH INQUIRY PUSHED

Donald E. Keith Declared to Have Been Murdered

Elderly Man's Body Found on Floor of His Shack

Head Wounds Examined But Fail to Offer Clew

Unable to find a motive but convinced from circumstantial evidence that Donald E. Keith, 72-year-old recluse, was murdered in his little home at 2311 East Fourth street, Captain of Detectives Kallmeyer of Hollenbeck Heights continued his investigation of the case yesterday with the questioning of neighbors and other persons found to have known the victim.

Keith's body was found Tuesday afternoon lying on the floor of his shack by friends, Frank Gage and H. L. Petrie, both of 2628 East Sixth street, according to the police report. Beside the body was a hatchet, but later examination by detectives showed it apparently had not been used to slay Keith.

Three distinct fractures of the skull caused the aged man's death, County Autopsy Surgeon Wagner informed police. He added, according to Kallmeyer, that the condition of the wounds did not indicate they had been made with a hatchet.

Kallmeyer learned from former Municipal Judge McDill that Keith at one time had been admitted to the bar, but had not practiced law here. McDill, the captain said, had represented Keith in a court action regarding his property at the East Fourth street address.

From neighbors Kallmeyer learned, he said, that the elderly man had been somewhat of a recluse. On his lot are three houses, one he used himself and two on the rear which he rented. These have been vacant for some time, it is stated.

Keith had $100 in the bank, Capt. Kallmeyer said, but was not known to have carried any money on his person, which, perhaps, precluded the theory of robbery as a motive.

He was married at one time, but is not known to have had any children. His divorced wife is said to reside in Long Beach. The only known relatives are Mrs. Margaret B. Smith, a sister, living at 2480 Jefferson street, north, San Diego; Mrs. Beth B. Crell, another sister, of Sacramento, and a niece, Mrs. Edmund Martin, living in Pacific Beach near San Diego.

There was nothing at the scene of the crime, Capt. Kallmeyer declared, that offered any clew. Keith's home was a typical bachelor shack with plain old furniture including a wood stove for heat and cooking, and clothes and miscellaneous articles strewn about. The body lay on the floor face down. The head wounds had bled considerably. The condition of the body indicated that Keith was murdered some time on the night previous.

Keith could not have inflicted the three skull fractures himself, nor could they have been caused by a fall, Capt. Kallmeyer said. Either some enemy killed the aged man because of a grudge or for some valuables he may have had that no acquaintance knew about.

School Baskets Provide Source of Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving baskets were distributed yesterday afternoon by pupils of the Central Junior High School, 152 North Vermont avenue, where the contents were assembled and packed. Each basket contained a complete Thanksgiving dinner for a family of four, six or eight persons. More than sixty-five baskets were filled.

The custom of celebrating Thanksgiving by remembering the needy was established at Virgil Junior High school during the regime of J. B. Millard, former principal, and has been carried on under Principal Roscoe L. Frasher.

In addition to the baskets of food, a truck load of clothing for children and adults also was assembled by Virgil Junior High School and delivered to Central Junior High students for distribution.

Charley Chase Gaining Health

Word reached the Hal Roach studio yesterday that Charley Chase is recovering from an appendicitis and duodenal operation performed at the Mayo Brothers' clinic in Rochester, Minn.

CHARLEY CHASE

Chase has been suffering from chronic appendicitis and stomach ulcers for several years and after an attack two weeks ago decided to submit to treatment. He finished the last scene of his current comedy and boarded a train for Rochester. Three days after his arrival the operation was performed and he will be on his way back to work soon.

BLIMP PLAYS NEW ROLE IN SOUNDING FIRE ALARM

"Hey, there, you below! Come to life. There's a fire in your back yard! Fire! Fire! F-i-r-e"

Hearing which Policeman Weingarter ceased mulling over police records with Capt. Combs at University division yesterday and ran out of doors, for the warning voice had seemed to come from a point outside and above the building. But he saw no one. He did observe, however, that the dry grass in a vacant lot behind the police station was ablaze. So he rolled up his sleeves and went to work extinguishing the flames.

Applause greeted his attack on the burning brush. It seemed to come from over Policeman Weingarter's head. He looked up, and there, leaning out of their cabin and clapping their hands in approbation, he saw members of the crew of the Goodyear blimp Volunteer. The baby dirigible was drifting lazily barely 200 feet above the station. Policeman Weingarter then realized the airmen had spotted the blaze from aloft and descended to sound the alarm.

MEAD GIVEN SENTENCE TO ASYLUM

Youth Who Confessed to Wrecking Train Held for Washington Authorities

Leo Mead, 21 years of age, who recently created a sensation when he surrendered himself as one of the men who wrecked the Southern Pacific train near Saugus several weeks ago, yesterday was before Superior Judge Gould in the Psychopathic Court and after a short hearing was committed to the State Hospital for the Insane at Patton. Mead will be kept at Patton awaiting the arrival of officers from the State of Washington where he escaped from the Medical Lake Asylum last May.

When Mead surrendered himself to the Sheriff as one of the train wreckers he stoutly maintained he was guilty of the crime. Investigation by the Sheriff's force proved beyond any doubt he could not possibly have had anything to do with it. When confined at the County Hospital, the young man told doctors that he had surrendered himself thinking that the publicity he would get out of it would attract the attention of film producers and that he would land a position in the movies.

When brought before Judge Gould yesterday Mead told the court his reason he attempted to convict himself as a train wrecker was that he was hungry and had no place to sleep.

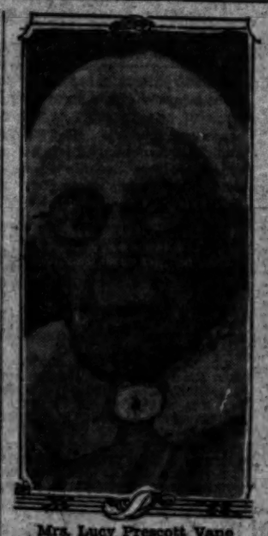
CHURCH WORKER DIES AT 102 YEARS OF AGE



Mrs. Lucy Prescott Vane

Mrs. Lucy Prescott Vane, 102 years of age, for more than half a century an ardent church and temperance worker, died early yesterday following a short illness at the home of her friend, Miss Ethel Vautier, 847 North Hobart Boulevard.

Although Mrs. Vane had been in failing health two years, her death came unexpectedly.

Funeral services will be conducted under direction of Brown Brothers, Inc., from the Trinity Missionary Church, corner of Hobart Boulevard and Lemon Grove avenue, next Saturday at 2 p.m. Interment will follow in Hollywood Cemetery.

Dr. Eli Reece, pastor of the Trinity Missionary Church, will officiate and will be assisted by five men who either have led congregations to which Mrs. Vane belonged or worked with her during the many years she spent in religious philanthrophy. They are Dr. Fred Ross, pastor of the San Pedro Methodist Church; Dr. John Shober Kimber of the Friends' Church; George B. Studd, mission worker; Dr. C. V. Cowan, former pastor of a Phoenix (Ariz.) Methodist Church; Dr. George McLaughlin, former pastor of the Huntington Park Methodist Church.

Mrs. Vane came to Los Angeles from Evanston, Ill., thirty years ago. She was born in Saugus, Mass., and resided in Evanston for many years.

While in Evanston she took an active part in the destinies of the Methodist-Episcopal Church as one of the original organizers of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society. She also served as president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union in Evanston and continued her activities with this organization after taking up residence here.

Mrs. Vane supported the California Bible College here and served on its board of directors. She attended graduating ceremonies of the school each year and was regarded by the school and the Trinity Missionary Church as one of their leaders.

Among the organizations which counted Mrs. Vane as a member are the Southern California Holiness Association and the Oriental Missionary Society.

Mrs. Vane leaves one grandson, Morgan Prescott of Chicago.

the several departments comprising the whole.

When the things said against me are sifted to the bottom and the truth about them is known, the fight made on me will clearly reveal itself as a "tempest in a teapot," a fight based partly on false statements and partly on statements containing a modicum of truth but greatly distorted, misinterpreted and misapplied. I have no fear of meeting the whole world in the open. There is nothing in my life to conceal. Yet, enemies can work under cover, stab a man in the dark, circulate false rumors and bring forth statements containing a grain of truth sufficient to lend plausibility to them and place a man in a false light. This thing has been done to me by enemies; and whilst I am conscious of the fact that my skirts are clear, still, I feel that you should not have to defend any appointee against criticism of any character, whether they be true or false.

I am informed that you have had the statements made against me carefully investigated by disinterested persons and you are, no doubt, fully informed about them and now know whether they are true or false. Yet, for the reasons above given, I feel it my duty to ask you to withdraw my name from further consideration.

Thanking you for your expressed confidence in me and wishing your administration every success, I am

Sincerely yours,
(Signed) BEN L. GOODHEART.

The following communication is Mayor Porter's reply:

November 27, 1929.

I have withdrawn the name of Ben L. Goodheart as Police Commissioner. But in so doing I wish it distinctly understood that my action is based entirely on his request and not based on any belief on my part that Mr. Goodheart would not make an honest and efficient Police Commissioner. In fact, quite the contrary. But since his appointment by me some citizens have opposed his appointment on various grounds and brought on a fight over the appointment.

As a loyal friend to my administration Mr. Goodheart has, in this situation, expressed to me the wish to avoid all friction and feels that in the interest of harmony he should remove himself from consideration. He was my loyal supporter in my campaign for the office of Mayor, and is just as loyal to my administration now.

I have had all criticisms against Mr. Goodheart very carefully investigated by disinterested persons, who have found those criticisms to be either wholly unfounded or not of a character to shake my confidence in my appointee in the least degree.

The Police Commission is one of the important arms of the city government and it is well, if possible, to have it composed of members about whom no political or other fight centers. Otherwise a member's usefulness may be impaired, even destroyed, even though he be an honest, able and conscientious member. The foregoing considerations have led me to comply with Mr. Goodheart's request and withdraw his name.

JOHN C. PORTER.

WIRSCHING CONFIRMED FOR PUBLIC WORKS JOB

Carl B. Wirsching was confirmed by Council as a member of the Board of Public Works and M. C. Sutton was confirmed as a member of the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation yesterday.

Mayor Porter, who started an investigation of charges against Goodheart after the nomination, has indicated he is satisfied with the nominee's record.

Wirsching succeeds to the place vacated by A. W. L. Dunn, resigned. The term expires June 30, 1930. The place pays $500 per month. Wirsching is an engineer. Some mild opposition reared its head when the name was brought in for confirmation yesterday, it being stated that one Councilman wished to continue some sort of "investigation," but it was smoothed over hurriedly and Wirsching placed in office.

Sutton succeeds Charles A. McCoy, term expired. Sutton is a San Fernando Valley man.

MOTHER, DAUGHTER TO HAVE JOINT RITES

Double funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth Cramer and her daughter, Mrs. Clara Deurmyer, will be conducted at 10 a.m. tomorrow from the White Company undertaking establishment, 664 West Washington street. Mrs. Cramer, who was 64 years of age, died of heart disease on the 24th inst., at her home, 816½ North Hobart Boulevard. Mrs. Deurmyer, who was 44, died two days later, also of a heart attack, at her home, 1047 Hauser Boulevard. Burial will be at Calvary Cemetery. Mrs. Cramer was a widow. Mrs. Duermyer was the wife of Leslie Deurmyer. The mother leaves three daughters, Mrs. Carl Graff, Mrs. Leo Bartell and Mrs. C. H. Blaketon, sisters of Mrs. Deurmyer.

Dempsey-Kearns Action Growing Out of Theater Robbery Called for Trial

A theater robbery that occurred in Kansas City on November 11, 1922, is the cause of a suit of the Dempsey-Kearns Theatrical and Motion Picture Enterprises against Alexander Pantages, which was called for trial yesterday in the court of Superior Judge Sproul. Attorney William Rains, counsel for the defense, appeared and asked for more time, stating that the matter probably will be settled out of court.

The Kansas City robbery occurred at the time Jack Dempsey and Jack Kearns were partners and had the leading roles in a road performance booked in a Pantages Theater in Kansas City. The show, according to the plaintiffs, was given under a contract by which they were to receive a guarantee and a share of the box-office receipts. One night robbers entered the theater, blew the safe and escaped with $9000.

The plaintiffs assert that the sum of $2365 still is due them.

Pantages in his answer contends the stolen money belonged partly to the plaintiffs and was not lost through any fault of his or his theater. In a cross-complaint he asks a judgment against Dempsey for $312, which he says he loaned the ex-champion.

LE COMPTE DAVIS ADDED TO COUNSEL

Le Compte Davis has been added to the legal battery of counsel preparing the appeal of Alexander Pantages from conviction on charges of having attacked Eunice Pringle, dancer, it was learned last night. Davis is to be associated with Jerry Giesler in preparing the millionaire's appeal.

Suspected Bank Bandit Identified

Arrested on a minor charge, Stuart Jones, 32 years of age, address refused, last night was identified by finger prints and booked on suspicion of robbery. Police say he is the fourth member of the bandit quartet which held up a Pacific National Bank messenger March 2, 1928, and stole $60,000. The other three bandits are serving ten-year sentences in San Quentin prison.

A police officer arrested a drunken man Tuesday night and booked him as "Andrew Carlson." Detective Lieutenants Malina and Woolman, of the robbery detail, assert that Jones is one of the gang that held up a messenger at Sixth and Chicago streets while he was carrying $65,000 from a branch bank to the main bank last year. Of this amount $34,000 was recovered following the arrests of William Woods, Horace Miles and Arthur Clancy, now in prison. A grand jury indicted Jones March 19, 1926, as one of the highway robbers.

Cleaner Fined Under New Law

Joseph L. Green, proprietor of the Capitol Cleaners and Dyers of Culver City, yesterday pleaded guilty before Municipal Judge Ambrose to failing to comply with the new State law aimed at reducing the fire hazards of clothes-cleaning establishments. It was the first conviction in Southern California under the measure, which became effective last August. Green was given the alternative of a $50 fine or thirty days in jail. He chose to pay the fine and was granted a stay of execution until December 2, next.

The act under which Green was tried provides that all clothes-cleaning, spotting and spotting establishments be housed in fireproof buildings and that they pay an annual State license fee. Green was arrested last Friday by deputy sheriffs on complaint of officers of the division of industrial fire safety headed by Jay W. Stevens, State fire marshal.

Woman Booked as Shoplifter

Accused of stealing furs and finery from downtown stores, Mrs. Ruth Kirg, 30 years of age, of 1901 Ocean View avenue, was booked last night on suspicion of burglary. Police who arrested her at her home, report that they found there two fur coats, fifteen dresses and thirty yards of silk, all valued at $2500.

The arrest was made by Policewoman Lulu Lane and Detective Lieutenant McCreadie, who accompanied P. M. Jacobs, a store detective. The furs were identified by the store buyer, Mrs. Blanche Shapiro.

WOODCRAFT RANGERS WILL SAIL AND HIKE

The Western Rangers branch of the Woodcraft Rangers which now has a membership of several hundred boys will divide its Thanksgiving holiday trips between ocean and land. A large party will be guests of the Admiral Steamship Company on a trip from Wilmington to San Francisco. This party will be in charge of Thomas L. Hosmer, executive officer. The party will return Sunday night. Another party in charge of Carl Schoose and Herbert Kusebauch will hike to Barley Flats, Pine Flats, Strawberry Peak and the Lummis Ranch, also returning Sunday evening.

CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS TO REJOICE

Services Will be Conducted at All Branches Today as Thanksgiving Event

Thanksgiving Day services will be conducted today at 11 a.m. in all the Los Angeles Christian Science Church, branches of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston. "Thanksgiving" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon. The Golden Text contains this counsel from the Psalms: "Make a joyful noise unto the Lord, all ye lands. Enter into his gates with thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise, be thankful unto him, and bless his name." The note of joy and gratitude will be found also in these Scriptural words in the responsive reading: "Happy is he that hath the God of Jacob for his help, whose hope is in the Lord his God: . . . which keepeth truth for ever: . . . The Lord openeth the eyes of the blind: . . . Praise ye the Lord."

One of the Bible citations in the lesson-sermon contains Christ Jesus's words from John 14:21: "He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me: and he that loveth me shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him."

A correlative passage from "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures" includes the following statement by Mary Baker Eddy: "To keep the commandments of our Master and follow his example, is our proper debt to him and the only worthy evidence of our gratitude for all that he has done."

Seattle Woman Divorced Here

J. E. Darnell, Jr., went before Superior Judge Yankwich yesterday seeking a divorce from Mrs. Edna Darnell, said to be prominent in social circles in Seattle, on a charge of desertion.

"I came to Los Angeles from Seattle two years ago and have been here ever since," the husband said. "I wrote to my wife to come, but she refused. In 1928, however, she came to visit friends here but did not communicate with me. After her visit she went back to Seattle."

The couple, according to Darnell, married in 1925 and separated in 1927. A decree was granted.

KINDNESS TO DOGS TO BE THEME OF EXHIBIT

A theme of kindness to dogs, particularly in the training of them, was decided upon yesterday as the keynote of the Los Angeles Kennel Club's thirteenth annual exhibit, to be held December 7 and 8 in the Ambassador Auditorium. Jack Bradshaw, secretary of the club, announced that in addition to judging for awards, expert trainers will be present to explain how dogs have been brought to perform difficult feats by the kindness method. More than 1000 of the finest dogs in this country will be on exhibit, he said. Many of the entries will come from as far east as Philadelphia.

CITY HALL CLOSED TODAY

Thanksgiving Day being a legal holiday, the City Hall will be closed today and all official business suspended.

ENDURANCE FLIGHT PAIR REEL OFF NIGHT HOURS

Aloft again on their second official attempt to break the world's refueling air endurance record, Elinor Smith and Bobbie Trout, flying misses, had written nearly fifteen of their Sunbeam biplane at 12:30 o'clock this morning.

The girl pilots completed the first after-dark refueling on record when they succeeded in taking aboard 165 gallons of gasoline, twenty gallons of oil and a sack of tinned food and water from the Carrier Pigeon plane manned by Paul Whittier and Pete Reinhart, veterans of the Culver City refueling flight.

The sun had set and dusk had settled over the flyers' base at Los Angeles Metropolitan Airport when Bobbie, standing up in the Sunbeam's open cockpit as the ship cruised along at 100 miles an hour, alighted on the refueling hose from the Carrier Pigeon.

For nearly half an hour the two planes, the Sunbeam not more than fifteen feet below the other, shot through the air at 2500 feet while gasoline streamed down the hose. By the time the contact was established all that Elinor, peering upward from the controls of the Sunbeam, could see of the Carrier Pigeon was its running lights.

They had taken on 100 gallons in a contest over the ocean off San Pedro two hours earlier and this combined load will carry them well past the break of day this morning, Jack Sherrill and A. B. Green, flight managers, stated.

The girls were forced down on their first attempt to break the world's record of 420 hours early last Tuesday morning, when, through a miscalculation, their plane's gasoline tanks ran dry. They had been aloft eighteen hours.

Joe Nikrent gave the official take-off time as 9:40 a.m.

FUNERAL CONDUCTED FOR MRS. McALEENAN

Funeral services for Mrs. Eva B. McAleenan, wife of William J. McAleenan, retired manufacturer, and mother of Howard W. McAleenan, manager of the Lexington Hotel, were conducted yesterday at the Cunningham & O'Connor chapel, followed by high mass at St. Vincent's church. Interment was in Forest Lawn Mausoleum. Mrs. McAleenan, who was 56 years of age, came here with her husband upon his retirement from business nine years ago. She was prominent in activities of the Catholic Women's League.

PHYSICIAN INDICTED IN DRUG CASE

Dr. F. E. Cramer Accused by Federal Grand Jurors of Narcotic Violations

Dr. F. E. Cramer, Hawthorne physician, who conducts an establishment on South Grand avenue, yesterday was indicted by the Federal grand jury on a charge of violation of the Harrison Narcotic Act and the Jones-Miller Act, relating to the illegal distribution of prescriptions for narcotics. Bond was fixed at $5000.

In addition Florencio Barajas was indicted for violation of the Immigration Act and Thomas E. Foster was accused of violating the National Prohibition Act. One secret indictment was returned.

LASKY REMAKES 'MANSLAUGHTER'

Conrad Nagel Signing for Lead in R.-K.-O. Special; Mary Lawlor of "Follow Thru" With M.-G.-M.; Lupe Velez Slated to Play "Kiki"

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

What a field for the talkers is being offered these days, to be sure, by those stories owned by producers and formerly made as silent pictures! And what interest fans must feel in listening to some of the old favorites go vocal!

NANCY CARROLL

Take "Manslaughter," for instance, the Saturday Evening Post story which C. B. De Mille made into one of his finest pictures a few years ago. Leatrice Joy and Thomas Meighan, you remember, distinguished themselves in it.

Now Paramount proposes to reproduce the picture, this time starring Nancy Carroll in the role which Miss Joy formerly played, and in which Miss Carroll will have to do very exceptional work indeed to equal Miss Joy's performance. The picture will be an all-star production and a special, and it will of course be a talker.

George Abbott, noted New York writer and stage director, is writing the talking version, and will probably direct.

CONRAD NAGEL LEAD IN "SECOND WIFE"

Once more, after many years of professional separation, Lila Lee and Conrad Nagel are to be united in the bonds of picturedom.

Conrad Nagel

It is in R.-K.-O.'s production of Fulton Oursler's story, "All the King's Men," that the reunion will take place. The story is now to be called "Second Wife, however, and Conrad Nagel was yesterday, after many film tests, had been made of leading men, signed to appear opposite Miss Lee, whose name in connection with the leading role in the picture was told a day or two ago.

William LeBaron made the announcement of the signing of the two leads in the picture, which is a domestic drama, and will be directed by Russell Mack.

Nagel and Miss Lee formerly played leads together in the old Paramount days, some five or six years ago. In those days they were juvenile and ingenue, respectively. Since then their talents have developed, and both will play dramatic roles in this picture.

M.-G.-M. Signs Stage Players

"Follow Thru," the peppy musical comedy currently on view at the Mason, is furnishing some excellent artists to the motion pictures.

MARY LAWLOR

Mary Lawlor, beautiful little singer and dancing ingenue of "Follow Thru," has just been signed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to appear in the ingenue lead of "Good News," we learn. Miss Lawlor is a Schwab and Mandel player, brought out from New York. But it looks as though M.-G.-M. is likely to sign her on a long contract.

Lupe Velez in "Kiki"

While there is nothing definite in the matter, still we learn that it is altogether likely that Lupe Velez will appear in a talking screen version of "Kiki," which Norma Talmadge did so admirably for United Artists a few seasons ago.

LUPE VELEZ

It would appear that Lupe was just made for the role of the sprightly little actress, accent and all, and we congratulate United on its good judgment in giving her the role.

M.-G.-M. Signs Director

Jacques Feyder, noted French director, who wrote and screened "The Kiss," in which Greta Garbo is breaking box-office records, has been signed on a new long-term contract by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Brought to this country to write and film an original story for Garbo last year, Feyder's blending of European and American production techniques has been so successful that he has been persuaded not to return to France as planned.

At present Feyder is at work on another original story in which Miss Garbo is slated to be starred.

E. Mason Hopper Produces

The director, E. Mason Hopper, is to take on the additional responsibilities of a producer, according to word just received.

Hopper is to produce a story which he wrote himself, and which is a story involving a great modern problem. He will make it as an independent. It is not yet titled.

Fine Cast With Corinne

Corinne Griffith is surrounding herself with excellent players in her current picture, "Back Pay," according to announcement made by First National yesterday.

Kay Francis, borrowed from Paramount, is to play a leading vampire part while Louise Beaver will have an ingenue role.

Hallam Cooley is to have a fine part, and Montagu Love also will be featured.

MAYOR GREETS TOWNSPEOPLE

Thanksgiving Proclamation Dwells on Blessings Still to Come

Mayor Porter yesterday issued the following Thanksgiving Day proclamation:

"To the Citizens of Los Angeles, greetings:

"This is my first Thanksgiving Day proclamation as Mayor of the city of Los Angeles, and it is difficult to enumerate the many wonderful blessings, material and spiritual, in store for us.

Sincerely,

"JOHN C. PORTER, Mayor."

Realty Dealers Urge Tax Slash

Reduction in capital gains in the interests of real estate activity is urged in a telegram dispatched to United States Senator Shortridge yesterday by J. Bradley Clayton, president, and Glenn D. Williaman, secretary of the California Real Estate Board.

"California realty men heartily approve the 1 per cent income-tax cut recommended by President Hoover," reads the message sent, "but strongly urge that some reduction be made intact on capital gains, thus facilitating the sale of property and improving activity in real estate."

Clayton and Williaman said their telegram is representative of the feeling prevailing through the ranks of the association, which numbers 4000 members.

Slide Crushes Canyon Toiler

Caught in a rock slide, J. H. Donovan, 73 years of age, yesterday afternoon was crushed to death while he worked near his cabin home at Sharps Flats in San Gabriel Canyon, according to a report made to the Sheriff's office.

Donovan, according to the report, was working in a wash when in some manner rocks became loosened and fell upon him. His body was ordered removed by the Coroner's office to the White Funeral Home in Azusa.

Woman Struck Down but Man Gets No Rings

A man intent on robbery last night attacked Mrs. Anna Nelley, 35 years of age, in the apartment-house she manages at 1720 Taft avenue, Hollywood, and left her unconscious from two blows on the head after trying desperately, but without success, to wrench diamond rings from her fingers.

The bandit appeared hailess at the apartment-house and asked to see a vacant apartment. As Mrs. Nelley led the way into the room the man felled her with a heavy weapon. She grappled with him and he struck her again over the head. Then he tugged at the rings but a moment before she lost consciousness he fled.

After treatment at Dickey & Cass Emergency Hospital for scalp lacerations Mrs. Nelley described her assailant as about 25 years of age, 5 feet 8 inches in height, weighing about 140 pounds and wearing a suit of brown and green mixture. Detective Lieutenants Prosper and Taylor of Hollywood division were assigned to investigate.

Federal Judge Names Receiver in Maloof Case

After the filing of a suit in United States District Court, upon the complaint of Lowenstein & Sons, Inc., a New York corporation, A. E. Lawrence was appointed receiver for T. S. N. Maloof, T. S. N. Maloof Company and T. S. N. Maloof Company, Ltd. Judge James made the appointment.

The plaintiff seeks an accounting asserting that the physical properties of the Maloof interests are valued at $324,500, whereas $75,000 is owed on merchandise and $50,000 to others than merchants. It is asserted that the Maloof interests own fifteen parcels of land in Los Angeles, Ventura, San Bernardino and Riverside counties.

Driver of Rum Auto Arrested

Dick S. Rakich, 40 years of age, of 1733 East Sixty-first street, yesterday was booked on possession and transportation of liquor in violation of the Wright Act, following the asserted finding in his automobile of fifty gallons of whisky.

He was stopped at Figueroa street and Venice Boulevard by motorcycle officers when their suspicions were aroused by the speed at which he was traveling. According to the police, Rakich said bootleggers were paying him $15 per load for conveying the liquor here from Antelope Valley.

Whispers in the Wings

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

More news from Henry Duffy before departing Los Angeles for San Francisco:

Grace La Rue and Hale Hamilton, her husband, have been engaged as guest stars and will come to the Coast to appear in "Dear Me," of which Hamilton is author (with Luther Reed,) shortly after the first of the year. . . . Henry Duffy and Dale Winter will make one of their rare bows from the Los Angeles stage, probably in January, in that luscious thriller, "The Cat and the Canary."

It seems that Miss La Rue and Hamilton did "Dear Me" at the Cort Theater in Chicago in 1920 and later at the Republic, New York. It was one of the big hits of their respective careers. Miss La Rue, incidentally, started her way on the stage as a child actress in Julia Marlowe's company. Until recently she has been a diligent commuter from New York to London and Paris, in all of which cities she has been starred in one show or another. They still talk about her first appearance in London, where she created something of a sensation singing "You Made Me Love You—I Didn't Want To do It." She also played "The Girl Who Didn't" there and upon returning to America was in "Hitchy-Koo," "Nothing But Love" and various New York Music Box revues.

Hamilton, who writes as well as acts, started his career as a Shakespearean actor in New Jersey. It wasn't long, however, before he graduated to become J. Rufus Wallingford in "Get Rich Quick Wallingford," which he played for two years at the Gaiety, New York, then later, "The Come-On," "The Ne'er-do-Well," "Sealed Orders," "The Fortune Hunter," "A Pair of Sixes" and others. He has been in pictures and is author with Viola Brothers Shore of "Home."

Thanksgiving Drama Dishes.

The playgoer who wants a dish of drama along with his Thanksgiving turkey has his choice of eight shows at the matinee hour today and nine at the evening hour. The Belasco offers Pauline Frederick in "The Queen Was in the Parlour;" the Biltmore, John Drinkwater's "Bird in Hand;" El Capitan, Frances Starr in "The Shelf;" Figueroa Playhouse, "Bad Babies;" Hollywood Playhouse, Eugene O'Brien in "Girl Trouble;" Majestic, Edward Everett Horton in "Her Cardboard Lover;" President the radio show, "Remote Control;" Vine street, Marjorie Rambeau in "Merely Mary Ann," all at 2:30 o'clock today. "Follow Thru," musical show at the Mason, announces no matinee, but an evening performance as usual.

Mae West Writes of West

A dispatch from San Francisco brings the news that Mae West, appearing there in "Diamond Lil," is gathering material to write a play of the old Barbary Coast, the chief character to be called Frisco Kate. "Miss West comes here shortly to the Biltmore Theater.

Lloyd Runs True to Form

The announcement that Harold Lloyd's first talkie, "Welcome, Danger," will today start its second week at the Paramount, recalled the fact to the picture fan of five years ago that it was Lloyd's "Hot Water" which started the custom (seldom followed today) of prolonging picture runs at that theater, then known as the Metropolitan. "Hot Water" went into the old Met on October 12, 1924, and was so well liked that it was held two weeks. During the first seven days of its stay, a total of $31,000 was taken in at the box office, a record in those days and what might be considered pretty good today.

Lloyd, who had started as "Lonesome Luke" on the Hal Roach lot ten years previous, had just begun independent picture production, which for so many has proved disastrous financially, but for him phenomenally successful. His first lone effort was "Girl Shy;" "Hot Water," his second. Of course, "Grandma's Boy" made under the Roach banner had preceded these two and had, in 1922, established what was then a world's record by running nineteen weeks at the old Symphony Theater on Broadway, Los Angeles.

Among the Visitors

Edward J. Doherty, formerly Pacific Coast correspondent for the Chicago Tribune, now a successful magazine writer, is in town collecting material for a biography of Jeanne Eagels. Mrs. Sam H. Harris, wife of the Broadway producer, ("June Moon" is his latest hit,) arrives on Friday.

Six-Footers Wanted

Bud Murray, who stages dances, sends word that he has been engaged to do the ensembles and individual numbers for "Oh, Susanna," to be launched at the Mayan Christmas night. "What is more important," wires Murray, "is the note that I will hold an audition at the Mayan Friday morning at 9 o'clock for six-foot male singers and female singers." It would seem to us that Murray is going to have his difficulties getting feminine vocalizers who are six feet in height.

Cinema Contributes Player

The fad of plucking motion-picture stars from the Hollywood tree for roles in locally cast stage productions is growing more pronounced. Franklin Pangborn, in announcing hopefully that Carmelita Geraghty would be a member of the cast of "In His Arms," arriving at the Vine-street Sunday, reveals the fact that Miss Geraghty's qualifications for the part are based solely on her motion-picture experience—"The Mississippi Gambler" and "This Thing Called Love," recently—and parts in Hollywood High School class plays of 1918 and 1919. In the latter, she played opposite Lloyd Corrigan, then an embryo actor, now a scenario writer. Lynn Starling, author of "In His Arms," was also responsible for "Weak Sisters," written especially for Pangborn and in which the actor-producer has played here twice most successfully.

Australian Makes American Debut

Mabel Gibson

Will be initiated to the stage of this country Saturday when "The Climax," starring Guy Bates Post, is presented at the Hollywood Playhouse. Miss Gibson's role is difficult, requiring both acting and singing talent.

"GREAT DIVIDE" COMING

The First National screen version of "The Great Divide," sometimes called "the great American drama," has been booked by the Warner Brothers Hollywood Theater and will start Monday with Dorothy Mackaill in the featured role. "The Great Divide," as a play, ran for many years and broke box-office records throughout this country and Europe.

In the screen version, Miss Mackaill portrays a very modern girl, the type of role in which she has had such success in her recent pictures. She is said to have an opportunity for splendid dramatic work when she is kidnaped by the man she loves and hates, and is brought out into the silent desert of Arizona.

Ian Keith portrays the role of the westerner, made famous on the stage by Henry Miller.

The Mexican fiesta scenes are especially colorful, it is said, showing a group of forty dancing girls in the rhythms of Spanish and Mexican dances. "The Great Divide" was written by William Vaughn Moody and the all-dialogue production brings to the screen the full force and power of this play.

The cast also includes Lucian Littlefield, Ben Hendricks, Myrna Loy, Frank Tang, Creighton Hale, George Fawcett, Jean Lafferty, Claude Gillingwater and Roy Stewart. Reginald Barker directed.

United Artists Film Includes Dramatic Theme

Should a young mother, failing in her best efforts to make ends meet, give the custody of her infant son to his father because he is extremely wealthy and can give the child advantages and luxuries that she cannot?

This is one of the dramatic twists in Gloria Swanson's first all-talking and singing United Artists picture, "The Trespasser," directed by Edmund Goulding, which is now playing in its fourth week at the United Artists Theater.

In the production Miss Swanson resumes her position as the secretary to a Chicago corporation lawyer when her marriage to a millionaire's son is annulled by the father. Out of a long siege of financial difficulties comes her decision to trust her little son to his father's people.

'Faust' Given at Old Grand Operahouse

The Community Opera Association of Los Angeles gave the third of its series at the Teatro de Mexico last night. "Faust," by Gounod, was the opera and the indefatigable Manuel Sanches de Lara conducted and was responsible for a presentation that was interesting in spite of its tremendous handicaps.

The former Grand Operahouse was filled to capacity with eager listeners, both Mexican and American, and they expressed their approval heartily. A Mexican orchestra did valiant work with the score. The bright particular stars were the men in the cast, Luis Alvarez, singing Faust; Ignacio Ruffino as Mephistopheles and Roberto sa Silva as Valentine. Ruffino has a rich bass-baritone voice which he uses intelligently. He was apparently familiar with the part and acted convincingly. Alvarez has an appealing tenor, but found the demands o' Faust rather too much for his voice before the end. Silva was a handsome Valentine and filled the theater with his powerful baritone.

The ladies of the cast were Emily Hardy, Genevieve Schrader and Lindy D'Albert. Miss Carla Laemmle led a ballet prettily costumed.

Not the least of the charm of these operas in the Teatro Mexico is the enthusiasm and good will of both the singers and the audience. The singers give of their best and the audience, loving opera, takes it, good and bad, in the spirit in which it is offered. The orchestra of Mexican musicians is large and effective. The performances would benefit by a little less tone from the band at times.

Million Dollar Screens Latest Clara Bow Film

A difficult feat of modern talking movie engineering in "The Saturday Night Kid," now screening at the Million Dollar Theater, was accomplished when the dialog sefluences for Clara Bow's new picture were recorded on board a moving street car.

Two pieces of street railway equipment were chartered by the Paramount company to make shots —one a passenger car, the other a flat car on which was mounted the company's huge sound truck. The scene shows Clara Bow and a party of friends on their way to work in the business district of the city.

'Jazz Heaven' Starts Today at R.-K.-O.

With the glitter and glamour of Broadway as a background, Radio Pictures presents another all-talking, musical drama, "Jazz Heaven," starting at the R.K.O. Theater today.

Featured in the cast are Johnny Mack Brown, Sally O'Neil and Joseph Cawthorn. The story of "Jazz Heaven" deals with the trials and tribulations of an embryonic song writer's struggle to gain fame and fortune in New York. Teamed with Cawthorn as partner of a music publishing business is Albert Conti. Others in the cast include Clyde Cook, Blanche Frederici and J. Barney Sherry. Melville Brown directed.

As a special feature for Thanksgiving week, C. V. Rosi has conceived and staged for the R.K.O. vaudeville revue an "Artists and Models" ballet. Bud and Lon Murray have arranged a turkey goblin number for the R.-K.-O. dancing girls. Other acts include Harry Holmes, Josephine Huston, Brooks Trio, Don Carroll. Will Ahern enters his second week as master of ceremonies assisted by Gladys and Brother Den.

Dialogue Writer Lauded for New Warner Picture

The screen achievements of J. Grubb Alexander, which made his name one of the outstanding ones in the days of the silent drama, are now being surpassed, it is said, especially since the advent of audition on the screen.

An outstanding illustration of Alexander's contributions to the talking screen is reflected in Pauline Fredericks's starring Vitaphone production, "Evidence," which starts at the Warner Brothers Downtown Theater Monday.

For this outstanding attraction Alexander wrote the picture version and dialogue. That these two factors contribute in no little measure to the ultimate success of this production is not to be denied, it is maintatined, since it has been proved that the public is guided by what is being spoken as much as what is being portrayed.

Duncan Sisters Make Debut on Talking Screen

"It's a Great Life," the Duncan sisters' first talking and singing picture, starts today at the Criterion Theater.

The picture marks the first presentation of the noted singing sister team to the public since its rise to success in natural character minus the black-face make-up of Rosetta.

"It's a Great Life" was directed for Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer by Sam Wood from a story written by Byron Morgan and Alfred Block. Al Boasberg furnished the comedy dialogue; Willard Mack the straight dialogue; Ballard MacDonald the lyrics, and Dave Dryer, the music. Lawrence Gray, Jed Prouty and Benny Rubin are in the supporting cast.

HAS WHITING SONGS

"Sweetie," Paramount's musical romance of campus life with Nancy Carroll, Helen Kane and Jack Oakie is punctuated with catching melodies written by Richard A. Whiting, who wrote "Louise" and "A Japanese Sandman." George Marion, Jr., penned the lyrics.

NEW DRAMA ANNOUNCED BY DUFFY

"That Ferguson Family" Next at President; Robert Keith in Chief Role

"That Ferguson Family," a comedy which ran several months in New York last season, has been chosen by Henry Duffy for his next attraction at the President, starting December 8. The play was written by Howard Chenery.

The story of "That Ferguson Family" revolves around the attempt of a well-meaning but misguided mother to dominate the lives of her children. She does not realize that they are grown up and desire to make their own decisions.

The chief male role, that of the self-confident Rupert Striker, will be enacted by Robert Keith, who created the role of the artist in Eugene O'Neill's "The Great God Brown." The balance of the cast is now being chosen.

Humor Averts Trouble for Will Rogers

A healthy sense of humor seems to be the remedy recommended by Will Rogers for Paris-crazed Americans in "They Had to See Paris."

Homer Croy's book, Owen Davis's dialogue and Frank Borzage's direction all combine in this Fox Movietone production, which has been moved downtown to the Fox Palace to continue its successful Carthay Circle run, to form an interesting, sometimes dramatic and more often comical background for Will Rogers's rare humor.

But for the never failing, frequently homely but always funny wit of Rogers in the role of Pike Peters, the Peters family would probably have disintegrated during its stay in Paris. The family acquired riches from an oil well in their home town of Claremore, Okla., and Mrs. Peters decides that backgrounds, culture and titles are in order, and in spite of Pike they sail for Paris.

Fifi Dorsay, Irene Rich, Owen Davis, Jr., Rex Bell, Ivan Lebedeff and Christiane Yves are included in the cast. A Mickey Mouse cartoon comedy, "Mickey's Follies," and the M.-G.-M. feature, "The Son Writers Revue," are also on the program.

Carmel Myers Will Headline Orpheum Bill

Carmel Myers, vivacious screen favorite, will headline the bill at the local Orpheum Theater for the week commencing Saturday, having just returned from a brief visit to New York, where she appeared for two weeks at the Palace.

Miss Myers is one of the established film actresses whom the talking and singing pictures have brought into greater prominence than ever, since she is said to possess one of the best trained singing voices in Hollywood. Her dramatic and musical performances in such pictures as "The Broadway Scandals," "The Ship From Shanghai" and "The Careless Age" came to the attention of the bookers of the R.K.O. circuit, with vaudeville engagements resulting.

Van and Schenck, "the pennant-winning battery of songland," will also contribute melodies to next week's program, since they have been held over for a second week.

Noted Players to Appear at Midnight Show

Grauman's Chinese Theater presents a program of Fox stars who are, in addition to their picture activities, noted for their work on the stage, at Saturday's Hollywood midnight frolic, the last in conjunction with "Bunny Side Up."

These include George MacFarlane, American baritone, operatic and concert star of note, now in motion pictures, who will act as master of ceremonies. El Brendel, who needs no introduction, will offer a comedy skit with Rose Brendel, Lew Brice, brother of Fanny Brice, will team with Mae Clarke in a series of dances and songs.

Tom Patricola, eccentric dancer and star of Broadway shows, will offer as a feature number his "Demon Dancing." Richard Kean, distinguished artist, will present an interesting contributory bit to the program.

College Story Heads Bill at Loew's State

Thanksgiving, day of football classics and turkey feasts, also starts a week of festive entertainment at Loew's State.

The screen feature is "So This is College," the Sam Wood production for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Romance, youth and football are woven together into a story replete with action, interest and entertainment, it is said. The cast is headed by Elliott Nugent, Cliff Edwards, Robert Montgomery and Sally Starr and the picture was filmed almost entirely on local campuses and gridirons.

Fifi Dorsay, who appears with Will Rogers in "They Had to See Paris," will appear in person on the stage at every performance this week. Panchon and Marco present their latest musical comedy creation, "Uniforms" idea.

GRIBBON BUSY ON PRIZE-FIGHT STORY

Harry Gribbon is rehearsing for a prize-fight story which will furnish some fast and furious fun for his current Mack Sennett starring comedy. Marjorie Beebe will again play opposite and Andy Clyde as usual will be his pal. His last picture, a football comedy, is in the cutting room.

CRUISER CREW DRAFTED HERE

New Pensacola's Personnel Taken from Fleet

Ships Short-Handed Now; Further Requisitions Due

Craft in Harbor Today for Thanksgiving Leave

Approximately 500 enlisted men are this week being drafted from ships of the United States Fleet to man the new U. S. Pensacola, second of the navy's 10,000-ton treaty cruisers, which is nearing completion at the Camden (N. J.) yards of the New York Shipbuilding Corporation. First quota of the draft is scheduled to sail from San Pedro today aboard the naval transport Vega.

Fleet officials point out that the battleship divisions, already below efficient enlisted strength, must be further reduced during the coming year to supply crews for six other 10,000-ton cruisers nearing completion, as well as to man the fleet submarines V-5 and V-6, both to be completed next spring. Further efforts will be made by the Bureau of Navigation at the coming session of Congress to raise the Navy's enlisted strength from 87,000 men to 92,000 men, as completion of the first units of the fifteen cruiser program will necessitate further drains on personnel.

The Pensacola, to be commissioned February 1, next, is a sister ship of the U.S.S. Salt Lake City, already in commission. She will be followed during the next six months by the cruisers Chester, Houston and Northampton, these last ships being equipped with nine eight-inch guns, while the Pensacola and Salt Lake City carry ten eight-inch guns as main battery. All are to be assigned to the scouting fleet in the Atlantic.

LEXINGTON CASE

The aircraft carrier Lexington, scheduled to return to the home base today following completion of annual overhaul at the Puget Sound navy yard, will be held indefinitely on Puget Sound until the Navy Department decides whether she will help relieve the electric power famine o. Seattle and Tacoma. Fleet officials are opposed to the project because the Lexington will thereby be withheld from the fleet tactical program, already sharply curtailed because of the destroyer decommissioning program.

The fleet in port here will be further reduced early in December by the departure for Puget Sound of the battleships Maryland and Tennessee. The Maryland will go to the navy yard on December 5 for her annual overhaul, while the Tennessee will depart on December 9 for replacement of one of her turret guns. The aircraft carrier Saratoga, now in the midst of overhaul at the Puget Sound yard, will return to this base early in January, sailing from Puget Sound December 28.

FLEET IN PORT TODAY

All units of the fleet will be in port today for the usual Thanksgiving festivities, featured by the midday dinner and liberty over the week-end. All battleships are slated to go to sea next week, regular gunnery training being climaxed by tactical exercises from Thursday to Saturday, in which all available ships of the fleet will participate.

From December 2 until January 5 the fleet will be at anchor in port for machinery overhaul, completion of athletic programs and regular holiday leave. From January 6 to 31 the battleship divisions will rehearse and fire long-range battle practice and turret night battle practice. From February 1 they remain at anchor here, undergoing machinery overhaul engaging in landing-force drills and loading stores for the winter cruise to the Caribbean and New York, on which the battle fleet will sail February 15, next.

GRAND JURY HEARS POLICE SCHOOL PLAN

Appearing yesterday before the grand jury, Superior Judge Fricke outlined briefly a plan formulated by him for a proposed police training school.

A special invitation to the jurist to address the inquisitorial body was extended to him by Grand Jury Foreman De Garmo, known to be interested in such a move.

Declaring that he believes the establishment of a training school for police would be of vast benefit, Mr. De Garmo pointed out that the proposed school would differ from the old method of training police officers in the respect that it would be in continuous operation for the benefit of those wishing to attend. The previous training school, abolished a few years ago, was used to train recruits.

Judge Fricke's address was received favorably by the entire body. Mr. De Garmo said. It is likely, he said, that when the grand jury makes its next annual report that it will recommend the establishment of a training school for police and deputy sheriffs, as well. He expressed the belief that Sheriff Traeger would share the body's views in respect to the Sheriff's department.

APPEAL TO BE MADE IN TRACT CASE

County Counsel Notified That Supreme Court Has Granted Rehearing

Preparation of an appeal brief in the case of "Friesen vs. the city of Glendale" was ordered by County Counsel Mattoon yesterday following the announcement that the State Supreme Court has granted a rehearing in the action, which affects the filing of suits against all property owners in a tract, when part of a tract is condemned.

The Superior Court and the Court of Appeals have held that when part of a tract is condemned, owners of all lots in the tract must be sued, as each lot owner, it was contended, has a proprietary interest in any proceedings that affect the value of lots in the tract.

Glendale and fourteen other cities are appealing the decision on the ground that it makes 500 times as much work in condemnation proceedings, making them practically impossible. Los Angeles and seven other counties are joining in the suit. County Counsel Mattoon argued for a rehearing in San Francisco last week and was notified yesterday that the rehearing was granted.

TWO KILLED IN TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

Motorist Loses Life as Street Car Strikes Auto; Woman Pedestrian Hit

Crushed in the wreckage of his automobile when it literally was ground to pieces under the wheels of a Los Angeles street railway Inglewood car, George Conley, 40 years of age, of 439 Daly street, was killed instantly yesterday afternoon. The crash occurred at Stocker street and Leimert Boulevard. A woman was killed and two other persons were injured in other traffic accidents.

Several passengers on the street car were shaken severely by the force of the impact but none was reported hurt seriously. The car was piloted by Motorman A. H. Papst.

Conley, according to police, is believed to have at one time acted the part of Abraham Lincoln in motion pictures. He was an employee of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, it was stated.

Motorman Papst told police that his car was traveling at about twenty-five miles an hour when the small automobile drove across the tracks directly in front of him. The latter was dragged ninety feet by the heavier vehicle before it came to a stop, police said.

Mrs. Lou Bell Smith, said to be the mother of Betty Boyd, former Wampas baby star, died last night at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital as the result of injuries received earlier in the evening when she was struck by a motorcycle as she was crossing Eighth street near Westlake avenue. Mrs. Smith, 43, who resided at 2151 North Highland avenue, was said by eyewitnesses to have been jaywalking when she was struck by the motorcycle.

The motorcycle, according to the police, was driven by Andrew Zettas of 1312 West Sixty-third street, and he is being held by the police as a material witness.

Struck by an automobile yesterday while he was bicycling, Elmer E. E. Bailey, 63 years of age, of San Fernando, received a broken left ankle. His bicycle was struck at Fifty-fifth street and Santa Fe avenue by an automobile which police reported was driven by R. S. C. Helmidge of 306 Marbrisa street, Huntington Park.

At Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, where he was treated, the elderly cyclist said he had pedaled all over the country without ever before having an accident. He produced a printed record of a bicycle trip of 2360 miles which he made from his home to Seattle and return six years ago.

In a collision early yesterday, Alvin H. Schultz, 27, of 6035 Fifth avenue, received a compound fracture of the left arm, a broken collarbone and abrasions. The truck he was driving on the Roosevelt Highway, twenty miles north of Santa Monica, collided with a sedan. Schultz was taken to the Mary Martin Hospital, Santa Monica.

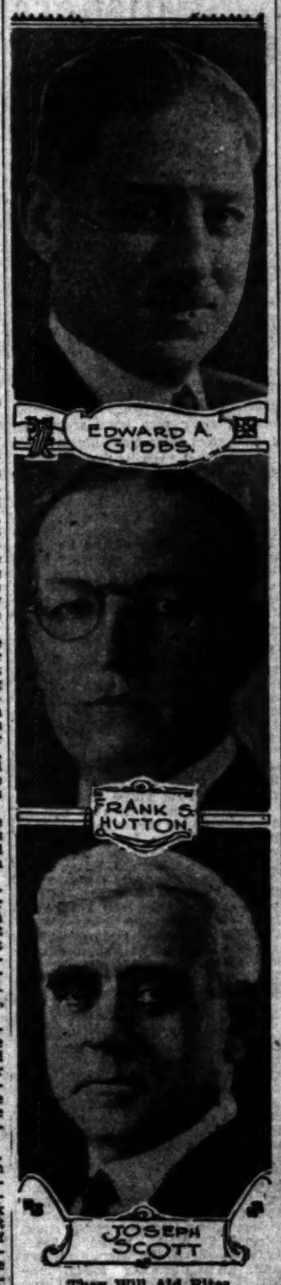
SERVICE SCHEDULED FOR DEPARTED ELKS



They Will Aid Rites

In accordance with a custom of Elkdom all over the United States and in its possessions, Los Angeles Lodge of Elks, No. 99, will pay tribute to departed members in a solemn and impressive ceremony Sunday at the Elks' Temple, Westlake Park, at 2:30 p.m.

The ceremony, which will take place in the lodgeroom, will be attended by widows of departed members, for whom a section of the hall has been reserved. The ceremonies will be open to the public.

Edward A. Gibbs, Exalted Ruler of Lodge No. 99, will conduct the ritualistic services. Frank S. Hutton, Esteemed Leading Knight, will be master of ceremonies.

The usual ritualistic ceremony this year has been augmented by a series of sacred selections and an address which will be delivered by Joseph Scott.

Civil Engineer Arrested on Check Charge

Edward Alexander, 36 years of age, who told police he is a civil engineer and a former captain in the French Foreign Legion, yesterday was arrested by detectives of the police forgery detail and booked at City Jail on a charge of passing bogus checks.

Among his asserted victims is former Police Commissioner Dell Schweitzer. According to Detective-Captain Mailheau, Schweitzer cashed a check for Alexander in the amount of $200, for which there were no funds in the bank. Another victimized by the accused man, it is charged, is Mrs. D. G. Ward of 3122 West Sixty-eighth street.

Capt. Mailheau charges Alexander threatened Mrs. Ward's life when she announced her intention of notifying the police that the check she cashed was worthless.

Photography Class Popular

The most popular classes, from the basis of enrollment, arranged in Los Angeles by the University of California extension division, have just been enumerated, according to announcement of Director Richardson. Photography holds the record for the largest enrollment of any of the classes, of which there are several hundred.

The next largest enrollment is in the class in exterior decoration, which meets Monday evenings. The other large classes are public speaking, phonetics, traveler's French, European travel and clog dancing.

According to the announcement, more people are attending extension division classes in Los Angeles and the southern part of the State this year than ever before.

Reid Named for Six-Year Term

The Board of Supervisors yesterday appointed James K. Reid, Long Beach business man, to a six-year term on the County Civil Service Commission, beginning December 1.

Reid began his duties on the commission several months ago, when he was selected to serve the remainder of the unexpired term of A. C. Malone, resigned.

ST. MARY'S DENIES SEEKING POST-SEASON TILT IN NORTH

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27. (AP)—In the first official statement on the subject, Louise Lefevre, graduate manager announced today that St. Mary's college had not and was not now considering playing a post-season football game in San Francisco. "At no time have we made any overtures for a post-season game in San Francisco," said Lefevre. "I understand, however, that private interests in Los Angeles are trying to line up a contest for us. As a result of the outside and unsolicited help we have received many inquiries from colleges throughout the country asking about the possibilities of a game. The board of control of St. Mary's College will meet next Tuesday to decide whether we will engage in a post-season affair."

TROJANS TO FEAST TODAY

Will Enjoy Turkey After Morning Workout; Nine End Conference Careers Saturday

BY RALPH HUSTON

Cougars or no Cougars, the University of Southern California football players are going to have their turkey. Coach Howard Jones has arranged to have his gridders take a light workout this morning on Bovard Field, and then another one tomorrow to take away any surplus poundage that may be acquired in the big gastronomical event this afternoon.

The Trojans are scheduled to enjoy a complete period of relaxation after this morning's exertions. After the dinner they will attend a downtown showhouse in a body, and then adjourn to the Beverly Hills Hotel. Tomorrow's workout will be merely a warming-up process.

Jones sent the athletes through a hard dummy scrimmage last night, impressing the gridders with the importance of the Cougar game. Coach Babe Hollingbery and his cohorts are scheduled to arrive tomorrow, bent on exterminating the Trojans and getting a crack at the New Year game in the Rose Bowl. With only one defeat chalked against

LINTON SMITH MAY GET POST

Legionnaire Mentioned for Boxing Commission

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27. (Exclusive)—With the possibility after the first of the year, that James Woods's resignation from the State Boxing Commission, which he has offered Gov Young, will be accepted so a representative from Southern California may be named, there are renewed activities on behalf of two residents of Los Angeles.

Gov. Young has made it clear the resignation of Woods has been withheld at his request.

One of the men suggested is Linton H. Smith of Los Angeles. Smith is a former commander of Hollywood post of the American Legion which was represented on the first commission after the law went into effect, by Capt. Streitinger. Smith also is a past president of the General Alumni of U.S.C., president of the University Club of Los Angeles, a director of the Hal Roach studios and a member of the board of governors of the Lo sAngeles Y.M.C.A.

The other man whose name has been mentioned favorably is Dr. Harry Martin, ex-service man, whose strength is said to be largely the backing of the movie interests of the south.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27. (AP)—Five of the foremost unbeaten college football teams hope to have their appetites for the Thanksgiving feast stimulated by victories tomorrow.

All the facts and figures, so far as they can be relied upon, point to decisive triumphs by Pittsburgh over Penn State, Tulane over Louisiana State and Utah over the Utah Aggies.

Tennessee is also a strong favorite to beat Kentucky and keep around the top of the Southern Conference heap but the memory of a scoreless tie with the Wildcats last year may haunt the Volun-

THANKSGIVING FOOTBALL FARE

There are two gridiron struggles on the local Turkey Day football program this afternoon. One features Montana and U.C.L.A. in a Coast Conference game at the Coliseum, starting at 2 p.m., and the o her will see Loyola and Santa Clara in the picture at Wrigley Field. The latter game starts at 1:30. And the boys shown below are two of the stars of their respective teams. Reuben Thoe is one of the best U.C.L.A. halfbacks while Whitey Hoffman, quarterback, is the mainspring of the Loyola offense.

COLISEUM, WRIGLEY FIELD SCENE OF HOLIDAY GAMES

Bruins After Victory Over Grizzly Team

BY FRANK ROCHE

Montana University's Grizzlies and our own U.C.L.A. Bruins furnish the Thanksgiving Day football dish at the Coliseum this afternoon. The game, a regular Coast Conference affair, brings to a close seasonal activities of both squads. Although neither team has shown anything much in their conference battles, today's game is very likely to bring out some very hard-fought football, as both squads will be fighting for sixth place in the Coast standings. Montana, on its season's record, takes the field the favorite, but there is a strong undercurrent around the hills of Westwood that today will be a Bruin day.

Major F. W. Milburn, coach of the Grizzlies, is confident his squad of twenty-five footballers, which arrived here yesterday, will be able to take care of any opposition that "Bunker Bill" Spaulding and his Bruins will have to offer. "We should have beaten Washington State, and I am sure the Bruins are not nearly as strong a ball club," Milburn stated yesterday in discussing the probable outcome of the game today.

The Montana team went through a short workout yesterday afternoon at Zack Farmer's oval and then went on a tour of Hollywood.

Montana has two outstanding stars who will go on parade for local fans today. They are Jimmy Morrow, diminutive quarterback, and Waldo Ekegren, a halfback. Morrow ran 70 yards through California's first string for a touchdown. Against Washington State, the team that faces the Trojans Saturday, he ran a kick-off back 72 yards, being stopped by Schwartz on the 19-yard line. He is said to be the fastest back the Grizzlies have had since "Wild Bill" Kelley's time. Ekegren starred in the California game, and Milburn believes

Loyola Lions Out to Upset Bronco Squad

BY BOB RAY

A fighting Bronco eleven from Santa Clara that made itself famous overnight by upsetting Stanford's mighty Cardinals, 13-7, a couple of Saturdays ago, makes its only appearance of the season in Los Angeles today when it stacks up against the Loyola Lions at Wrigley Field in a Thanksgiving gridiron treat.

The Broncos, coached by Clipper Smith and possessing a powerful line, will be favorites to take the Lions into camp but not without a hard battle that figures to give the customers a lot of thrills. The kick-off is slated for 1:30 o'clock and the game will be over in time for the fans to get home for Thanksgiving Day dinners before the turkey gets cold.

Although Santa Clara admittedly has what the experts consider the better team, the Lions have the psychological edge and are in just the proper mental attitude to battle their heads off for Coach Driver. There is more than a bare possibility of Loyola pulling an upset today.

Today's game marks the first athletic meeting of Loyola and Santa Clara and, in a way, it will be a grudge affair. The Lions claim that Santa Clara always "high-hatted" them, refusing to consider them in the same class, and Loyola enthusiasts would like nothing better than to have their gridders throw the Broncos for a loss.

Coach Smith yesterday announced that his starting backfield would be Hankinson at quarter, Mettler and Miller at the halves and Stockton at full. Mettler is a brilliant passer, two of his passes resulting in Santa Clara's touchdowns against Stanford, and the Lions will have to keep their heads up when he starts heaving the pigskin around today. Stockton is a former Bakersfield High hero, he having helped the Drillers to a State championship some two years ago. The Santa Clara

JOE STECHER CONQUERS PLESTINA IN MAT DUEL

Joe Stecher, the Nebraska body-scissors expert, won his way to a bout with Gus Sonnenberg, heavyweight mat champ, last night at the Olympic Auditorium by beating Marin Plestina, the Chicago "Trust Buster," in two out of three falls. Stecher won the first and the third falls. The final and deciding fall was won in the fast time of 9m. and 11s. with a body lock.

Plestina took the second fall of the match with a reverse arm scissors hold in 7m. 42s. The huge man-mountain clamped on a punishing wristlock which paralyzed Stecher's left arm. Joe finally broke out of it, but his left arm was practically useless and he was easy prey for Plestina's winning hold.

Stecher won the first fall with his deadly body scissors in 17m. 7s. For the first twelve minutes of the bout Plestina had the edge, but the long-legged Joe managed to catch the trust buster in one of his scissors holds and held it for five minutes to finally take the fall.

Dick Daviscourt, San Diego avocado grower, repelled a foreign invasion in the semi-wind-up by beating Guiseppe Mazetti in 26m. and 21s. with a headlock and a reverse body scissors. Mazetti was taking no chances and had his handle-bar moustaches trimmed way down, but there was still enough left for Daviscourt to pull, which he did with much gusto. Mazetti tried hard but he tired early, his huge weight of 230 pounds being too much for him.

Ad Herman threw Al Baffert into the press row where he stayed for twenty seconds, which gave the curtain raiser to Herman. The bout was fast and furious while it lasted. The time on it was twenty-nine minutes.

JAYSEE FIVE WINS

Los Angeles Junior College basketball fives won a double-header last night at Hollywood High by whipping the Wilshire Christian Church cagers, 26-8, and the Motors quintet, 24-8.

STATISTICS SHOW PUNCH OF PURDUE'S BACKFIELD

LAFAYETTE (Ind.) Nov. 27. (AP)—The punch that Purdue's backfield packed in winning the 1929 Western Conference football championship is shown in final statistics on the yardage gained by the "four riveters."

In five Big Ten games the regular Boilermaker backfield, composed of Ralph Welch, Glen Harmeson, Alexander Yunevich and John White, carried the ball from scrimmage a total of 234 times for a gain of 1058 yards, an average of slightly over 4.5 yards per attempt.

Harmeson was called upon to carry the ball ninety times and he gained 468 yards for an average of 5.2 yards. Yunevich was given the ball seventy-seven times, and he gained 322 yards, an average of 4.2 yards. Welch, in sixty-seven tries, totaled 268 yards, an average of four yards per attempt.

More Intersectional Games Played This Year Than Ever Before in Football History

GRID PLAYERS TRAVEL PLENTY

Squads See Many Parts of Country in Jaunts

Harvard Broke Even With Intersectional Rivals

Notre Dame Made Big Sweep in All Directions

BY WALTER TRUMBULL

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—There always is controversy over the value of intersectional football. Those against it say it takes boys from their classes too long, and that it is overemphasis.

Those who favor it contend that many intersectional games require only an overnight trip, and that these serve a broad purpose in bringing boys from different sections into friendly contact, to some extent a form of education in itself.

At any rate, this season has seen a longer list of intersectional games than ever. For the first time Harvard went to Ann Arbor, losing to Michigan. The defeat of Florida by the Crimson left it even in intersectional contests.

Yale lost to Georgia and tied with Maryland, but Georgia lost to New York University, so in its contacts with northern institutions Georgia broke even. Chicago trimmed Princeton and California beat Pennsylvania, so the record of the old big four in intersectional affairs was none too good.

Duke, that North Carolina font of learning, lost to Pittsburgh, Villanova and Boston College. West Virginia lost to Detroit. Nebraska won from Syracuse and lost to Pitt.

The Western Conference on the whole has done pretty well. Wisconsin, for example, beat Colgate — although Colgate trimmed Indiana—Minnesota stopped Vanderbilt and Illinois defeated Army and won from Kansas.

Notre Dame has cleaned up in all directions. The Fighting Irish have victories over Georgia Tech, Navy, Carnegie and Southern California.

This Notre Dame team surely has played a tough schedule. When you add Indiana, Wisconsin, Drake, Northwestern and Army to the opponents just mentioned you conclude that the South Bend youngsters will have put in a full year. If it were not for Rockne's system of playing his reserves—and if he didn't have reserves of fine quality—no team could stand that schedule, especially with all the games played away from home.

One thing sure is that Rockne has a great line. You don't find many sturdier forwards than Moynihan, Cannon, Law and Twomey. One critic who has followed football many years said:

"Pick your all-star line and I'll bet you the Notre Dame line will outplay it."

That was one of those mind bets, because the thing can not be proved, but he might not have been so terribly wrong at that. Rockne certainly has developed grand linemen and they play as a team.

To get back to intersectional contests, New York University of its stuff in beating Missouri and Georgia, and Marquette at least got a fifty-fifty break by trimming Boston College and losing to Holy Cross. Michigan State seemed richer in football crops than North Carolina State.

All of which proves nothing. The same football with ordinary variations now is played North, South, East and West. Results of intersectional games depend upon material and the breaks.

You might take Southern California, California and Stanford from the Coast, Tennessee, Vanderbilt and Tulane from the South. Notre Dame, Minnesota and Purdue from the Middle west, and Pittsburgh and a couple of other teams from the East, play them in a round robin and have small chance to predict the winner.

The number of ties this season has been remarkable. West Virginia, for instance, tied Duquesne, Fordham and Georgetown. Southern Methodist tied Howard Payne, Texas and Nebraska. Nebraska tied Missouri and Oklahoma.

It looks as if some of these teams should develop a really good drop or place-picker. There is nothing like a proficient booter for breaking a tie.

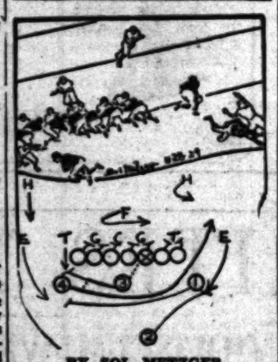
COMPTON GALLOPERS RUIN BRUIN RUNNERS

Coach Herschel Smith's Compton Junior College cross-country team opened its 1929 season auspiciously yesterday when they defeated the U.C.L.A. leather-lungers, 10-11, in a meet held on the Westwood campus. Smith of the Bruins led the harriers to the tape, followed closely by Wally Minch of Compton. Minch won the mile run in the Southern California and State track meets two years ago and is capable of turning the four laps in 4m. 30s. Capt. Gamboa of Compton finished third, McNey of U.C.L.A., fourth, and Bonham of Compton, fifth. The time was 13m. 20s. for the three-mile course.

YOUNG SPORT UPSETS ROBLETO AT PASADENA

Young Sport, who substituted for Freddie Imperial, when the flashy fighter was unable to go to the post at the Pasadena Arena last night, upset the dope by taking an eight-round decision over Canto Robleto, the Crown City favorite, in the main event of Morrie Cohan's program. Leonard Rahming beat Johnny Jordan in the semi-wind-up. Stutts Houck outpointed Ray Hadalada in the special event. Andy Dumler beat Dewey Massey over four rounds. Louis Nendina defeated Peter Pina in the opening bout.

Pitt Gains on Famous Trick



BY SOL METZGER

Jimmy De Hart, Duke coach and former Pitt all-American back, told me in answer to my question, "What kind of passes is Pitt using this fall?" that if Coach Sutherland used any with the powerful and fast material he had he ought to get shot. Pitt does pass, but its football policy is to get a runner loose in the open past the line of scrimmage. Pitt's scores are rarely made by long advances. They come from long runs and from any and all parts of the field.

One of the pet Pitt plays is so simple that it works like a charm. Ball is passed to back No. 3, who runs to his left and gives it to No. 4, crossing to the right. As No. 4 passes on the inside of No. 1, he goes through all the motions of handing the ball to No. 1. But he doesn't. He just keeps on going and if Hugo Bezdek's Penn State team isn't on the job when this play is used No. 4 will never stop until he's behind State's goal. Of course back No. 2 removes the defensive left end to prevent him stopping No. 4.

UNDEFEATED SQUADS PLAY

teers when they dash on the gridiron at Lexington.

St. Mary's, the fifth unbeaten outfit, entertains the strong University of Oregon eleven at San Francisco in the outstanding holiday battle on the Pacific Coast. St. Mary's has not even been scored on so far, being checked only by California in a scoreless tie, but figures to be pressed to gain any decided edge over the Webfooters from the North.

Here are the records these five undefeated teams seek to embellish:

	W.	T.	Pts.	O.P.
Tennessee	8	0	270	13
Tulane	8	0	258	45
Pittsburgh	8	0	257	36
Utah	6	0	183	16
St. Mary's	7	1	167	0

The games involving these teams are the most important, so far as the somewhat debatable claims to national championship honors are concerned, but traditional contests occupy the major part of the Thanksgiving program and will attract equally as keen interest.

There is traditional rivalry as well as title interest in such a game as Pittsburgh-Penn State, which may drawn close to 70,000 to the Hugh Pitt Stadium, but the flavor of a long-standing feud will attract around 75,000 to the Pennsylvania-Cornell contest at Franklin Field. These two games are the high spots of an eastern holiday slate also including Colgate-Brown at Providence in the morning, Columbia-Syracuse at New York; New York University-Carnegie at the Yankee Stadium and West

At the Yankee Stadium and West Virginia-Washington and Jefferson at Morgantown, W. Va.

Penn beat Cornell, 49 to 0, last Thanksgiving Day, but the Quakers may be fortunate to have any kind of a margin this year, so marked has been the improvement of the Ithacans. Colgate, Syracuse, New York and West Virginia are favorites of a varying sort in the other encounters.

The Big Six championship will be settled in Nebraska's favor if the Huskers do the expected and beat Iowa State. Missouri and Oklahoma meanwhile clash at Columbia, while Kansas Aggies step out of the conference to tackle the Marquette eleven at Milwaukee.

The big game of the week in the Southwestern Conference is slated for Saturday, between Texas Christian and Southern Methodist, but the holiday fare features Texas against A. & M. as well as Arkansas against Oklahoma Aggies.

VENICE BABES TRIP SANTA MONICA, 14-7

MINNESOTA SEKS COAST GRID GAME

CHICAGO, Nov. 27. (AP)—With Iowa's readmission to the conference doubtful, Big Ten football coaches and athletic directors today were angling for attractive home intersectional games for their 1930 schedule.

Dick Hanley of Northwestern was in the East, seeking a home game with either Columbia or the Navy; Minnesota was reported after a game at Minneapolis with one of the stronger teams in the Pacific Coast Conference, while other Big Ten members were known to be sounding out strong teams in the East, South and West.

K.O. CHRISTNER ARRIVES

Akron Heavy Meets Kennedy at Olympic Tuesday; Mack, Hess Signed for December 10

K. O. Christner, Ohio's crack heavyweight, who a couple of years ago scrambled Tex Rickard's tournament by knocking out Knute Hansen, arrived here yesterday. He came to Los Angeles from Boston, where he fought Jim Maloney last week.

Les Kennedy, slated to box Christner next Tuesday at the Olympic, worked out yesterday at the Manhattan gymnasium. The big cowboy seems to be greatly improved since he was last seen here.

K.O. CHRISTNER

Herb White has turned down an offer of $30,000 for Kennedy's contract. A group of Chicago men headed by Eddie Long want to buy the Cowboy's contract.

Kennedy will remain here, however, and if he beats Christner, may box Frankie Campbell around the first of the year. Kennedy has yet to face a heavyweight with Christner's rating.

Tom Lennon, who brought Christner here, doesn't claim to have a champion, but says that old K.O. is a great slambang attraction any place they go. He gets more offers for matches than any of them.

Christner will start work today. He weighs around 200 pounds and is a squarish sort of looking fellow on the order of old Jim Flynn.

Matchmaker Wad Wadhams yesterday signed Eddie Mack and Goldie Hess to box the top bout at the club on December 10. This is one of the most popular matches made around here for a long time.

They mixed before a turn-away crowd a couple months ago, Mack getting the decision by less than a shade in a great fight.

Mack's right shoulder, injured when he was training to fight Ignacio Fernandez and bruised again Tuesday night when he beat Tod Morgan, proved to be okay under the X-ray. The broken bone is well knitted, but still tender.

The collegian suffered intense pain after the second round, when one of Morgan's punches fell short and crashed onto his shoulder. Mack and Hess will box at 133 pounds, it was announced.

Santiago Zorilla, who meets Joey Sangor on December 17, left for the springs for a few days. Sangor has started light work. He doesn't expect to weigh over 130 pounds for the Panamanian.

Sangor is the boy who sold out the Olympic half a dozen times straight a few years ago, win or lose. All of his bouts are sensational. He looks stronger than ever in the new division.

JACK SLAGER KAYOES CONDOR IN BEACH GO

Jack Slager won on a technical knockout in the second round over Frankie Condor in the main event at the Ocean Park Arena last night. Wes DeBoynes stopped Oliver Cashin in the third round of the semi-wind-up. Johnny Trevis took a two-round technical knockout decision over Melso Wilkins in the special event. Steve Hayden and Sammy Baker battled to a four-round draw. George Gamadge beat Joe Solvidar in the curtain-raiser.

MERCURY FIVE MEETS SOUTHWESTERN TEAM

The Los Angeles Athletic Club basketball team will snap into action on the home court tomorrow night against the quintet from Southwestern University in a practice game. Coach F. P. Twogood of the Mercuries plans to start off with "Nip" McHose and "Curly" Raridon, forwards; "Rags" Wilcox, center, and Tommy Lewis and Herb Gage, guards. Others who will play are Richter, O'Farrell, Mann, Delmas, Gale, Hoesse and Braemer.

YOUNG WILLS DISQUALIFIED

OAKLAND, Nov. 27. (AP)—Johnny Benedetti, San Jose welterweight, won in the seventh round from Young Harry Wills of San Diego tonight when Referee Eddie Wagner disqualified the negro for foul tactics. Wagner warned Wills repeatedly for hitting in the breakaway and because of unsportsmanlike methods in the clinches.

Chappelle to Lead Tigers Next Season

Occidental's championship football squad gathered together again yesterday on the Eagle Rock campus and elected Jerry Chappelle as the 1930 gridiron captain. Nineteen of the recently announced lettermen on the squad participated in the election in which Bud Collier, plunging half, was the only other candidate in the race. Chappelle played a bang-up game at center for the Tigers during the season.

Thirteen of the nineteen lettermen who will receive the varsity "O" and a gold football award will return next year and include Captain-elect Chappelle, centeg; Dick Glover, Howard Elliott, Kenny Howe and Stony Johnson, halves; Howard Marsh, Ed Epinnette, Dave Snedden, Howard Angst, Ben Hilliard, Larry Green and Larry Meyers, linemen, and Bud Collier, half.

The players lost via graduation are Glenn Roselle, half; Ed Beebe, tackle; Charles Hibbitts, guard; Ed Carrey, end, Wendall Smith and Allan De Hoag, captain, ends.

Kid Chocolate Stops O'Dowd

Gaels, Tulane Tilt Proposed

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Nov. 27. (AP)—Phoenix civic organizations today started a movement to bring St. Mary's College and Tulane University to Phoenix for a post-season football clash on Christmas Day in the event the Gaels are not selected for this year's Rose Bowl tourney.

Such a game, it was said, would draw a crowd of at least 10,000. A sufficient guarantee was said to have been posted to bring the teams here.

MUIR TECH LIGHTIES MAUL MONROVIA, 7-0

Muir Tech High's lightweights, in their final game of the season, won, 7-0, over the Monrovia High Wildcats yesterday at Monrovia. The Terriors tallied in the first quarter. The line-ups:

Monrovia.		Muir Tech.

PREP MIDWINTER NET PLAY AT FULLERTON

The annual midwinter interscholastic tennis championship will be decided at Fullerton Union High School tomorrow and Saturday, when prep racket wielders of the Southland institutions vie for singles honors in the boys' and girls' divisions. Drawings in both of the events will be made this afternoon and announced tomorrow morning by T. H. Lodge, Fullerton High School official in charge. Jack Tidball at Hollywood and Billy Doeg of Santa Monica are among the outstanding candidates for singles laurels.

PREPS TO CLASH TODAY

Seven Thanksgiving Day Games Listed; Alhambra and South Pasadena in Feature

BY IRVING ECKHOFF

Fourteen Southern California prep elevens will mix their turkey with football today in seven special Thanksgiving Day contests. All of the games are out of town.

The feature game of the day will find the ancient rivals, the Alhambra Moors and the South Pasadena Tigers meeting in their annual classic on the Moors' field. Three Foothill League contests are on today's slate, Fullerton at Whittier, Monrovia at Muir Tech and Hoover at Burbank.

The three other battles will find St. Augustine High of San Diego traveling to Santa Barbara, Compton at Pomona and Banning High, champs of the Riverside County League, meeting Bonita, winner of the Tri-County League, in a semi-final play-off game for the minor league Southern California C.I.F. football championship.

The winner of the Bonita-Banning affair will meet the champion of the Orange County League, which appears to be Orange High, as Brea-Olinda, who was tied with the Orangemen, had to forfeit all their games yesterday. "Shorty" Smith, the Brea coach, used an ineligible man all season and so the Oilers were counted out of the running.

At present prep interest is centered around the C.I.F. play-off, which gets under way again on December 7. On that date, Walter Herreid's Huntington Park Spartans will take on the powerful Long Beach Jackrabbits in one-half of the semi-finals while Santa Barbara's Golden Tornado meets one of the Foothill League elevens in the other.

Both Muir Tech and Fullerton are tied for first place in the Foothill League, but there is some question of either one of them going into the play-off. However, the Whittier Poets want to get into the swim and may do so if both Tech and the Indians decide to turn in their uniforms for the season.

The Long Beach-Huntington Park game will most likely be played at Wrigley Field. At present negotiations are under way to land the ball park for the contest. The site of the other game is also up in the air.

The finals, which are scheduled for December 14, the same date as the Carnegie Tech-Trojan battle, is also looking for a home. The game may be staged at Wrigley Field but just how prep officials expect to draw against the Trojan encounter hasn't been worked out as yet.

Grid Tactics Aid to Jones

BY SOL METZGER

Ask a football coach why Notre Dame, Pitt, Dartmouth and Southern California have winning teams. Nine out of ten times he'll tell you it is due to the players' mastery of fundamentals and timing.

Ask a golf instructor why Bobby Jones has had a wide margin over the field these past six years. He'll give you a like answer.

Compare Jones's swing to that of any of the other stars. You'll soon find differences. First, the ease with which he plays his shots. Second, the perfect timing. Third, the compactness of his swing. Others have mastered the fundamentals but few have the sound, compact swing that Bobby exhibits. Jones's arms are close to his body all through the swing and his legs much closer together than Hagen's, Johnston's or Farrell's. Pivoting becomes more natural as a result and the margin of error considerably less. Spread your legs or reach for the ball in driving and you'll soon see that lack of compactness causes wildness.

Enjoy the thrill of long, straight drives. Write Sol Metzger, care of The Times, for free leaflet on Driving. Inclose stamped, addressed envelope.

ROCKNE AGAIN BANS CONTEST

spirits as high and determined as they appeared tonight among the ranks of the Ramblers. Their blocking was timely, their passes fast and precise and their defense against Army plays good.

"We are ready for anything the Army's got," said Coach Knute Rockne. "I haven't been able to watch my boys this week, but I have talked to most of them and they haven't slackened a bit despite their terrific schedule."

The team, thirty-six strong, will shove off from New York tomorrow morning, followed by a special train carrying South Bend and Notre Dame rooters. They will be billeted at the Westchester Country Club at Rye, N. Y., Friday night and will come to New York City only a few hours before game time.

Coach Rockne, slowly recovering from a blood clot in his right leg, will not accompany the team.

GARFIELD HARRIERS GALLOP TO VICTORY

The old axiom, "There is strength in numbers," was vividly impressed upon the minds of the cross-country runners representing Glendale Junior College and Manual Arts High School, after a meet with Coach Herb Morey's Garfield Bulldogs on the Griffith Park course yesterday. The final score read like this: Garfield, 25; Manual Arts, 32; Glendale J. C., 137 points.

Gardner of Glendale was the first man to cross the finish line, followed closely by Baker and Rice of Garfield. Sisson of Glendale was fourth and Tatar, also of Garfield High, fifth. Manual's first man in was Satterfield, who was sixth. The score tells the rest of the story. After placing two men in the first five the Glendale team got tied up in the traffic, their third man finishing in thirty-sixth place. Manual was never in the race, or at least not for long, as Garfield placed twenty-five men ahead of their first five.

INJURED STARS REJOIN MAGYAR SOCCER TEAM

After a midseason slump due to injuries the Magyar soccer football club of the City League is regaining strength and Manager Dosa will again have a capable line-up to shoot against Hollywood in Sunday's feature game at Loyola Field. Johnny Hodert, a star from last year, has rejoined the team and Charlie Taylor, a Long Beach star, has also been added.

The Hollywood - Magyar game will be played at 3 o'clock at Loyola Sunday, with Richfield and Scots clashing at 1 o'clock. At Tournament Park, Pasadena, the first game will be between the high-scoring Vikings and the Spanish Americans while the L.A.A.C. Mercuries meet Pasadena A.C.C. at 3 o'clock.

OXY TIGERS START CAGE WORK MONDAY

Basketball activities at Occidental College will open with the initial practice session next Monday afternoon at Alumni gym, announced Ed Kienholz, popular Tiger mentor, yesterday. A preliminary call yesterday witnessed thirty candidates for the varsity and an equal number for the freshman team. Suits will be issued Monday. Kienholz has announced intentions of developing two first teams which will function equally successfully. Six letter-men are returning for the varsity headed by Captain - elect Ed Beebe.

O'DONNELL IN LUCKY DRAW

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27. (AP)—Pablo Dano, flashy Filipino flyweight, and Johnny O'Donnell, of Denver, Colo., boxed ten rounds to a draw tonight in the main event at National Hall. The decision was not a popular one as the fans thought the diminutive Filipino earned an easy decision.

JOHNNY LAMAR WINS

WATSONVILLE, Nov. 27. (AP)—Johnny Lamar, Los Angeles lightweight, won a ten-round decision from Battling Bulahan, Filipino, in the main event tonight at the Watsonville Athletic Club.

RABBIT PUNCHES

BY PAUL LOWRY

TROJANS ARE DUE

"WHAT'S the idea?" writes W.F.L. "of the agitation to have Southern California play the New Year's Day game. The Bears of Berkeley beat the Trojans, 15 to 7, and already have indicated a willingness to represent the West. Why bother about the Trojans? Why start that old bleat again about a local team playing at Pasadena?"

Well, isn't W.F.L. the unbiased soul. Wonder if he ever heard of the 21-to-6 beating Stanford handed California last Saturday and the 7-to-0 whitewash hung on Stanford by the Trojans.

That argument, of course, is as broad as it is long, but W.F.L. seems to be one of those important persons who would hand the New Year's game to California or Stanford just on general principles.

As for the bleat to have a local team perform at Pasadena let's scan the situation in the past. Twelve college games have been played in the Tournament of Roses classic with the following "big three" appearances:

California—Three.

Stanford—Three.

Southern California—One.

Southern California had a better record than California last year, but California played the New Year's Day game.

Southern California had a better record than Stanford the year previous, but Stanford played the New Year's Day game.

I rise to a point of order to ask W.F.L. if the agitation has not been the other way around—against Southern California rather than for it to play the New Year's Day game.

And I rise to ask further if W.F.L. doesn't believe the Trojans are about due for a new deal.

THE BEST OFFENSE

I WOULD point out to W.F.L. that Southern California has a better offensive record than either Stanford or California this year, and I'm not talking about those big scores over the second-rate teams either.

I mean that in the three games of major conflict in this State—Stanford vs. Southern California, California vs. Southern California and Stanford vs. California—the Trojans have the yardage statistics in their favor.

Look them over, W.F.L., and judge for yourself:

Southern California-Stanford game: Southern California 278 yards from scrimmage, 45 yards from passes, total 323 yards. Stanford 211 yards from scrimmage, 42 yards from passes, total 253 yards.

California-Southern California game: California 273 yards from scrimmage, 40 yards from passes, total 313 yards. Southern California 219 yards from scrimmage, 62 yards from passes, total 281 yards.

Stanford-California game: Stanford 248 yards from scrimmage, 54 yards from passes, total 302 yards. California 97 yards from scrimmage, 71 yards from passes, total 168 yards.

Total from scrimmage and passes (three games:)

Southern California, 604 yards.

Stanford, 556 yards.

California, 471 yards.

NOTHING TO WORRY ABOUT

IT IS interesting to note the alacrity with which teams on the Coast, in the Middle West, East and South have climbed on the New Year's Day bandwagon the past few days.

It appears that the Tournament of Roses Association problem is softer than usual.

Notre Dame, apparently out of the picture because of its stricken coach, Knute Rockne, now has an ear cocked to an invitation, it is reported.

Purdue, champion of the "Big Ten," has the itch.

Pittsburgh, king of the East, is ready for the bid.

Tulane and other of the southern schools, have material galore on sports desks to prove their worth.

Nope, there's nothing to it, Mr. C. Hal Reynolds. Just name your western team, and you can have your pick of the opponent.

KENNEDY STEALS SHOW

LIEUT. JACK KENNEDY, referee of the Morgan-Mack bout at the Olympic the other night, was responsible for the two main features of the evening.

One was his famous speech declaring there would be no draw regardless of how the fight went.

The other was the manner in which he hoisted Eddie Mack's hand at the conclusion of the bout.

The leftenant tried to stick Mack's right-hand so far aloft that he darned near tore the arm from its socket.

GRIZZLIES AND BRUINS TANGLE

he is one of the best players on the Coast.

Bill Spaulding let the Bruin team rest up yesterday. The Westwood boys had a strenuous practice session on Monday and they needed a little relaxation, Spaulding stated.

The Bruin line will be outweighed about six pounds, but the backfield will measure up about the same. Cliff Simpson, Ruben Thoe, Jerry Russom and Norm Duncan will start for the Bruins in the backfield. This is a light combination, and it means that the local team is going in for a sharp, speedy attack. Morrow, Ekegren, Carpenter and Cox will do the ball toting for the invaders.

Montana has not won a Coast Conference game since 1926. The Bruins, in their second year under the "big top," have as yet to break through on the winning side of the ledger. So you see, today's game presents a grand and glorious opportunity for Spaulding's football pupils.

The action starts at 2 p.m.

PUCK FOES EMBROILED AT GARDEN

San Francisco, Hollywood Meet at Winter Garden in League Contest

Offensive hockey of the type popular with the fans will be corked with fury tonight when Arthur Guy Empey's Hollywood millionaires come to grips with rival San Francisco Tigers in California Hockey League clash at the Winter Garden. Ice Game time is 8:30 p.m.

This game marks the first appearance here this season of the Tigers, who have been touted as they loom as one of the strongest teams to grace the wooden since hockey became a winter sport.

The Tigers have all sorts of attacking power both in the forwards and reserves and they do not lack for defense, with Lloyd Cook and Jack Kinsley ready to rough it with anyone who wants to try regards with that.

On the offense the Tigers have plenty of talent in Ganton Scott, and such players as Lee Cook, the pivot center; Art Gibson, Shiner Riley and Rube Ellis, in addition to three newcomers, Spencer, McLennan and McKenzie.

The Tigers have been bolstered by Benny Ward, former Hollywood player, who changed uniforms in the trade which sent Frankie Harris to the Millionaires. Ward should prove of great help defensively.

Empey, owner of the Millionaires, expects soon to come to terms with Frank Shields, wing, from St. Louis, who has been a holdout. Lee Shields responds and Harold [illegible] into the line-up the Millionaires are going to be hard to stop.

The Millionaires have the services with "Wolf" Peltier, "Pug" Bonnicomer, "Peaches" Headley, Ray and Dan Carrigan, Dale Shaw, Harold Lanksbury, Joe Josephs and Jack Maher.

Valley Club Pucks Face Stationites

A Thanksgiving celebration should act as a dessert to the turkey repasts of the fans will be dished up at the Palais de Glace rink tonight, when "Big John" Arrowhead Valley Club pucksters tangle with Hector Frosik and his Van Fleet-Durkee sextet.

The Arrowheads will have Gene Cooper, their fast-skating forward back on the roster tonight, a player has been on the shelf for shortly after the start of the season due to a pair of badly bruised legs and he has been missed. Teaming along with "Frenchy" Hebert will be Dave Patrick, he is expected to complete a fast-passing combination that will bombard the Van Fleet-Durkee net from first whistle to last.

Tom Howard, the veteran defenseman is proving the mainstay of the Station Men. His stick handling of the offensive has been on a par with the best in the amateur ranks and his defensive work is the talk of the season. The game tonight will begin promptly at 8:30 o'clock.

FAIRFAX CAGERS IN WIN OVER BELMONT

Fairfax High, winner of the Junior League basketball pennant for the past two years, got off to a good start yesterday afternoon by trimming Coach Bushler's Belmont five, 25-13, in a fast game played at Fairfax.

HECTOR KNOCKS OUT AUERBACH IN SECOND

Mike Hector, ex-middleweight champion of the Navy, knocked out Herman Auerbach in the second round of the ten-round main event at Wilmington, last night. The finishing blow was a terrific right cross to the heart, which the game Auerbach was unable to weather.

Sammy James won the six-round semi-wind-up from Johnny Cliff after six rounds of fast work. Cliff Burrier and Warren Fox went four rounds to a draw in the second bout of the evening, and Kid Appleby knocked out Jean Arnold in the curtain-raiser.

MAHAN GETS BID TO MIX WITH McLARNIN

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Nov. 27. (AP)—Fred Winsor, manager of Pete Mahan, Arizona deaf mute welterweight, today exhibited a telegram from Tom McArdle, matchmaker for the New York Madison Square Garden, offering Mahan a ten-round battle with Jimmy McLarnin for a December date.

Mahan is matched to meet Joe Anderson in San Francisco December 11, but Winsor said he would ask the Bay District promoter to set the date back in order to fulfill the New York match.

FESSENDEN WINS TITLE

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 27. (AP)—Ralph Fessenden of Madison, Wis., today won the national American three-cushion billiard championship by defeating M. O. Wallgren of Seattle, Wash., 900 to 845, in a thirty-inning match. Wallgren, who took the title a month ago, and Fessenden played sixty-nine innings.

Farrell and Sarazen Arrive to Play in National Professional Golf Championship

FAMOUS "PROS" PAIRED FOR QUALIFYING ROUND

Leo Diegel Equals Course Record at Hillcrest Again With 65; Low Thirty-two Qualify

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

"Wally" Johnny Farrell, 1928 national open champion, and one of America's most popular golfers, arrived yesterday to battle for the professional championship of the Hillcrest Country Club next week.

[illegible] dropped off the Union Pacific Sunset Limited yesterday in company with George McLean, former eastern open champion; Henry Ciuci, New England champion; Tom Kerrigan, who finished third in the British open championship of 1921, and Johnny Golden, New Jersey open champion; Golden and Farrell were members of the United States Ryder Cup team of this year.

[illegible] was an busy as a bee yesterday, and Farrell was not only unlikely to arrive. Gene Sarazen, national open champion of 1922 and twice holder of the "pro" title, came direct to Los Angeles on his arrival from Hawaii, where he played in the island open.

[illegible] paired with Walter Hagen yesterday in a friendly golfing match with Leo Diegel and Al Espinosa. Leo equaled his course record of 65, which was good enough to trim his Hillcrest competitors, Sarazen had an approximate 70, while Hagen and Smith were [illegible] 75's.

[illegible] may go east again after the P.G.A. championship, but said [illegible] that he would return to play in the Los Angeles $10,000 open and the Agua Caliente tournament in January.

HILLCREST QUIETER

[illegible] will be a bit quieter over the week-end, as many famous stars [illegible] in the Berkeley $4000 golf [illegible] starts today. That [illegible] wind up Saturday, [illegible] and the boys will then [illegible] westward.

[illegible] those who are playing in the Berkeley event are Al [illegible], runner-up in both the U.S. tournament and match-play tangle with Horton Smith, the Joplin [illegible]; Tommy Armour, 1927 [illegible] open champion; Fred [illegible] of Hillcrest, Southern [illegible] open champion, and [illegible] former professional [illegible] Hollywood Country Club.

[illegible] and starting times for the [illegible] qualifying round on [illegible] were announced yesterday.

"PROS" PAIRED

[illegible] the Southland golf fans [illegible] a glimpse of their favorite [illegible] professionals have been [illegible] and a feature three-[illegible] will be starting every half [illegible]

[illegible] o'clock and again at 12:30, [illegible] Sarazen and Harry Cooper [illegible] of Smith, Mehlhorn and [illegible] play at 9:30 and 1; Hagen, [illegible] and Jimmy Thomson, [illegible] of the 1928 national open at [illegible] Park, play at 10 and 1:30 [illegible]

[illegible] will be made up of the defending champion, Diegel, Sarazen and Ciuci, who play at 10:30 and 2.

HAGEN SHINES

With an entry of sixty-eight, only thirty-two of that number will qualify for the match play, which starts Tuesday.

Diegel returned from his trip to San Francisco with word that Hagen played the greatest round of the past ten years, when he shot a 65 to shatter the course record at Castlewood. Leo admitted that Hagen's golf was a bit better than his, and that he took a trimming.

The national pro champion, however, is playing beautiful golf in practice, and will be hard to dethrone. Leo is "cocky," and has all the confidence in the world in his game.

Hillcrest is in excellent shape for the tournament, although the greens are a bit slick after these cool nights, and the pros are going to find their greatest trouble in putting.

BERKELEY OPEN PLAY STARTS TODAY

BERKELEY, Nov. 27. (AP)—Leading golf professionals of the country will tee off here tomorrow at the Berkeley Country Club course in the $5000 Berkeley open championship, first of its kind in the bay section.

The seventy-two-hole medal play will extend over three days, with eighteen-hole rounds tomorrow and Friday. Approximately 190 professionals and amateurs will get under way tomorrow.

The entry list includes Tom Armour, Gene Sarazen, former national open champions; Horton Smith of Joplin, Mo.; Bobby Cruickshank, Ed Dudley, Concord Country Club; Concordville, Pa.; the Espinosa brothers, Abe and Al of Chicago; William Mehlhorn, unattached; Craig Wood, Belleville, N. J., winner of the recent Honolulu open; Larry Montes of Manila, open champion of the Philippine Islands; Alex Bell, Oahu Country Club, Honolulu; John McHugh, San Francisco, former California amateur champion, and C. M. "Mike" Price, University of California football coach.

CHUCK WARD WINS IN BRENTWOOD EVENT

Charles (Chuck) Ward, Brentwood's diminutive star, annexed the match play against par event over the Brentwood course yesterday, 1 down to perfect figures.

Freddie Tongue announced the following winners in other classes: Class B, C. W. Hall, 3 up; Class C, C. W. Canfield, 1 up, and H. T. Denell, 1 up.

"TURKEY DAY" EVENTS FEATURED TODAY

Special Thanksgiving Day tournaments will be featured by many clubs today, with flag tournaments, sweepstakes and match play against par the most popular.

YANKEES BUY HURLER

ST. PAUL (Minn.) Nov. 27. (AP)—Americus Polli, leading pitcher in the American Association last year with twenty-two victories, has been sold to the New York American League baseball club. Polli is a righthander.

DEMPSEY PUTS OVER BOXING CARD UNTIL AFTER HOLIDAYS

CHICAGO, Nov. 27. (AP)—Jack Dempsey decided today to suspend promoting boxing shows at the Chicago Coliseum until after the holidays. He canceled his date for November 30 and his next venture will be on January 3.

The former world's heavyweight champion dropped $7025 from his personal bank roll last night trying to raise funds to enable him to become a Santa Claus for poor children at Christmas.

The public failed to become interested in his program of eight bouts involving a flock of new heavyweight prospects, all of them full of fight, but with no appeal at the box office.

CANADIAN CHAMPION TO MEET TOWNSEND

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Nov. 27. (AP) Al Foreman, lightweight boxing champion of Canada, and Billy Townsend, flashy Vancouver fighter, have been matched to box for the title here December 13. Foreman is to receive a $2500 guarantee with a privilege of a 30 per cent cut of the gate, while Townsend will receive 27½ per cent.

TROJANS WILL FEAST TODAY

END OF TRAIL

The Cougar game will be the last conference battle for no less than nine of Jones's more or less first-string performers. An entire line consisting of Tappaan and Steponovitch at ends; Hoff and Anthony, tackles; Galloway and Barragar, guards, and Dye, center, will be through this year, while Saunders and Edelson will be missing from next year's backfield.

Jones will have plenty of backs next season, and Saunders and Edelson will not be too hard to replace, although they naturally will be missed. But the loss of Tappaan, Anthony and Galloway will be particularly hard.

All three have been varsity performers for three years. Tappaan, playing at end, has been more in the spotlight than either Galloway or Anthony, but the latter two have been just as effective in their respective duties.

Anthony never has been a flashy tackle, as was Jess Hibbs, but he undoubtedly is the most consistent performer in his position on the Coast this year.

Galloway, in his job at standing guard, played more minutes than any other Trojan last year and probably will hold that honor this season. Bulky and about as movable as Gibraltar, he has displayed a lot of improvement this year and has more than done everything Jones has asked of him. In fact, the Trojan mentor expected Jess Shaw to hold down the standing guard position this year, but Galloway has consistently turned in such remarkable efforts that he hasn't been displaced.

Steponovitch has been laid up ever since the Washington game and Arbelbide has filled in successfully. Bob Hall will be back to fill in at tackle in place of Hoff, or Anthony, if he is shifted, as is expected. John Baker, a sophomore, will be back to perform at running guard and Stan Williamson, who has alternated with Dye all year, will be back at center.

THREE BACK

Apsit has been Edelson's understudy for two years and Duffield, with two seasons' experience behind him, ought to be ready for a first-string job next season. Moses and Musick and Pinckert will all be back.

Jones intimated last night that he would start Tappaan and Arbelbide at ends; Hall and Anthony, tackles; Galloway and Baker, guards; Dye, center, Saunders, quarterback; Edelson and Pinckert, halfbacks, and Shaver, fullback. With the exception of Saunders and Shaver, this is the same team that started against Idaho.

UNIVERSITY UPSETS GARFIELD FIVE, 29-25

Showing surprising strength that is likely to prove troublesome to other schools in the Minor City League, the university basketball quintet opened their 1929 casaba season with a sizzling 29-to-25 victory over Coach Arthur Fitzmorris's Garfield Bulldogs.

The Garfield lightweights won the preliminary game after a close skirmish with the Warrior babes, 11 to 8. The Bullpups led all the way, University being held scoreless during the first half. Gonzales of Garfield, and Evans of University appeared to be the best men on the floor.

The line-ups:

Garfield.		University.
Gonzales (4)	F.	Rivas (2)
Logrina (2)	F.	Evans (6)
Johnson (2)	C.
Barnhart (3)	G.	Doll

CATHEDRAL TEAM WINS

Six points scored in the third quarter by Gerardia, Cathedral fullback, was enough to win for the Cathedral eleven over St. Agnes High yesterday, the final score being 6-0.

INJURED DRIVERS ENTER LEGION SPEEDWAY RACE

Two drivers who had miraculous escapes as a result of smash-ups at the American Legion Speedway last Sunday afternoon announced yesterday that they will be ready to drive December 8 at the Alhambra Boulevard track, when another program is held.

E. C. Woodford, who sustained only minor cuts and bruises when his car, No. 43, was demolished when it took out a piece of fence in the north turn, laughed at his narrow escape yesterday.

"A wreck or so can't buffalo me," said the pilot, "I'll be back just as soon as I have a car ready."

Bill Heisler, the Hawthorne daredevil, succeeded in climbing out of his stalled No. 9 on the same north bend and scampering to safety after his machine had stopped with a broken wheel. Heisler stated yesterday that the mount will be in good shape for the forthcoming program at the Legion oval and that he would be out "with bells on" to tool it.

TUG-O-WAR CARNIVAL PLANNED AT OLYMPIC

Boxers and wrestlers will have opposition during the first week in January, when the tug-of-war moves into the Olympic for a five-day pullfest.

The event was announced yesterday by the club as a certainty. First prize will be $1000. There will be other prizes.

Eliminations start on January 2 and the finalists will meet on the night of the 6th. Teams may have to tug two and three times an evening the same as contestants in an amateur boxing tournament.

Large manufacturing and industrial concerns are furnishing the teams. Each team of ten men will be limited to 2000 pounds gross weight.

Over fifty teams are expected to compete. Entries are now being taken at the Olympic.

KLICK MAY BE PICKED TO DEFEAT FERNANDEZ

Much to the surprise of some of the local fistic experts, Frankie Klick of San Francisco is likely to enter the ring a favorite over Ignacio Fernandez tomorrow night at the Hollywood Legion Stadium. Klick is making his first appearance in a Southland ring, but despite the fact that the local bugs have not seen him in action, his reputation has been so good in the north that he is being picked to beat the Filipino. Fernandez, however, has yet to taste defeat at Hollywood and he has a lot of the wise fistic boys stringing with him to chalk up another win.

Klick, if he gets over the Filipino, will be in line for some real good shots. The San Francisco boy is hailed as a great infighter and his ballyhoo artists declare he will stop Fernandez. The Filipino, on the other hand, is a real sharp hitter in close and he may turn the tables on Klick in that department of the game.

Mike Waters and Leonard Bennett clash in the semi-wind-up. Waters has not been going uphill lately, but he is still a very rugged fighter and is likely to give Bennett a good deal of trouble. Bennett won his last Hollywood fight via the kayo route. Paul Drake and George Baruch clash in the special event.

HOOVER NOSES OUT BURBANK BABES, 20-13

Hoover High's lightweight eleven smashed out three touchdowns in the third quarter of their game with the Burbank babes yesterday afternoon at Glendale to win by the close score of 20-13. Burbank scored twice in the last period. The Hoover Class C eleven also won from the Burbank midgets, the score being 24-0. The line-ups:

A CHUCKLE FOR EVERYBODY

THE SON OF TARZAN

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Their African expedition successfully ended, the officers and scientists, filled with compassion for the pitiful wreck of a man they had rescued from the jungle, gave Paulvitch money and wished him and his Ajax good luck. Back in civilization, the Russian had his hands full with the ape. Each new face must be carefully scrutinized, much to the horror of many of his victims. In London, Paulvitch took his prize to a famous animal trainer.

This man, much impressed with the ape's intelligence, agreed to train him for the lion's share of the profits of exhibiting him. Meanwhile, he would provide for the keep of both the ape and its owner. It was not many weeks before Ajax was taught to ride a bicycle, eat with a knife and fork, count up to ten and do a number of remarkable stunts. One of the leading music halls hooked the act, and AJAX became the public's latest fad.

Lady Greystoke lingered over the Times as she breakfasted in her cheerful boudoir and awaited an appointment with her son's tutor. A glowing account of the marvelous Ajax's "debut" read idly caught her attention. What memories that ape's picture conjured up to the beautiful, cultured woman! Romance, thrills, danger and love in the untamed jungle! What contrast—those experiences with the happy, even tenure of her present days.

Rarely did she speak of those years now, even to her husband. That was the past. Few indeed, knew that the handsome Lord Greystoke had been the savage Tarzan of the Apes. Next to her deep love for her husband, Lady Greystoke's thoughts centered about her twelve-year-old son. A light tap at the door brought her abruptly from the brief reverie induced by Ajax's picture. Smilingly she greeted the worried-looking young tutor.

HOSPITAL MAY BE COURTROOM

Hearing Expected There for Shooting Suspect

Le Gros and Murphy Still Too Weak to Move

Withrow Continues Silence in Hijacking Case

Preliminary hearing of Edward G. Withrow, 20-year-old convicted bootlegger, on charges of assault to commit murder on the persons of James P. (Big Jack Dempsey) Le Gros, asserted hijacker, and Robert Murphy, an associate, may be conducted in the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, it was intimated yesterday by police, who reported that Le Gros and Murphy, while slowly recovering from bullet wounds, will not be able to leave the hospital by the date of the trial. This has been set for December 3, next, at 2 p.m.

Withrow was arraigned before Municipal Judge Ambrose Tuesday after a complaint had been issued against him by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Richardson.

SILENCE MAINTAINED

Le Gros and Murphy were shot last Friday afternoon near Gardner avenue and Beverly Boulevard, where they had gone, police say, to deliver a load of asserted hijacked liquor. Withrow surrendered Monday when he learned Detective Lieutenants Bergeron and Leslie were looking for him. He has refused to admit or disclaim any knowledge of the shooting, police say.

His photograph was identified by Murphy as the gangster who did the shooting, the detectives declare, but when confronted by Withrow he refused to name him in a written statement.

SENTENCE STARTED

While waiting court action in the case the detectives announced they still are searching for the rented sedan used by Murphy and Le Gros and the load of liquor it is supposed to have contained when the shooting occurred.

Withrow, in the meantime, has started serving an eleven months' sentence in the County Jail imposed on him by Federal Court for conspiracy to violate the Volstead act with John O. Lail, who received a similar sentence.

Clifford Thiele, who pleaded guilty to a charge of transporting a stolen automobile from Oregon to California, appeared before United States District Judge James for sentence. The defendant, a youth, was sentenced to fifteen months in the Federal reformatory at Monroe, Wash.

A New Spool

Try pulling off several yards of sewing cotton or silk from the new spool and rewinding it before using on the sewing machine. This will prevent the silk raveling off in great quantities and causing the thread to break.

WINE TONIC BAN MEETS NEW DELAY

Council Puts Off for One Week Action on Randall's Gandier Law Move

Councilman Randall's warfare against wine tonics met a slight setback yesterday when Council deferred action one week on his resolution instructing City Prosecutor Nix to go after the tonics immediately under the veteran Gandier Ordinance.

Randall took this action after a referendum petition, filed Monday, held up the enforcement of the wine tonic prohibition ordinance he engineered through Council last week. City Clerk Dominguez now is checking the names on the petition to determine if they are in sufficient number to call for a referendum election on the ordinance.

Randall asked suspension of the rules, which requires a unanimous vote, but managed to get but 9 of the 13 present votes. This automatically holds up the resolution one week. Those voting against suspension of the rules were Councilmen Cooke, Davis, Ingram and Lewis.

Lewis took occasion to state that Randall's invasion of the wine tonic field in reality has delayed prohibition of the beverage or medicine, whichever it may be. He said that had an earnest effort been made to enforce the present liquor laws and ordinances the problem would have been solved. Councilman Martin said Lewis had been "misled," and Randall smiled tolerantly.

DR. MILLER EXPIRES IN HOSPITAL

Veteran Physician Who Had Practiced Here Many Years Mourned by Friends

Dr. Ulysses G. Miller, physician and surgeon who had been in active practice in this city for twenty-five years, died yesterday morning at the California Hospital following an illness of several months. He was 61 years of age. Dr. Miller resided at 2155 Cambridge street and for many years had maintained offices in the Chapman Building. Of the immediate family Dr. Miller leaves only his widow, Mrs. U. G. Miller, who was with him at the last. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Dr. Miller came to Los Angeles about twenty-five years ago from St. Louis and established himself in practice. He was a member of the staff of the California Hospital, a Thirty-second Degree Scottish Rite Mason, a member of Wilshire Lodge, F. & A. M., of the Third Presbyterian Church, the University Club and the Wilshire Country Club. He was a volunteer in the World War and served in the Medical Corps in France with the rank of captain.

Foreign Plane Groups to Have Interests Here

Foreign aviation interests will be represented here soon, it was indicated last night upon the arrival of Herbert E. Linden, personal representative on the Pacific Coast of Vincent Bendix, the Bendix Aviation interests and executive vice-president of the General Instrument Corporation of Los Angeles. Accompanied by Horace L. Blackman, vice-president in charge of sales, he arrived at Pasadena from New York and Chicago.

Linden and Bendix have been in Europe for several months. There they acquired several foreign firms, or interests in them, and made sales connections, it is understood.

Headquarters will be moved soon into the Bendix Building at Twelfth and Maple streets, which was bought recently by Bendix.

Remains of Man, Throat Slashed, Found by Police

Another tragedy of the small speculator in the stock market was recorded by police yesterday, it is believed, when they found the body of John Desmond, about 50 years of age, in an apartment at 1216 Sentous street. Desmond, they said, apparently cut his throat with a razor. He had been dead about a week, it is believed.

Near the body they found a brief note which stated: "Please call my sister." It gave her telephone number. The sister, whom police learned to be Mrs. Mary Murphy of 363 West Fiftieth street, they said, told them that her brother had lost heavily on recent stock investments. The body was removed to the County Morgue.

Unidentified Man Expires After Injury

Mysteriously injured yesterday afternoon, an unidentified, well-dressed man died a few hours later in Georgia-street Receiving Hospital. He had been found lying, insensible and dying, at the intersection of Jefferson street and Angeles Mesa Drive, and was taken in the University division police ambulance to the hospital. There, the admitting surgeon was unable to determine whether the man was poisoned or had been hit on the head.

After the man died, the surgeons reported that he had several fractures of the skull, which might have been caused "by a fall due to an epileptic seizure."

There was no identification on the man when he was picked up. He was about 35 years of age, five feet eight inches in height, weighed 150 pounds, and had sandy hair and blue eyes. He wore a brown suit.

Woman's House Robbed and Her Hold-up Follows

Deputy sheriffs yesterday were seeking a man who the previous day held in the home of Mrs. Della Brown of 13811 Dwight street, Compton, and robbed her as she entered after he had ransacked the place.

Mrs. Brown, proprietor of the Wicked Waffle Parlor, declared she was confronted by a man with a gun as she entered the house. The man, she said, took her purse, which contained $150, and a watch, threatening her with death if she screamed. She was allowed to keep a diamond ring valued at $1200 when she promised not to report the robbery.

Following the man's departure, she discovered her wardrobe had been rifled of articles valued at close to $600, she reported.

AIR EDITOR DUE TODAY

Former Assistant Secretary of the Navy Edward P. Warner, who resigned recently to become editor-in-chief of the magazine, Aviation, will arrive in Los Angeles tonight at 8:30 o'clock over the airlines of Western Air Express from Kansas City. The former Navy Department official, who was in charge of aeronautics, will remain in the Southland for several weeks gathering material for a series of articles dealing with air transport lines on the Pacific Coast and the Navy Aeronautical Department here.

AUTO PARK QUIZ PLANNED

Fire Commission May Revise Rules Because of Many Complaints About Service

Because of the large number of complaints made to the members of the Fire Commission by patrons of parking stations who say their cars are not protected in the manner they have reason to expect after paying for care of the machines, the commission, at the suggestion of President Werdin, shortly may formulate new rules and regulations for operators of auto-parking lots and garages which are conducted under permits granted by the commission.

Werdin yesterday delegated a committee composed of Commissioner Cox, chairman, and Commissioners Laws and Wenning, to investigate the complaints made by patrons. It developed that most of the complaints have been verbal and they will be required in writing. The committee also will take up the matter of the proposed new rules and regulations.

Action by the commission in the case of Irwin Steinberg, operator of the auto-parking station at 847 South Spring street, cited to show cause yesterday why his permit should not be revoked on complaint of G. W. Cazier, that his car had been damaged and responsibility refused, was deferred until next Wednesday afternoon. The reason was that another complaint was filed against Steinberg by B. J. Forbes.

Forbes's communication stated that in 1927 he parked his car for a day on Steinberg's premises and paid him in advance therefor. While in Steinberg's keeping, he stated, the engine of his car "was raced wide open until it flew to pieces" and he was compelled to send East to buy a new one for $419.51, before he could use the car again. Forbes informed the commission he obtained judgment against Steinberg in Municipal Judge Pope's court, where the engine was taken down and exhibited.

Forbes stated further that upon Steinberg's refusal to pay the judgment he was compelled to attach his bank account and later had to attach the business to satisfy the judgment.

The Los Angeles Auto Park Association and Steinberg both had counsel present at yesterday's session. Andrew Pansini, who operates twenty parking stations, also asked to be heard on the problems facing the operators. Werdin informed them they can confer with the investigating committee he appointed.

AVENUE WILL BE OPENED

Council yesterday by ordinance authorized the opening of Solano avenue.

EPISCOPAL CAMPAIGN ANNOUNCED

Forty-five Million Goal With $850,000 Fund for Los Angeles Diocese

A campaign involving more than $45,000,000, to be raised during the coming year, will be launched in Episcopal churches next Sunday, according to announcement made yesterday by Dean Harry Beal of St. Paul's Cathedral, who is chairman of the General Church Program Committee in the diocese of Los Angeles.

The amount to be raised in the Los Angeles diocese is approximately $850,000. Bishop Stevens will speak on this subject and on "The New Episcopal Prayer Book" next Sunday at 2:30 p.m., over KHJ.

The largest part of the funds to be raised is for local church work, but about $40,000 will go for the extension in many new communities in Southern California, and over $54,000 will be given from Los Angeles for frontier work of the Episcopal Church in the United States and other lands.

The method adopted by the Episcopal Church, Dean Beal points out, is known as the every member canvass, and practically all of the money needed must be raised through weekly offerings.
